The Oldest Paper in Wayne County Outside the City of Detroit

Spring Time is Bomb Time—so you'd better get that pile of sand, a spray pump, shovel and rake etc. handy in the attic or second floor. Don't join the hordes of people having too little too late. Better be safe than sorry.

If bombs come this way, look for them on Sunday or some big holiday—so beware the — of July . . . perchance.

The return of Dunlap Street to a thru street status is a very excellent idea. Main street, narrow, parked full, schools, hospitals, etc., can stand syphoning of as much of that traffic parallel streets. Some of these days Cady will come into it's own.

Everything, even peanuts, sugar, suspenders, and putting pads are on the march to war.

We salute the new Mayor for the way he stepped in and straightened out the Air Raid Warden mess.

The placing of the annual school election a month ahead of the usual date in this community is a step in the right direction. We think Tackle school problems while we are school minded, at home on the job instead of summer vacationing, and give the work of the school year a better opportunity to be planned and set up with thought and consideration.

At last Washington, and of all places Washington D. C., now admits that one of the ways to win the war is to insist upon folks paying their honest debts; and that's something.

The U. S. Weather bureau at Detroit records the past month the warmest April in 27 years and the coldest in 27 years in this area. Average temperature for April was 52.9 degrees, 6.7 degrees above the 46.2 normal. This was surpassed only by 1933 and 1934 in 1878. The month's precipitation of 3.45 inches was the highest since the 1.92 inches in 1925. Normal for the month is 2.49 in. lbs.

"I'm going your way, so let's go hand in hand. You help me and I'll help you. We shall not be here very long, for soon death, the kind old nurse, will come back and rack us all to sleep. Let us help one another while we may."—Wm. Wordsworth

Saturday, May 23, has been officially proclaimed as "Poppy Day" in this area for the sale of the little red flowers which are made by disabled veterans of World War I.

Spring Time, Bomb Time
 Have you thought out your attic and basement? Do you have on hand a pile of sand, a spray nozzle for the house, and the little suggested equipment for the fighting of incendiary bombs?
 Air raid wardens may make a household survey throughout Northville; they are packing each home to determine whether or not voluntary response has been given to the warning "Spring Time May Be Bomb Time."

Fighting fires in congested attics is impossible. Fighting fires and the kind of fires started by incendiary bombs, is even more impossible, if the proper equipment is not at hand.

It is not improbable that bombs will fall on our communities. Enemy bombers would have to fly a long way, nevertheless, it could happen, and we know that such things have happened in many parts of the world. Since it is possible, it is also necessary for us to prepare to minimize the damage that would result. No forward looking town wants to be caught unprepared.

What we usually think of as this time of year, is spring clean-up. And we could not act better than to make it a spring clean-up that will make us safer if an enemy attack comes.

This year, America must be prepared for any eventuality. Spring clean-up is more important than ever before. Spring clean-up and defense goes hand in hand. Have you complied?

Pvt. Stanley Taylor Demonstrates Rapid Calculation Method for Folk in Alabama

Pvt. Stanley Taylor, 24-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Taylor of Northville, who graduated from the Northville high school in 1935 and is now stationed at the post at Ft. McClellan, Ala., held the members of the Anniston (Ala.) Civilian club during their special week as he added for them a list of numbers like a flash by adding his eye up the column.

Stanley's ability to figure so rapidly with numbers has earned him the name of "Hurricane Adding Machine." Before going into the army he was connected with tobacco business in North Carolina, Kentucky and Georgia. He was a lightning calculator behind the tobacco business and figured the baskets of tobacco as fast as the auctioneer could call out the average of the bids.

Stanley's talent and his assigned post, Finance office at Ft. McClellan.

Stanley had been with his numbers and his calculator for a long time. He always brought a slip to his desk to check a solution to a problem.

Dear Bill:
 Just received the April 15th copy of the Record after it had gone to Detroit, Blending Chicago Camp Wallace and then here.
 Please change the address to: A. A. T. C. Camp Helen, Tex., as they have been forwarding the center copies.
 In spite of the fact that Grace and the folks back home keep me pretty well posted on the news, I still read The Record, and call every day, 8 hours regular work, then three hours a night, five nights a week, school.

What about

now that everybody is talking about

CEILING PRICES?

- Now, and after May 18th (when ceiling prices become effective), all A&P Super Markets and A&P Food Stores will continue to give you real low prices on fine foods every day, just as they have been doing.
- The new "ceiling price" regulation will not alter in any way A&P's low price policy. This means that every day at A&P you will continue to get the best foods the markets afford at our lowest possible prices.
- And here is another important fact to remember. FOOD PRICES WILL NOT BE IDENTICAL IN ALL FOOD STORES on and after May 18th. Prices will continue to differ in food stores on the same articles—just as they have heretofore.

OUR CUSTOMERS SAVE MONEY

A&P, during the last eight years, has made big reductions in its operating costs. These savings have been passed along to our customers, so that today they have 9c more of every food dollar to spend than they did in 1933.

It is A&P's policy to continue to conduct its business as economically as possible, thus to give you the utmost for every food dollar you spend at A&P Stores.

EDITORIAL

There are exactly five more days of school for Northville and then we will all be on our well-earned vacations. The seniors will take their exams June 11 and 12, one week before graduation in order that their work may be completed before any of the activities of graduation week begin. Some will be looking forward to permanent jobs while others will look for temporary work until college begins. The engagement rings of some of the senior girls indicate what their plans are following graduation. Whether the summer means jobs, college or marriage, we wish the seniors the best of luck.

Former Student Wins Regional Forensic Contest

Phil Baldwin Gets Unanimous Decision in Extremoreaneous Division

Phil Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Baldwin of Albion, a former student in the Northville schools, placed first in the extemporaneous speaking division of the Michigan state high school forensic regional speech contest in the Comstock high school Friday. Baldwin, a senior in the Albion high school who has been active in forensic activities, was the unanimous choice of three judges for premier honors through his excellent discussion of the general subject of "Winning of the War on the Sea." As a reward, Baldwin is to receive a $500.00 scholarship from the Detroit Free Press. A Webster collegiate dictionary with his name imprinted on the cover, Albion high school will be given a banner from the University of Michigan. Baldwin moved from Northville to Albion in the spring of 1939 when his father sold the Northville Record of which he was editor and publisher, to W. H. Carleton.

Senior Sketch

April 26 is quite a day for a Northville senior who is some times called "Miranda," for on that day, Miranda, for on that day, she was born. But by the time she was five, she was in Northville. She was a member of Miss Ida Rose Cavell's kindergarten. Through her life she has had a "miraculous" two "miracles" in her life. Some things to her particular liking are swimming, dancing, basketball and her dog, Patsy. There are three things she doesn't like and they are "stuck-up" people, teachers and dogs. Miranda has traveled to Canada and Ohio, taken a boat trip up the Huron River, and to Washington, D. C. this spring. The last she gives us the highlights of her life. During her school years, she has been in the choir, the operettas, played basketball, been in the N. club, the Home Ec. Biology and Commercial clubs. She was an alternate to the student council in the ninth grade and treasurer of her

Even giant turbines need "low gear"

TO "KEEP 'EM ROLLING" at top speed

The speeding wheels of large turbines like the one above are playing a vital part in Detroit's war effort—generating electric power for the needs of factories, for stores and offices and homes. Yet strangely enough, these high speed machines have a "low gear" to slow us to a partly full speed—a most important piece of equipment!

These all "low gear" turbines—developed more than a dozen years ago—have played an important part in preventing costly damage to the huge turbo-generators in Detroit Edison power plants. A big turbo-generator weighs many tons but it is very delicately fitted—with clearances of fifteen thousandths of an inch. When a turbine is taken off the line or is temporarily not in use, the speed of the turbine gradually raises the temperature at the top of the casing, causing the shaft to distort and bow upward. If a turbine were started in this condition, the shaft might be permanently bent—resulting in damage that would cripple the turbine for months, and a repair bill of some $30,000. Even with a high priority, repair or replacement might take months.

Turbines are too costly to be treated like this—and too hard to replace. So the small "turning gear" does an important job. It keeps the large shaft rotating slowly and continuously during shut-down periods, and prevents warping or bowing. It also permits bringing the turbine up to speed again in half the time formerly required. And because clearances can be set to a few thousandths of an inch, steam is used at a slightly increased efficiency—thereby saving a small part of the coal required to produce electricity. The Detroit Edison Company.

and to be present for the church dinner when will be served at noon.

The homecoming day of the church will be held Tuesday, June 2 with a reunion service held at 8 p. m. At that time there will be a day, June 4 the Ladies Aid will meet for special commemoration.

The week of celebration will come to an end June 5, when Stephen Gahon, the native Galician shepherd, choir leader and still picture at the Birmingham high school.

Back in 1893 (Mar 31) 23 men organized St. Paul's Evangelical church of Clareville after Fr. Gies sold the men one-half acre of land for $1 and gave them a clear deed to that church, 2434 First.

Through the 50 years, the church has maintained its Christian life. The first ten years, the church was instructed in a private home under the Rev. G. Baumgart in 1897, plans for a school were made with each member of the church expected to furnish a seat.

Until 1923, the pastor taught school from 1923 to 1941, the mission board employed supply teachers who were engaged from year to year. It was a step forward when in 1941, the congregation decided to call Paul Dezer as the first permanent teacher and to build a tear-down. The school has an enrollment of 42.

The first English worship service was held in Aug. 1901, the congregation giving the pastor this permission for the afternoon session. As the need for English music was felt, English services were conducted some Sunday afternoons, then once a month in the morning. Since 1935, all the morning services have been held in English with special services in German for the old members held the first and third Sunday of the month.

The church doubled its seating capacity in 1920 and in 1937, renovated the sanctuary.

During the 50 years, the congregation was served by the following pastors: H. Kitchin, 1892-1893; R. Knauth, 1894-1895; C. Baumgart, 1895-1903; L. Mueller, 1903-1908; E. P. Manske, 1909-1913; E. Bigler, 1914; E. Lorenz, 1914-1924. The Rev. Paul K. Graupner has been the pastor since 1924.
