LANSING—If you haven't discovered it already, something has happened to Main Street in Michigan during the past few years.

Formerly the fact that Main Street has been growing faster than Broadway, according to the 1930 census.

The 1930-1940 depression decade marked the first break in 140 years of constant trend toward urbanization of America. For the first time in a century and a half, more folks have been moving into rural and suburban areas than into the cities.

This trend towards small towns and rural areas has been noticeable, for the rate of rural growth has been almost three times as great in urban as in rural regions. More and more city dwellers have been going "to the country" for their homes. Many small towns at the fringe of large cities have boomed during the depression, largely because of the human quest for happiness in a more peaceful and less crowded environment.

Highways, Autos
Rural living has become more urban in character because of the automobile, radio, and motion pictures and the advent of good roads and electricity.

Main street has the same technicolor pictures in its movie houses as Broadway, the price is 25 cents instead of 50 or 75.

Small town girls wear latest Hollywood dresses; they read the same style news in Vogue as their city cousins. And while the small town stores do not carry such a complete line, the prices are "in line" with the customer's pocketbook, and if the merchant is not enterprising enough to tell the customer what he has, then there's always a near-by progressive city with merchants who do, and the V-8 doesn't take long to get there.

The old livery stable has been replaced by an automobile garage and if the Reader's Digest is right, small town garages give the customer the most for his money. The corner drugstore has neon lights in the window, and the juke box plays the latest tunes for a nickel. Life isn't so bad.

Empty Houses Scarce
Any Michigan country editor will tell you, empty houses are pretty scarce in small towns.

We'll let Don Cochrane, editor of the Hartland Day Spur in Van Buren county, tell his observations about a southeastern Michigan town of 1,094 population.

"This community has more than held its own in the better of small towns. Each census since 1930 (and before that matter) shows that Hartland recorded growth. During the last census period, 1930 to 1940, that growth was substantial, not only in population gain but in new building construction and new enterprises. Today there is scarcely an empty building, business or residential, in the town."

Hartford at one time had two bakeries, both small compared to the one just ahead. It also had a laundry, and if memory serves the writer, eight two-hundredies operated here for a time. But that was before Hartford had a garage or an oil station. It was before the days of the modern theatre, about the time that the first soda fountain came to town. It was way back when one restaurant instead of four catered to the public's appetite.

A majority of towns lost their bakeries, laundries and livery barns before Hartford did. But new enterprises, created by the changing times and affording employment to more people, have taken their place.

The future of the small towns is by no means dark. Indeed, with the persistent trend, away from the congested metropolitan areas, which is due in part to transportation facilities, the future of the less populous communities—where life is worth living—is brighter as compared to the cities than at any time in history.

The Hartford editor quotes William H. Berkey, editor at Cassopolis, as saying that the "business readjustment which followed in the wake of the automobile and made good roads has robbed the small town of some of its encumbrances," but Cochrane makes the point that "it has brought it other and newer ones, in newer forms of activity, enterprise and is continuing to new residents, new assets. Life in the small town is less drab, less circumscribed, than before that business readjustment."

Decentralization
"Problems of Small Business," a monograph prepared for the Temporary National Economic Committee at Washington, hall's the development of rural sections as an industrial boom.

American industry is becoming more diffused and diversified. Chicago, for example, has declined as a meat packing center from 36.6 percent of the national total in 1889 to 18.3 per cent in 1940. Philadelphia's rug and carpet manufacture has dropped from 45.6 per cent to

Registration Ends for Walled Lake High School Today

School Starts Wednesday, Sept. 3; New 85-Passenger Bus To Operate in District

Teachers Are Named

Registration will be completed today for high school students who will attend the Walled Lake school. Grade and senior high students will enroll the first day of school Wednesday, Sept. 3, Supt. G. A. Hoffman announced today.

Pupils below the sixth grade are to attend either the Walled Lake, Union Lake, or Commerce school, depending upon residence. Mr. Hoffman says All sixth graders of the district will be taken care of this year in the Walled Lake building.

If parents expect their children to be brought home on the school bus Wednesday afternoon, they must send their children by bus at 8 a.m. The bus routes will be practically the same as they were at the close of last year. One new passenger bus has replaced a small old vehicle. Any pupil who finds a route or more from the school building is entitled to transportation.

Non-residents cannot be transported by Walled Lake but Mr. Hoffman explains.

The teaching staff for the Walled Lake school is complete and the following assignments have been made:

Fair Attractions Put Exhibit Space at Premium Early

6 Regular Performances Scheduled for World's Third Largest Rodeo; Children To Attend Special Matinee

Midway To Be Large

With only 12 days remaining before the gates open for the twenty-fourth Northville Wayne County Fair, Nelson C. Schrader, president, said today that as much space as was sold last year has been taken by exhibitors and concessions for the five-day exposition, Sept. 10-14. Before the end of the week it is expected that space will be at a premium.

The rodeo, the world's third largest, will be the entertainment feature this year with its 60 colorful dressed cowboys and girls who will do daring feats for the grandstanders. These performers represent 17 states. Some 200 head of cattle and horses will perform in the show which will last two and a half hours.

There are to be six regular performances each day of the rodeo, one each of the five evenings of the fair beginning at 6 o'clock. There will be a 2:30 o'clock matinee Sunday. In addition there will be a special children's matinee the day the fair opens, Wednesday, Sept. 10. Children from all over Wayne county will attend the opening day. They will be admitted to the gate for 20 cents each child under 12 years of age and free to those 12 and over.

An animal to children from the Northville Training School for Delinquent Boys and Girls will be free freight alredy paid. The ticket will be free to 11-year-olds. Thursday is to be a youth day. It is understood that the Plymouth state will close for the afternoon.

New Gulf Station Nears Completion

Orson Atchinson Has Leased Service Station Built by Silkworth Company

Northville's New Gulf Service is rapidly nearing completion and according to Manager Orson Atchinson, grand opening is planned for the near future, the exact date depending upon arrival of equipment and supplies.

The new station, Northville's new and most modern service, has been erected at the corner of Wing and W. Main, during the past three months by the Silkworth Company of Ypsilanti and leased to Orson Atchinson of Plymouth, who until some months ago was connected with the Shell station on the Plymouth road.

Mr. Atchinson takes over a brand new station representing an original investment in building and property approximating $20,000.00 and equipment cost of more than $2,500.00, giving to Northville an outstanding complete one-stop service station, with everything new and modern to the very last minute, for greasing, polishing, lubricating and battery service. Working Certificates Are Issued to High School Boys and Girls

The Northville school administration is wondering whether there will be a decrease in the high school enrollment in September brought about by the increase in the number of jobs which are available to persons of school age.

Jobs left vacant by 2123 who have gone off to army training are being filled by young men and women who are too young to be drafted. Until the enrollment tabulation is made, it cannot be determined, whether or not fewer students will attend high school here this year.

Since the first of July, 12 working certificates have been issued to high school students. This is as many as we ordinarily issue in a year. Before July, we had dozens of certificates to issue for our students. Supt. R. H. Amerman advised.

In the game between the Ford Valve team and the Kroger team Sunday, the Ford Sales won, 4-2.

At 10:30 a.m. Sunday, on the Ford Field, the Novi Equipment and Kroger teams will play. The winner of the game will play the Novi Sales team at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

These boys and girls are going into varied fields of employment. Several are working as clerks in the EMB Market. The Hills and Farmers Markets will be open until noon.

Can you remember when the crickets chirped so early in August? Spring was about three weeks ahead and it looks as if fall would follow suit.

SCHOOL STARTS

School starts in Northville next Wednesday. A thousand children of Northville will join with a million Michigan children as they troop into some 8,000 school buildings. Are your children ready for the grind of the next ten months—have you fortified their health during the sunshiny months of the summer with good food, seen that they got a good night's rest, and made the vacation a reservoir of strength and energy to be used during the cold and dull winter months ahead? Have you had their eyes tested—their teeth looked after and through it all enforced a benevolent discipline, all of which contribute to the health, happiness and mental development of your children? If you have, you are a wise parent.

We think that next to plenty of sleep and good food, brown sun burned complexions and backs, mean fewer colds, fewer days absent from school, better health and healthful mental attitudes.

Our schools are a great institution—America's greatest and most important. We think that our kids are more than our equal at their age in everything but the old fashioned discipline. And when we recall corporal straps and woodstocks, rulers and flying erasers, perhaps we are all better off. We hope that our schools can do more to develop sincere, earnest, patient and crusading disciples of democracy and feel it a privilege to give work and sacrifice for their native land and its way of life, where government earns its place by offering its citizens an opportunity to make an honest livelihood, midst happy and pleasant surroundings.

We like the following taken from a letter by Dr. Eugene B. Elliot, Superintendent of Public Instruction:

"The opening of our schools will also mark the opening of the third year of world-war. Experience and observation have taught us that we cannot protect ourselves from a hurricane with paper houses; we cannot stop forest fire with a bucket full of water, nor can our citizens protect themselves from 2,000 pound bombs with imaginary organization or ballyhoo. The time for direct and decisive action faces every one of us."

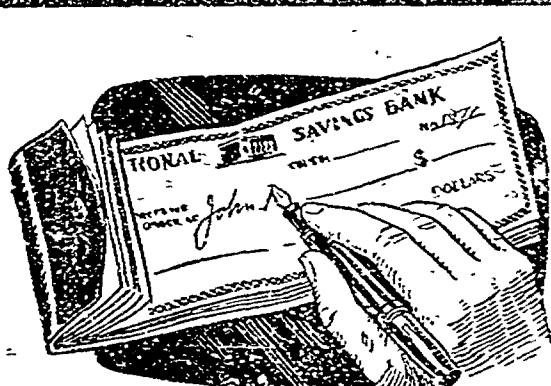

"We have never subscribed to the theory that our million school children are growing soft muscled; that schoolhouses are play houses and that students are being turned loose on the labor market as a group of dollars. Contrary to opinion expressed occasionally children in our schools today can outspill, outfigure and out read any children in the same age group of 23, 40 or 50 years ago."

"Michigan has given much attention to health and sports over 1,000 teachers are directly engaged in teaching competitive sports; 90 per cent of the teachers spend time in teaching health, safety, and body building activities. In the turbulent school year 1941-42 when democracy itself is decked up against the wall, all of these things are not enough. It is not enough that pupils learn to read; they must read understanding and become devoted to the ideas and ideals of a working democracy. It is not enough that they learn their arithmetic; they must learn to use their figures for competency in actual practice. It is not enough that they learn the facts of conversation; they must engage in useful activities in which the facts become operative. It is not enough that our students learn about our great American leaders and their accomplishments; they must be worthy descendants by practicing living together, working together, and together making sacrifices for the common good."

"Our teachers, principals, and pupils, must enlist for service alongside of men in our armies to accomplish this task."

Not a vacant house in Northville nor a vacant apartment apparently that is not grabbed up at once, and a lot of fine people seeking to locate out here. Oh for more housing facilities that would allow our village to stretch and grow a bit.

Convenience in a Checking Account

Besides being convenient, a checking account is the ideal way to keep a legal record of your expenditures. Your check stubs and cancelled checks are proof of payment—as good as any receipt. It also does away with the need to carry large amounts of cash on your person, and by giving people confidence in your ability to pay by check it enhances your prestige.

NORTHVILLE'S YESTERDAYS

One Year Ago

Northville's 11-day racing meet closed Saturday simultaneously with the Fair, was such a success that already plans are in the making for a bigger meet next season. Between 30 and 35 thousand persons attended the twenty-fourth Northville Wayne County Fair which closed Saturday after a four-day run Saturday was the biggest day, viewing closely with Thursday. It has been estimated that approximately 80,000 persons went through the gates Saturday.

Patricia Jane and Sydney Jones, Dolores Blauvelt, Katherine Lorain, Marjorie Shapero and Edith Baker say to it that Northville kept a fair share of audience and trophies to home back-rooms as a result of their runs performances Wednesday in the junior division of the Horse Show.

Qualified voters of the Salem Union school district of Washtenaw county held a special election on the bonding and millage issue of the budget. Voters favored bonding $2000 and the issuing of bonds therefor for the purpose of building a new school plant and remodeling the school district to conform with requirements of the state board of education in Lansing.

Five Years Ago

With cool weather giving added zing to the activity taking place in the buildings and on the grounds based on South Center street for the annual Northville Wayne County Fair, crowds gathered in the village all day Wednesday, completing exhibit registrations and taking over for the first of the free act attractions last night.

Shortly after 9 a.m. Tuesday, lightning struck the Warden Congregational church and flames burning for more than an hour leveled the building.

Before members of the immediate families, Mrs. Rose Shafer and James E. Orton were united in marriage Tuesday evening. An unusual military honor has come to Herbert Berendt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Berendt of this village. Berendt was chosen one of one thousand college and university graduates who received their commission this spring to serve one year as an officer with the regular army. Berendt is to be stationed at Ft. Sheridan.

Ten Years Ago

Before a crowd estimated at 2500 Donald Elton Star and George Bertram Parmenter were married at the Northville Wayne County fairgrounds Aug. 26.

Ann Nelson, age 3 years, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rawle Brown of Arrowhead farms, is the youngest entry in the infant class of the horse show.

Northville friends are greeting Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hunt who returned last Friday from an extended wedding trip through the West. Mrs. Hunt was Miss H. Alene McCully and the wedding ceremony occurred Aug. 1, in Lansing.

Charles E. Brodie died Aug. 21, at the home of his nephew, Harry B. Clark, following a brief illness. Harry German's Chiefs defeated the Colored Travelers at Northville, Sunday, by the score of 7-6. Boos and saddles will be sounded Sept. 5, at the P. H. Grennan estate on the Six Mile road where a picturesque meeting will be held under the auspices of the Detroit Fiddlers and Hunt club. The meeting will be an inter-club event in Fiddlers and Hunt club. The meeting will be an inter-club event in Fiddlers and Hunt club. #### ★ Defense Moves Fast in Michigan

When a big industrial state goes "all out for defense," it moves in a hurry. One of the first things it calls for is more telephones. It takes a lot of telephone calls to build a tank or an airplane—an Army camp or a factory.

Lansing, capital city of Michigan, is setting a dynamic pace in defense activity. And today, Lansing has 2,500 more telephones than a year ago.

To take care of Lansing's increasing telephone needs, we have undertaken a program of expansion that will amount to nearly $1,250,000 in 1941.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. John S. Lucock

Mrs. John S. (Minnie S.) Law-died Sunday morning, Aug. 24, at her home, 406 West Main Street, terminating the illness of long duration.

She was 76 years of age, having been born in Oshkosh, O., the daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs.

H. Winton.

For the past 10 years she had made her home in Northville continuing from Detroit. She had also lived in Pittsburgh, Pa., for 10 years. Her only child was included in the late Mary Ayers.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, Aug. 27, from the Schraube Chapel, with the Rev.

Dr. Birn of the Webster

Methodist Church, Detroit, conducting the service. Burial was in the Woodlawn Cemetery.

She is survived by a brother-in-law, Thomas Lucock of Detroit;

seven nieces and nephews, an son-in-law, Ralph Ayers of Northville;

and a granddaughter, Mrs. Anna also of Northville.

Mary R. Kennard

Death claimed Mary R. Kennard

Monday morning, Aug. 25, at the Carmel hospital. She had been ill since February.

She was the daughter of Mrs.

Aura Galt Kennard who lives at 2249 Novi road. Miss Kennard had made her home there with her mother for the past 16 years, moving out here from Detroit. She was a graduate of the Detroit University, member of the Woman's City Club and secretary for the Armstrong company of Detroit.

Requiem mass was sung by the Rev. Fr. Joseph Schramm at 9 a.m.

Wednesday, Aug. 27, from St. Agnes

Church, Detroit. Burial was in Grandview Cemetery.

Surviving her in addition to her mother are two brothers, Hunter

E. of Tacoma, Wash., and George

A. of Kalamazoo; and a sister,

Mrs. W. P. Chapman of Northville.

Mrs. Willard A. Ely and son

Kurt are back in the village after spending 10 weeks with Mr. Ely at Mission Beach, Calif. They made the trip to the coast with Mrs. Ely's sister, Mrs. C. W. Rice of Paro,

N. D. Among the points visited enroute were Yellowstone National Park, Salt Lake City, Utah, Boulder Dam, Black Hills and the Grand Canyon.

He believes that the bombing of London will probably result in larger open spaces and an actual reduction in the size of the metropolis.

Pleasanter, smaller cities, better houses, more efficient farms and stores, new machinery in the mills; all these are likely in the future.

Such is a happy prospect, if it can only be realized.

There were comparatively few people in these United States in 1776 . . . Now there are 130 million. From nothing to 130 million in 165 years . . . think of it. Do you think they lived without WATER. Frontiersmen always looked for a good and plentiful supply of it. They discovered lots of it here in the Great Lakes Basin.

Great cities have been built around its freshness and accessibility. If you are forced to think about it as they were you will discover it here also.

Novi School

(Continued from front page) Novi and for the past six years has taught in Washburn County. Mrs. Mary Ann Atkinson, formerly of Plymouth, who has taught in Novi for several years, will return again this year to teach the sixth and seventh grades. Miss Edna Bill will also return to Novi to teach the fourth and fifth grades. The term starts the opening of the second year as superintendent for Mr. Neale. He came to Novi last September from Prescott. He has his bachelors of science degree from the Michigan State Normal and his masters from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. This summer he was a counselor at the U. of M. Real Art Camp on Pinckney Lake, near Pinckney.

Continued from front page manufacturer or the dealer, or the contractor who accepts the job in good faith but will be due to the requirements of national defense.

Mr. Church, whose firm is distributor here for John-Manville products, outlined the unprecedented demand for building materials in the national defense effort, stating, "Not only must troops be housed here in the United States, but also in our island possessions and bases recently acquired from Great Britain with more than a million men under arms in the Navy, Army and Marine Corps this by itself is a huge undertaking."

"Construction of a military nature is, however, only one phase of the defense program for which the building industry is responsible. Workers producing defense supplies, factories, fields and mines must also be adequately housed, and this housing must be erected in the shortest possible time in order that there be an uninterrupted flow of armaments and material to our armed forces."

J. C. Nichols, chief of the supply section of the office of Production Management, has stated that ten defense works alone at least 200,000 houses are required immediately, and perhaps another 200,000 next year. Some idea of the strain this abnormal demand placed on the building industry may be gained when it is realized that only about 400,000 houses are built during a normal year."

Again asking home owners not to enrage the manufacturer, dealer or contractor should future shortages of materials cause delays in private construction, Mr. Church said that it should be remembered that the materials unavailable are being used in the defense of our country, the most important task, now before the nation.
