Secretary's Horse Ready for Show

George Garner and Gun Powder

Mr. Garner, secretary of the W. C. T. U., like about everybody else in Michigan, finds their concern in the present national crisis of whether we can stay out of war.

The war-tattered mothers do not want their sons to die. They do not want them to go to war.

Then, as probably in all church groups in Michigan, so stated to the group of people at the W. C. T. U. they hate war with a firm determination that is dedicated to their moral and for the good life. Likewise, it would be fitting the first to command President Roosevelt for keeping us out of the holocaust as he pledged a year ago to do. He expected us to go to war, but that is beside the point.

At the Grand Rapids convention last week, the Temperance Ladies Board Charles P. T. T. assistant general coordinator of health, welfare and related defense activities declared: "War can be avoided and will be avoided." Then he added: "Safely we don't want to fight, but we have been thinking too much about how unpleasant it is to fight and not enough about the progress heritage for which our forefathers for 300 years had fought and sometimes died. We ought to choose war only when the alternatives are worse."

Stamp in Merle.

Whether you are interested in liquor or an automobile or salt stockings or almost any other commodity, you invariably think around the circle until you come back to the central query in America today. "Where are we going from here?"

It is just another way of saying that some of us don't know where we're at and our morale is not what it should be.

Morale is a military word for enthusiasm, and belatedly it has become apparent to a lot of bigwigs in Washington as well as elsewhere that the public is reluctant to accept wartime sacrifices in peace-time.

As the United States News, edited by David Lawrence, puts it, "If the people will not accept the sacrifices without shooting war, then shooting war may become necessary to fulfill the foreign policies laid down by this government. A war with loss of American life and sinking of American ships and forcing of the issue of victory or defeat, would be expected to provide the necessary emotional stimulus."

"Not Quite Waked Up"

Michigan citizen William Knudsen, director-general of the Office of Production Management, recently voiced regret that the United States lacks the spirit to do the job.

"I don't think we have got it," Knudsen is quoted in the press as saying. "I think a good many of us have, but we haven't got it. I have been all around, and we haven't quite waked up. Nobody has dropped any bombs on us yet."

Frank R. Kuckeborn, Washington correspondent for the New York Times says that Americans, unlike the British who do their best work easily, are capable of gigantic efforts only when their emotions and dramatic moods are aroused. They like a "cause."

This realistic trait in American character prompted W. E. Woodward, American historian to remark ironically in his "New American History": "At heart we are a nation of Sir Galahad, hell-bent on rescuing the Holy Grail, at whatever cost. Exaggerated as it is, the statement does possess considerable merit."

Reform in Eclipse

The congressional vote on extension of the draft found both Michigan senators and nearly all representatives voting that we would not have to register. That division of the Senate in Washington was a remarkable one.

• All Out For Economy

If America is facing an "all out" emergency, it's time for every American to act as it were.

Business as usual is finished for the duration. All right, Americans accept that fact. Instead of business as usual, we shall be armaments as never before.

But if business as usual is outlawed for most of us by the pressure of events, why not for all of us? So far as non-defense government spending is concerned, it's still the order of the day. The $3,526,000,000 tax bill now before Congress indicates that while we are "all out" for taxes we are by no means "all out" for economy.

Everyone interested in preserving the American way of life acknowledges the need for huge defense financing if we are to preserve our freedom. We must have weapons, we must pay for them. However, the same critical state of affairs which calls for an increase in taxes calls also for drastic reductions in non-defense spending.

Already, emergency defense appropriations total $43,600,000,000 and $7,000,000,000 more is being contemplated. This stupendous expenditure must be balanced on top of the greatly increased cost of the non-defense government activities that has occurred in the last few years. Appropriation bills passed for the fiscal year 1942 authorize over 100 defense items by $88,278,052 over 1941.

The time has come for economy. In the present emergency why are politicians still conducting business as usual in the field of government finance?

There is an humor in business that is the fine gold of it, this recklessness with every man justify that loves light; that regards kindness and fairness more highly than roads or prices or profits. It leaves a new mark than his furnitures or his house. It speaks for him in the heart of everyone. His friendships are sincere and very dear—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

• Bridging the Future

Like a mighty river flowing through a rocky gorge the unknown future faces America.

We in America today face the organization of a worlding a bridge to span the dangerous years ahead. We must build a bridge, the little water of which will never which generates a current of strength safety.

Spanning the river of life, the builders of the New Jersey Showmen, holding in Michigan, the New York showmen, the showmen of Asia, Africa, India, Central America, South America, the world.

The length of the bridge is to be 75 feet. The total length of the bridge is 1,000 feet. From a distance, the bridge looks like the wet sand under the sun, but they are the strength of steel cables, the strength of support the tremendous weight of 160,000,000 pounds. These cables are tensile strength, for they are made of sixty-one inferior wood cables, 6000 and 1,000,000 miles. The smaller cables are made of copper, totaling 434 strands of thin steel wire each wire less than one-fiftieth of an inch in diameter. The strength of 260,474 of these tiny wires make of pulling cables that support the load of millions of pounds.

The strength of America's bridge depends upon uniting the tiny wires of individual gallantry into the strong cables of cooperative strength.

All the tiny wires of constructive Americans, their creative ideas, team work, loyalty, faith, courage, work, love, must be united in powerful cables to withstand the pounding force of the world storms which are endangering our way of life.

Each of us can help to build the bridge by jinking the defective wires of discord and bitterness, and spinning into giant cables only the best qualities of our minds, hearts and spirits. We must spin together everything that is strong and good in America and omit all that is weak. Thus, together, we can build an American Bridge with the supreme strength to span any future! — The Silver Lining.

Seventy-seven per cent of all Michigan motorists whose drivers' licenses were suspended or revoked in the two weeks ending August 8, were found guilty of drunken driving, according to Charles R. Jones, Executive Vice-President of the American Business Men's Research Foundation. Mr. Jones declared today that a check of the license suspensions show 240 motorists in the state losing their driving privileges for having mixed alcohol and gasoline. Only 185 drivers were deprived of their driving privileges for all other causes, Mr. Jones stated.

Drs ROSS &amp; REHNER

OPTOMETRISTS

John A. Ross
L. E. RehnerPlymouth,
Michigan

Kind Sir:-

September 12, 1941

Congratulations Harry B. Clark on your loyalty through the years to the Northville Horse Show Association.

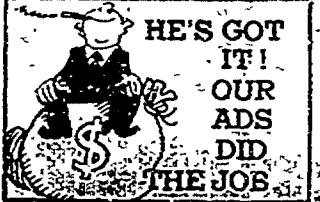

The Show was your baby from the beginning when there were only three or four classes to be witnessed in a muddy ring in front of the Northville grandstand. Today, the Show is one of the brilliant horse events of the fall season, drawing from the stables of prominent owners from Michigan and Ohio.

No longer just a one-afternoon performance, the show has grown into a four-day program with morning and afternoon events which are followed by spectators who sit in gaily decorated boxes around the beautifully situated oval inside the fairgrounds track.

Patiently, you've given counsel and time to the show year after year. You stood by during the lean years of the depression when stables couldn't afford to enter shows. You've carefully advised so that the show has made its own way, never letting the association finish the year in a manner that was not a credit to a business enterprise. As an entertainment feature, the show itself is responsible for bringing thousands of persons through the fair gates each year.

It's a pleasure to congratulate you and the Show on your silver anniversary. Many happy returns of the day.

John A. Ross

DISCHARGING A RESPONSIBILITY

A Statement of Employee Policy by the Central Western Division of the A&P Tea Company

The privilege of leadership in any industry carries with it heavy responsibilities and obligations. Honest discharge of these duties, we feel, is imperative to the maintenance of an orderly, going business—a business in which management shares with its employees and customers savings effected through efficient operation. Such a business is ours.

The necessity of taking stock is recognized in all business by employee and management alike. In the A&P organization, however, there is considerably more to this routine "must" than counting the number of cans of feedstuffs on the shelves of one store; the tea, coffee and butter poundage. Stock-taking with us means consideration of all the interests of our customers, suppliers and our employees.

Not a day passes but the officers and directors of A&P are confronted by this tremendous responsibility. Careers, human personalities and scores of other "intangibles" are in the balance. Shelves are easily restocked; not so these other factors.

After a series of these latter "stock-takings," with pardonable pride we announce that, effective this week, all of the some 4,500 full-time store clerks of the Central Western Division, which operates in Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee, will share with fellow-employees from coast to coast what we believe is the first 5-DAY, 48-HOUR WEEK in the history of the retail food industry, labor contracts and other local variables permitting.

To our thousands of employees in this division whose untiring efforts and efficiency have made possible the position we enjoy in the food industry, and to our hundreds of thousands of satisfied customers whose cooperation and assistance we respectfully seek in making our new work schedule a success, we take this opportunity to reaffirm a few of the cardinal principles upon which A&P was founded 82 years ago by the late George Huntington Hartford, father of its present-day owners.

The new 5-DAY, 48-HOUR WEEK is an important step in line with the long-standing policy of A&P to give its employees the shortest working hours and the highest wages in the industry. The new schedule provides that the wages of all employees will be the same as for the 52-hour week which has been in effect for several months.

It was in the cracker-barrel period a quarter-century ago that A&P boldly defied tradition and broke with the dawn-to-dusk hours of the grocery business by reducing the work week from 72 hours to 65. Those were the days when

POLITICAL DYNAMITE

There was real political dynamite behind the letter President Roosevelt sent to the Young Democrats convention in Louisville blasting Democratic isolationists as "obstructionists who are in the wrong party."

The scorching attack was a tip-off on undercurrents which may make next year's congressional elections the hottest in years.

Nothing has been said about it, but certain administration and Republican leaders have discussed uniting Democratic and Republican forces to oppose all congressional isolationists regardless of party label.

Under the proposed plan, Administration-G.O.P. backing would be thrown behind independent anti-isolationist congressmen whether they are Democrats or Republicans.

Furthermore strong coalition candidates would be entered against no-longer congressmen seeking re-election.

One of the most significant things about the plan is that it has the hearty approval of Wendell Willkie.

Discussing it with a group of friends in G.O.P. study and dinner circles, the people should have been thinking in every senatorial or congressional election next year,

a coalition of congressmen of all parties, of foreign and domestic issues.

Willkie's represented by his advisers did put the strongest emphasis on the need for the independence of his party label or any other.

I'd like to see them and others brought into cooperation. Let's begin from the top of the hill. It's time to start and they should be in the lead.

I am prepared to support them and others in their efforts to put into good use the talents of their party affiliation or cooperation. If they are right for me, I will be right for them and will take them along.

Ann Arbor Man Is Gunsell Pharmacist

A. G. Charters is the new pharmacist of the old Old Spice store. He comes here from Ann Arbor where previously he was with the Michigan branch of the Walgreen stores. He studied at the University of Michigan and graduated.

Mr. Charters, who has been a graduate of the Ann Arbor High School, came to Northville with Mrs. Charters and his son, 21-year-old Alan, late in last North Michigan summer. The pharmacist formerly conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller.

Mr. Charters expects to continue his services to Northville.

Mr. Charters, late President of Northville Boy Scout Troop, having been chairman of Boy Scout Troop of Charter Park, for the last ten years.

Ellison

Mr. Ellison began his new work Monday having been reelected into the board of education here.

At the present time, he will continue to St. Clair Shore.

A representative of the State Department was to have met Mr. Ellison yesterday afternoon to advise Super P. H. Amerman about the work that has been started here by Mr. Ellison. Following this visit, the board of education was to have held a special meeting Thursday night.

Now that school has opened, Meadowbrook Country Club is in need of caddies to finish out the season which will last about six more weeks. There's been a 10 percent increase in caddy pay there, too.

It's been an unusual summer for the caddies at the club this year.

A recreational program has been supervised by Walter O'Neill which gave the boys something constructive to do when they were not caddying.

The boys have done work with plastic materials and have made model airplanes.

In all, they made some 300 articles in the month of August, when the recreational program was an experiment.

So successful was the idea, that the recreational program will be carried out all next summer.

The caddies who are on hand now, will have first chance at it.

When the season opened, the club had about 12 caddies, but as the program developed as many as 90 boys were taken care of in one day.
