$1.50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

STATE CAPITOL, Lansing — A medley of state topics occupies attention of the state legislature, now in its final week of session — national defense, school aid, the $200,000 biennial budget, revenue consolidation, dog racing and crippled and afflicted children.

Bi-partisan support is being given to an extensive program of state defense, as Michigan's part in national defense.

An 11-member council of defense, supported by a $50,000 appropriation, is to be created with general authority to coordinate state and local activities. The house approved the bill 83 to 6 after Republican and Democratic leaders pleaded for its enactment.

Shadow of the darkening war clouds was felt as legislators discussed the bill.

"If we knew the truth, we are at war and don't know it," reminded Rep. John P. Eppie of Eagle, chairman of the House ways and means committee. "The state police commissioner and the adjutant-general of Michigan have called this bill necessary. We don't know what faces us in the next few months."

Sheet of War
If the decision of Senator Prentiss M. Brown (D.) of St. Ignace is any index of Michigan public opinion, and Brown is expected to run for reelection next year, Michigan voters are still cool to the idea of America getting into a "shooting war" on the side of Britain.

Senator Brown has announced he is opposed to tax of the United States navy to convey defense products to Great Britain. Instead, he would turn over more destroyers and other naval craft to British and Canadian sailors of which an ample supply is said to be available.

In taking this stand Senator Brown is in agreement with Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R.) of Grand Rapids. Both Brown and Vandenberg voted against the selective service draft; Michigan representatives were overwhelmingly opposed to the act.

In giving his reason Senator Brown pointed out that the American people, as shown by frequent Gallup public opinion surveys, are opposed to an "all-out" participation in the European war with all that this would mean — transporting of a huge expeditionary force 2000 miles to a Nazi-dominated continent, unreserved use of our naval and air force, and a sky-high cost in our national debt.

Right or wrong, public opinion continues to influence the actions of men who depend upon ballot for re-election.

School Aid
More school aid for rural districts would be forthcoming under the Michigan education bill, now before the legislature.

The MEA formula of school aid, for example, would give Detroit only $500,000 more out of $46,600,000 than it received last year out of $41,600,000.

The minimum amount would be $200,000, an increase of a million dollars; the maximum would be $46,600,000. The former amount is more likely than the latter.

$200,000,000 Budget
State payrolls for the first quarter of the Van Wagner administration were substantially higher than for the same period a year ago.

Furthermore, a $40,000,000 budget is in prospect for the coming biennium. Governor Van Wagner asked the legislature to appropriate $20,000,000 and $20,000,000 to apply directly to retirement of the state's $28,000,000 debt. The legislature's decision, as shown by passage of a bill, the fourth in one month, would not earmark "definite money" for debt retirement but would take pot-luck with chances of surplus revenues.

The Bishop measure, already adopted by the senate, would prohibit expenditure by a state agency of any money in excess of the legislature's appropriation.

Governor Van Wagner would be without executive power to trim state spending through the budget director. All budget prerogatives would be held by the legislature. The "little legislature" council would be abolished; any emergency funds would require a special session of the legislature.

Tax Collections
A bi-partisan measure that faces a doubtful fate is a bill to consolidate tax collecting agencies.

Sponsors claim that the plan would effect an annual "saving" of $5,000,000 to $20,000,000. Critics say this is nonsense, that it would only clip Republican branches of state government of present prerogatives and that economies would be disappointingly small if any at all.

Governor Van Wagner has cast his support to the bill with a flat declaration that its defeat would be "outright betrayal" of the wishes of the people.

Dog Racing

Dog racing tracks in Michigan appear to have a fair chance.

Again, it is an old story of rural vs. city, plus a friendly interest in Floyd Fitzsimmons, Benton Harbor sports promoter.

Three times in past sessions the house of representatives has voted favorably for a Fitzsimmons-sponsored dog racing bill. And three times the state senate has applied the brakes.

This time it may be different. The bill for update vote exists in a provision that 90 per cent of the state revenue (Fitzsimmons believes Michigan could net $750,000) (Continued on back page)

Council Provides for Ordinance To Zone Village

Chamber of Commerce Pledges Support; T. Glenn Phillips Authorized To Drawup Plans

Make Large Maps

Councilmen voted Monday evening to take steps to adopt a zoning ordinance for the village of Northville.

Giving the authority to draw up a zoning plan adaptable to this particular village to T. Glenn Phillips of Northville, large maps will be made showing the location and use of each site and bridging in the village limits. This is the first step in the zoning process which will ultimately lead to the creation of a zoning board with the council as the final body of authority.

In starting a zoning plan for Northville, the council was assured Monday evening that it had the support of the Chamber of Commerce, a letter having been received from that group pledging aid when needed for such a project.

Mother WHOSE HANDS ARE UNTIRING

A war-torn nation pauses humbly to pay homage to the spirit of motherhood, thoughts of maternal drift emotionally to the name "Mother."

Beyond the name are the deeds and the actions, the unselfish love devoted not alone to those her own blood, but to all living things—it is to these that mankind gives praise.

Mother's hands are never idle, not until that last day when man carries them away from the home they have long loved. They represent her very spirit. They are tender, gentle, pathetic hands, possessed of some magical power to heal and comfort!

They have woven a little, shining needle in and out of sachet-scented baby garments, and softly caressed the tiny new head. The babe has ceased his crying and smiled.

They have, with tender firmness, guided the six-year-old's pink fingers to form "A."

They have compassionately wiped the tear-drops from fat young cheeks, and preferred a sugar cookie.

They have though weary, set the perfectly-appointed table for the evening meal, and cleaned the last speck from the best china.

They have, at sunset on Sabbath evenings, softly pressed the ivory keys to bring forth the appealing melody of beloved hymns.

They have been tightly clasped in supplication when the darkness of midnight enveloped a tired world, and little ones dreamed.

They have carried trays to the room where you could have heard a pin drop, trays with brown-capped custards, and nourishing broths. They have stroked the fevered head, and smoothed the pillow.

They have made futile, fluttering motions in grief when toil-stained hands would never be warm again, but have courageously swept away the scalding tears that pelted downward like spring rain.

They have passed like a benediction over the golden fuzz on the new grandson's head, and he, too, under their magical charm, has ceased his crying.

They are not just hands. Rather, they're just a different way of saying MOTHER!

Fisherman's Creed . . .

When Ira Turner expounded the stories of perch fishing up Charlevoix way, it recalled to our mind the following:

When the little aggravations seem to keep a plinn' up—
Till the bitter brew of hatred's fairly sloppin' from the cup,
When the pesky little worries and the things that sting your pride
Like a swarm of angry hornets are at-spirin' your hide
Then it's gittin' proper season that you take your line and pole
And do a little fishing for the savin' of your soul
Just find a quiet river an' go there an' make your peace
And see how Mother Nature gives man's soul a sweet release.
For the kind of God I worship ain't a God of bolts and doors,
An' I seem to find Him quicker on little river's shores.
Thought it'sful of a Sunday so the pious people say.
To take your snack and tackle and streak silently away.
Though He takes me of a Sunday I aye sure He'll understand
If it happens that He finds me with a fishpole in my hand.

Bathroom Headquarters . . .

Whenever a bored modern feels like piping himself, there should be consolation in singing the song of the bathroom. It is the most distinctive, the most luxurious and the most utilized institution of the modern American home.

We are the most bathed nation in the world, with 95 per cent of the world's tubs, according to Nation's Business, in its "Case for Constitution."

How did they ever get along in those primitive old homes without a bathroom? Where else but in the bathtub or under the shower would one burst into song in the early morning? Without all the brilliant matutinal ideas that have been generated standing in front of a shaving mirror, the nation would surely have sunk into intellectual bankruptcy.

Many a man who uses his bathroom as a casual reading room can remember the chill wintry blasts that punished him when he visited the quaint old sancties of his boyhood, decorated with wasp's nests and mail-order catalogues. In James Whitecomb Riley's words,

"The torture of that icy seat has made a Spartan sob."

I suppose the most famous letter ever written is a letter written by St. Paul (1 Cor. 13). In the authorized version, the Greek word is translated "Charity," but what St. Paul meant by charity was intellectual sympathy; the ability to understand fully how people can hold views exactly opposite to your own—William Lyon Phelps, professor emeritus of English literature at Yale University, in the current Rotarian magazine.

France Lost in 39 Days . . .

A short time ago Congressman Dondero sent us a release from the Congressional Record, which originally appeared in the Southern Lumber Journal. The first two paragraphs offer food for thought, as do all the rest. We give you here those first paragraphs. If they interest you turn to the Congressman's column and follow the trend of thought and background of the set up.

Democratic France lost its war against totalitarian Germany in exactly 39 days. It lost the war because the people of France were more interested in maintaining a 40-hour week than in saving their freedom by winning war. For the next 100 years, historians and novelists will present many reasons why France lost the war, but those who record the truth must always admit that France lost the war because her people would not work the long hours necessary to produce the fighting equipment and maintain the morale necessary to win.

France lost the war in 39 days because the German people worked long hours without complaint so that they might defeat France. Not even to save their country and their personal liberty would democratic Frenchmen work 12 or 10 or even 8 hours a day for 6 days a week. Forty hours was their limit. They were more concerned about maintaining politicians in power who would protect their 40-hour week than in putting their trust in statesmen who insisted that all France must work day and night to stem the invader.

EDITOR SAYS THAT WORKERS FIDDLE WHILE WORLD BURNS
Rep. Dondero Calls Attention to Analysis of Labor Situation in United States by Lumber Journal Editor

The following timely article pointing out some of the causes for France's downfall, from the March 27, 1941, issue of the Congressional Record, originally appeared in the March issue of the Southern Lumber Journal.

Democratic France lost its war against totalitarian Germany in exactly 39 days. It lost the war because the people were more interested in maintaining a 40-hour week than in saving their freedom by winning a war. For the next 100 years, historians and novelists will present many reasons why France lost the war but those who record the truth must always admit that France lost the war because her people would not work the long hours necessary to produce the fighting equipment and maintain the morale necessary to win.

France must work night and day to stem the invader.

A slow-moving Hitler gave France a rear or more to put its people to work. Instead, the French put their trust in an obscure Maginot Line that had a wide, undefended gap through which modern mechanized regiments of Germany poured like the rushing of water through a lifted sluice gate.

No wonder France was unarmed and untrained. Its people were wholly undisciplined. They were untrained and untrained. They were trained and untrained. They were trained and untrained. No country

Following the suggestion of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the thought of Mother's Day is broadened to include the Christian family and home. By many people the week beginning May 4 is being observed as "Christian Family week," special thought being given to such topics as family fellowship, family and neighborhood, and home improvement. It is being recognized that the family is the fundamental social unit, for ethical and spiritual growth and the training of responsible community attitudes.

A joint meeting of the Workers Conference and the Friendship Class will be held Tuesday evening, May 13, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Matheson. Following brief business sessions a social hour will be enjoyed.

both ends trying to get greater production, trying to get organized for the war they believe to be inevitable.

But the 40-hour-per-week factory workers, and all the rest of us, are just playing along as though the whole world were at peace. "We have 144 hours left each week for sleep and play, and we are sleeping and resting far less than if we worked another 20, or even 10, hours per week at the job of producing. During what it will take to help Britain win the war, and thus save our own lives."

Democracy in labor—the rights of individual contract, the right to employ the efficient, and to fire the drone—has given way to the autocracy of the worst gang of labor racketeers that any country has endured since the world began.

Labor "strikes" are rife in this country at a time when there should be peace in labor and capacity production of factories. Drunk with power because they have forced the reduction of the work-week to 40 hours without loss of income, labor leaders are now determined to force the closed shop upon all major industries before the national emergency ends.

The open-shop principle of employment is the American way of life. The closed-shop principle is the way to regimentation and the European way of life. The right of labor to organize is not even debatable. But the right of labor to organize as to rule by force those who must work and those who have the responsibility of ownership and management cannot be supported by any form of reasoning.

I have thought that the President would try to do two things: Stop labor racketeering on a wholesale scale and increase the work-week to 48 hours, without overtime pay, during the national emergency. But the only man in the United States who could do anything about the present emergency has done just nothing.

The Nation is drifting to drift and to suffer iron labor troubles which threaten to become worse. Will it take another war to restore the American people to their senses? I hope it will not.

2 Mother-Daughter Banquets To Be Held by Methodist and Lutheran Churches

With the Baptist mother-daughter banquet being a big event of last night, there are still two more such affairs to be held this week. Tonight will be the Methodist mother-daughter banquet in the church house; Sunday, the Lutheran mother-daughter banquet in St. Paul's Lutheran church house.

Some 200 persons are expected to attend tonight's banquet, when a program will be given, members of the sponsoring church participating, eliminating an out-of-town guest speaker.

The men of the Lutheran church will prepare and serve the dinner Sunday evening for the mothers and daughters.

Each organization of the church is to be represented at the banquet. Ervin Euders will represent the Walthier Leaguers; Miss Loretta Nagel and James Copland superintendent, will represent the Sunday School; the Ladies Aid will be represented by its president, Mrs. Arthur Schnute; and the pastor, the Rev. E. E. Rossow, will represent the men of the church.

St. Paul's choir, under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Miller, will sing and Henry Schmitz's orchestra will play. A poem will be recited by Marion Coonan. A toast to the mothers will be given by Ingene Baugman and Mrs. Albert Scheunemann will give the response for the mothers. Mrs. John Legerton of Toledo, O., will preside at the banquet.

The general chairman for the dinner is Cigré Delhoff. O. Neumann is chairman of the kitchen; and Walfred Steiner is chairman of the dining room. Arthur Miller, Arthur Schnute and Earl Baugman makeup the ticket committee. Mrs. Fred Steiner is program chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Liebrecht and daughter, Miss Faith, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Walker of Utica. Mrs. Walker is a niece of Mrs. Liebrecht.

June Bride-Elect

Jane Elizabeth Lentz

who has been the home economics teacher in the Northville high school for the past two years, will become the bride of Carl W. Esklund, son of Mrs. Adolph Esklund and the late Mr. Edlund of Ishpeming, in a chapel ceremony which will be held Saturday, June 21, in Ann Arbor. Miss Lentz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Lentz of Nashville, and is a graduate of the Michigan State College, East Lansing. Before coming to Northville she taught at Utica.

Mr. Esklund, formerly taught in Utica and is a graduate of the Northern State Teachers College at Marquette. This summer he will receive his M. A. degree from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. In due full Mr. Esklund will take up his duties as chefster for the Texas Oil Company at Brainerd, N.Y.

Service Leagues Elect Officers for Year

With the numbers of the Service Leagues met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. R. H. Bailey at 319 Rose, officers for the year were elected.

Mr. Russell M. Atchison is the new president. The other officers are Mrs. A. R. Clark, first vice-president; Mrs. Pauline L. Borden, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Walter S. O. de la Torre, assistant treasurer for the Auxiliary; Mrs. M. C. Cooper, Mrs. Arthur W. Miller and Mrs. Clarke.

Auxiliary Entertains District Members

In the U. S. Green Auxiliary was honored at its annual meeting of the Southern District of the American Legion Auxiliary, May 1, at the Utica Home. A luncheon was served at 1 p.m.

This was followed by a business meeting and installation of the new district officers. Mrs. William W. Johnson, Northville district commander, Mr. Arthur C. Clark, Northville district chairman, Mrs. Anna Johnson of Frank Weidmann, Unit 53, Royal Oak, district secretary; Mrs. William W. Johnson, Utica, first vice-president; Mr. Arthur C. Clark, Northville district chairman. The new John district representative will be held June 6 in Birmingham. Reservations are to be made with the manager of the local Legion Post.

The annual meeting and election of the Auxiliary will be held in Holyoke, July 7.

The next regular meeting of the U. S. Green Auxiliary, will be held Tuesday evening, May 13, at which time the Poppy Day program will be discussed. Girls' State Committee appointed and endorsement made for the district officer-in-chief.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR AIR

One of the significant differences between the war and peacetime departments is the hostility of navy brass to civilian secretary and control of their operations.

Deciding that the vastly expanded army air corps needed a central directing board, Simpson and Patterson selected Robert Lovett, New York banker and World War ace, for the job and had the President appoint him. There was no interference from the generals, and air corps chiefs got working harmoniously and effectively with their new civilian boss.

Navy brassards or the other brass are fighting tooth and nail to block a similar civilian intrusion into their gold-braced realm. Through high-powered lobbying operations in the house, the admirals voted into the $3,500,000 navy appropriations bill a provision that would make it impossible to name an assistant secretary for air.

The prohibitive clause is a very sticky piece of sizing. On its face it has no connection with the proposed civilian appointee. It merely bars the expenditure of navy funds "for any additional positions . . . at a rate of compensation in excess of $5,000 a year." The pay for an assistant secretary is $8,000 a year.

Miss Ardis Crosby, who has been the board of education secretary for the past two years, is leaving May 15, to accept a position with the Hammer Brothers, Inc., in the Curio building, Detroit. Replacing Miss Crosby will be Miss Margaret Van Heimont, a member of the Class of 1938. Since her graduation from the Northville high school Miss Van Heimont has been working at the Ford Hospital.

A Chinese luncheon will be served with the appointments being in keeping with the theme. The Rev. Dr. Howard R. Chapman will review "Dangerous Opportunity," a Mrs. Charles Carrington was the assistant hostess.

The semi-monthly meeting of the North Yerkes Auxiliary was held Tuesday evening, May 6, at the home of Miss Virginia Price, where Mrs. Charles Carrington was the assistant hostess.

TERRITORIAL BASES

The island bases of the United States are now considered our best safeguard against invasion. But army and navy brasshats get a scorching rebuke in a report prepared by the house appropriators subcommittee that inspected territorial bases.

Written by Rep. James G. Scrugham of Nevada, chairman of the group, the report recommends the immediate creation of an "independent air force." This would be directed to correct two chief abuses.

The location of army and navy bases almost side by side in flat, exposed country, thus inviting destruction by enemy bombs.

(2) Failure to build hangars, repair stations and other facilities adequately.

Regarding the first criticism, the Scrugham report states: "This practice of exposing highly vulnerable industrial structures to very limited areas cannot be tolerated." It goes on to say: "To go around and do it in our bases is to commit in error of greatest consequence. This is as true in our bases as it is in our cultural centers."

The location of the destruction of the U.S. Air Force by the Germans in the beginning of the war seems to have gone entirely unheeded by the aeronautic bureau chiefs responsible. In a flat country, protected air facilities may be important, but where there are adjacent hills, it seems reasonable to do nothing but move them out of the way.

Scrubham's conclusions are that a "tragedy of the first magnitude" may develop unless immediate steps are taken to rectify conditions at the territorial bases. His solution is the generalization of all military air forces under a single head with cabinet rank.

One of the significant differences between the war and peacetime departments is the hostility of navy brass to civilian secretary and control of their operations.

Deciding that the vastly expanded army air corps needed a central directing board, Simpson and Patterson selected Robert Lovett, New York banker and World War ace, for the job and had the President appoint him. There was no interference from the generals, and air corps chiefs got working harmoniously and effectively with their new civilian boss.

Navy brassards or the other brass are fighting tooth and nail to block a similar civilian intrusion into their gold-braced realm.

Through high-powered lobbying operations in the house, the admirals voted into the $3,500,000 navy appropriations bill a provision that would make it impossible to name an assistant secretary for air.

As far as crop protection goes, experience proves you can't do better on crab control than to spray with either du Pont SULFORON or Flotation Sulfur. And for cooling with NuREXFORM has an established reputation for safety and high kill. But in addition you'll find all three are special, fine-particle sprays that end the time and labor-consuming nuisance of clogged screens and nozzles.

That's why we say—if you must get along short handed this season, save time and worry by ordering "du Pont" the sprays that assure effectiveness plus ease of application.

How to Make an Investment in Happiness

Summer cottages, camps and lodges are investments which pay big dividends in happiness, rest, comfort and recreation.

The most trying times of the year are the long, hot days and close, sultry nights. Why bear it longer when at a cost within your reach and desires, you can have a real summer home of your own. A big investment is not necessary and it will surprise you to know how a very small amount will build such a comfortable and substantial summer home. We have many plans to choose from. Annual J-Hop Is Colorful Affair; Nautical Motif Used in Decorations

Here is your long-awaited from Lemmon with another report. Debra Blanche Miller and Harold Schoutz; Marie Parmentier and Harold McCarthy; Carrel Carlson Friday, May 2. Boarding the with Gis Hansen of Plymouth, Thelma Greer and Bill Ronk were seen to say nothing of their wearers. The formal were of a Bennett; Gladys Clark and Gordon Stewart; Louis Babbitt and Gloria Curran, Bob Hunter and Dolores Walker. In previous years the business men have responded liberally.

Max; Dick Simmons with Barbara Simmons; George Hunter and Doris Orr; Howard Rogers and Jean McCollough; Harold Hubbard and Thelma Trapp; Clark Armstrong and Lois Church; and Carter Church and Dorothy Trapp.

We think it is only right that we should start with the juniors since it was their dance. Leading the grand march was the class president, Marlene Coe, and her date, Jim LaRue; then came the vice-president, Bob Stremich, and Ruth Frank; a senior, Laura Jean Lutzenberger, the secretary, came next with Jimmy Hickey of Plymouth. Merna Hubbard, the treasurer, was dated by senior Sid Junod. The other juniors there were Shirley Musolff and Dick Davis; Maxine

In the first away baseball game

Thursday, May 1 at Trenton, the Mustangs lost to their opponents but this year a new goal has been achieved.

The Palladium staff informed us that the committees are making satisfactory progress. We intend to publish a book "bigger and better" than ever. The possibility of this is furthered by the proceeds from advertising. We appreciate this cooperation and take this opportunity to extend our heartfelt thanks to the worthy contributors of the year book.

The Northville high golf team lost another match with Fordson Monday, May 5, by the score of 17-4. The team has improved much since their first encounter; Bob Ross has continned to be the lowest Mustang so far, having an 84 for Monday's game. Monday's match was played at Plym Hilltop. Evans again had the lowest score for Fordson with an 81.

The Drama Department is giving a free dance Friday, May 9.

The dance will be from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Lester Current's 14-piece orchestra will play the music.

The sale of Palladiums is going fine. The members of the council have already sold 154.

All eleventh grade English classes had a cook reports Monday, May 5. There will be one more book report to be handed in before the end of this term.

Joan McCollough won the emblem contest that was sponsored by the Student Council. The purpose of the contest was to get a school emblem that could be used on the fronts of the 1941 Palladium. It will be used for other purposes in the future.

Evelyn Wenker is absent from school because of an operation on her leg. It was injured last winter in a snowball accident.

The Northville Band played at the library for the flag raising ceremony last Tuesday, May 6.

The band will play at the opening of the summer recreational program at 6 p.m. Monday, May 12.

Report cards were handed out this morning.

The sophomore class ring committee consisting of Walter Reid,

Bud Murray, Dorothy Small, and Zos Sutton met last Wednesday and chose their class rings. Special premiums will be given to the students who have their order in before June 10. The ring is yellow gold with the numbers 1943 and

"N" in black enamel.

The Home Making II class students are busy working on their dresses which will be shown in the show May 28. Editha Grover is the first one finished. Having made a princess style dress of blue skirt.

Ten students from the recuperative physics class went to the South

Mile Battery company on the 12-mile road. They saw how the old batteries were torn down and rebuilt and saw all different parts of the battery. Mr. Newell is the procurator. The drivers were George White and Mr. Henshaw. They were gone all of the time and six hours.

Several of the seniors have received their snapshots that were taken in Washington. A representative group of the pictures will appear in the 1941 Palladium.

Miss Ruth Pierce's third graders had a birthday party for Mary Ann

Ayers. They wish to thank Mrs.

Hill for the fine party given to them.
