NORTHVILLE O. C. D.

HELMET DAY June 20, 1942

The biggest problem today on the Michigan home front, according to a high ranking army official in an "off the record" talk in Detroit last week, is a widespread over-optimism by the public that the war will be over in six months.

"Two out of five persons we interviewed recently are convinced that victory is in sight," he explained.

"Yet, the truth is this: In six months' time we have taken the worst beating in our nation's history. We're not ready yet to do any major fighting. Our war planes will not be in production for many months to come.

"The public is being deluded if it expects anything but a long, long war with great sacrifices. We should face the facts: The situation is very serious."

Nor is this over-optimism restricted in Michigan, he might add.

A newspaperman who recently visited relatives in Ohio encountered the same attitude of mind "Victory is in sight."

CBS Correspondent Cecil Brown reports, "Out here in Indiana, the war in the Pacific seems not 3,000 miles away but 80,000. Incredible as it may sound, they are betting 9 to 2 that the war will be over by Christmas, 1942."

Army recruits at Mid-West camps are saying, "The war will be over in six months" and quote Wall Street as authority.

A soldier in Times Square, New York City, a board telling his girl, "See you at Christmas time when I'm home."

An intelligence officer at a New York division headquarters told his friends, "The war will be over by Christmas."

What is the cause of this kind of behavior? The answer is, "The war is long and hard and the public is being deluded by the current news."

"Where Freeman Shall Stand..."

THERE shall you stand, also, for you are an American. You were a part of Lexington and Concord... of Gettysburg... and San Juan Hill. You were with the men at Pearl Harbor... asking for more Japs at Wake Island... fighting with General MacArthur in Bataan. YOU will help win the Victories today.

THE ANSWER to Pearl Harbor is in your heart... in the way you feel when you hear "The Star Spangled Banner"... in the courage and determination that you bring to your wartime job whatever it may be... the way you believe in Liberty hard enough to die for it...

NOT EVERY one can send an enemy bomber crashing in flames... or fire a gun from the deck of a battleship; but War Stamps and Bonds give us all an opportunity to help win the war—an American way to find the billions needed for Victory. Every Stamp and Bond you buy will help to keep the light of Freedom bright, and the skies over America clear of Axis raiders. Enlist YOUR current savings for Victory. Make every pay day Bond day.

Two Labor Groups Share Honors for Tribute to Workers

Credit for the origin of Labor day usually is divided equally between the Central Labor Union of New York and the old Knights of Labor.
Both organizations, with many members in common, were in session in New York in the spring of 1882. At a meeting of the Union on May 13 of that year, Peter J.
McGuire, a delegate, moved that "a day should be set aside as a festive day during which a parade through the streets of the city would permit a public tribute to American industry."

On September 5 of that year a demonstration took place. Between 20,000 and 30,000 workers participated in a parade through Manhattan. So successful was the program that a similar celebration was held the following year. In 1894
the Knights of Labor adopted a resolution declaring the first Monday in September to be Labor day.

Steps were taken to secure enactment of measures in the various state legislatures to make the first Monday in September a legal holiday in tribute to Labor. Oregon,
New Jersey, Colorado and New York enacted the necessary legislation in 1897. Other states followed in quick succession and on June 23, 1894, congress made Labor day a legal holiday in the District of Columbia and for federal workers throughout the country.

"When You Think of Hardware -- Think of Hammer"

Memory of Her Parent Inspired
The 'Mother' of Father's Day

The "mother" of father's day, Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash., got the idea for a tribute to fathers during a Mother's day sermon. She suggested it to the pastor, who encouraged her. Later the Spokane ministerial association adopted the idea, and it immediately received wide publicity. When the International Father's Day association was formed, Mrs. Dodd became its president.

Inspired by the sacrifices of her own father, who reared six children, after his wife's death, on an eastern Washington farm, Mrs. Dodd was fired by the songs of the early 1900s—"Everybody Works But Father," "Father, Dear Father, Come Home With Me Now" and others which pictured fathers as selfish, cruel or disreputable. Father's Day was officially founded in 1910.

In an interview on the occasion of the 29th observance of the day, Mrs. Dodd said that she did not mind the commercial aspects which surround its celebration. "Even the somewhat thoughtless 'buy it for dad and let him pay the bill,' she said, has done real good. "It has focused attention on observance of the day," she commented.

Many suggestions have been offered for Father's day activities. They include "father and son" golf tournaments and a special visiting day for fathers in the schools. But most significant is the feeling of everyone, including mother, that there should be at least one day in the year on which father is rewarded for his patience and generosity.

News from Walled Lake

By Charles E. Hutton

The worst traffic accident to take place in this vicinity in the past two years occurred shortly after six o'clock Sunday night, at West Maple and Halstead roads, when three persons were killed and four were injured in a three-car collision. Those killed were Floyd A. Smith, 19 years old of Detroit, a driver of one of the cars; Barbara Garwood, 15 of Roseville, and Shirley Beaubien, 17 of East Detroit.

Those riding in the Smith car and these in a car driven by Bernard Johansen, 16 of East Detroit, were graduates of Kern road junior high school, and were returning home after a day's outing at Walled Lake.

According to the sheriff's report, the eastbound car of Johansen is said to have touched a car driven west on Maple road by Miss Czup, who lost control, causing her car to collide with the Smith car, which was following Johansen's.

Miss Garwood, Miss Beaubien, Miss Siedley and Miss Edwards were riding with Smith. The impact threw one girl through the rear of the back seat into the auto trunk. Riding with Johansen were Eugene Doyle, 16; Lenore Swinton, 15; Betty Jane Harris, 15; and Eugene Merolius, 16, all of East Detroit. None in this car was injured.

Bodies of the three victims were taken to the Voorhes funeral home, Pontiac.

$70 MILLION SAVED..

..... ON A GROCERY BILL!!

SEVENTY MILLION DOLLARS! This vast sum would go a long way toward filling the wants of countless American families! And it probably did—for last year, more than that amount was saved for customers of A&P Self-Service Markets... because the food they bought would have cost that much more if these stores operated on A&P's cost rate of a few years ago. But A&P has steadily reduced its cost of selling food through new efficiencies—bringing amazing savings to its customers. Get the real significance of these savings. Millions of families not only saved by changing to A&P Self-Service Markets from other food stores... but they made additional savings as A&P found new ways to do business at less expense. Rossow Is Speaker at Baccalaureate

The Rev. E. E. Rossow, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, was the speaker, Sunday evening at the baccalaureate held in the Presbyterian church house.

He told the class members that it was the plan of education to provide training and study of the body, mind and soul. "Tragedy awaits when any one of the three are neglected," he said.

Mr. Rossow gave the class three warnings or danger lights from the scripture: let not the wise man glory in his wisdom; let not the mighty man glory in his might; let not the rich man glory in his riches.

Ushering at the service were Jean and Joan McCollough, Shirley Maclean, Gloria Cardin, Lois Church and Betty Lester.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

These huge 60-ton heavy tanks cost $120,000, and America's automotive and locomotive plants are turning them out on a never-ending assembly line. Our army uses light tanks, weighing 14 tons, and medium tanks of 28 tons also, but we favor the medium tank over the other two.

These heavy tanks are needed for certain phases of modern warfare, and with their thick armor and heavy-gauge guns they are almost unstoppable. They are considered superior in gun power, in maneuverability and in the power of their huge tractor motors to Axis tanks. Americans everywhere are helping to pay for these monsters of war through their purchase of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. — U. S. ROLL OF HONOR War Heroes Decorated

One of the greatest heroes of the present war is Lieut. Edward H. O'Hare, who received the nation's highest military award, the Congressional Medal of Honor, when singlehanded he shot down five Japanese bombers and damaged another in one aerial encounter off the Gilbert Islands. O'Hare was decorated at the White House while a guest of President Roosevelt. He is a graduate of Annapolis.

Lieut. John D. Bulkeley, torpedo boat hero responsible for the destruction of at least seven Japanese ships, has been commended by ranking naval officials for "executing his mission successfully." Bulkeley was in charge of a motor torpedo boat that entered Bunanga bay, Philippine Islands, and torpedoed an enemy vessel of 5,000 tons. His mosquito boat was under the fire of machine guns and shore batteries.

Donald F. Mason, navy ensign, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and Silver Star for sinking two submarines in the Atlantic area. His first sinking came when he dropped depth bombs on a submerged submarine. He reported the sinking with his famous message: "Sighted sub, sank same." Several weeks later he sighted another sub on the surface and destroyed it with depth charges. He has been in the navy since 1935.

Capt. H. T. Wheelis was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for bravery in the western Pacific. The Army Flying Fortress under command of Wheelis, became separated from its combat force and fought a running battle with 18 Jap pursuit planes for 75 miles, shooting down 11 of them, outdistancing the remainder, and landing safely although the plane was almost out of control. Two of the plane's engines were gone.

MAKING ONE ITEM DO FOR TWO—

how standardization saves money for Detroit Edison customers

Why have 11 different styles of outlet boxes when half-a-dozen will suffice? Why buy 16 different cleaning powders when four will do the job? All departments of the Company are cooperating in raising many questions similar to these. As a result, the big catalog shown above looms large in helping us to make savings. It lists some 30,000 items, all indexed and classified, that are purchased for use in our business. And every one of these items is standardized to achieve important economies in their use.

These economies are twofold: (1) the direct dollar saving in the initial cost of the item, and (2) the saving effected through cutting down the number of items, with a consequent lessening of storage, handling, and ordering expense. A few examples will illustrate the point: In our purchases of printed forms, we planned for fewer sizes, weights, and grades of paper, as well as fewer forms. This reduced the number of forms 43%, and saved $20,000 annually.

The apparently simple problem of washing floors, windows, walls and woodwork would not seem to present much opportunity for saving through the standardization of the materials involved. Yet by having cleaning powders made to our specification, we cut the cost more than half and saved over $5,000 a year. The substitution of wool felt for cork in pipe insulation saved 35 per cent of the cost... a total of $1,799 on one job. These examples can be multiplied—pipes and fittings, tools, wiring, lumber, metal polish, fly exterminators, rope and cord, drain solvent, etc. The list is almost endless.

Today we hear much about standardization in industry to help the war effort. Our standardization program has been achieving economies for the past 20 years. These economies are reflected in our service and rates. The average price per kilowatt-hour paid by our residence customers for electricity has dropped 40 per cent in the last 20 years.
