Goodfellows Paper Sale To Be Held Thursday, Dec. 18

Business and Professional Men Receive Shift Assignments for Second Annual Charity Project

To Divide Profits

The second annual Goodfellow newspaper sale will get under way in the village at mid-afternoon Thursday, Dec. 18, with Northville business and professional men taking up assigned posts in the business district to put the project over. Within 10 hours after the announcement of the sale was published last week, Sam Pickard made his way to The Record office to be the first to buy a paper. He handed over a dollar to be kept for the good of the cause. And right on his heels was Supervisor Willard A. Els. He's letting a five-dollar bill buy the paper for him.

Loyal Charity to Benefit

A suggestion came late year from the Goodfellows organization of the Maybury satiation for a different distribution of the funds. Last year, the plan which originated with the Goodfellows far surpassed the expectations of the supporting organizations because of the splendid response which came from the village. In recognition of this, the Goodfellows have noted that 30 percent of the funds be turned over to the King's Daughters to be used by that charity organization for its Christmas obligations and for its charity work of the year. Seventy percent is to be divided between the Maybury and Eastlawn.

Girls Win Flat Rock Basketball Game

(Courtesy Orange and Black)

In spite of the fact that the Flat Rock team was a close match for the Northville team, the Northville girls won their first game of the season in the local gym Tuesday night, Dec. 9, 27-20.

Madine Cee was the captain and Carrel Carlson started the game by centering first. With good breaking and intercepting, Carrel broke through to first score followed by scores from Myrna Hubbard.

The guards, Florence Gotro, Madine Cee and Yvonne Taylor, did exceptionally well by intercepting and getting the ball back to the Northville forwards. Throughout the first half the score wavered from a tie to one basket advantage for either team. At the half the score was 17-15 in favor of Northville and it remained in our favor to the close of the game. By continuing good breaking and good guarding, Carrel, Myrna and Phyl Jones made 10 points in the last two quarters. Carrel was high scorer with 17 points.

Gladys Clark substituted for Phyl Jones for a short time in the second quarter.

The score for the second team game was decidedly in Northville's

The labor situation is linked closely to present inflation of prices, as we reviewed recently in this column. Farmers do not want ceiling of farm prices unless Congress puts a limit on labor's wages. Labor sees an opportunity in the defense prosperity to get closed shop agreements with checkoff of union dues from employees' wages. Hence the weapon of calling strike for increased wages or contracts is valued highly by labor leaders.

• For God and Country...

Following the stirring events of the past few days America has accepted the challenge of war, and was to the end. After months of treachery, years of patience, and days of wishful thinking, internal struggles and selfish bickerings for self-aggrandizement, the events of this week, as a magic wand, have transformed our people into a united nation, seeking only to end the war, and win the peace.

Work and more work, sacrifice and serious business are ahead. Brave and triumphant days lurk in the future. Smile and work, do your share what ever it may be with cheerful acceptance. Act sanely—courageously. Work cheerfully, and pray fervently.

War is serious business. It gives the lie to fanciful theorists, wishful thinkers, religious fanatics and unbounded idealists. Realism, work, sacrifice and faith are the need of the hours. America must gird herself to work more, fight harder, and pray more fervently and sincerely than ever before. Snares, bickerings, mollycoddling and crafty manipulation must be outlawed. We must face stern and fearful facts with a never failing faith in the triumph of right and justice in a world gone mad. Do your part. Forget the past. Look to the future, and let's go to work for our Country with a will and purpose. Northville folks will do their part. "What can we do?" We await the word.

• Christmas Shopping

The Christmas shopping season is on.

Business analysts all predict that it will be one of the biggest and busiest Christmas seasons in the history of this country. More people are working. Incomes are higher. And, in spite of the uncertainty about the future, or perhaps because of it, most people are expected to do more spending this year than they have done for a long time.

The tragedies abroad, the war and difficulties will continue to be of deep concern to the people of this nation, but those stories will be skipped over a little faster as women hurry to the advertisements of Christmas gifts.

America's never had anything interfere with Christmas and Christmas giving. Even during the height of the depression, Christmas was a big spending season. But this year, with the nation's purchasing power being skyrocketed by defense jobs, the stores will be taxed to capacity to fill the demands of the public.

Popular gift items, which are made of steel, rubber, tin, chromium, aluminum and other defense materials may be scarce or unavailable this year, but there will still be plenty of appropriate gift items for every member of the family. Cellophane wrappings may not be easily obtained, but that will be because of the defense program too.

None of us is going to worry about the few things we can't get this year when there is still such a wide choice of gifts in the stores. But because of scarcities, and because of the expanded purchasing power, it is expected that many gift items may be sold out long before Christmas arrives. So, more than ever, it is important this year to do your Christmas shopping early.

* * * * *

And now it's war... war with Japan... war with the axis powers directly or indirectly... but watch national unity climb from now on... and this is the beginning of the end of the present world war... but what a pity that American oil and American scrap iron now is being used to draw American blood... appeasement yes, but what a price.

• Drunk Drivers

Escape from charges of being drunk while driving may be made more difficult if tests used by Ridgefield, Conn., state police barracks are put into general use. An officer upon arresting a drunken driver requires him to blow his breath into a device which registers, by giving color to a solution, the amount of alcohol in the blood. The American Medical Association recently set 0.15 as the zone of tolerance. The new device takes guesswork out of the question of whether or not a driver who has been arrested is drunk or sober. —Dearborn Independent.

And the Christmas spirit is evident in Northville—the first real show appeared with the lights and cedar rope strung across the streets in the business district. And how can you forget Christmas if you keep your eyes open as you pass the grade school. Those window decorations are really something.

• Things To Watch For

Pencils with plastic eraser-holders (do Pencil estimates such a switch will release some 150,000 pounds of metal, mostly brass, for defense uses)... a new kind of glossy-finish wallboard by Johns-Manville, especially for kitchens and bathrooms because of resistance to steam and water... A gas fired air conditioner for small homes, as a warmer in winter and a cooler in summer... using a system which entirely eliminates need for pumps, valves or other moving parts... larger size food packages both in the cardboard and tin can fields... family-size packages of dried fruits and nuts... and also a means of conserving tin plates and tin cans... *A LETTER TO...
Our Record Friends
...from the Swarthouts... on South American Tour*

Written in the same deck chair on the S.S. Cuba en route from San Juan, Puerto Rico to Willemstad, Curacao.

It is with a distinct sensation of pain that I recall one of my conversations in Northville before we left. Someone mentioned Puerto Rico, and I interjected breezily:

"Oh, yes, Puerto Rico—I want to spend at least a week in San Juan."

We docked in San Juan for exactly 24 hours.

But Puerto Rico is worth visiting, even though one spends only a few hours there, for it is American territory, and American island stuck out in the blue water where Atlantic and Caribbean meet some one thousand miles from Miami, Fla.

Military and naval activity is unceasing. As we entered the harbor mouth

One cannot forget for one moment that Puerto Rico is American.

There is a lift, a virility, a determination about it that is lacking in the other islands. For America is in the midst of something and San Juan is in the middle of that midst.

Military and naval activity is unceasing. As we entered the harbor mouth

One hundred million dollars' was the reply.

We have been a full week at sea now, except for the few hours at Ciudad Trujillo and San Juan. The north-to-south crossing of the Caribbean being made now is quite rough in fact, this noon at lunch

there were only three at our table.

Seven were missing when the meal began, and there were just two of two loan destroyers knifed by, headed for the sea in their dull grey varnish. Great steamshovels were rolling dirt on what is to a tremendous military airfield. It is partially completed, and already all types of ships were constantly taking off and landing. There were medium bombers, transport planes, and some of the latest type pursuit ships, including Bell Aerocobras.

The immigration authorities were sure, forcing the Gibe to anchor in mid-harbor for passenger examination. We Americans had an easy time of it, but the other nationalities were subjected to a real third degree.

San Juan is booming, the Cuban captain told us he now carries few passengers away, for business is so good that no one wishes to leave.

Thousands of soldiers and sailors spend their pay in the best military and naval tradition, building is almost ceaseless, and the tourist trade has been unprecedented since the start of the war.

At present, there are some three army camps, a naval base, two or three airfields, and unspecified thousands of men on the island. We talked with a few "buck privates"

and they were friendly and uncommunicative. It was frankly good to speak English for a while, slang and vernacular.

The first settlement in Puerto Rico was established in 1508 by Fernando de Leon across the bay from El Mayo, the ancient fortress which stands at the harbor entrance. This tremendous fortification, completed in 1606, successfully defended the city against the English under Sir

Francis Drake and the Earl of Cumberland, and the Dutch under

Hendrick

Sealock. 24 hours didn't allow us to notice much more than the parade of beautiful white skyscrapers standing on streets so narrow that the pedestrian must hold his breath from one corner to the next. But the city is clean and friendly and industrial. The combination of American and Spanish was nowhere else in the world is intriguing.

Incidentally, the Puerto Rican

Institute of Tourism told us that the sun shines on the island three hundred and sixty days out of each year and that the average year-round temperature is 76°.

Perhaps, I should say now, "I should like to have spent at least two weeks in San Juan."

In case you happen to be a terrorist and might be interested in the following incident. While docked

in San Juan, two stranded Americans in their late teens bega-

to haggle with a captain for a free ride back to Havanah on their return trip

Handsome chaps, one from Philadelphia and one from Brittania, they had planned their way to Puerto Rico to work as laborers on a new mine. Mutual labor is lucrative down there—when it's on a U. S.

contractor's project.

The two bad workers are making

well then were laid off with half of their entire pay. The project had just through all the money appropriated by Congress, because they spent in less than a month.

And the air field was only one-third completed.

Naturally, we asked how much

Congress had appropriated for the complete field.

One hundred million dollars' was the reply.

We have been a full week at sea now, except for the few hours at Ciudad Trujillo and San Juan. The north-to-south crossing of the Caribbean being made now is quite rough in fact, this noon at lunch

there were only three at our table.

Seven were missing when the meal began, and there were just two of them.

When Colds Threaten

drink
Hot Milk

Here's a way to nip colds in the bud before they can get a hold on you. Drink hot milk regularly! Hot milk acts as an effective agent in driving the chill from your body, and builds up your resistance so important in combating colds. Play safe—drink hot milk regularly during the dangerous cold-catching season.

CHRISTMAS TELEPHONE CALLS

PILE UP TOO!

You can shop early and avoid the rain. You can mail Christmas cards early. But naturally you want to place Christmas telephone calls on Christmas Eve and Day. And then our rush is on!

Last Christmas the number of long distance telephone calls at some points was EIGHT times normal. This year we expect an even greater "traffic jam."

No amount of stretching can expand a normal telephone system eight times its size for one day in a year. It would not be practicable to build that large a system for just one day's use.

All available operators will be on duty this Christmas and many new toll circuits will be in use. But there still will be delays on many calls—some may not get through at all. You can help speed your message by calling before 9 a.m. Christmas day and by giving the operator the number of the distant telephone.

If there is a delay on your Christmas call, we hope you will understand the situation we face.

White House.

the embassy, are gone, never to return. However, the embassy appears completely unaware of that fact. And the charming young men go their charming way, saying
