

STATE CAPITOL, Lansing. Stewart partisans who take their politics seriously and who, likewise, believe devoutly in party responsibility, find Michigan's 1941 state government to be downright disgusting. The 'good old days' really are slipping fast into memories.

F. D. R.'s New Deal. At Washington in 1933 a truly political phenomenon occurred. Franklin Delano Roosevelt began his famous "New Deal" with the aid of Republican Harold Ickes as secretary of the interior and Republican Henry Wallace as secretary of agriculture.

Arturo Vandenberg, a man who has never been a politician in the true sense of the word and who has not been actively identified with party organization, became one of our outstanding independent reformers in the United States senate.

Concurrently, the independent voters in 1940 performed other mental gymnastics just as remarkable. They cast a majority for Wendell L. Willkie, who ran a inglorious Democratic ticket.

Never in its history had the Republican party broken precedent nationally by crossing party lines in its selection of a presidential candidate. The man, not the emblem, proved to be the irrefragable magnet.

Today's current dispute over bi-partisan appointment of the state commissioner of agriculture is just another case at point. An administration measure would take the commissioner out of politics through appointment by a long-term bi-partisan commission.

Michigan's bi-partisan administration appears to be, in part, the culmination of a trend of popular thinking that has disregarded party labels in an insistent quest for more efficient and responsive government. What will be the voters' reaction to this? That answer is yet to be written.

Now Labor

If we recall correctly during the first World War the popular cry was against Wall Street and manufacturers profiteering on the people's money. It made great popular appeal and politicians flourished on it as on their morning oatmeal. This time the shoe is on the other foot. The profiteering is being done by organized labor, and no politician dare raise a voice. The people inarticulate by virtue of an organized and controlled administration, foot the bill. Today organized labor is using every available tool to trench itself at the expense of the nation, and the President has to take it, and dare not make an issue of it because of obligations. The shoe is on the other foot. From the columns of the Chicago Vigilante, we note that a man from that village went to Fort Custer to get a job as a painter. He was told to make his initial payment on a union membership and later they might send for him. He argued that the job should be first and the payment follow, but the union official couldn't see it that way, so the Chicago man kept his money in his pocket and went home.

But that is no new story, it has been going on around here for months, even being enforced by state and federal supported employment agencies.

The cad of the hour seems to be a direct drive at Henry Ford, the first manufacturer to really advance the cause of the working man when years ago he set the $5.00 a day wage scale to the horrorification of most employers. This is the way he gets paid for his philanthropy. But people are not so dumb either. The other day we were in a bath shop. A citizen was discussing the purchase of a car. You know, he said, I have about made up my mind to buy a Ford car. It's just about a top up on the car itself, and I don't like the way the government and labor are picking on Mr. Ford and I think I'll show my sentiments by buying a Ford car and not a... So there is another example of a citizen who can't be farther ahead to keep a holding fast anywhere. But we don't like the idea of a permanent seizure of plants if it is essential for national defense, and let the labor drunk administration define "essential".

On this subject of labor manhandling a writer, Editor St. Charles of the Dearborn Independent says:

Already the signs of labor troubles calculated to delay and impede the progress of the nation's defense and armament program have begun to appear. They appeared in the last World War, but the Government then in authority sought and found power from Congress to make it a general offense to strike against either the Government or the agencies of the Government engaged in building fighting machines.

To the average man in the street that looks like the common-sense way of handling labor difficulties in war time. If they won't agree, knock their heads together but insist that the work go on. Any questions of union jurisdiction, hours or wages can be settled afterwards.

The apparent difficulty with handling wartime labor troubles in that way now is that Labor is in the saddle. Labor elected the President and most of the members of Congress and Labor knows it. It feels that it has the right to ask for whatever it wants and to get it.

We think this is a short-sighted view, which in the end will breed more trouble for organized labor than any quick war benefits which its workers may get from the defense program now under way.

If you want Northville to provide more opportunities for yourself and your children, better take hold and work for home town progress, so that it will have more chances to offer.

Henry Ford has now offered to manufacture defense equipment for the government without profit if other manufacturers will do the same thing. Henry, you will find yourself pretty much alone.

February Birthdays

Although it is the shortest month, February perhaps holds the birth anniversaries of more famous Americans than any other. Among these, Washington and Lincoln are preeminent, but two other presidents, William Henry Harrison and Millard Fillmore, were also born in February.

This month also marks the birthdays of David Porter, naval officer of the War of 1812; Zebulon M. Pike, soldier and explorer, for whom Pike's Peak was named; General W. T. Sherman of Civil War fame; Horace Greeley and Henry Watterson, noted editors; Henry W. Longfellow and Sidney Lanier, poets; Mark Hopkins, the great educator who was president of Williams College for 36 years: Roger Williams, pioneer of religious liberty and founder of Rhode Island; Richard Watson Gilder, poet, editor and civic reformer; Dwight L. Moody, evangelist; Peter Cooper and George Peabody, philanthropists; Joseph Jefferson, actor; Cyrus H. McCormick, inventor of the reaper, and William F. Cook, the inventor of the Buffalo Bill; (and by other great men that you don't know so well — my Dad and brother Art).

The February list also includes several famous American writers, among them being Susan B. Anthony, pioneer suffragist, and two noted women educators, Mary Lyon, founder of Mount Holyoke Seminary, and Alice Freeman Palmer, former president of Wellesley College.

Novi High School and Grade Notes

Ninth Grade
 Thursday, Feb. 6, the ninth and tenth grades attended Farmers' Week at East Lansing.
 When the students arrived they divided into two groups. The girls went to a Home Economics class where they saw a number of motion pictures. They then went to luncheon at a nearby restaurant.
 The ninth and tenth grades met at 1 p.m. at the big auditorium where they divided into groups of four or five and went to several interesting exhibits. Many of them went to the concert that was held in the auditorium. Others went to the conservation building, the music building, the girls' dormitories, the agricultural building and others.
 At 7 p.m. they went to a hand concert. As they could not get seats, they decided to attend the swimming and diving exhibition to be held at 7:30 o'clock. They left the campus about 9 o'clock to start home.
Eighth Grade
 Thursday afternoon, while the ninth and tenth grades were at Michigan State college, at East Lansing, the seventh and eighth grades had a spelling bee. The winner was Margery Seguin of the eighth grade.
 Thursday, Jan. 30, the eighth grade was divided into three committees by a chairman for each group. The duty of each group was to decorate a shelf in the school. One committee decorated its shelf in honor of Abraham Lincoln's birthday. Another group decorated valentines for its theme. The other group is going to prepare the shuffle board and ping-pong tournaments by making little people. The Abraham Lincoln and the Valentine projects were finished this week.

EDITORIALS

Many students of N. H. S. as well as town residents who are interested in school affairs, know very little about the functions and duties of the Student Council. Therefore, this article will try to enlighten them on some things that are generally unknown about that group.

In the first place, the Student Council is a form of governmental administration for and by the students. It operates and is formed practically the same as our U. S. Government. That is to say, it is composed of a group of students who have been popularly elected by their respective home-rooms. The officers consist of a mayor, secretary, treasurer and chief-of-police. They are also popularly elected. Each member of the council has a very definite duty and obligation to his home-room, council and school.

The duties of the Council are varied. One of the main objects is to raise money to finance the athletic teams of the school without the help of the school board if possible. It costs between $25 and $30 to equip each member of the football team. That is the reason the council tries so hard to get the students' cooperation in supporting their teams.

The following are the names of the seventh grade captains, the names of their teams, and number of victories: Pauline Rodgers, Fireflies, three victories; Marilyn Gage, Michigan, one victory; Ann Davis, Scorpions, one victory; Florence McCusker, Lightning, two victories; Joyce Talmage, Blue Stars, one victory.

The following are the names of the eighth grade captains, the names of their teams and number of victories: Betty Tiger, Blue Paws, three victories; Dorothy Seefinger, Ironclads, two victories; Gwen Howell, Wolverines, two victories; Joanne Kitcher, Topsoers, two victories; Peggy Ely, Redwings, two victories.

Movies Are Shown by Biology Club

The Biology club sponsored two movies for an assembly program Feb. 6, one on "Mammals of Michigan" and another on the "Red Poocher". The films were furnished by the Department of Conservation. The films showed that there are sixty-seven different kinds of mammals in Michigan, some of which are becoming scarce because of carelessness. There were pictures of the following mammals in action: wolf, mink, moose, elk, deer (white tail), porcupine, badger, bear (black), woodchuck, weasel, fox squirrel, chipmunk and beaver.

The film on the "Red Poocher" (a red fox) showed how the Conservation officers help to keep the forests growing and prevent them from being destroyed by hunters who are careless about throwing away matches or cigarettes and building fires. They have modern amphibious automobiles and modern fire fighting equipment with which to fight the fires. They build fire-ladders must see animals which they get from the Department of Conservation. It is possible to establish hydrants in the forests where water supply is scarce. Fire sometimes must be fought with more fire or by destruction of plants grown to prevent its spreading. Fire does not only destroy the forests but it also kills a lot of the animals which inhabit the forests and which hunters cannot kill.

The junior high girls have also organized basketball teams. The following are the names of the captains, their teams, and the number of victories: Effie Carlson, Blue Dynamite, two victories; Carolyn Selovan, Wilzies, one victory; Anna Jean Flaherty, Red Wings, two victories; Mar. Lee, Belen, Mamets, one victory; South Blake Wild Cats, two victories; Madeline Graham, High Spots, one victory. Each team has played two games. Mrs. Gladys Ludwig is gym teacher for the girls.

Berkley Defeats Northville Team

Lady Luck defeated the Northville Mustangs Friday in the Berkley gym, Feb. 14. Lady Luck was on the side of the Berkley basketball team. To believe this statement, one had only to see the game. The Berkley players could not make their set shots, but their star player, Baley, made a large majority of his free shots and other fancy trick shots. Baley made 21 of Berkley's 24 points.

Your Obedient Servant A. Lincoln IN LINCOLN'S DAY, when people needed hot water, they had to cut wood and build fires, and pump and carry and lift the water, and wait. Now to get hot water they just turn the faucet. Electricity does the heating and pumping and carrying without the slightest attention. ell, asking Lincoln to let his whiskers grow. She assured him that he would be better-looking and would receive more votes, she even pledged votes from some of the members of her family. This letter has become one of the treasures of Mr. Dondoro's Lincoln collection. It was given him by a member of Lincoln's family. Mr. Dondoro was so interested in the writer that a few years ago, he traveled 2000 miles to interview her in her Kansas home.

Madama Presides
Mr. Dondoro was introduced by Fred C. Fischer, superintendent of Wayne County Schools. The teachers were greeted by Northville's superintendent, Russell H. American. Edward C. Molema, a member of the high school faculty, was toastmaster of the evening. The invocation was given by the Rev. Dr. Thomas W. Smith. Leslie G. Lee directed group singing. Teachers were present from the following school systems: Belle-Ville, Wayne, Plymouth, Redford Union, Garden City, Tonninson, Romulus and the Wayne County Training school.

COMMENTS

position of their armaments are involved. The committee amendments, other than placing a time limit on the bill, leave the grants of power to the President substantially as originally proposed.

The minority report on this bill includes the following proposed amendments to the bill:

1. Extension of a two billion dollar credit to Britain to be used in the country for purchasing arms when her dollar balance for this purpose is exhausted, requiring reasonable collateral security if available.
2. Permit the sale by our government of arms to Britain only when our largest Army and Navy officers certify in writing that such arms are not necessary for our own national defense.
3. For a one year time limit on all extraordinary powers created under the bill, Congress must legislate next year and can then extend the time limit if our interests require it.
4. Provide that no vessel of the U. S. Navy shall be disposed of without the consent of Congress.
5. Prohibit the use of our surplus military ships.
6. Prohibit the use of American vessels to transport exports to Belgium.
7. Prohibit the non-guaranteed sale of our surplus.
8. It is the contention of the majority that if there is no intention to use the United States Navy to control merchantmen or to take any other step that is likely to involve this country in the war, there ought not to be any hesitancy on the part of the administration to put such prohibitions in H. R. 1776.

The foregoing constitute a outline of the bill's provisions, as introduced, and what the minority believed should be embodied in this bill to guard against the involvement of the United States in the European war.

HOBBY

Each exhibitor is asked to tag his collection, giving his name and a brief history of the display. Committee members will be on hand at the church house to assist exhibitors.

Among the contributors to the show announced this week are Miss Jessie Rowe, who entered a future teacher made in 1924; Lynn Benjamin, who'll show antique glass; Clifford Winter, who'll show some metal crafts and hand-wrought work.

Mr. Thomas Weeks, a newcomer to the village, will display some salt shakers. An old flag and some pre-revolutionary pistols will be shown from Charles H. Walker's collection.

From Mrs. C. R. Ely, treasurer, will come a platter which commemorates the Santa Fe Trail of 1859. She also will show a quilt which was seen in 1870. Some of the material is known to be 200 years old. Her collection will also include a family Bible which is 60 years old.

S. Waterloo is submitting 1600 useful recipes, some are 100 years old. He has some puppets for display too.

A handiwork collection, with some of the styles dating back 100 years, will be shown by Richard Burtis.

And Catherine will show one of her model planes.

Miss Gertrude Eppler of Ypsilanti, refereed the game.

The Northville Mustang boys defeated the Walled Lake quintet Feb. 12, with a basket barrage which netted them 42 points, holding their opponents down to 28 points.

Northville's man-to-man defense was much more effective than the past. The Walled Lake players were unable to break away from their guards often enough to close the gap in the score.

Northville was ahead by only 3 points at the half but in the second half the Mustangs' shots checked, making 13 baskets to Walled Lake's 5.

The second team was defeated by Walled Lake, 15-14, in a game almost as exciting as last week's game with Berkley, when only a "sudden-death" overtime gave the game to Northville's opponents.
