Farm owned-farmers operated with no interest other than to get the dairy farmer of Michigan the highest possible return for his milk—the great co-operation has, since its inception, in 1916, developed an efficient personnel, a background of capital and equipment, plus a reputation of high integrity.

There can be no common ground between farmers and "labor evangelists," communistic minded writers, or self-seeking reformers—from a common sense viewpoint, these critics of the ASSOCIATION have nothing to offer but promises impossible of fulfillment.

Michigan

The Patriotic
News Letter

Can Michigan escape from being caught in the post-war undertow back to isolationism?

This question suggested itself a few nights ago. The occasion was a private dinner in Detroit given for Senator Homer Ferguson, Michigan's junior senator who is currently traveling about the country with members of the Truman committee investigating waste in fulfillment of government contracts.

Senator Ferguson was telling the dinner guests—and quite "off the record"—about some of the Truman committee's findings. One of these, which temporarily must remain unidentified, was about negligence and waste of rationed food in a warehouse at one of the nation's leading cities. The senator proved his statement with photographs showing how water had flooded the warehouse floor and ruined large quantities of stored food. A side wall of the warehouse 50 per cent open to the outside weather resembled a Venetian blind more than anything else.

Explaining that the committee investigated only alleged violations of government contracts, the senator said that such waste perhaps was not representative of all contracts. Frankly, he said, he knew about only what he had seen.

We could readily picture the sensational newspaper story that could land on front pages when this, and other similar disclosures, are officially made at Washington. Congressmen will roar.

Gerald L. K. Smith and Father Coughlin will roar once more, and "America First" will again be heard.

It was only a few years ago that the Michigan congressmen at Washington, by almost landslide proportions, voted against the draft. They opposed lend-lease. They stood firm for isolationism as a means of keeping the United States out of the current war.

As a matter of fact, the isolationist led things pretty much to himself in the 1940 presidential campaign. We were for lend-lease but we also pledged that American boys would not be called again to fight on foreign soil. A statement that was made by the 1940 chairman of the campaign of Woodrow Wilson when "Kept us out of war."

Being an isolationist isn't the kind of international cooperation we want against danger which is merely the normal state of mind for the average American.

We remember a propulsive statement made by a Canadian newspaper editor while we were accompanying a group of American newspapermen on a tour editor of a Midland, Ontario newspaper gave a short after-dinner talk. With a smile, he said: "You have left the diving board, but you haven't reached the water. As a dive into war, it is the world's slowest motion plunge into history."

We recall an editorial in the Ottawa Citizen, liberal daily, which reviewed the American-Canadian situation and concluded: "There can no longer be doubt about it. President Franklin Roosevelt is taking the United States into war against Germany."

"As people we are still not prepared to play the role of leadership in the world. We are not accustomed to see and reject the little betrayals of our government and our national representatives. We have little contact with peoples across the oceans whose aspirations and blindnesses, desires and blindnesses, are so much like our own. We are less used to hardship than they. We are not used to sacrifices for the nation's good. We are more interested in the price of corn or the level of the stock market, in time-and-one-half overtime or in large income, than we are interested in making certain that we do not have to fight another war in thirty years."

"It is our supremely human habit to honor our dead—but like the other peoples of the world, we do not know how to listen to our dead."

If Slowe's gloomy judgment is right, and history would seem to support his conclusion, then we are due to ignore our dead once more. We are going to pronounce the penalty of death on many Michigan lads now in kindergarten or first grade.

Our only hope is that the light of knowledge and love of Christ may lead us to understanding and tolerance of our world neighbors. This is the real challenge of tomorrow's invasion casualty lists.

Studebaker Champion a money-saver says Civil Air Patrol pilot

MY 1940 Studebaker Champion has traveled more than 110,000 tough miles," reports Civil Air Patrol pilot Lieutenant J. E. McGuigan of Squadron 3, who is employed by Universal Studios of St. Paul, Minnesota.

"I average 25 miles to the gallon and my original tires stood up well over 60,000 miles. Of all the cars I've owned, this Champion is easily the most satisfactory and economical."

From coast to coast, it's the same story these war days—tires last longer, gas goes further, repairs are required less frequently in a Studebaker, thanks to advanced engineering principles and quality materials and craftsmanship.

The ceremony was performed by Judge D. Harper Britton and the descendants were Miss Mildred Britton and George Shortridge both of Northville.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Walden Schmidt announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Jean Embree to Lieutenant Kendall Willis, A.A.A.F., son of Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Willis. The wedding will take place in the near future.

BAND CONCERT

"One of the best school band concerts ever given in Northville" - such is the opinion of both director Leslie G. Lee, and members of the audience who heard the concert given in the high school gym Tuesday evening. A well-balanced and well-blended program plus plenty of practice all contributed to the fine renditions of the various numbers. Money contributed for that evening will be used for the upkeep of the band.

Playing with the veterans that evening were Robert McCluskie, S. 2/C, home on furlough from Great Lakes and Robert Vogtlin who has been studying at the Detroit Institute of Technology, both N. H. S. grads.

Playing in their first concert were William Canfield, Burton Connors, Alice Hahn, Milan George and Eugene Pardy.

An added attraction to the concert were several selections played on the Xylophone by Miss Selma Schnute.

May Festival

Monday, May 1, is the date of the May Festival planned by the Northville Blue Star Chapter, the Presbyterian Church. The meeting will be held near the McDonald home. Mr. Dickinson, son of Mrs. Dickinson, will be found there with the pleasure of a visit with his mother, Sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jacob. Individual and club articles will be submitted at the meeting and for the first time in history, the last of 12:30 will be a celebration for the singers which occur on the same date, April 23. Another visitor of the McDonald home was a brother of Winston S. Churchill, who is stationed in Canada and attends a private academy school there.

The Sandie Ann Crocheters, D.A.R. unit of the home of Mrs. Sidney D. Stine, at Plymouth last week, May 10, 1944, were given by the contestants, Mrs. Harry N. Davis of Plymouth and Mrs. C. Burkman of this village.

Audition Brings Music Benefactor

Miss Ernestine Lewis of Salem Offered Musical Education by Anonymous Benefactor

Rare good fortune has come to Miss Ernestine Lewis of Salem, graduate of Northville High School class of 1940. Having been given an audition by Professor Hardin A. VanDusen at the school of music, University of Michigan, the latter part of March, Miss Ernestine has received word that she will be accepted as a voice and piano pupil at the University music school. Back of this opportunity is the story of a benefactor (who prefers to remain anonymous) with firm belief in Ernestine's talents, and interest and friendship enough to see that professional training is made available to her.

Miss Ernestine, who has a soprano voice, took part in five operettas during the four years of her high school years, and one of post graduate work, at Northville High. They were "In Old Vienna," "The Count and the Co-Ed," "The Mikado," "The Pirates of Penzance" and "The China Shop," all of which were given under the direction of Leslie G. Lee, of the school music faculty.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lewis, she was born in Salem and has lived all of her twenty-two years there, attending the Northville schools. All Salem and Northville friends will be happy to learn of this opportunity which is offered Ernestine.

AND KEEP THE FAITH . . . WITH THEM

From every church in America men and boys have gone away . . . to serve their country in its time of need.

We at home must fill their empty places.

We must share with them the spirit of their service . . . the burden of their sacrifice.

And, with them, we must keep the faith in which the freedom they defend was born—faith in God.

In this faith our country was founded . . . our institutions rooted . . . our liberties secured.

In this faith, more than ever before, America needs us strong today.

We must strengthen our belief in the spirit realities which are the core of our American tradition.

We must return to the passionate convictions of our ancestors who wrote that faith into the motto of our country: "In God We Trust."

This Sabbath—why not attend a local church. And there, with your fellow Americans, seek the strength and confidence that only faith in the eternal truths can give us.

America needs such faith today—in you—all of us. It alone can bring us a true victory . . . it alone can give a meaning to our future.
