

Lanning—Michigan's working population will see the sunrise most of the year on the occasion of R. Glen Dunn, deputy general.

Despite the fact that this state is officially on Eastern Standard time, it is very probable that Michigan clocks will be set one hour ahead, 2 a. m., Monday, Feb. 9, when Daylight Savings time, established by an act of congress, becomes effective.

Only by an act of the state legislature can Michigan time remain as it is. At the present time there is no indication that the legislature will take such action.

The new Daylight Savings act intended to save electricity and step up war materials production, requires that clocks all over the country be set ahead one hour. President Roosevelt has signed the bill and the law becomes effective 20 days after the signing.

In Odd Position—Michigan is in unique position on the time question.

With most of the state normally in the Central Standard time zone—west of the 75th meridian—an act of the legislature has made Eastern Standard time the legal time in the entire state. The change came as a result of several years experience with Summer Daylight Savings time following World War I. Although some agricultural districts objected to tampering with the clocks, the folk in most cases liked the extra hour of daylight in the evening and the legislature listened to the demand for adoption of "fast" time. Detroit and a small portion of the Thumb section fell within the Eastern zone, but all the rest of the state was officially in Central time and all legal matters of the state were so based.

It required a special act of the legislature to put the clocks legally ahead on the "fast" time. Since then only a small section of the Upper Peninsula adjacent to the Wisconsin border, have followed a "fast" time schedule. For the Eastern Standard time zone, of course, the legal time.

And even under Central time the clocks must be set one hour ahead of the state by an act of the legislature can go back to normal Central time or it can put its clocks ahead or near. If the latter course is adopted Michigan will be two hours ahead of its old time. If the former course is adopted Michigan will be one hour ahead of its old time. If the latter course is adopted Michigan will be two hours ahead of its old time. If the former course is adopted Michigan will be one hour ahead of its old time.

Dark Mornings—During a couple of months in early summer Michigan folks go to work after a sun-up under the present schedule. Most of the year they light up for breakfast, go to their offices, shops and stores in the dark from the dawn and start their day's routine of labor under artificial light.

Patrons are natural, the child conscientious objectors "fast" time. They are early risers, naturally, and start their work at break of day. While the day is still heavy, they usually don't care for another hour of light, and in fact, they don't want to get up for another hour of light. They are early risers, naturally, and start their work at break of day. While the day is still heavy, they usually don't care for another hour of light, and in fact, they don't want to get up for another hour of light.

War Measures Adopted—Michigan Republican legislature made good its agreement to cooperate closely with Democratic Governor Van Wagoner in the matter of war legislation. The Governor's 10 war bills, dumped into the hopper at the opening of the session, were speedily passed by both houses, with a minimum of delay. Practically everything Gov. Van Wagoner asked received unanimous approval.

At the end of the second day of the session, but one important bill was still in committee. That was the $5,000,000 war emergency appropriation bill held in the Republican dominated Ways and Means committee by Chairman John Espe to determine the breakdown of "cents with earmarking as a possibility.

It had been previously decided that the big war-chest was not to go through as a blank check, for the Governor, but will be administered by the every divided state administrative board.

A war measure, which in its original form would have established sweeping censorship over news publication by the State Council of Defense and given the Governor unusual removal powers, was quickly amended and modified to remove objectionable features. Once the legislative committee, the Defense Council and administrative representatives got together, there was no trouble reaching an understanding. The storm subsided before it got a fair start and the measure was approved by the legislature.

1942 Horse Show Will Be Held during Fall Fair

Russell H. Walker is New Chairman; Harry B. Clark is Given Honorary Post; Garner Is Re-elected Secretary

With the Northville Wayne County Fair dates for 1942 set for Aug. 19-23, the Horse Show committee has arranged to stage in with a 10-day fall show during the final days of the fair at the fairgrounds.

Harry B. Clark, who has been chairman of the Horse Show for the past 25 years, has been honored by the committee at large receiving an appointment of honorary chairman. This appointment followed Mr. Clark's request that he be relieved of the bulk of the active work connected with the show.

Russell H. Walker is again chairman of the 1942 show, with Ben T. Steers, vice chairman, George G. Guter has been re-elected secretary, and Mrs. George G. Guter is treasurer.

The officers were elected Saturday night at the meeting held at the Fort Shelby Hotel, Detroit. Plans are also being made for a charity show to be held in the spring.

Board 61 Plans for Registration

Registrants To Be Taken Care of in 4 Townships; More Registrars Needed

Registrars to be taken care of in 4 townships: Northville, Plymouth, Livonia and Redford. Board 61 for the registration of men in the 2d to 4th age groups will be in charge, Feb. 15, the day set aside in President Roosevelt for his third registration under the Selective Training and Training Act.

In Northville, the registration group will be in charge between 10 and 11 a. m. in the high school gym. Registrars to meet: Northville men and women who plan to help in the registration are asked to attend a short instructional meeting at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Feb. 12, in the village hall. Other meetings for registrars are scheduled the same evening in the Plymouth City Hall, Livonia Township Hall and the Redford Township Hall.

Following are the locations for the Livonia registrars: Peterson school on Seven Mile road near Farmington road, and Rosedale Gardens school in Parkside Gardens in Redford Township. (Continued on back page)

New Bus Schedule Operative Feb. 1

Celebrating the tenth anniversary of his first trip to Northville from Five Points, T. P. Bode of Northville Bus line will inaugurate an expanded schedule of trips during the early morning and evening hours.

A half hour schedule will be operative from 6 to 9 a. m. and from 4:30 to 7:30 p. m.

Ten years ago, Feb. 1, Mr. Bode hired a pilot driver to show him the way to Northville and on that date started transportation service between Northville and Five Points with one Studebaker sedan.

Turn to the new schedule as given in this issue of The Record, and you will see why the new schedule means a great need, and requires the addition of another bus to the operating fleet.

Honorary Chairman

Harry B. Clark has been made honorary chairman of the Northville Horse Show association. This appointment was made Friday night when the board met to consider plans for a spring season show.

The Oldest Paper in Wayne County Outside the City of Detroit
 124 young folks are engaged in N.Y.A. projects in Wayne County.

He learns that back passing always turns out to be a boomerang, and that it never pays.

He comes to realize that the business could run along perfectly well without him.

He learns that even the janitor is human and that it doesn't do any harm to smile and say "Good morning," even if it is raining.

He learns that most of the other fellows are as ambitious as he is, that they have brains that are as good or better, and that hard work and not cleverness is the secret of success.

He learns to sympathize with the youngster coming into the business, because he remembers how bewildered he was when he first started out.

He learns not to worry when he loses an order because experience has shown that if he always gives his best his average will break pretty well.

He learns that bosses are tyrants, trying to get the last ounce of work out of his for the least amount of pay, but that they usually are the men who have succeeded through hard work and who want to do the right thing.

He learns that the gang is not any harder to get along with in one place than another and that "getting along" depends about 98 per cent on his own behavior.

Everybody's Job

"What can I do?"
 That's a question that millions of Americans are asking today. Who are behind the far-flung battle lines of freedom—how can we help?

The answer isn't hard to find. Not all of us can fly a bomber or operate a tank, but there are many other ways in which we can—and must—aid our country.

For one thing, we can all work harder at our jobs than ever before and in that way help increase America's production efficiency. We can be more careful and cut down on accidents. We can build up our health and our endurance against difficult days that are bound to come. We can avoid waste both at work and at home and help to conserve materials that Uncle Sam needs now more than ever before. We can save waste paper and scrap metals that nearly every household has in the form of unused tools, kitchen utensils and similar articles.

Our plants and factories have long had well organized methods of salvaging such material. One company saves enough aluminum to build ten two-engine bombers every month from machine shop left-overs alone. Another gets 75,000,000 pounds of non-ferrous scrap metal every year from parts of its equipment that have outlived their usefulness. Now it's up to us—every one of us—to work out salvage campaigns in our own homes and save what ever we can that our country needs.

Many of the articles we have been accustomed to buy won't be available any more. Industry will have to cut down on many products to speed the output of weapons. Instead of blaming our industrial system for these shortages, we can accept them cheerfully, keep up our morale and realize that metals and material that in peacetime we would use, are now building up the best Army, Navy and Air Force in the world.

Why we know it all the time... the Red Cross War relief Fund drive here went over the top and with more to spare. Northville township was the first out county district in Wayne to close the top.

February 1st will be a big day for Tuna Biddle. Celebrating the tenth anniversary of his bus line he will add another bus to his fleet and enlarge his schedule to give half hour service during the morning and evening rush hours. Ten years ago he came to Northville leaving a Studebaker sedan and had to have some one show him the way over the Seven Mile Road—and what's more, Tuna P. says he was pretty nearly broke-then. So you see that this tenth anniversary date means a lot to the owner of the Northville Bus Line. Congratulations Tuna, and by the way, Mr. Biddle would like us to say thank you to all the good folks of Northville who have made his venture here a success.

Joe Louis

Sen. F. M. Brown of Mich. Mr. President, last night a vigorous young man from Michigan born in Alabama gave 570,000 for the relief of the armed forces of the United States Navy. To do so he risked the greatest and richest prize in all the sporting world. His defeat would have been antedixian. Rather lightly and effectively he disposed of that possibility. Immediately after the fight he announced that he would go to the Army what he has done for the Navy. He is now going into the armed forces of our country.

His generosity will mean much to thousands of wounded sailors and marines, their wives and children.

His sportsmanship, his unexcelled physical endowments, retained and increased by close training, combined with genuine generosity, Joe Louis is a citizen of whom Michigan and the nation are proud.

The Art of Getting Along

Sooner or later, a man, if he is wise, discovers that business life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take.

He learns that it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul—that he should let some things go over his head like water off a duck's back.

He learns that he who loses his temper usually loses.

He learns that all men have burnt toast for breakfast now and then and that he shouldn't take the other fellow's grouch too seriously.

He learns that carrying a chip on his shoulder is the easiest way to get into a fight.

He learns that the quickest way to become unpopular is to carry tales and gossip about others.

He learns that it doesn't matter so much who gets the credit so long as the business shows a profit.

The Children's EYESIGHT PLEDGE
 "I will read only with my back to good light."
 "I will not rub my eyes with dirty hands, or use soiled public towels."
 "I will not throw stones, sand, arrows, hard snowballs where they might strike the eyes of others."
 "I will avoid knives and other dangerous instruments."
 "I will ask my parents to have my eyes examined each year."
 Parents: Read this aloud to your children.

Incurred vision can hold back your child now, and may result in a life-time handicap. The school-age child is vulnerable to many minor eye complaints that lead to sub-par grades, irritability, headaches and apparent lack of initiative. Be sure by having their eyes checked now.

A LETTER TO..

Our Record Friends

from the Swarthouts... on South American Tour

(Written in the home of Enrique de Nareña, Scharloweg 9, Willemstad, Curacao, Netherlands West Indies.)

In words of the American Consul here:

"Curacao is a nervous island. I should be careful what I wrote from here, if I were you."

WILSON'S WHITE KITCHEN

And I shall be careful. But Curacao is too interesting not to take the chance of getting you as complete a picture as possible.

Curacao is both fighting and fueling the war.

"It all began—that atmosphere of nervousness, tenseness, several miles up the coast from Willemstad, the S. S. Cuba was met by an armed Dutch cutter patrolling the coast, surveying all ships before they entered the harbor.

Next we noticed that the small boat which brought our harbor pilot out carried a large machine gun on a tripod aft.

The harbor authorities were very strict. We were forced to identify all money upon our persons, and it must be checked when we leave. And no Europeans were allowed to leave the boat, even for an hour for so I was warned to take no peo-tures of the harbor, or of the harbor mouth.

We were not long in seeing the reasons for such precautions.

"After all, Curacao is an island at war. And it is playing an essential part in the fight. Ammunition is not alone on their stomachs today; it is doubtless as vital as food. And what Adolph Hitler wouldn't give for the gasoline and lubricating oil that leaves Curacao daily!

Tankers come wallowing into the harbor every few minutes, heavy with crude Venezuelan oil. And every few minutes others leave, heavy with the necessities of the refinery here so tremendous in size.

The other day I asked a Curacaoan of a bronzed soldier in khaki shorts. He looked English. He was English! He is part of a large detachment of English troops which stands watch night and day over the refinery.

Again, the reason for this vigilance was soon obvious. For up in the harbor, standing sea-tened and tired, was a large group of tankers. And from their masts fluted the Union Jack. And they all mounted heavy-caliber guns and life rafts. One by one they go out of Willemstad, to a watery rendezvous in the Atlantic there to be conveyed to the "embattled isle."

The war is very real to the traveler in Curacao.

An armour-plated reality has also in the harbor, guns pointed out to sea. I had thought all of the Dutch fleet to be in the Netherlands East Indies, putting up a bold front against Japan's demands. But a large destroyer, the Von Kins, certainly has been stationed here for some time. I understand from authoritative sources that she has already captured several German ships attempting to slip away from South America and brought them in for Allied use. Right now she is getting a much-needed coat of paint. She looks war-ready too.

Yes, the war is terribly real to many Dutchmen in Curacao. For most families here relatives in Holland and they dare not speak, they are very difficult to get information of any kind, and the people cannot be blamed for reticence.

English and Dutch are working together closely. It is a common sight to see an English Tunny and a Dutch sailor going down the street together, though I doubt they converse at any great length.

A provincial government rules the island with an iron hand, necessitated probably by international conditions. And it, in turn receives orders from the Netherlands government-in-exile operating in London. Frankly I would not be surprised to find the Dutch government in the One Man only government's cabinet at home!

I saw that was true. The Dutch government in exile is doing its best to help the Dutch people here. It is everywhere in the island. It is in the streets, in the shops, in the homes, in the hearts of the people. It is in the hearts of the people. It is in the hearts of the people. It is in the hearts of the people.

Another thing, the morning we saw truckloads after truckloads of Jewish refugees from Europe being carried through the downtown streets. Their faces showed the ravages of war, of a crowded, feverish Atlantic crossing. The notable thing about these faces was that they still carried fear. But there is peace, you say in the Western Hemisphere! There is not peace in Curacao.

We were unable to find out what ship they came on, or how long they would stay. They were taken at once to the barren interior of the island.

And this drama, this utter reality is only fourteen hundred miles south of Miami, Fla. The war is far more real south of Miami than it is north.

This was our last day in Curacao; tomorrow we leave for Trinidad via the Cochin of the Royal Netherlands India. She stops at several Venezuelan ports on her way, so we shall have an opportunity to view that fabulously rich country.

Trinidad—gateway to South America—exciting island just one steamer jump from Rio de Janeiro!

We shall undoubtedly spend Christmas and New Year's on Trinidad, and leave for Brazil immediately afterward. Frankly, we do not particularly look forward to the holidays this year. They will be the strangest—I am afraid the loneliest—we have ever spent.

A & P Employees To Buy Bonds

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company has completed arrangements for facilitating the voluntary purchase of defense bonds by employees through pay check deductions. John A. Hartford, president of the company, announced today. The company has approximately 65,000 full time employees in the United States.

Under the plan employees may authorize deductions from their pay checks and the bonds will be issued through Federal Reserve banks and post offices. The company will deduct the money each week and purchase the bonds. The bonds will then be mailed to the employee-purchasers.

The plan encourages the purchase of bonds by supplying the procedure whereby employees may make systematic contribution to the nation's war effort and at the same time establish a reserve fund for the future.

National Defense Aided by Gardens

Government Will Send Bulletins to City Residents Who Will Plan War-Time Gardens.

All-out industrial and agricultural production was required to bring victory in our war against Axis powers and steps already have been taken to speed this production effort by increasing the area of city gardens and by planning for maximum yields from the garden area available; and others will do their share by planning vegetable gardens for the first time in many years.

Sen. George A. Dondero, cooperating with the Department of Agriculture, is making lists of available free Farm Bulletins to all residents of the 17th district who receive their mail on rural routes and those who receive their mail through boxes in postoffices not having city carrier mail service.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has prepared another list showing the bulletins of interest to city residents and it includes many free bulletins and leaflets on gardening, which will be helpful to those planning war-time gardens.

If you live in Birmingham, Pennsylvania, or in any other city, please send your name, address, postal code and telephone number to: Sen. George A. Dondero, House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Washington MERRY-60-ROUND NEW SELECTIONS

It needed no mind reading to know what was behind that war department announcement of the purchase of 700,000,000 feet of lumber and 200,000 kegs of nails—the biggest order of its kind in U. S. history.

The materials are for the construction of numerous new army construction camps and the enlargement of existing ones.

Army strength down to 1,600,000 after the demobilization of 78 to 85 year olds last fall, 150% for a big increase—100,000 more, 1,600,000 after the next draft lottery following the February 16 registration of men between 21 and 44.

An estimated 24,000,000 will register in March, and on the basis of past experience, only about 5 per cent will be called. That is, subject to immediate call. Heretofore the army has inducted only men in good physical condition, with no dependents and not engaged in "essential" production.

However, as the need for military mobilization develops, A-A standards will be broadened and many thousands of B-B, C-A, and C-B draftees will be called.

For the present, the army still is placing primary emphasis on youth. The February 16 registration is expected to list around 20,000,000-20,200,000 and the largest proportion of draftees will come from the group. Registrants in the 35 to 44 group will have to be in top physical condition to get in the army at this time.

It is not the scale industry's fault that a group can be expected to be particularly short with respect to military standards.

As the army will take the necessary steps from the 22nd of January as to who are exempted from the draft for defense purposes.

unconventional exploits. The latest is one of the best.

Asked by a general to suggest a manager for a new government munition plant about to begin production, Kemp recommended a French expert who had been loaned to the British to build a plant in England.

"He ought to be finished with his job over here by now," said Kemp. "If he is, get him," was the order.

From the British, Kemp learned the expert had completed his work and was available. So Kemp picked up a phone and called the state department.

"I want to talk to the guy," he said, "who gets guys back from England."

There was a gasp, but the operator switched Kemp to someone who asked him who he was and what he wanted.

"I'm Kemp of Army Ordnance," he said. "There's a guy in England we want to run an ammunition plant for us. Get him back here right away, will you?"

Six days later the expert reported to Kemp and left for his new job.

"A few days later the general again summoned Kemp, asked what had been done about the expert.

"It's all taken care of, general," said Kemp. "He's been on the job at the plant two days."

"How did you get him back here so fast?"

"No trouble. I just called up the state department, asked for the guy who gets guys back here and he arranged it."

"Kemp," said the general severely, "do you know who that guy in the state department was?"

"No, sir."

He was the undersecretary of state.

Note: Kemp has persistently refused to accept an army commission. Finally, pressed by the general for the reason, he retorted: "Some day I may want to come in here and blow up. If I do, as an officer you could craftily lead me. But as a civilian, all you can do is arrest me. I'm remaining a civilian."

JAY SCHOOL LESSONS

After three years of lessons of subversive activities, it takes a lot to excite Rep. Martin Dies, but the other day the rainy Texas hit on a discovery that took his breath away.

His committee has been making a sweeping inquiry of Jap activities in the West coast, including subversive teaching in Japanese language schools located all over southern California. Investigators found that from the primary grades up students in these schools are indoctrinated with militarism and the ideology of their Jap ancestors.

OBITUARIES
Sherrill W. Ambler
 Completion following service for the funeral for departed Mrs. Sherrill W. Ambler, Friday, Jan. 23, caused the death of Sherrill William Ambler, Wednesday morning, Jan. 28 in Gross hospital, Detroit.
 Funeral rites for Mr. Ambler will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 29, from the Schaefer Funeral chapel, with the Rev. Frank N. Munn of Flint, and the Rev. Leslie Williams officiating. Burial will be made in Rural Hill cemetery.
 Mr. Ambler was born in Northville 47 years ago, the son of Mark and Metta Ambler. Except for a few years when he was with the Dodge Brothers company in Detroit, Mr. Ambler spent practically his entire life in Northville, where he gave much to community affairs. He was village clerk from 1922 to 1939. He was former township clerk and for a period of 10 years was a member of the board of education, serving as secretary. He was past president of the Exchange club.
 During its existence, Mr. Ambler was owner and operator of the Ambler Furnace and Foundry company. He had just recently become associated with the Army Ordnance plant aviation procurement division at Detroit since last summer he and Mrs. Ambler had been with their daughter in Chicago.

mother; his widow, Leota Ambler; his daughter, Evelyn of Chicago; his son, Richard, of Northville and Chelsea; a sister, Mrs. Charles Myers of Northville. A son, Sherrill William, Jr., preceded him in death in November, 1934.

L. Hoyt Woodman
 Burial rites were held Monday, Jan. 26, in Rural Hill cemetery for L. Hoyt Woodman, who died Friday, Jan. 24, at a Lansing hospital after a long illness.

Forty-five years ago, Mr. Woodman left Northville to go to Lansing. There he served the State of Michigan as deputy state treasurer for 11 years during the terms of Governors Grosbeck and Green, and for two years had been chief of license bureau of the state liquor control, commission. He had been chairman of the commissary, commission of Lansing Lodge No. 33 F. & A. M. for over 20 years. This body directed the funeral services which were held at 1 p.m. Monday from the Estes-Leader funeral home, where the Rev. D. Stanley Coors officiated.

Mr. Woodman was a member of the Central Methodist church, serving in the capacity of treasurer and usher for many years. He was also treasurer of the State Guardsmen's club.

Breeders' association and had operated a dairy farm near Holt. Ten years ago, Mr. Woodman returned to Northville to act as receiver for the "apham State Savings bank."
 Besides his widow, Mrs. George Woodman, he is survived by a son, Louis H. of Freeport; three grandchildren and a nephew, Albert Woodman of Jackson.

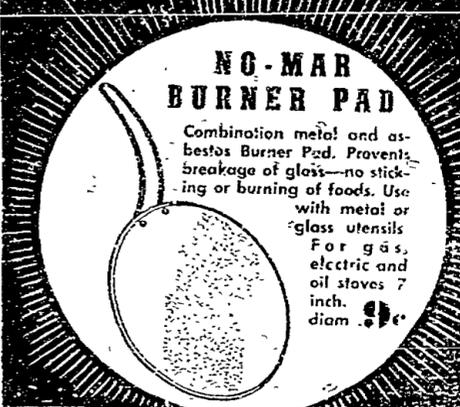

Oscar E. Humburger
 Burial services were held at 2 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 23, from the Central Methodist church. Burial was made in the Grandlawn cemetery, Detroit.

He had made his home in Northville for sometime with his niece, Mrs. Floyd Gregory.
 He was born in Ohio. His parents survive him, living in South Bend, Ind.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 23, from the Central Methodist church. Burial was made in the Grandlawn cemetery, Detroit.

Guest Speaker Brought Here by Mothers' Club Stresses Need for Registration

Stressing the need for civilian defense registration, Mrs. Austin Waipple, mayor of Plymouth, was the third speaker, Monday evening on the winter lecture series sponsored by the Northville Coordinating Council, brought here at the request of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

Referring to Waipple's coming as the "No. 1 industrial area of the United States and as the No. 2 West Coast," Mrs. Waipple cited the steps which should be taken for civilian defense, pointing out that if the people are to be protected, the protection measures are up to them. "We must develop a more constructive attitude toward civilian defense," she advised, adding that in some communities in the state, nothing whatever had been done to prepare for an emergency or an "incident" of any kind.

Mrs. Waipple's opinion, if enough pressure is brought to bear upon the proper authorities, anti-aircraft guns for this area will be set up, particularly for the protection of the Kelsey-Hayes company and the Ford plants.

In developing her theme of defense in the community, Mrs. Waipple outlined the things that each community should do:

1. Buy Bonds and Stamps.
2. Organize local defense council.
3. Register for Civilian Defense.
4. Organize Auxiliary fire classes.
5. Organize Auxiliary home classes.
6. Organize Women's Red Cross Classes.
7. Organize salvage committee.
8. Organize medical committee.
9. Appoint chief air warden.
10. Setup fire rationing committee.
11. Plant defense gardens.
12. Start consumer program.

The fourth in the series of winter lectures will be presented here Feb. 16, when Mrs. W. J. Babbitt of the University of Michigan will talk on "Democracy in a World at War."

Members of the Northville Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association will bring Walter Hastings, noted photographer here to talk on Wildlife of Michigan. This will take place Mar. 9.

Legion Auxiliary Has Social Gathering

A social meeting was held Tuesday evening in the Legion Hall by members of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Lee M. Haskel and Mrs. Charles Freidl were hostesses on this occasion, which honored the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Nellie Partridge.

The program for the evening was an open discussion on Pan-Americanism, led by the Pan-Americanism chairman, Mrs. Bruno Freidl. The group sang for the Red Cross during the social hour.

The next social meeting will be held Feb. 24, in the home of Dr. Harold I. Spalding, where Dr. Irene Spalding will be hostess with Mrs. Merrill S. Sweet. The Spalding pictures of Mexico will be shown at that time.

Miss Cassidy is honored Saturday in Babbitt Home. Honoring Miss Ruth Cassidy, members of the X-Club were guests Saturday at the home of Mrs. K. H. Babbitt.

Salad course refreshments were served to Mrs. Donald Purdy Verkes, Jr., Mrs. James A. Coigo, Mrs. W. H. Johnston and Miss Beulah Miller.

Mrs. Downer Entertains Saturday at Luncheon. Mrs. Gael Gorman was a hostess Saturday at a one o'clock luncheon. She had covers for Mrs. R. E. Anderson, Mrs. Margaret Carpenter, Mrs. Bert Moshier, Mrs. Clara C. Winter of Northville, Mrs. Mary of Plymouth, Mrs. Laura Hayden and Mrs. Elizabeth Myall of Detroit.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!!!

TO OUR CUSTOMERS AND FRIENDS:

This message is directed to those of you who have not yet taken advantage of our January Disposal Sale which ends Saturday, January 31st.

As you well know, the War situation has brought about drastic changes in market conditions. Restrictions have already been placed on many commodities and price increases on many others are threatened.

Diamonds which have already advanced in price will very likely be increased even more. Fortunately, we purchased our diamonds last year at prices far below present market quotations, and despite the increases of past months we have never increased our retail prices.

In many instances our prices today are almost 50% less than those of the average store in Detroit. Yet in spite of this we are offering a 15% discount on Diamond Engagement Rings and Wedding Rings now in our January Disposal Sale.

If you contemplate the purchase of diamonds or other articles of jewelry now or in the near future... this is your opportunity to realize substantial savings. Our January Disposal Sale ends Saturday, Jan. 31st. We urge that you Throw Back the Night!

In the light of your physician's diagnosis, doubt and uncertainty about your health are dissolved as the dawn disperses the night and in the brightness of a new day, you will laugh at the fears that darkened your thoughts. Seek his advice immediately when you have cause to believe that something is wrong. Self-diagnosis may exaggerate the importance of the symptoms, and by doing so, give rise to needless worry.

The song we are learning this week is "Dear the Wind".
Norma Hazlett visited us Thursday afternoon.
Those who had "A" in spelling last week were: Lucilla Crappell, Marion McLean, Clyde Parker, Lynn Ureth, Charles Carr and Joey Sechlin.
Mr. Hutchinson is reading the story "Bever and Billy" to us in the meetings after Health Inspection.
We don't have school Friday because our teacher was ill.
Dorothy Winters, Ethel Wagon, Richard Miller and the class are going to work in the garden after an absence.
We have ordered about 10 new library books.
Mr. Hutchinson brought us four books from the Holly library to enjoy until Feb 5.
We are expecting Mr. Horsch the county music supervisor to visit us Friday.
We received our report cards this week. Many of us have improved since the first of the year.
If we want to continue getting the "Weekly Reader" we have to re-order it again for the second semester.
We have learned two new dances this year. They are "The Thrasher" and "The Willow Wisp". We have also been dancing the cross-country last year.

New Course Is Offered

Business Training Added to High School Curriculum Second Semester

Northville high school is offering a new course in business training this second semester. The purpose of the course is to give students information concerning various topics which are not able to be worked into the other classes. Topics which will be covered are: applying for a job, general business organization, law in business, retail selling, banking, business letters, penmanship and spelling. Other information which is important to young people will be discussed in this course. The course is open to any student from the ninth to the twelfth grade. There are about 24 enrolled in the course at present. The class is held fourth hour in Mr. Elison's room. Miss Ruth Knapp reports that there are a couple cases of chicken pox and measles in the lower grades.

EDITORIAL

The N. H. S. Musings will play one of their most outstanding basketball games tonight with Plymouth in the P. H. S. gym. Our boys have done exceptionally well so far this year winning four out of five games. The Plymouth boys have lost their five games played this year. Today is not only an eventful day for Northville and Plymouth but for the whole nation. The President's birthday will be celebrated tonight. The people who will go to the President's balls and also contribute to the March of Dimes will be helping the victims of infantile paralysis. With these two exciting events Northville and Plymouth will remember tonight's eventful occasions.

The N. H. S. girls played a regular basketball match with Plymouth yesterday Jan. 28, on Elmwood floor. The girls were victorious over this team, Dec. 9 on Northville's floor. With three more games to go before the end of the season, they hope to be deserving of the title "Champs".

Sponsor Contest for New Year

Senior Student Council To Offer $500 to Winner

A contest for new and original school yells is being sponsored by the Senior Student Council. Not only the cheerleaders but the students have been eager for more yells for a long time, and as the largest crowd comes to basketball games, this seems an appropriate season for the contest. All students participating will turn their yells in to the alderman of their home room. Every student in Northville high is eligible to enter. A prize will be awarded for the best yell turned in, and the second and third best will receive honorable mention. Even though the yells don't win a prize they may be used by the cheerleaders to pep up the school spirit.

Grade Notes

Miss Frances Robinson's kindergarten class brought dolls to school last Tuesday for a doll show. Herma Donohoo and Mabel Karshnek are new children in class. Edward Jednak had a birthday during the week.

Miss Jeanne Harroun's first graders are starting to read their primers and are making an Eskimo village out of clay.

Miss Ruth Younain's second grade has a new student, Alfin Jordan. Charles Ely had a birthday this week.

Miss Allie Spott's second graders have observed blue days and crops at their feeding station. Patricia Irene Warner is a new student from Plymouth Jan. 22. Ted Masters had a birthday. His mother served ice cream and cake to the class. Russell Palmer's mother sister, Mary, and brother, Walker, visited class recently.

From Miss Pearl Hensch's third grade, Marlin Cackett is the winner of the Barbara Jean Ruttan returned to school after illness. There are 28 students on the Dened Honor Roll out of 38.

A broadcast called the "Golden Hour" on Jan. 29. It was presented by Miss Margaret Carter, fourth grade. John Paulson was the pianist and Violet Moore the singer. The class is going to have a song and dance class next week.

Miss Ruth Knapp's fifth graders are studying the plural of nouns.

From Miss Pearl Hensch's third grade, Marlin Cackett is the winner of the Barbara Jean Ruttan returned to school after illness. There are 28 students on the Dened Honor Roll out of 38.

The beginning of the second semester has brought three new students to Northville. John Fulserson of Farmington attended Red Cross camp before coming to Northville. He is enrolled in the fourth grade. Two new students are enrolled in the tenth grade: Frances Warner who comes from Schoolcraft school, and whose Northville address is 117 Fairbrook; Frances Ball, who comes from Roosevelt school, Elkhart, Ind., and whose address is 501 Fairbrook.

If you see any new faces in your classes starting the second semester, it is just N. H. S. students changing schools in order to meet graduation requirements or to take one of the new classes offered.

Monday, the hemerocoms were a buzz after the report card was passed out. All students were busy discussing their third period marks, exam marks and semester average. Both pleased and disappointed expressions could be seen. Several efforts were made to make a renewed effort with the beginning of the new semester.

Junior High Notes

Marion Larson, a seventh grader, is looking to Red Cross. Her mother, Mrs. J. H. Larson, is a member of the Red Cross and has been collecting clothes from other students.

From Detroit comes a new student for the eighth grade, Jeanne Larson.

SO WAR NEEDS MAY BE MET In 1941, about $300,000,000 was spent by defense industries in Michigan for new plants, new machinery and equipment, in preparation for war-materials production. That is a big sum of money. Nearly 10 per cent as large, the $28,250,000 spent by Michigan Bell for new construction was a record figure because of the same urgent defense needs. When industry expands for rearmament, it reaches for the telephone. To meet the greatest demand for service in history, new telephone buildings, cables, and central office equipment were rushed into operation. Telephone people had a big job in 1941, but surmounting that problem only served to condition them better to face the more difficult task in 1942. Increasing shortage of materials is hampering their efforts to meet civilian requests as readily as in the past, but they are confidently determined that every war need will be met. We wanted "inside facts" about

A RAGING INFERNO

Another research job that helped bring you electricity at lower cost.

How would you go about studying a fiery furnace from the inside? Detroit Edison engineers wanted to know more about what goes on inside a boiler furnace, where temperatures range up to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Because these large boilers in our power plants burn many tons of coal a day to make electricity, any improvement in their operating efficiency meant a saving of thousands of dollars. What kind of coal burned best? What was the best draft arrangement for good combustion? What was the correct proportion of coal, air, water?

To answer these questions, two famous tests that pioneered in this field were undertaken... the Dr. Jacobus test in 1911, at our Delray Plant, and a test 10 years later on No. 14 boiler at our Conners Creek Plant. In the latter, test, fifty-four men in three 8-hour shifts worked steadily for more than four months. They swarmed over the boiler like gnomes—climbing up its sides, peering into its vitals, weighing coal and water, measuring air, conducting analyses of gases with complicated instruments, taking the temperature of the fire. When they were through, they had learned facts that meant a saving of millions of dollars in present and future boiler design. It is this kind of research that enables us to bring you an ever-improved service at lower and lower rates. The average price per kilowatt-hour paid by our residence customers today is 46 per cent less than in 1921. The Detroit Edison Company.
