A "DANGEROUS AMBITION"

Spring is almost here — Long about a play for Northville by concerted effort to make the village look more beautiful than ever this Spring.

Home Accidents Cause 1,200 Deaths

Home accidents in Michigan caused 1,257 deaths in 1940, says the Michigan Department of Health. This was nearly three-fourths the automobile fatalities in the state last year.

"Most of the fatal home accidents occurred among persons 65 years of age and older," says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "There were 689 such deaths in 1940 and 624, or 91 per cent, of them were caused by falls."

Home accidents took the lives of 194 children under five years of age last year. Sixty-four of the deaths resulted from burns and explosions and 50 were caused by suffocation due to clothing, blankets or pillows.

The causes of home accident deaths in 1940 were: falls 750, burns and explosions 228, suffocation 61, poisoning 40, poisonous gas 46, firearms 27, miscellaneous 105.

This Spring convention of the Michigan G. O. P. was indeed, a different spectacle than come we have heard of. Conspicuous by their absence the old line bosses just were too busy elsewhere to do their manuevering about the place.

The wicked automobile is taking a greater death toll in the United States today than is being garnered by the war in Europe. And war is hell.

M. S. C. Reaches 73,706 Women

Goals for efforts of the 1941 program in home economic extension service reach a new high level with a summary showing that in 1940 the 73,706 rural women in the state who participated in the projects of child care, clothing, home management or nutrition.

Staff members and home demonstration agents on the Michigan State College staff are holding meetings throughout the state. These meetings permit groups to indicate what studies they want continued with additional stress in 1941 on community problems.

Actual enrollment in 1940 projects numbered 25,302 women, says Miss Edna V. Smith, state leader on the college staff. But there were 73,706 non-members who obtained information as visitors or from those actually enrolled. In all, the women found information that led them to make 133,378 changes in home practices.

In three counties alone, women enrolled in clothing projects estimated the dresses they made represented a saving of $1,419. In four counties, tailoring hints permitted savings of $1,001.

In 27 counties where home furnishing was a project, the women estimated they saved $25,926 by reupholstering furniture, caring chairs or making slip covers.

The work reaches into every county in the state. Specialists on the college staff cooperate with the local leaders who numbered 3,499 in 1940. In 12 counties there are special home demonstration agents. Other counties are served as a district or direct from the college.

In reading the Reader's Digest for March an article about "Present for the President" we noted a gold boxing glove, labeled "For the Champ," among the items mentioned. The gold boxing glove was sent to President Roosevelt by Gov. Van Wagner, Pres. Attorney Dowling and Dr. John A. Ross of Plymouth.

The latest dope that has leaked out from the nation's capitol as to the policy of serving two masters—or two governments—at the same time is the dollar-a-year men (or Uncle Sam who are receiving their $2,000-a-month from the British Purchasing commission. This is the status of a number of executives who have been moved into the office of Production Management during the last several months.

They Talk of Michigan

Michigan Bell never loses an opportunity to boost Michigan, both to the residents of the state and those of neighboring areas. Michigan Bell again seeks to acquaint residents of the Wolverine state with the vast extent of the state's natural resources, and of their development, production, and distribution.

Did you know that Michigan ranks first in the production of cherries and plums, in acreage of beans, potatoes, and alfalfa seed; third in the production of grapes, apples, peaches and clover seed, and in acreage of alfalfa hay and sugar beets?

Those are just some of the facts regarding Michigan which Michigan Bell is setting forth in a series of advertisements which it is releasing this month and which will be carried in 250 Michigan newspapers.

A group of friends were discussing life in general when one spoke up and said, "Isn't it funny how a child's tastes will change?" "Yes," replied another. "My little son used to love soldiers and my little daughter was crazy over brightly painted dolls. Now my daughter loves soldiers and my son runs after every painted doll in the neighborhood."

There was one perfectly clear day during February. There were 14 cloudy days and 13 partly cloudy days. Snow fall was recorded at 15 inches compared with a normal 14.3 inches.

County treasurers of Michigan received checks this week totalling $4,199,552 for distribution to schools. The checks came from Lansing and represented the third installment of state aid.

By CHARLES E. HUTTON
John A. Beierle, 53, of Route 1, Walled Lake is in Pontiac General hospital, the victim of injuries received when he lost control of his car while driving on Walled Lake road, two miles east of Walled Lake, Thursday afternoon.

A concert by the Albion college orchestra will be presented Sunday evening in the school auditorium. They will be assisted by instrumental and vocal soloists.

A ruling by the post office department effective Mar. 16, will close the Walled Lake post office lobby, with the close of each day's business, at 6 p.m.

A St. Patrick's banquet is scheduled at St. Williams church, for Sunday evening, Mar. 16. Entertainment is planned in connection with the dinner.

Fireman, save my child, could have applied, figuratively speaking, one day last week to the odd situation where the scene was laid in the new Walled Lake fire truck.

Fire Chief Kent Dufford was principal actor in the double role of chief and guardian of the new truck. It seems he was busy at work on the new apparatus when he discovered smoke curling about the smoke pipe of the heating stove near the roof of the building.

to save itself from a conflagration, he turned in a hurried call for the aid of his gallant volunteer crew and the decent fire wagon, soon to be discarded. Danger was soon averted, with minor damage to the building and none to the new fireman's child.

The Civic Welfare club provided a half hour program at a meeting of the Federated Women's club, held at Birmingham, Friday, Mrs. Minnie M. Hutton was principal speaker, having as her topic, "Then and Now." Community singing was led by Mrs. L. M. Philip, accompanied by Mrs. Paul McKibben.

Mrs. Alice Chickmore Johns, 38 years old, died Friday, at the Arnold Home, Detroit following a prolonged illness, resulting from a fractured hip. She was born in West Bloomfield township Oct. 6, 1862, and had lived most of her life in Walled Lake and vicinity.

She was a member of the Walled Lake Methodist church, and was active in the social and civic life of the community for many years. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Bessie Russell of Highland Park, and Mrs. Jessa Bentley of Walled Lake, and a sister, Mrs. Julia Parmenter of Walled Lake. There are also five grandchildren, and one great grandchild.

Funeral service was held Monday afternoon, at the Methodist church, with burial in the Walled Lake cemetery. Earl J. Skarata, 49 years old, died suddenly early Sunday morning at his home on Boggs Lake road, near Commerce. He was well known in his community, as a member of the Methodist church, the Commerce Masonic lodge and an associate patron of the O. E. S. of Commerce.

He was an employee of the Oakland County road commission. Born at White Lake, July 2, 1891, he married Lucy Sprague in 1913. Surviving besides his widow is a son, Forest, and a daughter, Marie, of the home; and a sister, Mrs. Mildred Bachelor of Walled Lake; and two brothers, George of Commerce, and Frank of Milford.

Funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon at the Commerce church with the Rev. Andrew Niemann officiating.

GENERAL HUGH S. JOHNSON Says

Washington, D. C.
In a friendly debate with Major George Fielding Elliot on War possibilities, two of the principal schools of so-called thought were seen in pretty clear profile.

On a few basic guesses there was complete agreement; that this country is in no danger of invasion in the measurable future, that Germany will not be successful in an invasion of England this year and that her chance of doing it later will probably decline, that there is no prospect that England will lose her mastery of the ocean this year.

So much seems to be a pretty general consensus of opinion among military well informed students of the problem of war as they affect us. Beyond that, there is disagreement. Major Elliot, who is one of the most painstaking of our military critics is also one of the leaders of those who feel that it is our interest to "keep the war as far away from our shores as possible." He quotes the authorities to the general effect that the real line of defense of a great sea-power, "is the coast line of its possible enemies."

Between the two nations, as he correctly says, is control of every dominating point on all the oceans: England itself, Gibraltar, Suez, Aden, Singapore, Corregidor, Capetown, the Falkland Islands, Panama, Honduras, Hawaii and all the great American bases on both coasts. Coupled with the superiority of the two fleets, he thinks no land power can at length prevail. To all this he adds, and his adversaries agree, that England alone could never retake on land, the German conquests in northern Europe; that it could be done, if at all, only with a sea A.E.F. of millions, which he does not favor, and that Russia is no great threat on the German east flank.

To most of that, the opposing argument is "O.K., but how is the war to be won by Britain?" His premises have only one answer and he makes it frankly—economic domination of Germanyized Europe or a British blockade and battle in the German sea lanes, naval forces in Japan, in Asia and the Indies.

The only way to win, he says, is to attack Germany's economic life. He says that the only way to do this is to blockade Germany's sea lanes. He says that the only way to do this is to attack Germany's economic life. He says that the only way to do this is to blockade Germany's sea lanes.

There are two proposals. You pay your money and you take your choice. CONVOY SHIPS TO BRITAIN
We are going to convoy ships carrying aid to Britain. There is not much doubt that a provision in the lease-lend bill prohibiting the President from using American armed forces on the high seas to protect American property, would be an unconstitutional congressional interference with his constitutional power as commander in chief of the armed forces.

Just now, popular opinion is so much against convoys, which would be a direct venture into war, that it probably would not be attempted at present. But a most skillful job has been done of leading popular opinion closer and closer to war, and also of so timing action as not to offend it. It is easy to see how a change to favor convoys could occur.

Some time later in the year our industrial mobilization will begin to disgorge vast quantities of supplies. The British demand for them will be great. The lease-lend bill will be a law and there will be no financial or other hindrance to sending them. Also Hitler's major effort to blockade Britain on and under the sea will be at its peak and cargo sinkings will multiply.

Then we shall hear: "Are we just building ships and supplies for Hitler to sink? A ton of supplies on the docks of Liverpool can help win this war." Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harper and Mrs. Ed McLean of Northville, visited over the week end with Mr. Harper's mother in Harrison.

Favorite Horse
Show Pony Dies
A pony that was beloved by young and old villagers alike, having been a favorite in many a fall horse show at the Northville fairgrounds, has gone to the Big Rung. This pony was Toby, age 25 years, and proudly owned by Dick and Evelyn Ambler who have many a blue ribbon as evidence of Toby's winning qualities in the horse show ring.

And when Dick and Evelyn grew up beyond children's horse show age, Toby went into the ring for an "adopted" master. It was only two years ago that Toby was shown in the infant's class by Pat Austin, again, taking blue ribbon and trophy honors for a very small lot who couldn't have loved Toby more if Toby had been his very own. Toby had been retired this past season and had been let out to pasture near Kalamazoo. Here it was that Toby did his last grazing.

Bread for the workers of Michigan Modern methods and constant improvements of seed result in the high yield of wheat on Michigan farms. Among the new varieties introduced by Michigan State College is Bald Rock, a hardy, red, heat-tolerant wheat, well adapted to the climate.

YEAR after year some 900,000 of Michigan's fertile acres are sown to the great staple food crop—wheat. And most of it is winter wheat. Good farming methods, an intelligent State Government and an alert Michigan State College, have steadily increased the yield per acre. In 1940 it was 45% above the national average. Swift low-cost communication helps the Michigan farmer make a profit on his wheat. By telephone he can get advice from his County Agent, order seed and fertilizer, arrange for harvesting and threshing crews, and sell his grain and straw to advantage. Bread is the food of industry—a vital factor in national emergencies. Your Bell Telephone Company serves the nation's defense by bringing increased efficiency to the growing, storing, milling and marketing of wheat. MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

CARDS OF THANKS.

I wish to thank all the friends and neighbors for their kind expressions of sympathy, good cheer and flowers during my recent illness. Also I thank Dr. R. M. Atchinson, Sessions Hospital, F. A. M., Orient No. 77 and officers, Northville Fair Association and the Methodist church.

May I take this way of expressing my deepest appreciation for the many kindnesses extended to me while I have been in the hospital. The cards, flowers, puzzles and kindly ministrations of so many friends contributed much toward my recovery and happiness during the past weeks.

— Good Health is No Accident

Have you ever envied the "luck" that seems to keep a friend hale and hearty at all times? It isn't "luck". Good health is the natural result of following rigid rules under the experienced guidance of your physician. Don't take your health for granted. Be sensible about it and about the health of those dear to you. Consult your physician at regular periods. That is the kind of health insurance that pays big dividends in a long and happy life.

Saline Takes Tourney Game

Northville loses in first encounter at district meet in Ypsilanti

The Northville Mustangs were eliminated in the first tournament game last Thursday night at Ypsilanti by going to Saline high school.

The game was slow in starting and no baskets were made by either team until later in the first quarter.

The second half was unexciting until the last quarter when Northville made a futile last minute effort to forge ahead.

Throughout the game, Northville's ball handling and guarding were not so good as they were at the first of the basketball season.

The boys who substituted for the first string played a better brand of basketball while they were in there than the varsity.

Intramural Basketball The main grade girls have played 12 basketball games up to the tournament which started last week.

Team and Captain Games Won Wildcat, Edith Blake 16 Blue Dynamoes, Harney 16

Junior High Tournaments The junior high girls played their first game of their tournament Thursday, Mar. 6.
