NEW HYBRID TOMATO
Tests at Michigan State College indicate a new hybrid tomato holds promise for greenhouse operators in Michigan. The introduction has been given the name "Gratton Hybrid" according to Keith C. Barron, who helped produce and test the new development. Parents are the well known Michigan State tomato and a variety called Cooper's Special. Yields of the new hybrid at a week to ten days earlier than the Michigan State tomato. Greenhouse labor shortages, Barron points out, may delay widespread production of the new hybrid by commercial growers.

Wait!

Don't make that Long Distance call unless it's really necessary!

Mrs. Housewife, you and your family are patriotic citizens—eager to aid the war effort in every way you can.

Long Distance telephone lines are communication channels that help make America's war production fast and efficient. Many of them are crowded with essential war messages today, and the less important civilian calls must not interfere.

You can do your part by following these rules:

Do not make a Long Distance call unless it is really important. Keep every call as brief as you can.
