Village-Township Start Plans for July 4 Celebration

Parade Scheduled To Give Sendoff to Day's Program of Sports, Civilian Defense Demonstration Climaxed by Fireworks

Ask Contributions

This is moving along rapidly in putting together a tentative program for a Fourth of July celebration in Northville, both of Northville and by Northville. Sponsored jointly by the Village and the Township, the event is being arranged by a committee appointed by the sponsoring bodies.

While plans are yet in the formative stage it is expected that the day's celebration will open with a parade, passing off with a flag raising and the firing of 21 salutes, an afternoon of games and sports at the Field 11-14, an early evening program of education and information bringing into action all the organizations of the Civilian Defense and Red Cross or a huge demonstration of the Emergency Organization set up in the village and township during the last few months. This will bring into the participation the many civic and organizations in the community related to and actively preparing for emergency work.

Fireworks have already been ordered for the evening finale. A program is planned for the evening.

A budget has been set up calling for $20,000 to cover the cost of the celebration and already over 50 per cent of the amount has been received, donated by local organizations, individuals and organizations wishing to contribute anything from 50 cents to $25.00.

Contributions will be held at the meeting of the committee, and the amount will be turned over to the committee.

Sugar Rationing Board Is Waiting for Instructions

The local sugar rationing board is waiting instructions for permanent functioning. In the meantime, the only way persons can get rationing books is to go to the County Clerk's office in Detroit. Sugar allotments for canning will be released at Osgood County boards as soon as authorization comes through.

Sup. Hugh W. Medler of the Novi school presided during the program and introduced Rev. A. K. MacRae of the Novi Baptist church, who spoke most appropriately of the occasion the day and the laudable spirit of donor and communism as shown by the ceremonies of the day. Sup. Frank Clark presented Mr. and Mrs. Trotter, who donated the flag and staff.

The Novi Boy Scouts were out in uniform, and the boys of Lloyd H. Green Post, American Legion of Northville attended and took part in the exercises.

The Legion and Auxiliary, headed by their chairmen, Alton F. Peters and Mrs. Claude N. Ely, did better at selling poppies this year than they've done in many a year, bringing in $422 from the project. After $82, the cost of the poppies was deducted, there was $340 left to divide equally between the two organizations. The money is spent for the rehabilitation program which is carried on separately in the Legion and Auxiliary.

Home Rule For Wayne

Most upstate people are entirely willing to let Wayne County have home rule, although few people believe that Wayne county and Detroit can obtain good government easily as that. The form of government makes little difference. The administration of government is what counts. Honest men will govern well under any system. Dishonest men will get around the best system devised.

Yet if Wayne county wants home rule, in the belief that such a system will bring reforms, then the rest of Michigan should gladly vote Wayne county that privilege. It's true that Wayne has outgrown county government. There are now 160 members of the Wayne board of supervisors. Many of the members never have been or ever could be elected to any office, yet under the appointment system they are influential members of the Wayne county board of supervisors. There is little need for a sheriff, for county coroners, or for a lot of other county officers in Wayne. They were useful when Detroit was small. They have few duties today. The board of supervisors in Wayne is not accountable to the people. County government in Wayne divides and complicates government and adds to the expense.

Government in Detroit and Wayne county is in a bad way. People have lost confidence in it as men in high positions have been convicted of graft and bribery. Home rule won't cure the situation if crooks are elected to office under home rule. It should also be said that without changing the constitution certain reforms can be made and should have been made. Yet perhaps home rule could make changes as experienced as that. The form of government makes little difference. The administration of government is what counts. Honest men will govern well under any system. Dishonest men will get around the best system devised.

For that reason we who live outside of Wayne county "Home Rule" but we would then be in the same shape as we are now.

The so-called "Home Rule" Amendment, if passed, would affect the state constitution. Great many details which should never be in an amendment. It should be only an enabling act then the county could make changes as experience proved desirable. If we freeze them in it would not then be "The remedy prescribed by Drs. Ross and Rehner is very simple—very similar to that prescribed by the Navy—chiefly eye-exercise plus plenty of carrot juice.

The exercise includes moving the eyes sideways, then up and down, then diagonally, for fifteen minutes in the morning and fifteen minutes at night. After this, the Navy prescribes massaging the closed eyes with a large sewing thimble for five minutes.

Drs. Ross and Rehner also advise using the eyes outdoors to look around as much as possible without turning the head. What the eyes need, they say, is plenty of muscular exercise; for eyes are like leg muscles, arms or anything else.

The two doctors paid tribute to the eagerness of hundreds of young men to get into the service, and so these scientists are working night to do their part to help them."

To The Reader's Digest,
Pleasantville, N. Y.

Dear Sirs:

In the Hotel Kranghurst at St. Petersburg, Fla., a group was discussing a recent appearance of Helen Keller. The question was asked if we were at all aware of the outstanding work being done for the blind by this work until travelling down here last November. Across the aisle in the pullman a gentleman was absorbed in reading braille. In conversation he unfolded his life while I described the lives of those who like him, were sightless. Blinded in the first World War, he was completing a globe-encircling lecture tour and was on his way home to Australia. This blind Anzac could not say enough for the pioneering work of The Reader's Digest in providing the blind with new windows of perspective never before opened to them. "For now," he said, "the Digest talks and brings light and music into the darkness and silence of over 15,000 lives."

The incident awakened a desire to know more about the marginal services quietly rendered by The Digest. So I brought out the editions of the last few years. Perusing them I noted down, for my own satisfaction, those "extras" which lay far and beyond the usual responsibilities of editing and publishing. I then wondered if perchance The Reader's Digest might not be one of these unsung heroes of our generation.

I noted the continuance of education after the diploma by sending The Digest free to class valedictorians each year; that 12,000 schools used it in good citizenship classes, and that in over 600 schools Salom Rizk had re-vitalized America and its heritage to thousands of our boys and girls. The noted radio news commentator to The Digest is saying, "We know of no organization or publication in the nation today that is doing so much in keeping the people informed and straight as every issue of this paper, as is The Reader's Digest."

The Digest's patriotism has, I think, made low prices to servicemen and urging societies and individuals to avail themselves of this opportunity to subscribe. Only if you have been with the armed forces can you realize what this means. Its size makes it convenient for the "long moments." To those far from home it brings things into focus and reflects the vitality of the Home Front. It adds strength for "The Hour" when it comes. You, of The Reader's Digest joined us even before we declared war, in sponsoring the movement to Aid Britain by Helping Canada. You visualized the Fighting Flame Fund and took the lead in translating good will into action.

Your "gyp" Service survey aroused a nationwide consciousness that prompted honest tradesmen to action and brought home to customers the necessity of ever being on the alert.

Helpful as these services have been they are dwarfed beside your desire to make Pan Americanism more than lip service and effectively cement Pan American Unity. You are bridging the Americas with understanding. It is high time that some one had the courage to filter the glamour and foolhardiness of high life, and Spanish editions are making friends for the U. S. A. by holding up to these people the real honest to goodness heart and soul of our people. These new friends may in good time lead in opening the doors to a true perspective of the Americas and their destiny.

In ever ingenious ways you serve your readers in feature, brief, anecdote and review as teacher, preacher, statesmen, inventor, or as just plain John Q. Citizen. Appealing to all from "Nut" to "Genius" your unbiased selections are a strong stimulant to the true democratic method. The flood of journalism is skillfully subjected to SELECTION. Muddy currents are filtered and reduced to an understandable and readable volume in good form.

Reading, like ships of the line, must be stripped for action. Simplicity of approach, directness of appeal, essentials are what are needed to maintain a balanced suppleness of the mind and heart that is alike good form for both today and tomorrow.

We firmly believe that the humanitarism, the patriotic endeavor, broad vision and a generous recognition of the opportunity that is yours to serve as exemplified thru the years has been equaled by few and surpassed by none. Undoubtedly you, too, serve that you may serve again and in better ways. Though the hands of the clock move forward, and calendars are replaced, it is our sincere hope that your spirit may not change. But that coupling the L in a service of Love with progressive ideas you may long continue transforming IDEAS in Ideals, to guide, comfort and inspire a vibrant and radiant democracy.

Sincerely yours,

John A. Ross

Punching holes in paper with a bolt of lightning.

...HOW THE

“Surge Recorder” helps improve your

ELECTRIC SERVICE

Because lightning is a frequent cause of trouble on electric transmission lines, the more we know about lightning the better we can develop safeguards against it . . . and the fewer times lightning will damage the lines and equipment that serve you.

Lightning “surges” travel along transmission lines like a wave in water. The wave rolls along until it strikes a sharp cliff, then dashes high and breaks over it. Similarly, a lightning surge moves along a line until it hits an obstruction—a transformer, generator, terminal substation, or whatnot—and may then “flash over” the object that blocks its path. Lightning surges have entered substations and powerhouses, blown up switches, starting disastrous fires and destroying equipment. So it is important that we know as much as possible about the whims of lightning.

The small black box shown above houses a “Surge Recorder” used to measure the currents that flow in a lightning stroke. It is installed on some of the 24,000-volt lines of The Detroit Edison Company. Simply described, it works as follows: A piece of waxed paper is inserted in a gap between two copper blocks. A lightning “surge” jumps the gap, puncturing the paper and leaving a small hole. By measuring the size of the hole, the size of the lightning current may be determined, and valuable data collected on the nature of these destructive surges that wreak havoc on our lines.

The Surge Recorder is one of many developments that are “all in a day’s work”—improvements designed to bring you better electric service at lower cost. The two go hand-in-hand. During the last twenty years, the average price per kilowatthour paid by our residence customers for electricity has dropped 46 per cent. The Detroit Edison Company.

N. H. S. Participates in League Field Day

Field Day for the Southwestern Oakland County baseball league proved to be a successful day with a good turn out from the various schools. Two ball games and several meets were held throughout the afternoon. Walled Lake and Milford played the first game while N. H. S. took part in the second. With Milford, contrary to the announcement that N. H. S. would play Walled Lake, Milford won honors from the track meets. Two athletes from Ypsilanti demonstrated high jumps.

The schools that belong in this league are: Walled Lake, Milford, Clarkson, Keego Harbor, Brighton, Redford Union, Holly and Farmington.

METERS WILL BE READ EVERY 2 MONTHS

BILLS WILL BE RENDERED EVERY MONTH

Conservation of materials and manpower make it necessary to change certain operating methods, including meter reading. Beginning in June, meters will be read every two months, instead of monthly.

THIS APPLIES TO RESIDENTIAL METERS AND CERTAIN COMMERCIAL METERS. IT DOES NOT APPLY GENERALLY TO INDUSTRIAL CUSTOMERS.

The plan will be started on June 1, 1942, and the new scheduling of meter reading provides for one-half of the meters to be read in June, and the balance in July, and thereafter bi-monthly.

BILL EACH MONTH

1—If your meter is read in June, your bill will cover one month's metered consumption as heretofore.

2—If your meter is not read during the month of June, your bill will, under ordinary conditions, be one-half the bill computed for the previous two months.

3—Starting with July, in those months during which meters are read, (which reading will be for a two months' period) the several blocks of the rate schedule will be applied on a two months' basis. To arrive at the amount of the bill for this one month, the amount billed for the previous month is deducted. The balance is then the bill for the month. (This will all be shown on your bill.) Thus the bill will be automatically adjusted every other month.

DO EVERYTHING TO WIN THIS WAR!

We are all in the same boat. You know the order of the day—no more tires, no more cars, save gas, save everything. Not to mention a growing shortage of manpower in our business. That's why you will understand what we, too, are up against—and why we must conserve in all possible ways to maintain and protect service for war production and vital home necessities.

Your cooperation will be one more help in the biggest and most critical job ever faced: winning this war.

maying with graduation exercises

Thursday, June 18.

The class of 1942 has 74 members. They will hear the Rev. E. E. Rossow, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, bring the baccalaureate address at 8 p.m. Sunday, June 14, in the Presbyterian church house. His elder daughter, Leah, winner of the University of Michigan Scholarship, is a member of the class.

Tuesday evening, the class will have its own program in the school gym at 8 o'clock, when the Will prophecy and history will be given by the graduates.

As was the case last year, commencement exercises will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 18, at the fairgrounds. Arthur Secord, manager of the Michigan High School Foremen Association of the University of Michigan, will bring the graduation address.

accounting made after the celebration. The budget calls for $80.00 for fireworks, $100.00 for parade and recreation prizes, $40.00 for frost bites for the children participating in the parade and the recreational events. Other items including the pavement cance make up a total budget requirement of $60.00. It has also been suggested that all prizes and payments as far as possible be made in U.S. Defense stamps in harmony with the basic purpose of the day, a practical demonstration of Americanism on the best day of the year for such a celebration.
