

FORWARD into FORTY-THREE

With Our Men in the Service

NOTE: This column is dedicated to news of men and women from Northville and Northville community who are in the service.

Emil Stubbbe, who left some weeks ago for Ft. Custer, has been assigned to a training regiment at Aberdeen, Md.

Edwin E. King is in a parachute division at Ft. Benning, Ga.

Richard Parmelee is now private first class at Camp Buckley, Colo.

Pfc. David J. Martens has been transferred from Ft. Dupont, Del. to Camp Croft, S. C.

Don Armstrong was sworn into the Navy Aug. 7 and left Saturday, Aug. 14 for Great Lakes to begin his training.

Robert Ross, who is in the Marine Corps, spent three hours here with his family last Sunday. He had only a short leave and most of it was spent traveling. He is now stationed at Great Lakes, having been transferred from the San Diego Marine base.

Well how is the paper doing nowadays. Are many of the boys writing to the paper? I figure it is about time I stuck in my two bits worth. I am in Sicily now in the 1st Ranger Battalion. The outfit is not as large as the other ones, but is a swell outfit to be in. I left the States in the early part of June and hit foreign soil at Casa Blanca, Africa. From there I was shipped from replacement camp to replacement camp until I got so sick and tired of it that I joined the Rangers. I have visited such cities as Casa Blanca and Algiers. They are pretty good sized towns but nothing like the ones in the States. Conditions here in Sicily are nothing to brag about. Sicily and Africa are about the same as to sun, flies and heat. I thought, I would drop you a line and let you know that I would like to have the paper sent to me again. I sure miss it. Can you please send it to this place. Well I hope the other fellows are as fortunate as me to hit such a swell outfit. Time to sign off now.

Clayton Rodgers

U. S. Marine Corps
Cheery Point, N.C.

Believe it or not, I am finally getting around to writing a task that should have been taken care of some time ago. However, due to my dislike for letter writing, and being busy, it has been put off. I do wish to thank you for sending me the Record, for it means a lot to know what the folks at home are doing. If it were not for receiving your paper my knowledge of the happenings around Northville would be nil.

There isn't much to tell about the work I am doing, or it would be better to say, there isn't much I can tell. You see, the equipment work with is considered confidential and can be discussed with no one. However, I can tell you this much, at present I am instructing air crewmen on the operation of air-borne radar. We have been and still are swamped with work, for the squadron I am in is a new one, and you can imagine the work involved.

As far as I can see, nothing of great importance ever takes place around here. It is just the regular routine of any air-base. Things are pretty much run on schedule and the same stuff day after day, becomes quite tiresome.

There doesn't seem to be much more to write about, so will close for a while at least, I will be looking forward to receiving the paper, Northville Record, through you, Harry Rattenbury.

Richard Spain, who was inducted into the Army the end of March, is now private first class and has been assigned to the Air Corps at Sioux Falls, S. D.

Essential Dates and Information Affecting the Welfare of the "Vanishing Civilian"

This is a regular weekly feature designed to aid you in your current purchases of items rationed by the government. This news paper believes this service will enable individuals to cooperate more fully in winning the war on the home front.

BOARD HOURS—The Plymouth Rationing Board No. 33-22-19 is open six days a week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. except Wednesday afternoon when the office is closed. On Friday the office is open on clerical work. Thursday night office is open until 8:30 p.m. People in Oakland County may contact their board at branch offices in South Lyon, Farmington and Walled Lake or at the main office in Pontiac.

SHOES—Stamp 18 in War Ration Book: One is good for one pair of shoes until October 31. Stamps may be interchanged among members of one family.

FUEL OIL—Period 5 good for 11 gallons through September 30. Period 1 coupon for new season good now for 10 gallons each unit, and should be used with definite value coupons for filling tanks at once.

SUGAR—Stamp No. 14, good for 5 lbs., becomes valid August 16, and remains good through Oct. Stamps 15 and 18 good through October 31 for 5 lbs., each for home canning purposes. Housewives may apply to their local ration boards for more if necessary.

COFFEE—Ration stamps no longer required.

STOVES—Purchase certificates now issued and normally valid for 30 days from date of issuance, will be invalid after August 23, by which time it is expected that the new nation-wide stove rationing plan will be in effect.

MEAT, Etc.—Red stamps T and U, now valid, expire August 31. V is valid August 9, expires August 31; W is valid August 15, expires August 31; X is valid Aug. 22.

Ration points are adjusted from time to time, depending upon demand and supply.

PROCESSED FOODS—Blue stamps R, S, T became valid Aug. 1 and will be good through September 20.

GASOLINE—"A" book coupons No. 7 good for three gallons each outside the East Coast shortage area, must last through Sept. 21. B and C stamps present series expire August 31. New series start September 1. B and C also valid for 3 gallons per stamp.

TIRES—Next inspections due: A book vehicles by Sept. 30; C's by Aug. 31; B's by Oct. 31; commercial vehicles every 6 months or 5,000 miles, whichever is first.

GAS RENEWALS—Renewal requests for "B" or "C" gasoline coupons may be made by mail. Blanks may be obtained at the Record office. Fill in the application (making it consistent with your original application) by your fire inspection card. The application will be mailed to Rationing Board 7, Pontiac, Michigan. New coupons will be mailed to you. You need not return the application card. You must book until requested to do so by the Rationing Board.

OCD Demonstration Features Governor's Day at Fair

President
Northville Trained
Horses at State
Race Meets

Dr. L. W. Snow, president of Northville Wayne County Fair who is really making things move at the grounds.

Of 66 horses racing at Mason in the 3 day meet, 24 were sired or trained at Northville, leaving only 42 to come in from Ohio, Indiana and Canada. Most of the Northville horses were in the money and that seems to be a good record for the Northville track. K. Bullen's Frisco McKay won the fee for all race at Powersville last week, lowering the former state record of 2.0434 to 2.0434.

Barthel Family Reunion Sunday

Sixty Descendants of Family of Five Brothers Have Reunion at Home of Mr. and Mrs. William Barthel

Sixty descendants of a family of five brothers assembled in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Barthel at Halstead and Eight Mile road for the annual Barthel reunion, Sunday. Relatives were present from Washington, D.C., Milwaukee, Wis., New York, Akron, Ohio, South Bend, Ind., Bates Creek, Oregon, Jackson, Millard, Wayne and Detroit.

The family line of the Barthel family has been traced back to a couple who lived in Alsace-Lorraine at the beginning of the nineteenth century. The five sons of this couple, Matt, Henry, John, Peter and William came to America and settled in Michigan. The descendants of this family now number 194.

Of interest to everyone present was the fact that there have been no deaths in the family since the last reunion a year ago. There were three marriages and eight births. The oldest person present was William Peters of Detroit, who is 83 years old. The youngest was George Barthel III, three months old, whose father was inducted into the army July 29. There are 14 young men in the service, one of whom, Warren Barthel of the Navy, was present.

An outstanding event of the day was the reuniting of four brothers and a sister who had not been together for twenty-two years. They were Tom Barthel of New York; Fred Barthel of Bates Creek; Albert Barthel of South Bend, Ind.; John Barthel of Milford, Mich. and Mrs. Eva Weller of Detroit.

It was decided that the reunion would again be held next year at Maplewoods Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Barthel, in Northville.

TO VISIT FAIR FRIDAY

Dental Journal Gives Biography of Former Northville Dentist-Mayor

The following sketch of the life of Dr. Howard Houston Burkhardt who for four of his fifteen years here as a practicing dentist, was mayor of Northville, is quoted from the July issue of the Journal of the Michigan State Dental Society. The article was brought to the attention of The Record by Dr. J. R. Fullander.

"Gentleman, Hazen, the ex-Mayor of Northville, was when Burkhardt served for seven years as one of the town dads of his city of adoption, Northville, Michigan, the latter four of which as Mayor. 'He always said by those repeatedly rich in wisdom that you can't successfully mix a profession with politics, but here's an individual, possibly the exception to the rule, who did so and survives to tell the story. Perhaps he may have had a corner on the chemistry of the two and learned just how soluble one is in the other, or perchance he may have added a new ingredient in the nature of good citizenship, or what have you, which reduced the explosive possibilities and made the final product suitable and safe for handling.

"'Twas a good job," he says, "and abundant with good practical business experience. Working with the public spirited conferees to conservatively conduct the affairs of one's home town and improve the conditions thereof is a very gratifying project which I thoroughly enjoyed, three consuming tho' it was. But I'm a poor hand-shaker and baby-kisser and thus-disked very much the part which had to do with greeting the visiting delegations, speaking before formal groups and officiating at public functions other than pertinent city affairs. Four years as first officer in a city of 3,000 is an enviable experience and I recommend it." (Continued on back page)

Refreshments were plenty, the program and preview of the highest order and the cordiality unsurpassed as the guests milled about the grandstand and refreshment areas, shaking hands and greeting each other.

Fix Date to Get Dog Licenses

Last Day to Obtain Dog Licenses in Village Set for October 1st. Must be Vaccinated

At the Village Council meeting Monday evening the deadline for obtaining dog licenses was set by the commission for Oct. 1. After that date the penalty fixed by the ordinance published in April of this year is $50 fine or sixty days in the House of Correction, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Licenses may be obtained at the office of the village clerk, Mrs. Alexander, at the village hall. A certification of inoculation against rabies must accompany the application for a license. All dogs over six months must be licensed by Oct. 1. Dog owners in the village are not required to have a county license if they have a village license.

After Oct. 1 the police department is authorized to pick up any dogs not wearing licenses and institute proceedings. To date the village clerk's office has issued about 150 licenses.

Your Boy in the Service and His Northville Record

There still exists some confusion on the part of parents of servicemen concerning the sending of the Northville Record to men overseas. This applies to men in the army only. Kindly keep these facts in mind—Servicemen in the army overseas must obtain permission of their commanding officers in order to have home town papers sent to them. This is a government regulation. Without this written permission we cannot send the Record to Army men overseas.

However, if these same men subscribe to the Record while in training in the United States and are sent overseas while their subscription is current, they may continue to receive the Record without the necessity of being granted permission.

Remember, we are still sending the Record to men in this country, who request it, free. But when they go overseas we must comply with the government regulations.

To the Editor

Dear Bill:
Thanks for the Record. Every now and then we find items regarding the people we know. But how completely the war has emptied out the young people we knew and worked with! Great to read the loyalty of the Northville community.
Fine to see Rotary and Exchange meeting jointly. Better if there were only one large luncheon club. I hope the new American Legion building will go over big. It will be badly needed when the soldier boys and the sailors return.
With all good wishes to you as always.
Sincerely yours,
Thomas W. Smith

The Dreams That Stuff Is Made Of
THE cleaning woman has gathered up her rags and pail. He's alone again to pet, if he can, through the world's black clouds.
Gosh! Better call it a night.
But he stays an hour longer. And over his cluttered desk he sees a day when millions of people will benefit from what he's dreaming and devising—for tomorrow.
You'll be hearing a lot about post-war planning. And the more you hear of it, the more you will realize that it isn't just a job for a few master minds.
If the future is to be made better than the past, it will be because thousands of men and women apply themselves to particular problems of their country, their communities and their businesses.
Through their work our world will change. Not in an overnight miracle, but by a host of individual accomplishments. That's the way America has been built. That's the way America wants to go on building. Up from the bottom, not down from the top.
Housing, transportation, education, medicine, communications, individual and national security, entertainment are only a few of the subjects slated for attention, destined for improvement.
And it all can be accomplished in the American way. Let us beware of those who plan otherwise, those who would "improve" our freedom as a means of improving our future. You, we—the vast majority of Americans—want the same America we know. Better, but the same. And we can have it by tugging on our own boot straps—without polishing any boots for bureaucracy.
And in this not-so-distant future that Americans look forward to, you'll find your railroads keeping pace. In peace, as in war, it will be the job of the roads of steel to bind the nation together—make possible the delivery of industrial production and the movement of essential materials and equipment.
Passengers will expect to travel in new luxury—and will. Trains and roadways will be built for great speed. Accommodations will be far superior. Freight will move at an accelerated pace. And railroad safety will be even more assured.
These things are dreams, but not mere dreams. They are dreams of men with their eyes wide open—dreams that can make a still finer America.

 Guarding Fertility Farms' Best Resource

Replacement of Mineral Food Very Important

Regardless of how good a cropping system may be, it cannot of itself keep the soil fertile. The more efficient a farmer is in maintaining his production, the more rapid will fertility be lost. Best of the future is to be found in the more efficient use of the soil.

Most good farmers are like a merchant who opens a store with well filled shelves, and by various selling methods rapidly depletes his stock. The stock of staple foods is soon depleted. The store is then drained and the farmer is left with a bare field. The same thing happens in the soil.

In the majority of cases losses from erosion can be largely eliminated by the use of proper crop rotations, special cropping systems and good soil management practices which include the use of fertilizer. These, when combined with other supplementary practices such as contour plowing and strip cropping, can help eliminate erosion.

The problem of replacing mineral plant foods drained away by crop production is serious and should receive serious attention. A part of the nitrogen removed may be replaced by growing leguminated legumes, but minerals cannot be replenished unless they are supplied in the form of commercial fertilizers. Surface soil contains the major part of the organic matter and a large part of the readily available nutrients.

Michigan Mirror
 Non-Partisan News Letter

The sage who said, "It's an ill wind that blows no good" must have been thinking about today's war and tomorrow's Michigan.

Maybe it's the indented spirit of our grandfather who rode a horse back about you? Michigan is a great state and its greatness is in its size and its resources. Nature's abundant resources of iron, copper, salt, oil, forests, and game and fish and game have created from the mighty empire of the young industrial world.

All of which is a prelude to the statement: Air power, developed as a weapon of war, may open a new era of peace-time transportation for the Michigan of tomorrow, putting out north and blue waters and forests and streams within a few hours access of millions of Americans in the Middle West.

Lowell Thomas in a broadcast from a helicopter at Bridgeport, Connecticut, the workshop of the Sikorsky predicted last May 28 that helicopter transportation will make a complete change in the living habits of the American people.

In an address at the Ludington Hotel (Dunoon Hotel) in Escanaba, Governor Harry F. Kelly predicted a billion dollar income for the Michigan tourist business after the war predicated on development of safe air transportation and wider recognition by Michigan citizens of their own natural attractions.

This tourist development will be made possible, the governor said, largely because "air transportation for the masses" will eliminate the time gap between north Michigan and the industrial centers of the Middle West.

How the helicopter will fit into tomorrow's transportation system is a matter of speculation today. It is safe to say, however, that the helicopter rotor with its whirling propeller located above the airplane cabin is beyond the experimental stage and that it offers the closest approximation to a foolproof, safe airplane as inventive genius has yet created.

Here is truly a product of World War II. The helicopter was first flown successfully in 1941, and is now being used by the United States army and navy. Large airports are not needed for this new craft which takes off and lands vertically and which requires no more than a flat roof on a building for convenience of passengers and parcels. The helicopter is envisioned as bringing to small towns and farms a new mode of fast transportation. The city worker can take off for a week-end outing in Michigan's expansive northland and do so with the ease of driving a flyover. Two or three hours' experience is required. This craft is safe to the degree that it does not side-slip or tailspin and it can be brought safely to ground even if the motor stops cold.

C. W. Lucas, assistant to Manfred Burleigh, president of the Great Lakes Greyhound Lines, told newspaper editors at Escanaba that a helicopter service would be made available after the war to 40 cities in Michigan as soon as equipment can be obtained. The Greyhound corporation has applied to the federal government for a permit to operate a national system of helicopter transportation. A hearing is to be held in October.

As the Greyhound officials envision the role of the helicopter, more people will live in the country while working in the city; airline travel will be easily facilitated by helicopter service connecting large metropolitan airports and downtown districts; inaccessible areas in vacation country will be opened up for air travel for the first time without the necessity of huge expenditures for airports.

In brief, the helicopter will cut in-half the travel time between the north part of Michigan and the population centers to the south. Mr. Lucas also predicted that the new ease and speed of travel will extend the Michigan tourist season from two to six months. Since more and more people will travel north for business and for fishing on the lakes, hunting in the woods and winter sports.

This new war-time creation, the helicopter, can achieve these gains for Michigan, we will be doubly blessed. Perhaps here is one of the unforeseen benefits of war which science makes possible when driven by necessity of national self-preservation. It may revolutionize the Michigan of tomorrow, bringing new enjoyments of living to our people.

Congress recently passed an Army appropriation bill that amounted to nearly 72 billion dollars. But that huge appropriation is but one of many to cover the total war cost.

War Appropriations
The budget message submitted by the President at the beginning of the year was for 169 billion dollars. Thus far the actual appropriations made by the first session of the 78th Congress have amounted to more than 114 billion dollars for war purposes. Thus far appropriations and authorizations for war including the amount set forth in the budget message, amount to 323 billion dollars.

The war cost amounts involved have become so great that they baffle comprehension. However, when broken down on a percentage basis and made to apply to the direct concern of each individual, they become more interesting and more comprehensible.

Total National Wealth
The Bureau of the Census is authority for the statement that the assessed valuation of all real estate in the United States in 1940 was slightly less than 145 billion dollars. The assessed valuation is often less than the real value. A recent estimate places the actual real estate value at approximately 208 billion dollars. The total wealth of the United States is substantially as follows:

Land and land resources	$156,027,000,000
Public utilities	46,735,000,000
Other wealth of business and industry	23,425,000,000
Personal Property	78,234,000,000
Total	$304,431,000,000

The amount in the President's budget message represents 75% of the assessed valuation of the United States, 32% of the actual real estate value, and 35% of the total national wealth.

Total appropriations and authorizations for war in the budget message represent 21% of our total assessed valuation; 15 1/2% of the estimated actual value; and 10 1/2% of our total national wealth. It will be noted that the war cost figure is more than twice our total assessed valuation.

Battle Casualty Costs
There has been a myriad-fold increase in the cost of war since the days of the Roman Empire. The following figures give the progressive cost of battle casualties from the wars of the Roman Empire to the present time:

Roman Empire	less than 31

With the invention of gunpowder and the use of firearms, the cost rose at the time of the American Revolution and the Wars of Napoleon to $300.

From that time to our own Civil War there were further inventions and developments, and the cost of battle casualties rose to $5,000.

Still further developments occurred from the Civil War days to the World War, raising the cost of battle casualties to $25,000.

It is estimated, by those who have given study to this subject, that the cost of the present Global war for battle casualties will reach $50,000.

Assuming this $50,000 estimate to be approximately right, then the 100 billion dollars included in the budget message for war effort, divided by $50,000 per battle casualty, presumes that the United States armed forces will kill, or render ineffective, two million of the enemy.

Should the $20 billion dollars already appropriated and authorized for war be entirely expended, that will be a per capita cost of slightly more than $2,990, or to put it on a family basis of four-to-a-family, the cost per family will be $12,400. This is enough to buy a lot, build an average six-room house, furnish it throughout, build a garage and buy a medium priced automobile.

U. S. War Costs
The following table gives, by years our war costs from the beginning of our history to and including the World War:
Revolutionary War $ 150,000,000
War of 1812 " 125,000,000
Mexican War " 168,000,000
Civil War " 15,097,022,784
Span Amer. war " 1,921,541,307
World War " 41,765,000,000

The amount in the budget message for war purposes totals twice all expenditures of the United States for war since the Declaration of Independence. If the $20 billion dollars appropriated and authorized be the ultimate cost for the present war it would be more than five times the total for all previous U. S. wars. The war must be won regardless of cost. To consider any other result is unthinkable. Congress will continue to appropriate whatever sums are necessary to win the war.

ELECTRICITY

use it carefully!

If you have ever seen a big Detroit Edison plant you have probably noticed thousands of tons of fuel are required every day to produce the electricity sent out over a network of transmission lines to factories and stores and offices and homes. That is one reason why electricity is a war material. When you save electricity you save coal, and transportation, and manpower needed for war production.

There is no shortage of generating machinery in this area, and electricity is not rationed. But—use it carefully as you would any other vital war material. Prudent, economical use of electricity is a patriotic obligation today. Help conserve electricity by reducing your use. The Detroit Edison Company.

"Once my ship was a luxury liner!"

"She used to carry fifteen hundred passengers in luxurious comfort—mostly tourists bound for a holiday abroad. Now she's a transport. How many thousands of husky Yanks we pack aboard in a military secret. But we make the most of all the deck space there is—and we get 'em there!"

"I know it's the same way with lots of long distance telephone lines. In peacetime, they handled comfortably a lot of social traffic. Now they're crowded with calls, and a lot of them are war messages that must go through pronto."

Not only must vital war calls be handled promptly, but urgent civilian calls should not be delayed. You alone can judge whether your call is important enough to justify placing it on telephone wires to war-busy centers.

When lines are overloaded, the operator will ask you to limit your call to 5 minutes. Your cooperation will help others who are waiting.

Dr. Burkhart found his way into dentistry via the inspiration of a row of the family dentist. He chose Michigan from among the top ranking dentist schools because it appeared to offer more opportunities for self supporting students. His arrival in Ann Arbor with but $17 between him and his ambitions, and with only one acquaintance there was not particularly auspicious. But, was a cold winter and he easily found himself making jobs as well as slinging ash at one of the local hesteries. AUSTIN, TEXAS—The State Capitol of Texas cost more than all the other Capitols in the United States combined. It's no larger than the average, and no more beautiful. Yet it cost untold millions to build—if you figure it in a certain way.

It was erected during 1891-93 by a group of Chicago capitalists who bought for 3,000,000 acres of Texas land, which was a fair exchange at the time. But oil was found beneath that acreage later on, to make that deal look very profitable for the builders, and very sad for Texas. Fortunes in black gold have gushed forth since.

The red, Texas granite structure dominates the center square of Austin. The city's very beautiful—it should be. In 1863, while Texas was a Republic, it's site was selected as the most attractive spot to be found for the seat of government.

At a point where Texas' Colorado River issues from a canyon, 10 square miles spread over bluffs that rise 120 feet above the water. The city's 60,000 residents enjoy a magnificent view of the rolling plains to the east. Cotton, corn and cattle are the leading products of that surrounding country.

First settled in 1838, under the name of Waterloo, the town was renamed after Stephen F. Austin a year later. He was the famous colonizer and founder of the principal English speaking settlements of Texas during the 1820's when it was still a part of Mexico.

Austin's main street-lighting system is perched one hundred and sixty-five feet above the ground.

It startled me when I first saw it, as it does all visiting strangers. From the tops of 29 huge towers, 400-watt mercury-vapor lamps glow with a brilliancy enabling you to read a newspaper four miles away in the dead of night. They make the city one of the best and most unusually lighted cities in the world.

When they went up, in 1895, it was thought that the local vegetable gardens, basking in strong light during the night as well as the day, would produce mammoth specimens. Local gardeners were disappointed but nocturnal burglaries became a very risky business. Riffing a safe in the glare of a searchlight was out.

Originally there were 31 towers but two have disappeared. One blew down a few years ago in a cyclone. It took 39 ordinary type street lights to duplicate its brilliance. I couldn't find out what had happened to the other absentees.

Austin got a 90-piece symphony orchestra together some four years ago. The local Municipal Building was streamlined and doubled in size. Street paving and broadening hit a new high just before the war. But, behind all this progress lies the sad fact that money's badly needed down here, as in many parts of Texas. The year's pre-war income of more than half the local residents fell below the thousand-dollar mark.

Perhaps the city'd be better off financially if that Capital building had been paid for in smorting Texas steers instead of all those acres of rich oil-lands.
