Men's hearts ought not to be set against one another, but set with one another, and all against evil only.—Carlyle.

Village Election

Before another week the voters of Northville will have elected village officials for the coming term of years. Those years will be war years. Years fraught with tension, work, sacrifice, and village and neighborhood cooperation. Neighbors will become more neighborly. We will lay to home more. Most of our pleasures will be shared with each other. We will laugh together, and mourn our casualties with our arms around one another.

Economically costs of living, higher national and state taxes will cut into the standard of living of all of us. Money, if you have it, will not buy what you want. Many of us will not have the money either. And all this points to one thing, and that is the government of our village. Good government here at home, economy, and dollar for dollar in service is going to become more and more essential as the war proceeds and grasps us more tightly in its iron clutches.

As citizens let's get out and vote. Vote as you believe is best for the best interests of the community as it faces a war time economy. Vote for whom you think best qualified but vote again make sure to vote next Monday, March 9th—Village election.

Sermonograms

Over at the Methodist Church the new minister, Rev. W. Leslie Williams, embellishes his Sunday bulletin with a section labeled "Sermonograms." Here is that section of his bulletin of a few weeks ago.

It is always easy for a person to think he represents the majority opinion.

The hardest thing a man ever does is to surrender a prejudice.

Blessed is the man who can adjust a new set of circumstances without surrendering his convictions.

No man is doing the will of God when he is fighting to have his own way.

The worst sin of a small church is its smallness.

To conquer an existing belief, we must replace it with one more convincing.

To ignore error is the coward's refuge.

Religion may begin in emotion, but it should end in deeds.

Perseverance is sticking to a job that you are not stuck on.

 We honestly wonder if all these stories of restricted production, practiced over at the Kelsey-Hayes and other defense plants are true? If they are, God pity our fighting men—they haven't a chance. A lot of honest fighting-American blood may be shed because of unfair control in production plants. We still believe that the only way to win this war is by WORKING and FIGHTING. And doing three hours work in 8 hours isn't going to win a war, or play fair with the American Soldier.

 From what we hear, Michigan Civilian Defense is pretty much perforated with politics, and if you haven't votes to deliver you and yours aren't any good any more.

Politics and loafing never won anything but ultimate disaster.

to the Editor

Following are excerpts from a letter written by Elmer A. Scheunemann, who is with the U. S. Coast Guard Base at Buffalo, N. Y. The letter was written to the Rev. E. E. Rosow, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

I have been quite busy since I came here. Besides writing letters and cards we had to stencil all our clothing and then roll them into rolls and tie them with string and pack them in our sea bags. We do all this in our spare time, besides the washing of our clothes.

The first week we had plenty of drilling and my feet sure did get sore. I wasn't used to that much walking. We are also having rifle drill (manual or arms). This last week we let up on drilling and had more classes both in the morning and afternoon. There sure is plenty to learn before becoming a first class sailor. We have had semaphore flag drills, knot tying, international code flags, beaches all the ports of a vessel and their nautical terms.

Yesterday morning (Sunday) I went to church. We can go to church every Sunday if we want to. Another fellow here at the base, who is a Lutheran, and I went to a Lutheran church in Buffalo.

The name of the church was St. Paul's Lutheran Church. It was the same kind of a church as the one in Northville. After service I was invited out to dinner by one of the members. I sure did appreciate his kindness. They sure were good to me. They were a good Christian family. They have a son about my age and two daughters. I enjoyed myself and remained there until about 3:30 in the afternoon. Then I went to see Niagara Falls. It is about 23 miles from Buffalo, so I had to take a bus out there. It was the first time I had ever seen them so I really enjoyed the trip as well as the whole day. While at the falls I met a man who lives next door to my cousin in Dearborn.

He lives like it here and the type of work we have here. We sure get to eat and it is good, wholesome food. We have good, warm blankets and barracks in which to sleep.

Thursday Feb. 26, 1942.

ELECTRICITY is cheaper today!
 The average price per kilowatt-hour paid by our residence customers for electricity today is 3.28 cents. Twenty years ago, the figure was 6.13 cents. Electricity is 46 per cent cheaper today.
 Your electric service is so commonplace a thing — such an accepted part of our daily life — that most of us take it for granted. When you push a button on your wall to turn on your lights, when you flip a switch to operate your washer or iron or vacuum cleaner or any of the dozen-and-odd other electric helpers in your home, you expect service instantly... and you get it. Yet few people think of what lies back of the switch to make this service possible — the far-flung organization, the tremendous investment in power plants and lines and substations, the thousands of employees whose combined endeavor is directed toward bringing you a service so dependable that you need never give it a thought. Here truly is the magic of electricity at your fingertips!
 What makes electricity cheaper? Keeping everlastingly at it — thinking up new ways of doing things better and at lower cost — then passing the savings on to our customers. The thousands of improvements, big and little, which have been made year by year have permitted us to reduce our rates voluntarily... not once or twice but many times — whenever earnings justified it. That is the way of progress. The Detroit Edison Company.

THE E. M. B. FOOD MARKET

To Our Many Customers:

Owing to the fact that it now appears that the retail food merchant delivering merchandise direct to the consumer is NOT on the preferred list of the users who are able to purchase new, re-treaded or recapped tires, makes it necessary for us to discontinue our delivery service at the close of business.

SATURDAY, MARCH 14th

Coupled with this problem it is also a fact that two of our good assistants have left or are leaving our employ shortly (one on defense work, the other joining the U. S. Navy). At the present time it does not seem either possible or feasible to replace them, this for reasons that are perfectly clear to everyone.

We shall continue to give the same good service that we have tried to give for the past 16 1/2 years, with the exception of the delivery service.

Telephone your order to us in case you wish to have it ready for your call—our phone number remains as always, 128.

Regretting this action, and assuring you that we shall resume delivery service when it is again possible to do so, we are,

Very sincerely,

THE E. M. B. FOOD MARKET
