Synthetic Rubber Gains Importance

As an important contribution toward fortifying the nation's needs, The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company has made increases in its facilities for manufacturing its synthetic rubber, Chemigum, according to J. Austin Oil Company and Frank Boxer local Goodyear dealers. For three and a half years the company developed and produced its own type of chemical rubber in its laboratories, and production began last fall. First new plant for production of synthetic rubber by any rubber company was completed in Mexico. Goodyear's tire plants in Akron, this company was one of four named by the Federal Defense Plant Corp. to build factories costing $1,250,000 each which will have initial production of 2,500 tons yearly, later capable of being stepped up to 10,000 tons output. Chemigum resulted from the exploration of more than 300 different compounds involving thousands of tests. Cooperating in these experiments which now have produced a highly satisfactory synthetic rubber were a score of skilled chemists, engineers and rubber compounders. Tested in a rigorous program conducted by Goodyear since 1937, Chemigum tires have given a superior performance to those made of German Buna and equal to those made of natural rubber. Important among its advantages are its increased tensile strength, resistance to aging, abrasion and oils, and utilization of the same production methods and equipment currently in use with natural rubber. The synthetic rubber is much more resistant to oxidation than natural rubber. In its first uses, Chemigum demonstrated definite superiority over natural rubber in the manufacture of Goodyear gasoline hose, airplane brakes, gaskets, sealing rings and other products. Then began its outstanding performance in the making synthetic rubber tires.

Book on Sports Listed for Book Fans by Library

Books on outdoor life and sports have been given places of prominence on library shelves this week and may be interloaned through the Northville Branch of the Wayne County Library. Included on the suggested list are:

"The River Pasture" - Judy Van der Veer. The author writes chiefly about the animals on a California farm, which she humanizes without being sentimental.

"The World Was My Garden" - D. G. Fairchild. As a young and ardent botanist, the author had the opportunity to travel over most of the world in search of plants which might enrich this country. His story was more than the usual travel interest.

"An Almanac for Moderns" - D. C. Peattie. It gives observations pertinent to the day and the season and philosophic reflections on nature and science.

"Gone Rustle" - Cecil Roberts. This is a hearty, amusing account of the author's search for a country home and his adventures in making a garden.

PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

Proclamation

WHEREAS the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 authorized the President to fix the time and place for the registration of every male citizen of the United States and of every male alien residing in the United States, who on the day fixed for such registration or any subsequent registration is between the ages of 21 and 26 years;

WHEREAS the State of Michigan, on October 16, 1940, efficiently and patriotically carried out its obligations and privileges under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 and the President's Proclamation;

WHEREAS a Second Registration under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 is now required in the interest of national defense;

WHEREAS Franklin D. Roosevelt, the President of the United States, has on the 26th day of May proclaimed that the Second Registration under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 shall take place in the United States, the Territory of Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Territory of Alaska on the first day of July, 1941, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, MURRAY D. VAN WAGONER, Governor of Michigan, in recognition of the basic principle that in a free society the obligations and privileges of military training and service should be shared generally in accordance with a fair and just system of selective compulsory military training and service, do hereby proclaim the following:

1. All residents of the State of Michigan are requested to comply fully and willingly, as in the past, with the provisions of the President's proclamation setting the first day of July, 1941, as the Second Registration Day under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940.

2. Every resident of Michigan subject to registration on that date in accordance with the provisions of the President's proclamation shall present himself for and submit to registration before a duly designated Selective Service Local Board having jurisdiction in the area, in which he has his permanent home, or in which he may happen to be, on that date.

3. Public officials and employees of the State and other agents of the United States are expected and particularly local officials and their agents, the Michigan Selective Service System are expected to cooperate and perform all acts necessary to accomplish effective and complete registration.

All employers and governmental agencies are urged to cooperate with the Local Boards of the Selective Service System in securing complete registration by giving their employees the day and time for registration without time which to fulfill their obligations to register.

I specifically call upon all the great news disseminating agencies of the press and radio to lend their utmost efforts to make known to all the people the provisions of the President's proclamation and the facilities for registration in each Selective Service Local Board area.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Michigan this eighteenth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred forty-one and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and fifth.

Novi Fruit Grower Tells Demands of Teamsters' Union

A union demand that George R. Summons, a Novi township fruit grower, join the teamsters' union in order to dispose of his fruit at the Union Produce Terminal in Detroit, came to the attention of Congress when Congressman George Dundero read this letter in the U. S. House of Representatives.

The letter follows:

"We have been selling our apples at the Union Produce Terminal in Detroit and were informed this morning by a representative of the union that we (the owners) would have to join the teamsters union or we would not be allowed to haul our own produce or haul away our empty crates, $25 to four, and $2 per month, dues."

"I believe you are acquainted with the situation, and know what the fruit growers are up against. It has been a struggle to make ends meet for the past several years. Please advise me if this condition is going to be allowed to exist. Is this the kind of democracy we are going all-out to defend and maintain?"

"I am a World War veteran, treasurer of Novi township, and have been growing fruit on this place for the past 30 years."

Commenting upon the letter, Rep. Dundero said: "If government, local, state or national will not protect the American farmer in his efforts to sell the products of his own labor from that kind of racketeering, then the time is not far distant when he will be forced to unite and invoke the age-old rule that self-preservation is the first law of nature."

Mrs. George Robert Langford (nee Elizabeth Hege) received her bachelor of arts degree Saturday, June 21 at the University, Ann Arbor, commencement exercises. Two other Northville persons received degrees. Robert C. Christensen was granted his doctor of medicine, and Thomas F. Carrington, Jr., received his master of business administration.

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Barley of Fairport, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. George W. Barley of Union Lake, attended the Belle Court reunion and called on former friends in and around the village.

Kendall Willis left Sunday for Camp Al-Gou-Quin, Fort Lake, where he will be assistant fiddler, and David Willis leaves today to spend an eight-week camp period there.

Valedictorian and Salutatorian Speak for the Class of 1941

Valedictorian Bids Farewell to Graduates

Says Seniors Know They Can't Get Something for Nothing

The speech given by the valedictorian of the Class of 1941, is reprinted here. It was heard last Thursday evening, June 19, by more than 1,000 persons who attended the commencement exercises.

By Edward Erwin
Tonight we 68 seniors are finishing our high school days. This parting is a solemn occasion for us. We will never again be together as a class after tonight.

er as a class after tonight. Although many of the friendships which we have made in school will be continued on through life, many more will be ended.

But we are also starting a second phase of our lives. This is a bigger phase and all our lives have been spent up to the present time in preparing for it. It won't be easy and we realize we won't be immediate successes in it. But we are looking forward to it. We are looking forward to it because of the uncertainties it holds and the challenge it makes of our abilities.

Before now we have led sheltered lives which were for the greater part planned for us by our parents and teachers. But we now cast off all the restraints and guidance of our teachers. Our parents will still control us to varying degrees, but this will gradually relax until we are on our own. This does not mean we will stop depending on anyone else for guidance and advice, but it does mean the final decision will be left to us.

The purpose of school was not solely to teach us the quadratic formula or how to balance chemical equations, but to give us reasoning power and develop our natural abilities. Although we might never again see a chemical equation, the method used in reasoning the solution to one will have gained a place in our minds to be applied in the solving of some practical problem in real life, even though it has no relationship whatever with chemistry. A large share of the value we get from school is that it rounds us out mentally so that we may live better lives.

These last four years in high school have been happy years. It has been fun working together and making trips together. The plays we have produced and the business ventures we have entered, didn't just give us a financial return; they gave us practice in business, the pleasure of cooperation, and pride of workmanship when they were especially successful. The trip to Washington was the climax of our working and saving and now we all feel it was worth the effort put into getting ready for it.

We want to thank our parents and teachers and all the people who made our high school education possible. We realize we taxed their patience greatly some times by our actions or lack of action and therefore we feel very grateful to them for sticking with us to the finish. We have now reached our stepping stone toward the making of a successful life. School is not an end in itself, but only a tool to be used in gaining a greater goal, a successful life.

Salutatorian Gives Credit to Parents

Class Is Ready To Start Second Important Phase of Life

Following is the speech by the class salutatorian which was given last Thursday evening, June 19, at the commencement exercises held at the fairgrounds.

By Frank Eaton
It is with great pleasure that we seniors welcome you, our parents, teachers and friends. We know that this event in our lives is almost as important to you as it is to us. We are not for your guidance and unselfish interest, we could never have reached this stage of our lives.

As seniors each one of us probably has an individual outlook on the years to come. Some believe in living the day and letting tomorrow take care of itself, others have elaborate plans for the future, but none of us can deny the truth of our class motto which is: "Your ship will never come in unless you send it out." We know, whether we know it or not, that we can't get something for nothing. The benefits from school during the last few years have gone to those who sent their ships out. No matter how lucky or fortunate a person is, he won't derive the things that really count in life unless by his efforts he tries honestly to get ahead in this world.

We have all heard of people living on benefits handed through efforts other than their own, but it is the people who live on returns from their own resourcefulness who are the happiest. These are the ones who get the true meaning of life.

But nearly as important as our class motto is the fact that here in our United States each individual's efforts not only help others but is bound to benefit himself. Few of us realize that even during uncertain times such as these we can go forth assured that our efforts will be unopposed and not limited or restricted in any way.

As I see it, we also wish many other graduates to have had one of the best of lives, a life given by the United States and its people, a life that is free and secure, a life that is full of opportunity and hope.
