• The American's Creed

(Cut this out and paste in your hat.)

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

... I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

—WILLIAM TYLER PAGE
Adopted by Act of Congress April 6, 1917

• Pull No Punches

Pulling no punches in its deep concern over the safety of the nation, the national executive committee of The American Legion, by a unanimous vote at the closing session of its annual meeting at national headquarters May 2 adopted resolutions expressed in straight-from-the-shoulder language, calling for:

1. Use of the United States Navy to insure the safe delivery of aid to Great Britain and her allies;

Resignation of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins;

3. Frank statement by the President of all the facts constituting immediate danger to the country;

4. Legislation outlawing strikes and lockouts during the period of the present national emergency.

5. Cooperation of organized labor, all citizens and authorities in voluntarily foregoing defense work stoppage and the ousting of all disloyal individuals and elements from defense industries.

The national executive committee is the governing body of The American Legion between national conventions. It represents the leaderships of the 58 departments, 1,772 posts and a 1941 membership of 1,011,545 which is the highest enrollment ever recorded on May 2 in the 22-year history of The American Legion.

In giving consideration to the matter of adequate alleys in the business district the council is tackling a problem that appears to be a positive necessity in the near future. Blind alleys, cornered alleys, and no alleys, are a hindrance to business, increase fire hazards, and add untold inconvenience to pedestrians and motorists. A truck unload at the curb. Once having established other alleys with reasonable attention to policing them, the prognosis of the situation helps considerable on insurance rates. All add to community health, wealth and convenience.

Socialism, Fascism?

It is a memory of World War profits, which brought a crop of more than 10,000 millionaires between 1914 and 1917, that prompts labor to suspect management is not giving the worker a fair share of these profits.

Management answers by pointing to the soaring toll which federal taxes are exacting.

What will be the final outcome of this internal dissension?

Will it be more centralized control such as further state socialism or possibly an adaption of fascism to meet American attitudes?

These are questions which thinking Americans, no doubt, are asking themselves today. Public opinion influenced by events more so than words, will supply the answer.

LANDSCAPING

A portion of the proceeds from the carnival, which was held not long ago at the Novi school together with an equal amount given by the Board of Education has made it possible for a landscaping project to be partially completed at the school.

A request for a landscaping plan which was sent to L. O. Gregg, extension specialist in landscaping at Michigan State College was promptly answered and planting began as soon as possible.

A total of approximately 100 plantings has been completed to date.

The tenth grade English assignments have included many letters and themes.

They have almost finished their work book in general science and will soon begin to have a review.

Everyone is looking forward to graduation which will be held Wednesday, June 11. Betty Brooks has achieved the honor of being valedictorian of the 1941 class. Joan Meder is the salutatorian.

The ninth graders have finished their science work books and expect to have a test over Unit Ten Monday. They will spend two or three weeks in review preparing for the semester test. In addition, they will have a test on Monday also.

The girls' baseball team of Novi school played New Hudson May 13, and lost by a large score. Even though they put in quite a few substitutes and changed positions quite often it was of no use. One of the star players was Margaret Ann Hill, the catcher, who had no errors marked against her.

The tenth grade girls who played softball at New Hudson Tuesday were: Priscilla Oliphant, pitcher and first baseman; Irene Fox, left field; Margaret Sequin, substitute for Doris Wendlund on third base; and Jean MacCormack, pitcher and third baseman.

In mathematics they are learning how to find square root.

They are writing letters in English to L. O. Gregg, who is an extension specialist in landscaping. The best letter will be typewritten and sent. Mr. Gregg is the man who made the plan for landscaping the school grounds.

In English, the fifth and sixth graders wrote book reports and made attractive covers for them.

Their indoor garden is growing nicely.

In arithmetic, the sixth grade has been having measurements and denominations numbers.

The third graders are reading their third book "Interesting Things to Know."

The third and fourth grades have bought a number of small colored Pictures for picture study.

Lillian Hanson is absent because of whooping cough.

Daniel Spitsak of the fourth grade has a broken arm.

The rhythm band can now play all of the "Mistust in G".

One of the second grade reading classes has just started a new book, "Friendly Village."

The second grade cut out and pasted deep sea pictures this week.

The first grade made big fish.

Part of the first graders are now reading "Our New Friends."

The beginners were very sorry to hear that Alvin Whistle was ill.

The class wrote letters to him expressing their regrets.

The children were very much interested in a kitten Joyce Meuer brought to school. They learned how the kitten protected itself and how it ate. We hope that other children will bring their small pets to school so that we can enjoy observing them.

Alfalfa silage and other grass silages were used in scattered areas throughout Michigan last year and from the amount of interest expressed an even wider use is expected during the coming season.

Alfalfa silage, especially when made from a late crop, will the addition of molasses, is high in moisture content and exerts considerably higher pressure against silo walls than does ordinary corn silage. Therefore, some attention must be paid to the silo and its condition. It should be well reinforced with steel bars or hoops, not too tall, and have a successful record of holding corn silage. In case of extremely tall silos or other situations where there is no record of reinforcing and no way of checking, it may be necessary to place extra reinforcing around it for a part of its height. This is especially true where the silo is to be filled entirely to the top with one run of grass silage.

Information on necessary reinforcing to be added may be obtained from the Department of Agriculture, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Enjoy ELECTRIC HOT WATER IN YOUR HOME

For refreshing baths or showers, for washing, shaving, cooking, housecleaning, dishes, the laundry, you need hot water many times a day. ELECTRIC water heating provides it automatically, the minute you want it. Ask about this service at any Detroit Edison office—or see your plumber, electrical dealer, hardware or department store today. The Detroit Edison Company.

A "THINKING" TEAKETTLE
...just in case you forget!

This clever teakettle has a special "pop-out" plug to guard against damage to the heating element. If negligence lets the water boil too low, the kettle shuts itself off. To save running back and forth, you can use the kettle anywhere in the house. Simply plug it into the nearest convenience outlet. $4.95 at any Detroit Edison office (for Detroit Edison customers only).

Experience Tea Is Attended by 36 Villagers Monday Afternoon at Home of Mrs. Ralph Hay

The home of Mrs. Ralph L. Hay was the scene Monday afternoon of an "experience" tea attended by 36 members of the Northville Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

Mr. Joseph Denton was chairman of arrangements and her assistants were Mrs. Fred Hogman, Mrs. Elmer Kates and Mrs. Harry Cassie. Tea was served from an attractively appointed table where a lace cloth formed the setting for a silver box filled with yellow tulips and honeysuckles. This was flanked by candelabra. Large bouquets of garden flowers were used throughout the rooms.

Each member of the organization brought to the tea a dollar which she had earned during the year. The program of the afternoon was the telling of the earning of the dollars by the club members.

ONE day a year isn't very much. It's not a lot of time to think earnestly of the thousands of men who, wounded in the World War, have spent the last twenty-three years in pain and agony, crippled and maimed, in hospitals and homes throughout the country. You see, it's for those men that Poppy Day is observed each year. They make those little poppies themselves and their scarlet hue is no brighter than the blood these men have shed for their country — for you and your family. The proceeds from the sale of these poppies goes to provide a few little comforts for the men who make them. Isn't it worth a nickel or a dime or a quarter or a dollar when these men have given so much more than money could ever repay?

Friday and Saturday are Poppy Days. Throughout Northville several women who volunteer their services will stand on various corners with these poppies. You can have one for any amount that you care to give. And remember — even if you can afford only a few pennies — Be a True American; Remember Poppy Day!

Congressional Comment

by Representative George A. Dondero

in Michigan

Current Tax Proposals

Undoubtedly the most important legislatice problem before Congress at the present time is that of constructing a new tax law which will raise at least $3 billion dollars above the collections of the 1940 schedule and that this increase will only meet a fraction of the appropriations made to finance our own national defense effort and extend aid to Great Britain. The difference will be covered by borrowings and be added to the public debt.

An increase in the tax on cigar ettes from $2.25 a thousand to $4

a thousand; increase in the beer tax to 7¢ a barrel and in the whisky tax to $4 a gallon, an increase of $1 in each instance.

A tax of 2 cents on each bank

check; a tax on admission tickets costing more than 9 cents, a contribution to the present tax which ap-piles only to tickets costing 20 cents or more; increased taxes on telephone bills; a tax of 5 per cent on passenger transportation fares; an increase from 11 to 20 per cent on safety-deposit boxes; and upwardly revised taxes on many other items and the imposition of excise taxes on heretofore exempt com-mmodities and services.

In any consideration of the new tax proposals it must be remembered that they have as their object

the raising of the Federal revenues about $3½ billion dollars

above the collections of the 1940

schedule and that this increase will only meet a fraction of the appropriations made to finance our own national defense effort and extend aid to Great Britain. The difference will be covered by borrowings and be added to the public debt.

We'll be glad to make an estimate

ments without missing the money

ing gum and candy, a 10 per cent or more; increased taxes on telephone bills; a tax of 5 per cent on passenger transportation fares; an increase from 11 to 20 per cent on safety-deposit boxes; and upwardly revised taxes on many other items and the imposition of excise taxes on heretofore exempt commodities and services.

Draftee Gives Account of Army Life at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Note: Following is a letter received from Carlton G. Denton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Denton, who is a corporal in the headquarters battery at Fort Sheridan, Ill. He tells something of army life and the construction of the training base at Fort Sheridan.

It is about seven weeks since the 210th Coast Artillery (AA) arrived at Fort Sheridan. When the regiment arrived here they were surprised to find that the area assigned to the 210th was still under construction. The regiment was assigned to temporary barracks as to these barracks just fly up when the respective batteries. A word or two on this. The regiment is divided into the following batteries: We have our own radio station here. A Regimental Headquarters Battery, operated by our communications first Battalion Headquarters and section with anyone in the regiment. Combat Training Battery, Battery "A," the searchlight battery, Battery "B," "C," "D" the gun batteries; a Second Battalion Headquarters Battery, and batteries "E," "F," "G," and "H" the gun and automatic weapons batteries.

The regiment was assigned to temporary quarters for about one week and then the assigning of its permanent quarters began. The 210th made short work of transforming the area assigned to it. There was plenty of mud as there is in all newly constructed camps, and the beams of light whose source is an incandescent lamp of 100,000 candle power are thrown by fifty inch glass reflectors, penetrating the darkness. These solid beams of light penetrate without getting its feet wet or muddy. In spite of what the weather may be, it is to be sent and the "Hams" nearest the person to whom it is to be sent.

There are about 750 men in this regiment and it is expected that this number will be increased to about 1,000 when the soldiers are assigned to it later on.

We are situated in an ideal spot on this post which is beside Lake Michigan. There is a beautiful beach and the area of the 210th is wooded and presents an ideal picture of camp life.

On the Sabbath day there are services for each denomination. Our Chaplain, Charles W. Hughes, arranges for Hebrew services which are held in Glenco, Ill. Then he takes care of the necessary details for those desiring to attend Catholic mass, he holds an Episcopalian Confirmation service in our regimental recreation hall, which is aptly called "The Little Cathedral" at 9 a.m. Then at 11 a.m. the Chaplain conducts an non-denominational service which is attended by almost everyone who did not attend an earlier or different service.
