With Our Men in the Service

NOTE—This column is dedicated to news of men and women from Novi and Northville communities who are in the service.

Corp. Mildred L. Ely is a member of the First WAC Separate Battalion, which recently arrived in England, according to a War Department announcement. She is the third member of her family in military service. Her brother, Robert F. Moore, is serving overseas and another brother, Lt. John E. Moore, is serving with the Air Corps.

Shirley Condit's name has been added to the honor roll of Northville men and women. Miss Condit is in training in Texas for the Ferry Command. She is now down here in California and set of would like the news of around Northville. Have been doing quite a bit of traveling around in the last few months and missed out on the last few editions of your appreciated news paper, so am sending my address to resume relations with you.

There is not much to tell you of what my day consists of, as it is pretty much the same as that of the boys that is the ones that are still in the U. S., except I could be giving a few more hours than some. Have been from five thirty until around midnight. Well, Mr. Cansfield, will close for this time, thanking you for the Record, and hope to receive it once again.

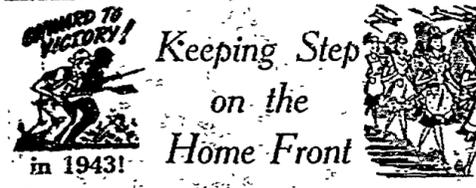

Sgt. Ray Altenberg, who is somewhere in England, wrote recently that he had had a visit with Floyd Schoutz over the phone and hoped to get to see him soon.

Don Wilber, now first class private in the Army Air Corps, has just completed a course in radio mechanics at Sioux Falls, S. D. Ward Schultz is home on leave after completing his boot training at Great Lakes. He will report back there Aug. 4 as petty officer, third class. Aug. 4, incidentally, is his first wedding anniversary.

Alvin Teuhka is rejoining his outfit at Sioux City, Ia. He is a private first class in the Air Corps, having recently graduated from a course of special training at Fort Crook, Neb.

Ronald Anderson has been transferred from Alabama to Camp Wheeler, Ga. Henry Stepanovich, who was serving in the medical corps at Camp Forrest, Tenn., has been transferred to San Francisco, Cal.

I am finally getting around to thank you for the Record, which I have been receiving every week. (Continued on back page.)

Keeping Step on the Home Front

Essential Dates and Information Affecting the Welfare of the "Vanishing Civilian"

This is a regular weekly feature designed to aid you in your current purchases of items rationed by the government. This newspaper believes this service will enable individuals to cooperate more fully in winning the war on the home front.

AND HOURS—The Plymouth Rationing Board No. 33-32-13 is open six days a week from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. except Wednesday afternoon when the office is closed to the public in order to keep up on clerical work. Thursday night office is open until 8:30 p. m. People in Oakland County may contact their board at branch offices in South Lyon, Farmington and Walled Lake or at the main office in Pontiac.

SHOES—Stamp 18 in War Ration Book One is good for one pair of shoes until October 31. Stamps may be interchanged among members of one family.

FUEL OIL—Period 5 coupons in old rations valid in all zones through September 30. Period 1 coupons in new rations are now valid. Coupons of oil heated homes are urged to return their applications for next year's fuel oil rations to their War Price and Ration Boards promptly.

SUGAR—Stamp No. 13 good for 5 lbs. through August 15. Stamp No. 14, good for 5 lbs. becomes valid August 16 and remains good through October. Stamps Nos. 15 and 16 are good through October 31 for 5 lbs. each for home canning purposes. Housewives may apply to their local ration boards for more if necessary.

COFFEE—Ration stamps no longer required. STOVES—Purchase certificates now issued and normally valid for 30 days from date of issuance. will be invalid after August 23, by which time it is expected that the new nation-wide stove rationing plan will be in effect.

MEAT, Etc.—Red stamps T and U, now valid, expire August 31. V is valid August 8, expires August 31; W is valid August 15, expires August 31.

Ration points are adjusted from time to time, depending upon demand and supply.

PROCESSED FOODS—Blue stamps N, P, Q remain valid through August 7. Blue stamps R, S, T became valid August 1 and will be good through September 20.

Joe Green's rodeo which will give a performance nightly at the Fairgrounds during Fair Week, Aug. 18 to 22, is one of the biggest and most exciting rodeos shown in the country. ## Schools to Open Here Sept. 8th

Early Registration Urged. Staff Still Has Several Vacancies To Fill

At a meeting of the Board of Education held this week, Wednesday, Sept. 8, was officially designated as the opening day of the 1943-44 school term. Supt. Amerman states that school will probably open with an incomplete staff as it has so far been impossible to secure a general science teacher or a grade school principal.

Principal Harrison urges High School students to register, and these under 18 years of age, on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 2 and Sept. 3, before the opening date of school. Mr. Harrison and his staff will be at the school from 9 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 4 p. m. on those two dates to assist students in registering and arranging their programs. Late registration may mean that classes have already reached their quota and that students will have to select other subjects.

Notes on Rationing

SUPPLY OF FATS, OILS

Despite heavy wartime demands on the supply of edible fats and oils (principally lard, butter, shortening, and margarine), 44 pounds per capita about 3 pounds less than in 1942—will be made available to American civilians during the 12 months ending June 30, 1944, the War Food Administration has announced. Of the total civilian allocation, approximately 9 ounces per week per capita will be available for direct purchases, and an additional 4 1/2 ounces for direct consumption in such items as restaurant meals, bakery products, mayonnaise, etc.

HOME CANNERS WARNED

Home canners have been warned by the U. S. Department of Agriculture during the 12 months ending June 30, 1944, that "canning powders" and other chemical preservatives, such as W. G. Campbell, Commissioner of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, said that use of such "canning powders" include boric acid and its compounds and substances like metabisulfite which, when brought in contact with an acid-reacting food product, the safe way for the home-canner is to process foods adequately with heat and not to use chemical preservatives. For safety's sake, rely on thorough heat sterilization.

FLOOD RESTORATION LOANS

Flood restoration loans to enable farmers to get their flood-damaged farms back into production have been authorized in 314 counties in Arkansas, Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, Oklahoma, Wisconsin and Texas, Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard announced recently. Two types of loans will be available to eligible farmers; real estate restoration loans which may be made for a period of up to 20 years and will bear interest at 3 1/2 percent; and production restoration loans which may run as long as 10 years and will bear interest at 3 percent. These loans will be made only to farmers who do not have other credit available and security must be provided. Farmers needing flood restoration loans should apply to their nearest Farm Security county office. Cash coupons should be filled out. Motorists can use their "A" ration books for trips into or out of the Eastern gasoline shortage area, according to rules recently announced by OPA. Since July 21, Eastern motorists have been using "A" ration books to overcome these difficulties in travel across the border. A new amendment to the Gasoline Rationing Regulations permit "A" ration holders to exchange any of their ration coupons for cash coupons that may be used in the areas in which they expect to travel. Exchanges may be made and further information secured at the War Price and Rationing Board, Point Reduction Continued.

The provision permitting retailers to make emergency reductions in the point values of rationed meats, fats and dairy products in imminent danger of spoiling, which was to expire July 31, has been extended indefinitely. OPA has announced. Mass. Mailing Finished. Approximately 122,000,000 copies of War Ration Book Three had been mailed by the first of last week, OPA announced. (1) Anyone who does not receive his War Ration Book Three should apply at his local board between August 1 and 10. (2) A plan is now being set up to distribute War Ration Book Three to members of the armed services who are eligible for ration books; (3) persons receiving War Book Three should sign their names and addresses in the spaces reserved for that purpose on the cover.

Waste Fats Needed. One tablespoonful of waste household fats saved every day by each of Wayne County's 530,427 families during the second year of the WPE fat salvage campaign, would provide enough glycerin to make 25,460,496 anti-aircraft shells.

Although only a fraction of this amount has been saved daily by the average family, said T. A. Connors, head of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company's national meat department, "the steady increase in contributions is very encouraging. During May and June housewives turned in at our company stores as much waste fat as they did during the drive's four opening months, and our total collections for the year were more than 4,000,000 pounds." Michigan is asked by the government to salvage 806,500 pounds of fats each month.

YOU BURN COAL

If you had to put a shovelful of coal in the furnace every time you turned on a light or used an electric appliance, you would realize more clearly why electricity is a war material. Actually, that is what happens when you turn on an electric switch: Coal is burned to produce your electricity.

Thousands of tons a day are consumed in the large Detroit Edison power plants—and this coal is brought in by rail and boat. Every carload and every boatload that can be saved means that much more transportation space to carry war materials for our fighting men. And it means precious manhours, as well as coal, oil, and other critical items.

So remember—when you turn on your lights or your radio or your range—that electricity should not be wasted. Today more than ever, its careful, reasonable use is a patriotic contribution toward winning the war. The Detroit Edison Company.

ELECTRICITY IS NOT RATIONED. BUT ITS PRODUCTION REQUIRES COAL AND RAILROAD TRANSPORTATION. DON'T WASTE IT!

Certain Types of Cheese Limited

Certain types of cheeses not affected by "set-aside" orders for government purchases are available in fair quantity for housewives seeking to vary their hot weather menus, according to word from one of the largest food distributors.

While the supply of American cheese for consumer use is limited due to lower production and use by the armed forces and for lend-lease, other types of the hard or semi-hard cheeses are not in demand from the source. Production of these types has been slowly increasing in recent years and most of them are readily available, according to Frank Stull, of the A & P Tea Company's Cheese merchandising department.

Popularity of types of cheese other than natural or processed American cheese is increasing in this country as more and more women become better acquainted with their fine quality and high food value," he said. "They are excellent for sandwiches and snacks. Some make excellent dressers and several are nearly as well suited for cooking use as is American."

Swiss, Muenster, brick, Gouda, Edam and Limburger are among the types which are favorites for sandwich use and in meals emphasizing cold dishes. Blue cheese has found a ready acceptance as a substitute for Roquefort. It is identical in characteristics and flavor. Stull said.

The semi-hard Italian types, such as Asiago, Provolone and Provolone Salame are fine for cooking as well as for sandwich and snack use.

WHY THE AMERICAN D-A-C-H-S-H-N-D HAS LONG EARS

Many people grow impatient. Over every little "dissension" they insist there's no more rash bound. Then that plucky little "dissension" grows warm around the necks. Or their hearts when they see "dissension" AS delightedly they cackle. At the legends of the dackle. To a beagle of some such bound. They prefer the "howly" dackel bound. They adore, from front to back's end. The proportions of the dackel. They declare there's lots of moxie in the doxie-looking doxie. And therein no breed is found. Smarter than the doxiehound. They let nobody denounce him, though they never can pronounce him. How much gratitude he'd show, if they only call him Joe!

There is no very satisfactory remedy for fly lines which have been allowed to become sticky by being left on reels in humid temperatures. Rubbing with raw linseed oil and powdered graphite affects a partial cure. Line greasing and greasing will not do a thing like finish on a fly line; a lot of smudges on your nose when you use it.

Salle's Griffin was a rowboat by comparison with the wood-burning Ontario, for example, the first of the American steam boats on the Great Lakes. J. J. Astor's boats were good enough in their day, but you couldn't beat them for speed.

"OH, YES, THE TOWN OF ASHTABULA, Michigan. We were getting round to that too. Because Fulton's steamboats could haul goods from New York to Albany, and canal boats could take them from Albany to Buffalo, and the Ontario and other lake boats—Walk-in-the-Water, Superior, Chippewa, Niagara, Frontenac, just to mention a few—could haul stuff from Buffalo to Ashtabula and Detroit and Mackinac; the old folks in Ohio and Michigan decided to build railroads and canals.

"Canadians voted to build the Welland canal, connecting Lake Ontario with Lake Erie at Niagara Falls. Governor Mason of Michigan advocated a canal around the Sault Ste. Marie rapids.

"The territorial council in Detroit had chartered two railroads—the Erie and Kalamazoo and the Detroit and Maumee—and Michigan wanted to keep Maumee Bay as a terminal for these rail lines. There was a village on the bay by the name of Ashtabula. And the Ohio and Indiana legislatures were planning to build a canal linking Lake Erie with the Ohio river—at Evansville. Everything was booming.

"OF COURSE, YOU COULDN'T blame Ohioans for wanting Ashtabula. And the Indiana folks didn't like the idea either of Michigan getting land at the southern end of Lake Michigan.

"This territory in dispute with Ohio and Indiana was 400 square miles.

"Michigan Governor Mason got 1,033 rifles from Fort Wayne at Detroit, and 200 good Michigan men, fitted to march on Ashtabula, but the Ohio militia beat us there. Folks talked of bloody war.

"Lucius Lyon, a territorial delegate to Washington, had been surveying parts of the Upper Peninsula. He was a good friend of Henry Schoolcraft who was then in Washington conducting an Indian treaty.

"And so, when Congress considered the matter of Michigan claiming 400 square miles from Lake Erie to Lake Michigan and going to war with Ohio and Indiana, Lucius Lyon and Hank Schoolcraft and old General Lewis Cass had a smart idea. Why not give Michigan the Upper Peninsula in return for Ashtabula and the Maumee Bay?

"And that's just what Congress did. But if it hadn't been for Bob Fulton inventing the steamboat, the Upper Peninsula wouldn't be a part of Michigan today.

And that is Jim's story.

NOW THE MEETING at Escanaba.

Linwood J. Noyes, who publishes a mighty fine paper at Ironwood, recently was elected president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. It's a big honor for Michigan, and a bigger honor for Upper Peninsula newspapers.

Although Ironwood is 100 miles west of Chicago it is a good old Michigan town and Lin Noyes is a brilliant newspaperman.

OH, YES, we forgot to say that Ashtabula Michigan is now Toledo Ohio.

And you might have heard of Jim Bunyan's grand-pappy. He was some man. His first name was Paul.

Yep, it's a long story. I got here in 'God's country, 'as the natives modestly call these parts, we heard the tale, "Old Eagle-Eye" Jim Bunyan, spindly-legged tobacco chewing printer for Joe Sargeon's Delta Reporter at Gladstone, conlided it to us. And since Jim got it from his grand-pappy when he was knee high to a grasshopper, come middle of August, we know that it is true. Here it is, just as Jim told it.

"OLD BOB FULTON, pal of Ben Franklin, was responsible for it all.

A native of the state of Penn, Fulton had the high-faluting ideas of art. He also liked to tinkler with wheels—and to make drawings of them. It was just natural for this fellow to want to study art in London, and so he went there in 1768. A right smart boy, he became a good friend of the Duke of Bridgewater.

"Now this duke was a smart chap, too. He built a canal from Worley to Manchester in England, and Fulton became interested in canals, and in 1786 he wrote A Treatise on the Improvement of Canal Navigation, and he sent a copy to President Jefferson.

"OH, YES, THE STEAMBOAT. We were getting round to that.

"In 1810 our Congress at Washington voted $10,000 to study Fulton's submarine and torpedo boats, but they weren't so hot. Then Fulton launched a steamboat on the river Seine, but it sunk. He then ordered an engine from Watt and Boulton in England, had it sent to this country, and in August of 1807 his steamer the Clermont steamed on its own power up the Hudson river to Albany in just 32 hours. Yes, siree!

"New Yorkers were all excited, and the legislature wanted to dig a canal from Albany to Buffalo, connecting the Hudson river with Lake Erie, and Fulton was put on the commission to do it.

"It was some canal—363 miles long and 40 feet wide and 4 feet deep—but it was the biggest and best we Yankees had ever dug.

"Soon American-made goods were arriving at Albany and put on steamboats to go West. La-

Lucius Lyon, a territorial delegate to Washington, had been surveying parts of the Upper Peninsula. He was a good friend of Henry Schoolcraft who was then in Washington conducting an Indian treaty.

"And so, when Congress considered the matter of Michigan claiming 400 square miles from Lake Erie to Lake Michigan and going to war with Ohio and Indiana, Lucius Lyon and Hank Schoolcraft and old General Lewis Cass had a smart idea. Why not give Michigan the Upper Peninsula in return for Ashtabula and the Maumee Bay?

"And that's just what Congress did. But if it hadn't been for Bob Fulton inventing the steamboat, the Upper Peninsula wouldn't be a part of Michigan today.

And that is Jim's story.
