Here's What You Can Do to Conserve NATURAL GAS

U. S. GOVERNMENT MAKES SPECIFIC REQUESTS

Uncle Sam is urgently appealing to every American to save as much Gas as possible, beginning RIGHT NOW. The Government has launched a Seven-Industry Voluntary Conservation Program which embraces electricity, coal, petroleum, water, transportation and communications in addition to Gas.

With the other gas utilities throughout the United States, consumers are joining wholeheartedly in this Conservation Program. Our gas resources have proved sufficient for all essential industrial, commercial and residential needs. But natural gas is a national asset, a major fuel in war production, and should never be used wastefully.

We urge every customer to cooperate fully in the Government's Conservation Program. Says J. A. Krug, director of the Office of War Utilities: "With everyone contributing, the effect will be remarkable in hastening the day of Victory."

War Production Board's Voluntary PROGRAM FOR NATURAL GAS CONSERVATION

Residential Year-Round Conservation

1. Cook whole meals in oven. Cook one-dish meals on top burners.
2. Do not light top burners until cooking utensils are in place.
3. Do not let running hot water for washing dishes or hands. Repair leaky faucets. Heat and use no more water than is necessary.
4. Never leave refrigerator door open. Cool cooked foods before placing in refrigerator.

Residential Heating Season Conservation

1. Prepare home for Winter season through insulation, weather stripping and storm windows.
2. Close off all unused rooms.
3. Eliminate garage heating.
4. Never use the cooking range for heating.
5. Reduce home temperature to 65 degrees.
6. Reduce temperature to 55 degrees at night and when homes are not occupied.
7. In cases where there is no thermostat control, use heaters at such times as actually needed in the rooms heated.

Commercial and Industrial

1. Make efficient use of gas-fired equipment for cooking and water heating. Eliminate waste of hot water.
2. Company representatives will, upon request of commercial customers, make inspections of their gas-fired equipment to assist them with respect to proper and efficient operation.
3. Company representatives will, upon request of industrial customers, make surveys of their plants for the purpose of eliminating all waste in the use of gas.
4. Commercial and industrial customers reduce temperature to the standards recommended for residential customers.
5. The use of gas in make-shift heating appliances by workers in industrial plants should be discouraged by the managers of such plants.

"Conservation of fuel, manpower, equipment and materials is a must for the United States if we are to achieve the maximum war production every American wants."

HAROLD L. JONES
 JOSEPH B. EASTMAN
 DONALD M. NELSON

It is our patriotic duty to cooperate fully with this program. Inquiries regarding it will be answered promptly at our office.

help boost the armed might of America!

"Conservation of fuel, manpower, equipment and materials is a must for the United States if we are to achieve the maximum war production every American wants."

"Every pound of coal, every gallon of oil, every cubic foot of gas that can be saved means that our national energy pool is strengthened just that much. Every manhour saved in the production of these basic fuels in the production of electricity, in transportation and in communications is a manhour that can be used for something else. Every pound of steel that is saved in the production of electric lamps is a pound of steel that is saved in the production of radar equipment."

"We have, therefore, called upon the coal, petroleum, electric, natural gas and manufactured gas, water, communications and transportation industries to join with us in a broad conservation campaign to accomplish these results. The campaign will be voluntary. Cooperation of these industries in asking the public to use their services only as absolutely necessary represents a real sacrifice by them. We ask the American public to appreciate that sacrifice and to give them and the war effort enthusiastic and unflinching cooperation as this campaign develops."

The report before me shows that Frank C. Myers, the father of three sons in the armed services, led with sales of $32,725 and that Robert J.
