What's wrong with the Michigan liquor control system?
 The answer is not new. It's at least 75 years old—perhaps 7,500 years old.

And here it is: Lack of law enforcement, backed by public opinion.

But, before you grab your telephone and start calling for your local legislator at Lansing to do something about it—no doubt, getting the legislature to enact another law for officers not to enforce better adjust your specks and look at your own front yard.

The solution is so simple, it's difficult to make the public believe that it is true.

If taverns are flouting the law and some of the dance halls and nightclubs are "schools of vice," then the responsibility for these local conditions rest with your local township board and county sheriff (if the tavern is outside the town) or with the city council and local chief of police (if the tavern is inside the town).

The state of Michigan has a responsibility, of course. It is an important one.

But the first responsibility has been placed by the Legislature in its liquor control act upon the home government.

Do you know that the Michigan Liquor Control Commission MUST revoke a license of a by-the-glass establishment if any local governmental unit—township board, village board, town council—makes a request for such action?

Do you know that all the by-the-glass establishments of a township, village or city board before a license will be issued by the State Liquor Control Commission?

Short Subjects

Michigan liquor control commission has completed a survey of two-thirds of the counties in Michigan, studying this matter of law enforcement. It is probably more of a fault than someone at Lansing or Washington.

The state liquor control commission has completed a survey of two-thirds of the counties in Michigan, studying this matter of law enforcement. It is probably more of a fault than someone at Lansing or Washington.

Some philosopher at the cracker barrel once remarked that the people get exactly what they deserve. If you have "bad" government, then it is probably more of a fault than someone at Lansing or Washington.

However, a leading city in the Thumb offers an example in reverse. City police have instructions from the city commission to stamp out of licensed places efforts to serve conditions are the worst in Michigan! State inspectors can only revoke a license when they can obtain evidence. The city council or commission could revoke the license merely by adopting a resolution. The state must revoke a license when the home government requests such action.

Under present laws in Michigan, any community can have exactly the sort of conditions it wants.

That is democracy at the grassroots. Is it a desirable policy?

Next week we will continue this discussion. In the meanwhile, why don't you write a letter giving your views and mail it to your local newspaper. Upon request the editor will hold your name from publication providing you can give it to him along with your address. This is YOUR problem, even though it is 7,500 years old.

The fact that 85 per cent of all license fees are RETURNED to home communities for enforcement of liquor control laws is another proof that the Legislature intended to commit to police local enforcement.

As we saw in No. 1 station, this is the plan of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission. It is not a matter of responsibility of the township, village or city board before a license will be issued by the State Liquor Control Commission.

The first recommendation of the commission would be to give township, village or city boards a license to enforce the law. If you want the law enforced in your township, village or city, you must first get the law enforced in your township, village or city. The county sheriff could be held strictly accountable if he received some of the license fees and thus could turn to him for the enforcing township conditions. However, the more outspoken senators admit privately that just as they seldom issue traffic violations because to do so would be politically suicide, so they might not be too zealous in enforcing liquor laws. Public opinion is the deciding factor: counties with liberal feelings toward the use of liquor are not going to elect for

THE RECORD SINCE PEARL HARBOR

For the Armed Forces—More than one million and a half service men have received, through the Red Cross, practical help in personal problems. The Red Cross is with them in training and at the front. For morale and recreation, over one hundred Red Cross Clubs have been established for overseas troops. There are more than five thousand workers in the field.

Civilian Relief—About sixty million dollars in war relief has been administered in every allied country. Food, clothing, medicinal supplies have gone to Great Britain, Russia, China, Africa for Polish and Greek refugees, and many others.

Thousands of packages to prisoners of war have been safely delivered through cooperation with the International Red Cross in Switzerland.

The Home Front—Training our people to meet the needs of war. Millions of First Aid Courses. Hundreds of thousands trained in Home Austerity and Nutrition Courses. Thousands enlisted as Nurses Aides and in Motor and Canteen and Staff Assistant Corps.

More than one million and a half blood donations through Red Cross collection centers and the distribution of the life saving Plasma wherever needed.

Chapter Production rooms from coast-to-coast providing surgical dressings for the wounded, kit bags for the fighters and tons of clothing for relief.

The Red Cross record in this war is one that we Americans may well be proud of—and support.

"I'm going to shock you!"

"Because I'm going to hit right from the shoulder, starting now."

"Out there, our boys are fighting, and they're falling. Not one or two at a time, picked off by a nice clean bullet. But fifty at a time in the roaring, flaming hell of a shell burst."

"Out there, they aren't walking around in clean white uniforms on neat decks. They're running and slipping around on the bloody heaving flanks of a carrier foundering in a sea of oil with her guts torn out."

"They're not lying in cool, immaculate hospital beds with pretty nurses to hold their hands. They're flat on their backs on cold steel taking a smoke and waiting for a doctor to get through with the seriously wounded."

"Out there, they're fighting and they're falling but they're winning! And get this straight—they're not complaining. But I want you to know what they're up against. I want you to know they look to you to give them in your way the same full measure of help and devotion they get unasked from their own shipmates."

"And you can help them—by giving generously to the Red Cross."

"If you had seen the faces of men pulled naked from the sea as they received kit bags and cigarettes handed out on the spot by Red Cross Field Directors—you'd know what I mean!"

On every front the Red Cross presses forward. Each day, the need increases for your support.

Your Chapter is raising its Second War Fund in March. Give more this year—give double if you can.

The entire expense of this local American Red Cross campaign have been underwritten by a group of patriotic Detroiters. Thus, all contributions are applied directly and entirely to the work of the Red Cross.
