Pleasant-Tasting - Convenient - Economical

Quick as a flash! Gasoline rationing will start in three weeks. Sunday, November 22, is the big day.

If you drive an automobile, you must register it beginning Monday, Nov. 9. You'll be limited to five tires.

numbers of which you must declare. A fine of $10,000 and imprisonment for 10 years are provided if you falsify your statement.

You will explain why you need your car and how much you drive it in a month. Then the sad news will follow.

FOR MOST AMERICANS, transportation means four gallons of gasoline a week, or enough, according to OPA reckoning, to take you 2,800 miles a year. This is the "A" card, in effect.

If the local rationing board approves your plea for more mileage and more gasoline, you will get a "B" card which permits you to purchase additional gasoline in the rationing time period.

If you have more than five automobiles, you must sell or give them to the government through the Defense Supplies Corporation, which has $150,000,000 available to buy idle tires at falling prices. The Railway Express agency will collect the tires and transport them to a nearby warehouse.

After the tires have been inspected, at the warehouse to determine their value, the government will mail you a check, or war bonds and stamps if you prefer. No deductions will be made for services performed by the Railway Express.

"WILL THIS GASOLINE rationing work in the Middle West?" you ask. A lot of people don't believe it will, and they are not hesitant to say so.

In the East, where this type of rationing was first introduced, distances between homes and factories are comparatively small. Highway transportation is secondary to railroads, buses and street cars.

In one day you can drive through three or four states in New England.

And then slow down the driving speed to 35 miles an hour, and you get the next best thing to a headache itself. Detroit, for example, has been an automobile town in more ways than one. Thousands of workers drive to work daily.

"Share-the-ride" is being promoted as one feasible solution for defense workers, but even this scheme has its limitations.

Hundreds of Michigan resorts in northern Michigan and Upper Peninsula are accessible only by automobile. A "ghost" season is feared in 1943.

THAT THE MIDDLE-WEST is more dependent upon automobile transportation than is the East and consequently is going to require plenty of "reduction" before they accept it, is a possible deduction which could be made from a statement by Governor Murray D. Van Wageningen and Senator Prentiss Brown to Leon Henderson, the OPA czar at Washington.

Van Wageningen and Brown, democratic nominees for re-election, reflected the popular attitude with respect to gasoline rationing when they urged Henderson to re-consider the stringent restrictions.

Obviously there was a political reason for such action, but it was an admission that the average Michigan voter doesn't like what is in store for him, and he is saying so.

Even President Roosevelt gave weight to this conclusion when he returned from Washington from his coast-to-coast tour and said that the nation's cap of was out of step with the rest of us.

DISAPPOINTMENT with the conduct of the war is rampant. Here are some examples:

1. Local selective service and rationing boards are confused. Orders sent from Washington, and state headquarters are not clearly understood. Washington announces that such-and-such industries are essential to the war. Then local boards refuse to consider deferments; they inform petitioners that rules do not warrant such action.

2. Fabulous wages are being paid to city workers in war industries on a 40-hour basis. Farmers cannot compete in pay or in hours. Then the draft takes farm labor, while the government needs the farmer more than ever.

3. The price of food is being slowly raised to create economic hardship. The price of wheat is 10 cents a bushel, but the price of flour is 10 cents a pound. The price of corn is 10 cents a bushel, but the price of cornmeal is 10 cents a pound.

4. The price of clothing is being slowly raised to create economic hardship. The price of wool is 10 cents a pound, but the price of clothing is 10 cents a piece.

5. High prices of food and clothing are being slowly raised to create economic hardship. The price of food is 10 cents a bushel, but the price of food is 10 cents a pound.

VOTE NO!

on Amendment to State Constitution permitting Wayne County to adopt a Charter, known on the Referendum Ballot as so-called Home Rule.

PROPOSAL NO. 2

Northville Citizens! Consider your home, your tax rate and your representation in county government - - You have no vote in a county government dominated by the "Gold Coast" or downtown politicians.

Reasons for Voting "NO" on Proposal!

- NOT HOME RULE FOR YOU... IT IS NOT HOME RULE for Wayne County, because it permits the whole state to decide the basic terms of our charter, and because later the voters of Wayne County cannot change those terms of the charter without going back to the voters of the whole state.
 - INFLEXIBLE... Proposal No. 2 is short-sighted legislation because it makes no adequate provision for change. It does not provide for any change in the Wayne County charter in respect to the 15 provisions listed under Section (a) of the amendment without the expensive and difficult process of securing a majority vote from the whole State of Michigan. Furthermore, no provision is made for a change in representation of the proposed board of supervisors in case of shifting population and changes in assessed valuation.
 - UNDEMOCRATIC... PROPOSAL NO. 2 IS UNDEMOCRATIC because it means taxation without representation for most of the 382,000 people in Wayne County outside of Detroit. Section (a) of the amendment GUARANTEES Detroit, 14 of the 24 supervisors, but none for the rest of the municipalities. For example:
- | Municipality | Population | Valuation | Co. Tax |
|---------------|------------|---------------|------------|
| Highland Park | 50,000 | $ 86,314,000 | $ 581,000 |
| Dearborn | 63,781 | 214,700,000 | 1,221,000 |
| Harmon | 49,820 | 73,920,000 | 1,165,000 |
| Warren | 35,000 | 18,000,000 | 277,000 |
- ORIGIN SHADY... THE AMENDMENT WAS UNREPRESENTATIVE IN ORIGIN. The special committee of 40 whose names appeared on the Detroit Free Press last January, consisted almost exclusively of men of wealth - businessmen and manufacturers. Labor was not represented, neither was there one woman on the committee, although women constitute 35% of the voters. Out-county was entirely without representation except for one man who had ceased to function in government, and Mr. William Van Moll, who was not consulted again until after the amendment petitions were printed and in circulation.
 - QUESTION FREE FLOW OF MONEY... WHERE ARE THE FUNDS COMING FROM to finance this expensive campaign? Five full-time paid workers, an office in downtown Detroit for six months, 100,000 mailing cards, thousands of attractive leaflets and folders, out-state trips for paid workers radio time - all these cost money. The January statement was $25,000, and there have been several letters asking for $20,000 more each time.
 - CORRUPTION ?? ?... THE AMENDMENT IS NO GUARANTEE AGAINST CORRUPTION. Detroit, with its wonderful "stream-lined charter" and nine-member council has had three councilmen, one mayor, one police commissioner, and a host of other officials indicted and convicted, almost twice as many as the total County group.
 - NO SAVING IN MONEY... THE AMENDMENT IS NO GUARANTEE OF SAVING MONEY. Again Detroit, with its wonderful "stream-lined charter" has a debt of $385,000,000 according to the June issue of the National Municipal Review, while Wayne County, with proportionate obligations has a debt of only $700,000, less than 1% of the possible legal debt of $97,000,000. The amendment makes mandatory the continuance of all county functions so there cannot be much cut in cost.
 - COUNTY TAX LOW... Wayne County, even with its unstreamlined government has the best financial position of any county in the United States, according to the experts. In spite of the increased demands of war time, Wayne's budget is the lowest in ten years, and the County tax rate is cut .572
 - per thousand for Detroit, or more than 10%. It is cut .785 per thousand for the out-county.
 - BIG MONEY TALKS... THE AMENDMENT ENCOURAGES THE EVIL of large campaign funds. At least seven of the proposed board must be elected at large; in a county of 2 1/2 million people this means spending many thousands of dollars to be advertised and well-known. Huge campaign expenditures were given as the primary cause of graft by two Detroit councilmen and the three auditors convicted. At the present time, none of the urban supervisors are elected at large, so they have no such cause for corruption. Under the new plan at least seven, and possibly all 21 of the supervisors will have this temptation to an even greater degree than the three auditors convicted of graft.
 - EX-OFFICIO CONTROL... THE AMENDMENT PERPETUATES THE EVIL OF EX-OFFICIO MEMBERSHIP. Line 4, Section (a) provides that Detroit's 14 supervisors may be ex-officio. That provides nearly for their own convenience, city clerk, city treasurer, corporation counsel or budget director, assessor and mayor. If "ex-officio" membership on the Board is one-half as bad as the Detroit newspapers and the minor reformers contend, why was it contained in a so-called "reform amendment" to be perpetuated in the Constitution?
 - UNFAIR REPRESENTATION... THE AMENDMENT IS GROSSLY UNFAIR in its basis of representation as expressed in lines 7, 8 and 9 of Section (a). Detroit is guaranteed representation as a municipal unit on which taxes are levied. The remaining 11 cities, 14 villages and 18 townships will have taxes levied on them by the 21 member board, but they have no representation as a unit. Detroit may have her ex-officio board, but the rest of the County has no voice at all.
 - ALLEGEDLY NON-PARTISAN... Section (a), line 10, who read all party non-partisan, stated in March 1942 that the two-party system is the backbone of our form of government, and he hoped that the two-party system would continue in this state. When the two-party system and party decisions are eliminated by the State Constitution for two-fifths of the state, that is a serious threat to their survival in the other three-fifths of the state.
 - CHANGES COUNTY OFFICES... Section (a), line 11, permits the WIPING OUT OF EVERY COUNTY OFFICE AND BOARD. This again is a threat to the rest of the state. If they can make Wayne function without a county clerk or register of deeds, the Detroit reformers will start next on the other 82 counties.
 - THREAT TO 15 MILL LIMIT... Many of the State's most able lawyers, too, consider the amendment a serious threat to the 15-mill limitation. Read Section (a) carefully and think for yourself.
 - DOESN'T TELL ALL... The title of the amendment which is all that is given on the ballot for November-3, is so short and sounds so harmless that all who realize the seriousness of the foregoing threats to our fundamental right should read the complete amendment itself, and pass on its dangers to others before it is too late.
 - SABOTAGES FIGHTING MEN... Proposal No. 2 is a subtle sabotage of the war effort for the voters at home, and unfair to the men away in service. When every ounce of our energy should be strained to win the war, there is no time for citizens to devote the time and energy necessary to write a new charter. When 200,000 to 300,000 men are away from home fighting for our lives, it is grossly unfair to put something over behind their backs, especially something that is as permanent as a county charter.
 - A THREAT TO ALL LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT... Proposal No. 2 is a threat to local self-government. Every movement to centralize government has meant fewer rights and privileges to citizens.

Signed: W. A. Ely, former Chairman Bd. of Supervisors, your Supervisor for Years

YES, WE HAVE AND PLENTY OF IT! COAL

But owing to labor shortages we are having to hold up local deliveries to unload cars as they are now arriving. But we have plenty of coal, and are getting more coal daily, and we will deliver it to your bin as rapidly as possible under the strict government regulations imposed upon us to conserve tires and trucks.

Your Coal Dealer Has Regulations, Too:

There are certain regulations which we must conform to that often brings criticism from our patrons. But Uncle Sam's rules and regulations stand, and neither you nor I can change them. Orders for half ton deliveries, or orders for delivery same day, can no longer be accepted because your government reduced all truck mileage to 25%. This makes it necessary for your coal dealer to route his deliveries every day so that every truck will leave the yard with a full capacity load.

Due To Shortage of Labor

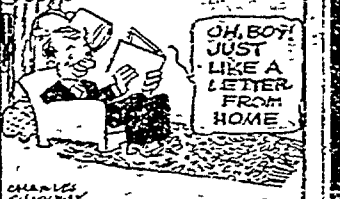

We Cannot Deliver Less Than Half Ton... No Carry Orders Will be Accepted We Must Halt Deliveries to Unload Cars; Uncle Sam Says So. But you will get your Coal in Due Time

TELEPHONES

IN AIR RAID PROTECTION

If enemy bombers ever come roaring in at five miles a minute—split-seconds will count. Fast communication is vital. The telephone has six important functions in Civilian Defense against air raids:

- 1 Receiving warnings. If enemy aircraft are detected by the Army's "Spots" System, warnings are transmitted by telephone to control centers in towns that are threatened.
- 2 Collecting workers. Key men in Civilian Defense units are notified at once by telephone so that when the sirens sound they will be ready to direct the workers in their organizations.
- 3 Reporting bomb damage. If a raid occurs, wardens quickly telephone complete information to the local control center about bomb damage.
- 4 Sending men to handle damage. Depending on the nature of the damage, firemen, rescue squads, demolition squads or other units are dispatched by telephone to deal with it.
- 5 Contact between units and headquarters. After squads reach the bombing scene, they use the telephone to report the progress of their work to the control center.
- 6 Exchanging help. If the situation appears to be getting out of control of the local unit, requests for help are telephoned to other control centers by commanding officials.

The telephone system affects the safety of all of us. That's why it is vitally important that you do not telephone during or for some time after an air raid alarm, except in cases of extreme urgency. The lines must be kept clear to handle the calls that guard your life and your home.

Physical Fitness Program Under Way

Last Friday for the physical fitness program sixty boys were present in the high school gym. The first part of the program was taken up with calisthenics, the latter part with boxing and mauling the boys. The boys averaged five feet, three and one half inches to six feet one and one half inches. Their weights varied from 103 to 234 pounds. The program proved that a lot of the boys are in need of reconditioning. There will be no program today as the school is letting out for teachers' institute meeting.

Don Baker and his thirteen piece orchestra from Redford have been engaged to play for the Senior Prom, Nov. 25, according to the announcement made by the orchestra committee. Other members of the committee are, Gloria Curtis, Bill Slater, and Lois Lloyd. The choice promises to be a good one, as the orchestra has won popularity at many dances.

At the library meeting held last Friday, the girls turned in the hours they had worked since school opened. They are paid ten cents an hour. A large supply of magazines will soon be available.

Around the School

One dozen high school students enjoyed a hay ride Saturday evening, Oct. 24. Those who attended were: Jack Schaeper, Shirley Lyke, Nagel Pocasta, Shirley Ely, Don Butler, Marjorie McKearney, Bob MacDonald, Dorothy Leavenworth, Ed Murray, Joanne Kitchen, Wallace Reed and Peggy Ely.

This week, through Thursday, school was dismissed at 2:30 to accommodate the registration of fuel oil rationing. Classes were shortened to allow for the early dismissal. School buses came at 2:00 to get the students who usually ride home at 3:30.

Miss Ruth Knapp, R. N. spoke last week to the various home rooms on catching cold from the lack of proper clothing, having correct temperature in the room, eating the right food in order to keep up resistance, and washing before eating to destroy all germs.

The Junior Ex Club has elected their officers as follows: president, Vera Karkins; vice president, Anne Lou Humphries; secretary, Joan Adams; treasurer, Marjorie Hancock; Lorraine Reiger has been elected initiation chairman. The social committee has planned a hike and picnic to take place sometime this month. The meetings are to be held every first and second Monday.

The usual pep meeting was held in the high school auditorium Oct. 21 before the football game with Farmington. Cheer leaders were once again elected this time by ballot.

From the final votes Julie Bradley, Dorothy Leavenworth and Peggy Ely were the collectors made by the entire assembly. Coach Le Cronier urged the student body to attend the game.

Office practice class is planning a different schedule every Friday while the boys are in physical training class. They will study, and make charts on personal appearance and grooming for a few weeks and then turn to different subjects. A number of girls have volunteered to look up booklets of interest and post pictures on the bulletin board.

Mr. Cooke, seventh and eighth grade held a discussion on civility and civility was the order of the day. The boys were given a list of civility rules and they were to write a story or poem on civility. A contest will be held with the two grades competing. The winning story or poem will be read from the assembly.

The Book Club held a meeting Friday morning, Oct. 20. The book was "The Boy Who Swam with Piranhas."

Max and Lillian Shoberg will be in charge of the initiation. A party will be held for old and new members Wednesday, Nov. 4. The committee in charge of food will be Thelma Trapp, Margie Gibson and Donna Jerro.

The Halloween party planned for Wed. Oct. 28 by the Teachers' Club was cancelled because the gym is being used for fuel rationing registration.

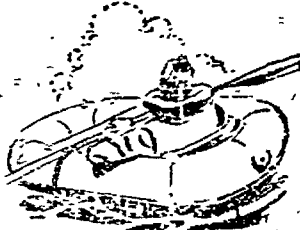

The kindergarten children are making Halloween costumes. They have learned songs and poems about Halloween. Charles Fox and Raymond Foster celebrated their fifth birthdays last week end. Arthur Schmitz brought a Jack O'Lantern to school.

Mr. Lee visited the first grade class last Wednesday morning. Miss Juma's fifth and sixth grades have made charts to keep their arithmetic scores on.

Peggy Price has been absent all week from school because of illness.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Actual experience in the world's wars has proved the collapse of a boat an essential safety feature for both Navy and land based planes. They are made of rubberized material, easily inflated.

At the Battle of Midway an Army plane, after bombing a carrier, was forced to bail out of its bomber. He was able to get a "5th eye" view of the carrier from his collapsible seat and was later picked up by an Army rescue plane. Your purchase of War Bonds will help ten percent of the cost of every day of the war. The boys of Northville are for you. Get behind them.

Not everybody with a dollar to spare can shoot a gun straight—but everybody can shoot straight to the bank and buy War Bonds. Buy your 10¢ every pay day.

"TRAILER VAGABOND"

By WARREN BAYLEY

What is your town doing for the boys in the service? I don't mean those boys who are given a "big" bonus and a "big" chance. I mean the boys who are given a "big" chance to be a part of the people of the town. The boys of Northville are doing a lot for the boys in the service. They are helping them to get a good education and a good job. They are helping them to get a good home and a good life.

A few weeks ago an article in Liberty magazine, written by Bill Cunningham, told a story about what the town of Stoneham, Mass. is doing for its boys. It has a plan that should be adopted by every city and village in the country. You can help it get started in your town. You SHOULD help get it started. It takes up where everything else stops—when the war is over.

How well do you remember the end of the last war when the boys came marching home? They were cheered as they marched down the street—waved and cheered and made heroes of for about a month—and then forgotten. Some found their way back into their old jobs—others found no jobs at all. They were tossed into a changed atmosphere and left to sink or swim. Many sank.

There was nothing wrong with those boys that a little money wouldn't have cured. Just a little financial help to get a new start in life. But where were they going to get that help? They had no security to offer for a loan. A soldier's pay hardly encouraged thrift.

An American Greek named Nick Apellidis of Stoneham, Mass. thought of all these things as the boys from his home town marched off to another war on foreign soil. Would these boys come back to a changed world where the odds were stacked against them? What would happen to the boys who had no jobs to return to or were physically unfit to take back their old jobs? Whose responsibility was it to help them?

Juniors to Solicit Subscriptions

The Juniors had a class meeting Tuesday, Oct. 20, to receive instructions for the magazine selling campaign. Mr. Shields of the Crowell Publishing Co. passed out order blanks to each student to secure subscriptions for the "American," "Woman's Home Companion" and "Colliers."

The following morning each of the Junior three home rooms held a meeting to elect a business manager and a name for each home room team. Bob MacDonald was chosen general chairman for the entire project. Mr. Ellison's room chose Douglas Slessor as their leader, and decided to call their team "Navy Pennacola." Edith Blake was chosen as the leader in Miss Giltner's home room, and this group is "Flying Tigers." Mr. Haygreen's room chose Bob Strong as their leader, and their name is "Sea Hawks." So far $85.00 has been turned in on the project and the juniors will continue getting subscriptions until Monday, Nov. 2.

SUGGESTIONS on

PLANT
EFFICIENCY

AN IMPORTANT BOOKLET entitled "Plant Efficiency," containing ideas and suggestions on how to increase production in war plants, has just been released by the War Production Board. The booklet opens with a two-page section on the importance of good lighting. Here is a partial quotation from this WPB booklet:

"Good Lighting—Better Work"

"Good lighting sharpens the worker's most important faculty—sight. It is an effective means of increasing shop efficiency and maintaining production at a high level.

"An adequate and well-designed lighting system brings to the plant: increased production, better workmanship, less eyestrain, reduction in accidents, better morale.

"Lights and reflectors should be washed at intervals dictated by shop conditions."

That last piece of advice from the War Production Board is especially important. According to a recent survey of lighting maintenance in war plants, dust and dirt from manufacturing processes, if allowed to collect on lamps and lighting fixtures, will rob them of as much as 33% of their light output.

To get all the light you are paying for and the light you need for efficient production, KEEP YOUR LIGHTING FIXTURES CLEAN. A carefully planned schedule for cleaning lamps and reflectors is an important production tool that must not be overlooked. For help in establishing the most economical lighting maintenance schedule, or for advice on any industrial lighting problem, call any Detroit Edison office. Our Industrial Lighting Engineers are at your service, without charge.

*Copies available on written request to the Office of War Information, Boulevard Building, Detroit.

Miss Bauman is Maid of Honor at Melow-Curtis Marriage Rites

The Congregational church, in Salem, was the scene Saturday afternoon, Oct. 24, of the wedding of Abbie Melow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Melow, of Five Mile road and Owen Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Curtis, of Curtis Road, Plymouth. The Rev. Lucia Stroth performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with palms and baskets of white chrysanthemums. Miss Greta Wendt of Farmington presided at the piano.

The bride wore an air-curve blue velvet dress, made in princess style, with matching hat trimmed with flowers and veil and a white orchid corsage. A rhinestone bracelet was her only jewelry, a gift of the bridegroom. Marion Bauman of Northville, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a dark wine-velvet dress made in two-piece style, matching off the face hat with veil and gardenia corsage. Teal blue crepe formed Mrs. Melow's dress, with which the more brown accessories and a corsage of tulleman roses. Mrs. Curtis chose a navy blue crepe gown with black accessories and a corsage of aspen-needle pines.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Cleo Curtis of Plymouth, as his best man and the guests were seated by Dale Curtis and Edward Bauman of Northville. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the dining room of the church where autumn leaves decorated the room and the bride's table held the wedding cake and white bouquets of baby's breath and snapdragons. Following a trip through the Stroh museum, Mrs. and Mrs. Curtis will be at home at 101 East Lake street, South Lyon.

The bride chose for traveling, a forest green two-piece suit with matching top coat and brown accessories.

Guests attended from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Farmington, Grosse Pointe Woods, Northville, South Lyon, Plymouth and College

Radio Technicians Needed by United States Navy

An urgent need for men to operate the U. S. Navy's secret aircraft locator device has created great opportunities for rapid advancement among Navy Radio Technicians.

Enlistment in this branch of the service is open to men from 17 to 50 years old, inclusive, and actual knowledge of radio work is not necessarily required. Knowledge of electricity, mathematics or physics may be acceptable as a substitute.

Men with sufficient experience or education may qualify as Radio Technicians. Second Class, as soon as they enlist and have opportunity to study to the rank of Chief Petty Officer, eight months later. The monthly base pay is $95 for second class petty officers and $135 for chief petty officers. There are additional monthly cash allowances for dependents.
