Inter-Club Speaker

Russell Barnes Is Inter-Club Banquet Speaker, Feb. 25

Exchange, Rotary and Legion Groups Invite Detroit News Writer and Commentator To Talk; Expect 200 Persons

Wives To Be Guests

The annual Inter-Club Banquet and ladies' night sponsored by the Northville Exchange, Rotary and American Legion Post is announced for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 25 at the Presbyterian church. House Russell Barnes of the editorial staff of the Detroit News and nationally famous radio commentator and newspaper writer will be the guest speaker of the evening. The music for the evening will be rendered by Morgan and Flowers, violin and cello team, who come through courtesy of the Ford Motor Company.

Tickets Are on Sale

The announcement of the presence of Mr. Barnes as the guest speaker of the evening has created a very great desire on the part of many to attend and while members of the clubs and their wives will be given first chance to purchase the tickets which are limited to 200, others desiring to attend may purchase tickets through members of the several clubs, from committee members or at the Northville Record office. The price of the tickets are 85 cents.

Dinner will be served by the women of the church at 6:30 o'clock, followed immediately by the program which will be brief, allowing the guest speaker of the evening the right of way and the people present an opportunity to ask questions of Mr. Barnes.

U. of M. Graduate

Mr. Barnes is a graduate of the U. of M. in the Class of 1919 and came directly to the staff of The Detroit News. He covered the City Hall during the Couzens administration, and was with the Lansing Bureau of the News during the Groomer administration. From 1923 to 1925, he was with the Washington Bureau of the News, and Paris correspondent from 1925 to 1931 and again with the Washington Bureau from 1934 to 1937. He covered the Michigan legislature in 1937 and the General Motors strike in 1938-39. Since Mr. Barnes return from Paris he has been used on major domestic and foreign assignments.

Even the possibility that state department employees would be removed from civil service protection has been raised by several senators. Educational institutions are not exempt.

Some bipartisan control for the agricultural department has been favored by farm groups for many years. Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner merely seized it in 1930 as a good campaign issue, and by this time he has put the Republican-dominated legislature in a pretty predicament. A veto is certain if the Post bill is passed.

Labor Reform

Generally known as "publicity bills" are three measures introduced by State Senator Stanley Nowak, D-Detroit, which are designed to institute labor reforms in Michigan.

Senate bills 51 and 52 would impose minimum wages for women and institute wage and hour requirements for all workers in intra-state commerce. Because of their drastic provisions at a time when national defense was the right of the way the bills repose quietly in the senate labor committee.

A third Nowak labor bill would forbid boys under 14 years of age and girls under 18 to engage in "street trades" including the sale of newspapers and magazines. Even time spent in school would be included in an eight hour day limit.

The average newsboy or magazine junior merchant devotes only an hour or so each day, in his spare time, to his "street trade." It is usually considered "pin money" rather than employment, as Michigan requires compulsory education for everyone 7 to 16 years of age.)

Walled Lake Band Soloists Honored

BY CHARLES E. HUTTON

Eight out of twelve members of the Walled Lake high school band entered in the senior high school section of the Southeastern Michigan solo and ensemble festival at Dearborn, Saturday, Feb. 15, were awarded first and second division ratings in horn, cornolet, saxophone, and drum sections.

One of the few schools of its size entered in the senior competition, Robert Conant, playing the horn, achieved a first division rating. Mary Jane DeGroot placed second with her cornet, and a second division award was given Arthur Elliker, saxophonist. The drum quintet comprised of Mary Christopher, Ethel Westlake, John Edward Booth, Francis McPhee and William Elmendorph, placed in the second division for ensembles.

These winners will enter the Southeastern Michigan Band and Orchestra festival at Ann Arbor, during April.

Because of the primary election Monday, Feb. 17, the village council meeting was postponed until Tuesday evening. Only routine business came before the councilmen at that time.

The post office will be closed Saturday, Feb. 22 in observance of Washington's birthday. There will be no delivery, but mail will be sent to the train.

INTEGRITY AND FIRMNESS

The plane photographic representation of the features of George Washington erased out of the face of Mount Rushmore in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

WHAT would Washington do or say today? The question is often asked. It can never be answered precisely. In accepting the presidency, Washington minimized his talents, saying he was "without that competency of political skill, abilities and inclination which are necessary to manage the helm."

But he did make a pledge to the American people.

"Integrity and firmness are all I can promise. These, be the voyage long or short, shall never forsake me, although I may be deserted by all men."

* * *

INTEGRITY and firmness were all he promised, but these were enough to pull the young Republic through in those frail, uncertain, tenuous years. North Carolina had not yet ratified the Constitution, Rhode Island declared it never would, when Washington was inaugurated. Vermont was even then trying to negotiate separate recognition at London.

It needed Washington's firmness and integrity to make the foundations of the Republic solid.

* * *

IN THE past few years passages from the Farewell Address have been quoted perhaps more frequently than anything else in America. Two sentences stand out:

"Tis our true and settled policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world."

"Taking care always to keep ourselves, by suitable establishments, on a respectable defensive posture, we may safely trust to temporary alliances for extraordinary emergencies."

What would Washington do today? We may dispute over the words he left us, and over their application today. But we can be certain that today, as in the early days of the Republic, Washington would give us the same pledge:

Easter Seal Sale To Be Promoted Mar. 21-Apr. 13

While it seems likely that the current session of the Michigan legislature will provide somewhat more generously for the care of crippled children, due to the public reaction caused by the insufficient appropriation of two years ago, still the need for lay activity remains as great as ever and such lay activity is financed almost entirely by means of the annual Easter Seal Sale," said

Emmet Richards of Alpena, president of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, announcing the opening of the eighth annual sale from Mar. 21 to Apr. 13, Easter Day.

The Michigan Society for Crippled Children is concerned with services to crippled children in ways that will provide the best possible care for the greatest number," said President Richards, "and with an enlarged appropriation there will remain many things to be done by the state. This year, and for years to come, we will be confronted with opportunities for service to crippled children growing out of the 1940 infantile paralysis epidemic. Already the Michigan Society for Crippled Children has expended hundreds of dollars on the care of child victims of this epidemic, notably in the Upper Peninsula where the epidemic was most severe. We have not only furnished a considerable amount of medical aid to the victims."

The Oldest Paper in Wayne County Outside the City of Detroit

If thou art a man, admire those who attempt great enterprises, even though they fail.—Seneca.

Americans Are Lucky . . .

Suppose the mythical man from Mars came up to you some day and asked you if you were an American. You'd say "Yes," of course. Then suppose he asked you another question:

"What is an American?"

Perhaps your answer would be something like this—or maybe you can improve on it:

"I'm an American," you'd say. "When I hear an airplane, I don't look around for the nearest bombproof shelter. I know that it's carrying people and goods for the purposes of peacetime progress."

"I'm an American, I know that my newspaper and my radio will give me a fair picture of what's happening in the world, to the best of their ability."

"I send my children to a school where the teachers aren't merely vessels of the State — where the facts that are taught my children help to make them better, more intelligent citizens."

"I'm an American. I can talk freely with my friends, expressing my own opinions on both political and non-political subjects, without the fear that there are spies who listen to my every word and then report it to some high and secret tribunal."

You'd probably say these things and many more besides. And saying them would, in these troubled times, make you realize something else, so that you'd come to say just one thing more:

"I'm a lucky individual. I'm an American!"

McGill News

Well, we've just discovered that we are one of the 335,000 car owners in Wayne county still operating with 1939 licenses, and the deadline, Feb. 28, only a few days away. Nine hundred thousand autoists in the state haven't purchased their 1941 plates either.

Julius Porath of Detroit, has been awarded the contract for 13 miles of concrete pavement on the Ann Arbor Trail in Wayne county. Contract calls for $50,265.

The Michigan Public Expenditure Survey has a program to wipe out the state's floating debt of $31,000,000 in two fiscal years. We agree that a considerable amount could be put in this big total but their non-payment program results in old-style material that has been used by both parties for a decade or more. In other words, if the state could get even 50 per cent of its regular biennial campaign promises put into effect the millennium would be here and the devil would fade away like a morning haze. Men, even more than legislation, is the answer to this perennial appeal for actual economy in government from top to bottom.

Newspaper Ads Do the Job . . .

Newspaper ads in 1941 will surpass all previous records, according to the vice-president of N.W.A. & Son, Inc., advertising experts of Philadelphia.

In depression years most of the better papers had already spread coverage, but now it is anticipated that they will intensify campaigns in 1941. Only two states can accomplish that too.

A good example of irrefutable news paper ads is being shown in the intelligent advertising campaign of the project and was responsible for bringing more volunteers into the United States Army than in any previous peace time era of the country. If advertising pays for the government, let it bring returns for you.—ED.

Interest on facility loans to cooperatives has been cut from 4% to 3½% beginning March 1st. Forty-two Michigan cooperatives have almost a million and a half in loans from the St. Paul Bank.

And don't let that four million order for identification tags get you all "heated up." The inference is grave but factual thinking will calm you down a bit. Numbers, badges, social security numbers and cards all have a function and don't mean either war or death.

The eighteenth annual report of the Michigan State Highway Department reveals that Michigan highway travel, which was found to amount to nearly 10 billion vehicle-miles in 1930, reached approximately 14 billion vehicle miles in 1940, or an over-all increase of about 36 per cent in 10 years. It was stated that, generally speaking, the traffic growth was uniform on all parts of the state's system of roads and streets.

The report shows that during the seven years ending June 30, 1940, a little more than $105,000,000 had been encumbered by construction contracts or expended through the Works Progress Administration in carrying out this program. The projects involved 3,879 miles of highway, 172 highway bridges, and 76 grade separations as well as other auxiliary construction such as dock improvements at the Straits of Mackinac.

The lend-lease bill seems to be gaining support — and while the term lend-lease is used to cover up, etc., just forget it and call it a thank offering or gift. It will never come back in dollars and cents, but there are a lot of things that are more essential than shekels . . . we learned that in the depression, didn't we?

Automobile fatalities for 1940 were 1,622 as compared with 1,536 for 1939, according to the Michigan Department of Health. It was the second successive increase but still well under the all-time high of 2,175 automobile deaths in 1937. December auto deaths were 141 compared with 159 in November.

It is not enough to be busy; so are the ants. The question is: What are we busy about?—Thornton.

It is always good to know, even only in passing, charming human beings; it refreshes one like flowers and woods and clear brooks—George Eliot.

FOR GAS STATIONS, machine shops, garages, groceries and meat markets, health clinics, physicians' and dentists' offices, and other commercial and professional establishments where hot water is important, ELECTRIC hot water offers several advantages: No lost time, no waiting for water to heat, no attention, no bother. You never lift a finger to heat water. Because the electric water heater is completely automatic, your time is your own. No "tank-watching" to hamper your work or interfere with business.

More and more people are discovering the time-saving economy of electric water heating for business and plant. Thirty gallons of electric hot water every day (adequate if you need small amounts of hot water) cost only $1.93 a month. See your plumber, electrical dealer, hardware or department store today. LEASE-LEND QUESTIONS

The good old industrial "rule governing action" should be applied to "aid to Britain short of war" as proposed in the "lease-land" bill. That rule is to test every proposed new "action" by asking three questions in the order named. (1) Why do they want it? (2) Why do they want it now? (3) Why do it this way?

If it gets by Question No. 1 with a good answer, it must reply to No. 2—otherwise it stops there. Only if No. 2 is satisfactory does it proceed. If this happens, its acceptance, rejection or amendment will depend on the answer to question No. 3.

There are a few earnest, honest, courageous and sincere men, like Colonel Lindbergh, who answer question No. 1, "Why do it at all?" thus: "There is no good reason." But the answer of a large majority of sloganized public opinion and also of informed authorities is: "Because such aid to Britain as will help to stop a threat of unfriendly European action westward is enlightened self-interest."

It seems a sufficient answer, so we go on to No. 2: "Why do it now?" There is less certainty about that than is based largely on the objection that it will interfere with our own terribly lagged and lacking defensive preparation. But let us assume that, while administration's proper balance can be struck, while no important aid can be effective this year without stripping our own defense, and while we may face an entirely different situation next year, yet time saved now will be time gained in 1942. So let us say to the proposal at the barrier of question No. 2: "Pass it and all's well."

That brings us to Question No. 3—why do it this way—the particular way proposed by the lease-land bill?

The bill authorizes the President to his own unlimited discretion to lease, lend or give away any part of all the billions of dollars of property the government owns to any nation he deems and every dollar's worth of it still for which congress has appropriated or may hereafter appropriate further billions. That includes a great treasure in gold, silver, copper, petroleum, coal, iron, wheat, vast exports and first line interests in much of the future prosperity in America. It includes all of our military and naval armaments, warships, tanks, etc., and ammunition.

This is overwhelming further obstruction. The "Chief of Military Naval and Financial Supply" is warning us that as much goes into the bill as it can stand before it becomes unworkable. He underlines control of its strategy so far as plastics are concerned and that is exactly all my concern and care are concerned. We are not yet in this position, but I want to see what the bill does.

"Investigation after investigation shows that this was not 'done'."

DRAFT EFFICIENCY

A quick glance at the selective service administration's record to date indicates it is going forward efficiently and well and with general popular approval. When you stop to consider that what we are dealing with here is a slight concession supposed to be in direct conflict with our Anglo-American traditions of democracy and personal freedom, this condition speaks volumes for the excellence with which the job has been handled. This is a cause of understandable satisfaction to this writer, because the whole system follows without many important changes the plans and policies adopted by trial and error during the World War.

The largest single cause of dissatisfaction on all arms and estates after the first draft boards accept one and the lack of uniformity among the thousands of local boards in taking on drafting married men. In this respect, Mr. James L. McLean, Director of Selective Service, has done a great deal of good.

PATRON TACTICS

Dear Coal Customer:

You will be pleased with "White Oak" Coal, a firm, high quality product.

One of the advantages of "White Oak" coal is the low ash content, 13% to 24%, or approximately one (1) bushel of ashes to the ton. This is about sixty (60) pounds. We have customers who claim that over the winter they will not carry out over this amount.

The desirable burning characteristics of "White Oak" coal are correct size, genuine red ash, and with the fact that this coal is firm in structure, does not crumble easily, make it the ideal fuel for the average stove or furnace.

Don't wait. Order your "White Oak" coal today. Phone 20 for quick, pleasant service on your fuel needs.

The suggestion comes to me from Roy Timney, a newspaper colleague, but an ex-boy Scout-instructor of the late world's unpleasantness. Interpreting current reports, he says of these "Greek bayoneteers": "They duck dive bombers, detour around tanks and ignore machine guns until they're in striking distance of the pilot's buns. Then they proceed to fight as their forefathers fought. The Greeks' ancient method of fighting re-appeared Macmillan's invincible legions; they simply had to beat the Devil."

No conclusion about this war can be made too much simplified, but on the other hand, nothing should be unduly complicated. Old military principles never abdicate "sine die." The urge of troops for physical contact is the most effective psychology that can be cultivated.

The Germans, in 1918, feared the bayonets and ear-slitting knives of the Semetseles above all weapons. As Rome shamed her swords she broadened her borders. It is still doubtful whether you can destroy good troops with artillery fire or bombing. The only certain way remains the stock of physical contact. That doesn't mean that you can "ignore machine guns" but it does mean that war is still a fight that will interfere with our own terribly lagged and lacking defensive preparation. But let us assume that, while administration's proper balance can be struck, while no important aid can be effective this year without stripping our own defense, and while we may face an entirely different situation next year, yet time saved now will be time gained in 1942. So let us say to the proposal at the barrier of question No. 2: "Pass it and all's well."

That brings us to Question No. 3—why do it this way—the particular way proposed by the lease-land bill?

The bill authorizes the President to his own unlimited discretion to lease, lend or give away any part of all the billions of dollars of property the government owns to any nation he deems and every dollar's worth of it still for which congress has appropriated or may hereafter appropriate further billions. That includes a great treasure in gold, silver, copper, petroleum, coal, iron, wheat, vast exports and first line interests in much of the future prosperity in America. It includes all of our military and naval armaments, warships, tanks, etc., and ammunition.

This is overwhelming further obstruction. The "Chief of Military Naval and Financial Supply" is warning us that as much goes into the bill as it can stand before it becomes unworkable. He underlines control of its strategy so far as plastics are concerned and that is exactly all my concern and care are concerned. We are not yet in this position, but I want to see what the bill does.

"Investigation after investigation shows that this was not 'done'."

LOOSE-END BILL

Two apparent absurdities attend the arguments for the Morgenthau "Loose-End" bill, now being to hotly debated.

One is the insistence of certain sincere congressional advocates that the bill does not surrender to the executive the constitutional safeguards against dictatorship—the famous congressional "power of the purse."

In our own and English experience, it is the strongest weapon of democracy. Our Constitution gives Congress alone the power to declare war and to "raise and support armies."

To this latter highly important grant, the Constitution attaches a condition, "but no appropriation of money to that war shall be for a longer term than two years."

Under the "Loose-End" bill, the power is given, authority to transfer to another nation but "Defense ends" be defined. The words "defense article" are defined to mean any conceivable military or naval resource which the United States may or may hereafter acquire.

Neither is it necessarily true as to gifts of new equipment. It is true, under the bill, that he could, for example, order a new battleship built, expressly announced as a gift to China, he would have to go to Congress for authority. But there is a loophole that is as broad as a barn door: in this crisis, Congress has refused to appropriate to build armament. In the United States it is as sure aprise that it will result in none in the future.

But if this bill is passed, yet a nickel can be spent on armament by this government which did not automatically fall under it. Under the proposed grant of freedom just now to transfer that armament to the rest of the world, as it is passed or even before it is passed, it is not to be expected that the bill will be effective.

It is not to be expected that the bill will be effective.

CORN SUPPLY AMPLE
Reports from the United States department of agriculture indicate the country began the year with a corn crop of 3,150,000,000 bushels of corn raised, a record supply. Michigan farmers feeding meat animals are not yet using the corn. Those who have studied this supply indicate there is enough corn and other feed on hand to produce more meat and livestock products than the American public has ever imagined in any year.

200 TASTE PICKLES
Pickle manufacturing has added more science, thanks to two members of the Michigan State college staff. They submitted pickle samples sweetened with various solutions. Ideal, they found after tallying votes of 200 tasters, was a combination of sucrose and dextrose. Technically, in a 20 degree Baumé syrup at 20 grains acidity there was 75 per cent sucrose and 25 per cent dextrose.

Give 1941 Hints for Farm Work

One of the goals in Michigan, adopted also in other states, has been to reduce confusion to purchases of fertilizers by reducing the number of mixtures. Another goal has been to restrict use of low analysis fertilizers, recommending that fertilizers contain at least 20 per cent usable plant food. Those with less would cost too much for a unit of plant food even though the price per ton makes the fertilizer appear low in cost.

Fertilizers are not a cure-all," comments Dr. M. L. Miller. "On mineral soils, fertilizers should be used in conjunction with good tillage, lime, manure, erosion control and other good soil management practices."

Which leads Dr. C. E. Miller, head of the Michigan State college soils department, to issue "Fertilizer Recommendations for 1941-42." This bulletin gives details of the use of various types of fertilizers for different soils and different crops and the methods of placement.

Fifty to 80 years is not forever, but our authorities believe such periods are long enough to prove that use of commercial fertilizers does not exhaust the humus supply or otherwise damage the soil.

Which leads Dr. C. E. Miller, head of the Michigan State college soils department, to issue "Fertilizer Recommendations for 1941-42." This bulletin gives details of the use of various types of fertilizers for different soils and different crops and the methods of placement.

Washington or Lincoln — which about Washington, but the most famous of these is the one about the cherry tree.

Lincoln was born of very poor parents in Kentucky and lost his mother while still a small boy. He received his education which was only about one year in school, from his step-mother. He became a teacher and entered into many famous debates, those with Stephen Douglas being most famous. The best known story about Lincoln is his walking twenty miles through a snow storm to return a borrowed book.

This month we celebrate the birthdays of these two great men. Washington was born of well-to-do parents of Virginia and became a surveyor before entering the career which was to culminate in his being the first president of our country. Many stories are written about Washington, but the most famous of these is the one about the cherry tree.

Now, more than ever before, we should be willing to sacrifice many things to keep our nation united and free with liberty for all so that Washington's and Lincoln's great struggles will not have been in vain.

After that, the game looked as though it belonged to Northville, but the Trenton boys were left un-come and pass the Mustangs lead.

Northville's second team won with a score of 33-32. It was just an ordinary game until the last quarter when both teams went to town.

Brief lectures were given concern-specimens were taken from cats such as heart, brain and digestive

Three reels were shown, "Dino-

The Farmers' Corner
By E. L. BESEMER,
County Agent

At the fourth of the dairy series of meetings, Jan. 15, C. L. Bolander, director of marketing, State Department of Agriculture, brought out the competition that Michigan agricultural products are receiving from new products. He stated that enough mashed potatoes were put up in a one-half pound sack to serve 15 people and they could be purchased in other countries.

Miriam Farley, Jr., of the Michigan Farmer discussed such legal matters as wills and inheritances, fence and drainage problems about which farmers are continually seeking information.

More careful selection of the dairy sire is to be discussed, Feb. 28, at Wayne high school by A. C. Baltzer in charge of dairy extension, Michigan State college. The meeting starts at 7:45 p.m.

Yes, the sire is "half the herd," agree all dairymen. But many earnest, thoughtful farmers show little effort to make the milch a "better half."

Practical ways of getting better bulls into use by average dairymen include getting a proved bull; a "boy, bull cat"; using a bull in a club, or, by an artificial insemination circuit.

According to County Agricultural Agent E. L. Besemer who is managing the arrangement for the meeting, there will be a minimum of fancy theories and a maximum of usable facts presented by Extension Baltzer.

We have supplied large numbers of braces, casts, artificial limbs, wheel chairs and orthopedic items all over the state. The need for providing these services will continue.

Our aim and desire is always to be ready to serve in emergencies, but the Michigan Society does not only concern itself with those crippled by infantile paralysis; we include services to those crippled from other causes as well, such as: spastic paralysis, other forms of paralysis, congenital deformities, tuberculous joints, other bone and joint conditions, scoliosis, osteoarthritis, accidents and miscellaneous causes. Neither does the Society confine its efforts to medical treatment and hospitalization. Our program involves finding the crippled child, promoting clinics, providing transportation for parent and child, furnishing appliances, education, social adjustment, summer activities, vocational guidance and training, suitable employment and the prevention of crippling conditions.

"Then there is the matter of our plans for taking care of the handicapped young people who cannot fit into regular employment. At our annual convention in Kalamazoo in November we talked of the Shelter Work Shop for those who can be about, and training for the home bound.

"Another project of importance is our program to place four lumps at strategic points throughout the state for prompt shipment anywhere that they may be needed within the contiguous territory.

"After all, money, in some ways, is the least important factor in the care of crippled children. Any surgeon or professional worker will tell you how much he relies on the zeal of the unpaid worker. It was such volunteer effort that really got the work for crippled children under way in Michigan. It is such enthusiastic devotion that we need now - in the Eighth Annual Easter Seal Sale and in the performance of the work that Seal money will make possible.

"And so I appeal to all our friends now to enter upon the Seal Sale with all the vigor and enthusiasm at their command. Seal Seals. Use Seals on your mail.

Spread the Easter Seal gospel everywhere and at all times between now and Easter-Time."
