PLEASE cut down your Long Distance calling

AS Michigan's war industry hits full stride, more and more long distance calls have to be made—war calls vital to victory.

The burden of calls on many long distance lines has reached a critical stage. Central office equipment, fully manned with operators, is being used to capacity. At times, each unimportant call, regardless of its destination, affects the speed with which all other calls can be handled. Many calls are delayed—some for hours. And materials to expand the system cannot be had.

Yet, war calls must go through promptly! So it is necessary that we all curtail both our personal and our business use of long distance. Therefore, please—

1. Make fewer long distance calls—and keep them short.
2. Give the operator the number of the telephone you are calling, if possible.
3. If your call can't go through at once, stay near the telephone ready to talk when the operator notifies you.

6 TIMELY SUGGESTIONS that will make your trip more convenient—and will help bus travel do its big wartime job

1. If week-end jams you'd help unravel—Then pick a mid-week day to travel.
Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays are the best wartime travel times—and you'll leave more seats for the armed forces on week-ends.
2. Don't wait until mid-summer's here—Go now before the crowds appear.
You'll help "balance-up" wartime transportation by going before or after July and August when travel is always heaviest.
3. Now when you take a trip some place Please travel light and save some space.
"Budget" your baggage when you travel now—days—take along less luggage than usual, to save extra handling and extra space.
4. You can't afford to take a chance—Get information in advance.
Make a call to Greyhound before you make your plans—get advance information on schedules, fares and bus connections.
5. Please take your Greyhound agent's tips—On which are the least crowded trips.
Your Greyhound agent can suggest the right departure times—when more seats are usually available and travel is more convenient.
6. Advice that's good these hectic days—Avoid-like sin all Holidays!
There's no place like home on holidays—by avoiding travel at such rush periods you'll avoid overcrowding wartime transportation.

Plus one extra thought—Remember transportation for the men and women in the armed forces, in war plants and on civilian furloughs comes first—so avoid unnecessary trips!

Keeping Step on the Home Front

Essential Dates and Information Affecting the Welfare of the "Vanishing Civilian"

This is a regular weekly feature designed to aid you in your current purchases of items rationed by the government. This newspaper believes this service will enable individuals to cooperate more fully in winning the war on the home front.

SHOES—Stamp 17 in War Ration Book One is good for one pair of shoes until June 15. Stamps may be interchanged among members of the family.

FUEL OIL—Coupons marked period 4 are good for 11 gallons from Feb. 2 through April 27. Change coupons good for full value value. Fuel oil coupon No. 5 is good for 11 gallons beginning March 11.

COFFEE—Stamp No. 25 becomes valid for one pound Apr. 28 through May 30.

MEATS, FATS, CHEESE—Red Stamp A, B, C and D, expired on April 30. Red Stamp E, good from April 25 to May 30.

SUGAR—Stamp 12 good for five pounds from Mar. 18 through May 31.

SUGAR FOR CANNING—Sugar for home-canning of 1943 fruit crops will be available to housewives on approximately the same basis as last season. No reduction of blue point stamps will be made from War Ration Book Two for canning sugar. Details of the program will be issued within the next few days.

Red stamps from War Ration Book Two, which are good for the purchase of meats and cheese and edible fats and oils and canned fish, will expire as follows:

Week Beginning	Red Stamp Bearing Letter	Stamp Expires
April 25	E—(16 points)	May 30
May 2	F—(16 points)	May 30
May 9	G—(16 points)	May 30
May 16	H—(16 points)	May 30
May 23	I—(16 points)	May 30
May 30	K—(16 points)	May 30

Here is how meat and fats rationing is different from canned goods. Your butcher can give you "change" in one-point ration stamps when you find it impossible to give the exact amount of stamps.

Ration points will be adjusted from time to time, depending upon demand and supply, as illustrated in the reduction in values of prunes and raisins. Prunes and raisins were dropped from 20 to 12 points; dry beans, peas and lentils were reduced from 8 to 4 points per pound.

GASOLINE—Mileage "A" Book, Ticket No. 5 good for 4 gallons through May 21. Tires must be checked every 8 months.

"B" Book—Tickets good until date on ration card. Tires must be inspected every 4 months. "C" Book Tickets good until date on ration card. Tires must be inspected every 4 months.

"D" Book—Truck tires must be checked every 2 months or every 5,000 miles, whichever comes first.

GAS RENEWALS—Renewal requests for "B" or "C" gasoline coupons may be made by mail. Blacks may be obtained at the Ration Board office. Fill in the application, taking in consistent with your original application, as your fire inspection sheet to the application and mail to Rationing Board, Plymouth, Michigan. New coupons will be mailed to you. You need not surrender your present "B" or "C" book until requested to do so by the Board issuing the new book to you.

BOARD HOURS—The Plymouth Rationing Board No. 33-82-19 is open six days a week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. except Wednesday afternoon when the office is closed to the public in order to keep up on clerical work. Thursday night office is open until 8:30 p.m. People in Oakland County may contact their board at branch offices in South Lyon, Farmington and Walled Lake or at the main office in Pontiac.

Insurance For Soldiers

All soldiers can get financial protection through the National Service Life Insurance program, if they act before midnight of August 10, the War Department has announced. Maximum policy is $10,000. The payments will be made to beneficiaries only in monthly installments.

Tobacco Can Be Sent to Prisoners

U. S. war prisoners and civilian internees held by Germany and Italy can receive cigarettes, cigars, smoking tobacco, or chewing tobacco sent by relatives and friends under a government worked out by several government agencies and the American Red Cross. The plan will be extended to include persons held by Japan whenever facilities are available for routing the products to them. Under the program, the next-of-kin of each identified United States war prisoner and civilian internee will receive (without asking for it) two tobacco labels every sixty days. These are to be forwarded, with a money order to a tobacco manufacturer, who will send the tobacco. No postage or Federal excise tax need be paid. Each label is good for three cartons of cigarettes, or twelve packages of one carton of two-ounce packages of smoking tobacco, 100 cigars, or approximately 24 ounces of chewing tobacco. Smaller amounts or mixed packages cannot be ordered.

Crop Corps Certificates

Certificates of service will be awarded to the 3,500,000 persons who work on farms throughout the U. S. Crop Corps, and to those who work in canning and other food processing plants, the War Food Administration has announced. The certificates will be presented "for patriotic services on a farm or in a food processing plant," and will bear the signatures of Chester C. Davis, War Food Administrator, Paul V. McNutt, Chairman of the War Manpower Commission, and the State Director of Agricultural Extension in each state.

Coal Supply Is Low

Stocks of bituminous coal are not large enough to tide the nation over a prolonged suspension of mining, solid fuels administrator Harold L. Ickes said recently, as he urged all users to conserve coal. Regarding the nation's "insoluble fuel position," administrator Ickes said, "it is essential that every consumer conserve every pound of coal possible so that the maximum amount of coal will be available in the event the emergency continues."

Stop Theft and Forgery

To safeguard dependents and others who regularly receive Government checks the following procedure is urged by the U. S. Secret Service to help stop the thieves and forgers: (1) some member of the family should always be at home when checks are due to be delivered; (2) all mail boxes should be equipped with a lock and the individual's name should be printed clearly on the outside of the box; (3) checks should be cashed in the same place each month, making identification easier; (4) checks should not be endorsed until you are in the presence of the person who is to cash it.

Service Bars For Civilians

For the first time, civilians may earn an official service bar similar to the campaign bars of the armed services, according to a recent announcement of the civilian defense director. Six distinctive bars for service ranging from 500 to 5,000 hours will be given to Civilian Defense volunteers. All Civilian Defense volunteers may qualify for the

A list has just been compiled by the Women's Advisory Committee of the WMC.

Revised Feed Prices

Savings to farmers are expected to result from OPA's revision of retail prices of animal and poultry feeds. Previously, the retailer had been allowed a fixed mark-up of $7.50 a ton on all kinds of feeds. Now, feeds have been classified, and there is a schedule of mark-ups ranging from $5.50 to $10.00 a ton.

Ceiling on Sausage

Frankfurters, bolognas, and fresh and smoked sausage, which make up about 60 per cent of all sausage sold in this country, are now under wholesale ceiling prices fixed by OPA. Cents-per-pound retail prices will be established by OPA in the near future.

OBITUARY

Frank Sohn

Funeral services for Frank Sohn, who died Thursday, May 6, at Maybury Sanatorium, were held at 3 a.m. Saturday at the Schrader Funeral Chapel.

This service was followed by a service at the Woodmere Chapel, Detroit.

The deceased, born in Louisville, Ky., was fifty years old at the time of his death. For over twenty years he was a machinist residing in Detroit.

He is survived by a brother, Joseph of Shively, Ky., and three sisters: Mrs. Louis Young and Mrs. Katherine Werle of Louisville and Miss Florence Sohn of Detroit.

E. Richard Kilgour

E. Richard Kilgour, better known here as "Dick," who suffered a serious heart attack about three weeks ago, passed away at his home in Pontiac Sunday morning.

The funeral was held at the Voorets Funeral Home on N. Perry street in Pontiac Wednesday morning, with burial at Port Huron.

Deceased was a veteran of World War No. 1 and a member of Lloyd H. Green Post of this place, and also a member of Northville Lodge No. 136 F. and A. M. under whose auspices the funeral was conducted. In March 1922 he came to Northville to assist his brother in the clothing business, where he remained until the spring of 1926, when he went to Pontiac. There he owned and conducted a barber shop and haberdashery store on Glenwood avenue, near the Pontiac factory.

During his six years in Northville he won many friends, who will regret to learn of his death. He just passed his fifty-fourth birthday, May 5. With his fine musical ability, he assisted in many entertainments, at one time having charge of the Methodist church choir. He is survived by his wife and one brother, and a host of friends.

Lewis H. Barnum

Lewis H. Barnum, for many years a resident of Northville, died Monday, May 10, in Chicago at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harold Turner, with whom he and Mrs. Barnum have resided since leaving here six years ago.

Michigan Financial Status To Be Good Says Brake

Michigan will be in an enviable financial position by the end of 1944 to meet its post-war problems - soldiers and sailors bonus, state institutional building, welfare aid and other responsibilities - probably without recourse to a bond issue or new taxes.
Such is the belief of D. Hale Brake, Michigan's new state treasurer.
And since Brake thinks conservatively as a matter of long legal training, his conviction is encouraging news for taxpayers.
We interviewed the state treasurer a few days ago. He gave us the following picture:

"The voters of Michigan, back in 1921, approved a soldiers' bonus bond issue of $30,000,000, and a state highway bond issue of $30,000,000," said Mr. Brake.
"A sinking fund was created by the legislature to provide funds for retirement of bonds as they came due and to meet the interest annually. The bonus bonds imposed a load on the state's general fund of one to five million dollars annually. For the 1921-22 year, the sinking fund was allocated $2,450,000. Varying amounts were deposited each year until the last payment of $1,750,000 was made last fall. All bonus bonds have been retired."
"The state highway bond issue also authorized in 1921, has been liquidated through payments from gasoline taxes. This has averaged about $4,000,000 a year. The last of these bonds will be paid off by November 1944, leaving the State of Michigan entirely free of bonded indebtedness."

"But that isn't all," As Treasurer Brake delved into the bookkeeping entanglements whereby millions of dollars have been set aside annually to retire the last post-war indebtedness of $80,000,000, two of his sons - Donald J., age six, and John R., age eleven, came into the office and started to interrupt their father.
Mr. Brake, schooled in discipline as a judicial pro tem of the State Senate and a prosecuting attorney at Montcalm county, told the lads to wait. They slid upon a davenport and promptly started to snore.

Mr. Brake continued: "Not only will the State of Michigan be out of bonded indebtedness for the first time in more than two decades, but it will have a post-war fund of $8,000,000 ready to meet the state's post-war problems."
"We have already allocated $20,000,000 to the special post-war fund which the state legislature established this spring, following the recommendation of Governor Kelly. When the state administers a federal new loan, another allocation of money from the state's surplus will undoubtedly be authorized. The fund will be increased to $50,000,000."
Sitting that this post-war fund was perhaps one of the most important accomplishments of 1943. Treasurer Brake paused to pay tribute to the legislature in which he served four terms.
"The state legislature is entitled to credit which they may have received. Take 132 men from all parts of Michigan, gather them together for 90 days, have them subjected to pressure groups, and - at the same time - have a fat state surplus in the treasury available for appropriations - and you'll see what I mean. The legislature did mighty well."

Michigan's new state treasurer brings to office a mind which has been trained to handle detailed work with great persistency and with acknowledged competency. For six years he was chairman of the senate judiciary committee. He worked hard, tirelessly, conscientiously.
He won oratorical medals at Fremont high school from which he was graduated in 1911. He was a member of the Albion college debating team for three successive years and was editor of the college paper during his senior year. After graduation, he became principal of a township high school at Greenland in Ontonagon county. Three years later he took his bride with him to the University of Michigan where he studied law. Brake is proud of the fact that his entire education, from the tenth grade on through law school, was financed entirely by his own savings.

Garden Club Birthday Party
The Garden Club held its seventh birthday party last week at the home of Mrs. Joseph Hoeft where the club held its first meeting. On that May day it was so warm that the charter members had to sit on the porch for comfort.
Thirty members and a guest, Mrs. Volitt attended the party this year. At which Mrs. Ray Castleton, Mrs. John McCollough and Mrs. Geroge Alexander were co-hostesses with Mrs. Hoeft.
This was also a birthday celebration for Mrs. Jennie Vradenburg and Mrs. Ray Castleton.
Mrs. Joseph Denton, whose gift to the club was a beautifully decorated birthday cake, gave a report on the state conference which she attended May 5 and 6 at the Staller Hotel, Al Tabor, magician, entertained the party.

Children Baptized
By Great Grandfather
David Charles and John Michael Dickey were baptized May 2 by Rev. H. J. Johnston in a home ceremony at the John W. Dickey residence on Eaton drive. Rev. Johnston, a retired minister, is 87 years of age and the children's great-grandfather. T. E. Johnson of Flint was godfather by proxy for his grandson, David, making the responses for his son, St. Stanley Johnson, USN. Dr. M. C. Johnson was godfather to John Michael.

Treasurer Brake is as proud of his office staff as he is of his family. Frank Kropschot, deputy, was a "career man" in the banking department. Mildred Bappert his secretary, was formerly with Auditor General Vernon Brown. Recommendation enough for her ability. Mary Sumson, chief securities clerk, is an office institution.
"As he concluded his interview, the youngest of Brake's two sons in the office approached his father's desk.
"Donald, age six, had listened to the talk about millions with obvious boredom.
"Dad," he asked, "may I have six cents?"
Brake smiled indulgently. "I guess you'd call that recklessness. There is a candy counter downstairs, you know."
Val, the eldest son, is on duty with the army military police near Baltimore. Mr. Brake's wife, the former Marjorie Valentine of Albion, maintains the family home at Stanton to which Brake returns for week-ends.

Use hot water for health...
But Use GAS Wisely

Here's how you can help the War effort and your pocket book too!

In this war emergency, good health is mighty important. Hot water helps you keep your home clear of germs - and that means less danger of infection - consequently a better chance to maintain normal family health.

But because in this area Gas has become a vital war material... because our war industries, in their stepped-up production schedules, are using more and more Gas... it is up to us all not to waste Gas.

This doesn't mean that you have to get along without the hot water you need - only that you use it wisely and efficiently.

We're pretty fortunate in this area to enjoy the advantages of such a clean, instant fuel as Natural Gas. If we are careful in our use of it, we can enjoy its many advantages and still speed war industry. But the weapons of war cannot wait. By our own attitude we can say how effective our war production is to be.

NATURAL GAS IS VITAL TO WAR INDUSTRIES... USE IT WISELY!

1. Repair all leaking faucets.
2. Don't fill the tub any higher than you have to.
3. If you have a shower, don't run it too long for a bath.
4. Fill the wash-basin; don't let the water run indefinitely.
5. Don't use hot water in the tub merely to heat the bathroom.
6. Use hot water economically when washing dishes.
7. See that your water heater is clean and adjusted properly.

I AM AN American Day

Presidents of the past interpret meaning of national ideals for citizens of the present

BEING an American means many things to many people. But to every citizen it represents a distinctive idealism nowhere else in the world. This is true today as never before in history. On May 16, when the nation observes "I Am an American Day," that fact will be forcefully brought home.

In past generations eminent Americans have interpreted the meaning of citizenship and national ideals in words that sound strangely familiar today. This fact is glowing proof that the present generation is true to the principles of its forebears.

"What has America done for the world?" someone asked John Quincy Adams, sixth President of the United States. He replied: "America has done nothing for the world but to make it a better place."

The martyred President James A. Garfield epitomized the meaning of American citizenship when he said: "When our fathers announced as self-evident truths the declaration that all men are created equal and the only just power of government is derived from the consent of the governed, they uttered a doctrine that no other nation had ever adopted, that no one kingdom on earth then believed. Yet to our fathers it was so plain that they would not debate it. They announced it as a truth self-evident."

"Answering a query, 'What is our country?' President Benjamin Franklin said: 'Our country is the flag and what it stands for. It is its glorious history. Our country is the future and the home, the high thoughts that are in the heart that comes of the story of the fathers, the martyrs of liberty. In these things is that quality we love and call our country—rather than anything that can be touched or handled.'" brief biography of each of these men. Mr. Bennett is Sup't of Wayne County Parkways and told of plans for greater recreation facilities for this area. At present 1350 acres are visited by four and a half million people in Wayne County each year. According to population pressure, Wayne County needs 16000 acres for recreation purposes and plans are being laid for this goal. Mr. Bennett further stressed the need and benefit of a Planning Commission and the work being done in Plymouth, Livonia and other places in Wayne County. He believed that zoning was one of the best methods of organized growth that was beneficial to all.

Zoning

When the principle of orderliness of having a place for everything and everything in its place is applied to villages, it is called village planning or zoning.

The location, construction and use of the physical properties that go to make up the village—such as buildings (public and private), streets, alleys, sewers, etc.—are planned for future development in such manner as will provide the greatest degree of planning efficiency, utility and beauty. Use zones are established which prescribe the type of use to which property may be put in particular areas of the village. In this manner a municipality is divided into industrial, mercantile, and residence areas or zones and subdivisions thereof so as to keep railroad roundhouses, stockyards, slaughterhouses and things of that nature in the industrial area instead of allowing them to encroach upon areas used or suitable for private residences. Industrial and commercial establishments are located in the mercantile area and are kept separate from the residential areas but they should have their allotted place. We may summarize by saying that zoning laws are designed to regulate, systematize and stabilize the growth of municipalities by districts.

The concentration of large numbers of people into comparatively small spaces such as cities, villages and towns makes it imperative that regulations exist relative to the construction, location and use of the physical property that makes up the village. In the absence of such regulations the public health, safety and general welfare suffer.

It might be profitable to go briefly into the background and history of zoning laws and ordinances. Although the first municipal modern zoning ordinances can be traced back in our country to pre-revolutionary war days and to England and even to still older sources, their need became acute in this country during the century 1790 to 1890 when our population doubled itself four times. The larger cities and even the small villages felt the need of regulation in the building up and development of their corporate areas. The earlier ordinances were to be expected to be hit and miss, trial and error enactments. However in 1922 the Standard State Zoning Act was drafted by a advisory committee on zoning for the Department of Commerce of the United States. This proved to be a great help. By 1927 forty-three states had enabling acts authorizing municipal zoning ordinances. All of them had been influenced by the Standard Zoning Act. This resulted in a more nearly uniform manner of zoning and many of the mistakes made in earlier zoning laws corrected. According to a survey made by the Division of Building and Housing of the United States Bureau of Standards there were 1150 municipalities containing 47,700,000 inhabitants representing 69 per cent of the urban population of the country operating under zoning ordinances at the beginning of 1932. The highest courts of various states as well as the Supreme Court of the United States have declared zoning ordinances to be constitutional and a valid exercise of the so-called "police power." In Michigan we have a state zoning law enabling the "local five body" of cities and villages to enact zoning ordinances. In Wayne County, 17 cities and villages and eight townships have zoning ordinances, representing approximately 33 per cent of the population of the county. Another 5 per cent of the cities, villages and townships of Wayne County are in process of enacting zoning ordinances.

Although each zoning ordinance must be drawn to fit the conditions and requirements of each municipality, still their general pattern is much the same. The proposed Northville Zoning Ordinance is modeled after the Standard State Zoning Act and Zoning Act of the State of Michigan. It was not made up of whole cloth by the Northville Planning Commission as an experiment. Ordinances similar to the proposed Northville Zoning Ordinance have proved successful and beneficial in many villages and cities throughout the country.

However, even though the planning commission had a pattern to go by, a tremendous amount of work was required in making investigations and surveys in order to logically divide the village into zones and to apply the most beneficial regulations to the various zones. In this connection it might be well to point out now that some persons may think that the purpose of the proposed zoning ordinance is to tear Northville up by the roots and change its character and immediate changes in its character and types of buildings or the uses to which persons may put their property. This is not the fact of the matter; on the contrary this could not be done even if it was the intention. Zoning laws do not have a retroactive effect. Zoning recognizes the old usage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." It is easier to prevent the construction or entry of a non-conforming building or use than to remove it after it is once established. A zoning ordinance may prevent the construction of a proposed non-conforming building or the entry of a non-conforming business or use but it cannot prevent the continuance of a well established non-conforming business or use. The improvement must be a gradual process. As the old non-conforming buildings or businesses fall into disrepair a new building or business to take the place of the old may be required to conform to the zoning requirements. Therefore a person need not be alarmed if his present home is too close to the lot line as prescribed by the zoning ordinance, or a boarding and rooming house is now established and operating in a zone where the business of boarding and rooming is prevented or if he owns a multiple family dwelling in a zone established for single residences only. These are examples of non-conforming uses that cannot be immediately changed by the zoning ordinance.

Experience in zoning gained by many municipalities in the past have shown benefits which may be summarized as follows:

1. Zoning stabilizes and protects real estate values.
2. Zoning reduces the fire hazard.

3. Zoning protects public schools from noisy industries and other nuisances.
4. Zoning promotes home ownership.
5. Zoning protects residential districts from offensive odors, smoke, dust and dirt incidental to industrial establishment.
6. Zoning promotes public health.
7. Zoning attracts desirable home owners to the village.
8. Zoning increases the beauty of the village in general.
9. The zoning ordinance and attractiveness of the village, as a whole reflect the pride, culture and refinement of its inhabitants and give to all the property in the village a greater value, stability and saleability.
