

WINNING THE WAR IN 1944 WITH NORTHVILLE'S MEN AND WOMEN IN THE SERVICE

Pictures in today's Record Pfc. William C. Jordan Jr., who is stationed in North Ileland, is the son of Mrs. Fannie Sackett of Websterville, former of Northville.

Luther Jordan is the brother of Pfc. William C. Jordan and the husband of the former Kay Nestor of Detroit, at one time a Northville resident.

Private Henry N. Diem is the son of Mrs. L. Diem of Franklin Road, Waterford, and is serving with the Quartermaster Corps in England.

From the Ninth Air Force Service Command, Carl H. Schultz, who did a lot of hunting with dogs around Northville, Mich., is doing a similar job for the Army at this IX Air Force Service Command depot. He and Glenn a German Shepherd dog are members of one of the military police units which stand guard over the vast supply stocks that make possible the aerial assaults of the hard hitting Ninth Air Force. The sleek, wolfish dogs are converted from house pets to vicious attack dogs at an English dog school and receive five weeks of acclimation training with their handlers. Sergeant Schultz, the son of Mr.
Millsie Schultz, 324 Lake Street, was a member of the Northville police force before entering the service. "We can keep these dogs after the war," says Sgt.
Schultz, "but I am going to leave Glenn over here in the interests of safety back home." With that he displayed fresh teeth marks on his left hand.
"All in a day's work."

Floyd Kupsky, formerly of Northville, left with the service aclegation from Plymouth Monday, and Mrs. Kupsky and three children have come to make their home with Mrs. Florence Ross of 318 Yerkes St. for the duration.

Robert Portersfield arrived home Friday for a 30 day furlough, and rather surprised his folks. Robert has been serving for 14 months in Trinidad with the Seabees. =

John A. Litsenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Litsenber-ger, Randolph St., is now enroled as an aviation cadet in the pre-flight school at Maxwell Field, Ala., an installation of the Army Air Forces Training Command. Cadet Litsenberger was graduated from Northville High School, 1938 and attended Western Michigan College, 1938-39.

Richard Lyons, executive office of the Presque Isle Field in Maine, flew home last week end and surprised his family with a Silver Star on his shoulders.
Major Lyons was recently promoted to the rank of Lieut. Colonel. Congratulations! Dick says if some of our folks could see some of the things he is seeing, nothing in the world could make men quit working or fighting.

Just a few lines to let you know I am receiving the Record each week and it sure seems swell to have news of home. We are now in our last three weeks of school and are starting our final tests next week.

Wherever I go from here I hope the Record will follow and I will send my address as soon as I am able. Am hoping that I may get home for a few days before shipping out. Keep up the good work on the Record.

Ray Richmond, S 2/C

Staff Sergeant Clayton Myers and Mrs. Myers (Bebe Johnson) are home from Greenville, North Carolina, for the former's ten day furlough.
Cabby has recently been promoted to Staff Sergeant and is in the Marines.

Bob Ely, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Tracy Ely of Plymouth Avenue, left last Friday for boot training at Great Lakes, Ill.

T/4 John Ernest Munroe of Taft Road has as his parents the Burton Summers, who in all their years of England, can with certainty be stationed

Pvt. Eugene Cole is home on leave from Greensboro, North Carolina. He is the son of the Ralph Coles of south Roger St.

A phone call to Mr. and Mrs.
Harvey Hodges of High street from their son Homer, who is a Seaman First Class, informed them that he has completed a fourteen weeks' special training course in gunnery and has rejoined the fleet on the ocean.
Homer studied at two schools in Detroit; he is home for a three weeks' vacation. She has completed six weeks' study at Wayne University, and at the end of her vacation, will return to Grace where she will work on the floor, as part of the training course. Shirley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don MacLean of Fairbrook Road, and is a member of the Coast Guard Cadet class.

Sgt. Ronald Anderson has been promoted to Staff Sergeant. He is the son of the Panama and is the son of the Philip Andersons of west Eight Mile Road.

Graduation Program Shows War Touch

Week's Activities from Baccalaurate to Alumni Reunion Reflect Pulse of War-time Conditions

Perfected June weather broke for the first of the 1944 graduating events, the baccalaureate service. Two of the Junior class, Loyola, German, and Merritt Myers, led the robed and caped Seniors, both in singing and leaving the Presbyterian Church.
Flowers decorated the stage which held those taking part in the service.

As in other years, the high school choir sang several fine selections accompanied by Miss Joyce Talmadge and directed by Leslie G. Lee, and Rev.
Young pronounced the invocation and the benediction. Rev.
Fredsell read from the scriptures and Rev. Williams gave a short, excellent talk on "You Can't Seal First."

Parents and friends of the graduating class, who attended were seated by ushers chosen from the Junior class, the girls wearing summer formal wear. The ushers were Marjorie Hatchett, Clara Thompson, Dorothy Fred, Shirley Lyke.

Class Night Program
The program arranged by the Seniors and their sponsors, Mr.
Ellison and Mr. Molena, was both humorous and poignant. Since three members of the class are now helping Uncle Sam (Senior partners for serving in the Armed Forces), three vacant chairs, with the names of the boys, Robert MacDonald, class president; Gerald Miller, honor student and Walter Falconer Jr., occupied the spot of honors on the platform.

Hung against the background curtains were two plaques, already containing 260 names of the school Honor Roll for the present war. These are blue and gold, the class colors, and were presented to the school by the ### School Trustees Are Re-elected

Finances and Consolidation Discussed with Other Problems at Meeting

Thirty-one ballots were cast at the annual school election on Monday, and all 31 were given to the incumbents. Dr. R. M. Atchison and Howard Atwood each receiving 31 votes. At a meeting held at 3 p.m. at the school building, reports were presented, approved and ordered printed or spread on the minutes. Sup't American discussed briefly the various phases of activities and problems of the school year, finances, staff, wartime curriculum, and proposals for the coming year. The proposed consolidation of the Northville system with several outlying rural districts was openly discussed. The feeling on the consolidation must await official expression at the annual meetings of the rural districts again.

According to the officers of the association, conditions incident to the war, and the very acute manpower shortage made it seem best to forego the 1944 fair and await developments for the future.

Staff Sergeant Harold Card son, Harold Jr., were in town visiting the former's mother,

Miss Edna Card and family on Cady street, for four days this week. This is the first time Harold has been home in two years.

Harold Bachelor has arrived here for a visit with his father, H. C. Bachelor, owner of the Recreation rooms on Main St.

The latter is ill at Sessions Hospital. Harold has seen fifteen months of service in Italy.

Shirley MacLean, training as Cadet Nurse at Grace hospital in Detroit, is home for a three weeks' vacation. She has completed six weeks' study at

Former Novi Pastor

Tells of Work

At the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service of the Presbyterian Church, the thirty-one young people who are to attend the former minister of Novi, Wittenwoods, Sam E. Dean, had an article published in a recent Michigan Christian Advocate, entitled "The Chaplain's Golden Opportunity." In it, Chaplain Dean told of the requests of men about to go into action, for prayer and of their statements to him that this religious feeling was of a permanent nature.

Not just this, but that he would be foremost once the war is over.

Serving the pastorale of Novi, Rev. Dean came from Flint each Sunday, being then employed as a school teacher in the Presbyterian Church. According to his son, Rev. Sam E. Dean, Jr., he was well liked and very popular in his work at Novi, going into the widest field of service as a chaplain in the Armed Forces now stationed in an Army Air base in Sioux City.

A Soldier's Tribute to Fathers

By profession I am a soldier and take pride in that fact but I am prouder, infinitely prouder, to be a father. A soldier destroys in order to build, the father only builds, never destroys. The one has the potentialities of death; the other embodies creation and life. And while the hordes of death are mighty, the battalions of life are mightier still. It is my hope that my son when I am gone will remember me not from the battle but in the home repeating with him our simple daily prayer—

Next Tuesday, June 20, the Michigan Institute for Local Government, headed by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, and made up of state leaders of county officials, will be asked to take a definite stand on the issue. Other propositions before the institute, which was founded only a few months ago will be the three proposed constitutional amendments designed to divert one-third of the state sales tax revenues to local governments; municipalities, townships, counties and schools.

A meeting of the institute's executive committee last week, to which the press was admitted, Melvin McPherson, acting spokesman for the township supervisors, advocated that the institute go on record by committee action condemning the Wayne County home rule plan. Action was deferred until June 20 in order to give the entire membership an opportunity to weigh the arguments. However, sympathy with the anti-home rule viewpoint was generally expressed by county officials last week.

State Treasurer Brake, who is chairman of the state tax study advisory committee, reported that the committee would complete its study within 60 days but that no recommendation was possible by Monday, June 19, date for the special session of the state legislature.

He warned county officials that adoption of the sales tax amendments would automatically invoke a crisis in state finances, resulting in alternatives of reducing vital public services of state government or increasing state taxes referring obviously to the state sales tax itself.

It is Brake's belief that the institute should take a stand on this and any issue that involves the welfare of local governments, regardless of whether it is or may become controversial among public officials and the public. This attitude is shared by many others, including Mr. McPherson, who sought to have the institute endorse the township supervisor's official resolution with respect to opposition to Wayne County home rule.

Fearful that the institute might become another "pressure group" or "inner lobby" at Lansing, the institute's joint relations committee has recommended that the first rule should not become involved in legislative or executive action and should confine its function to that of a clearing house for the exchange of ideas and information between its members to the end that through open discussion a better understanding of the problems of local government may be acquired by its members.

The committee submitted recommendations, both of which were approved, whereby the institute would sponsor training courses to be held late in the year at Michigan State College and would emphasize educational study through loan of technical books and literature by the Michigan State Library, Lansing.

These maps show the location of lands not now in farm use, as well as the location of existing farms that are not recommended for continuation in farm use.

Before you buy farm lands, consult the county land use map.

This informational and educational function, however, is not enough in the minds of the commissioners.

If it were needed, many county officials who look upon the institute as a defendant and save many dollars of their interests and hence an agency to be utilized to favor or oppose legislation or political issues that are in their sincere judgment, unimical to the welfare of local government.

Sizing the report were four of the five committee members who participated in policy discussions: Albert Blackfield, secretary, Michigan State Bar; as chairman, William Nestle, trustee, president of the Michigan Sheriff's Association; Alar E. Williams, Iowa county road commission, and George Allen, Secretary, Michigan Press Association.

Tuberculosis in Wartime

By B. F. Austin, M. D.
Alabama State Health Officer

The task of tuberculosis control is greatly increased in wartime. The need for good health conditions among the people of the country becomes more serious when manpower shortages threaten the effective prosecution of the war in the home front and even in the battle fronts and a sick soldier or industrial worker becomes a definite drag upon his fellows. In wartime too this disease, like other communicable diseases, tends to become more prevalent. A number of factors could be named as contributors to this increased prevalence, but the most prominent perhaps are emotional strain, overwork due to patriotism and the incentive of overtime pay, and a lack of suitable living quarters in many overpopulated sections of the country. In view of these conditions, and others, it is not surprising that the United States, England, France, Germany, Italy, and other belligerents in the 1914-1918 conflict experienced sharp increases in tuberculosis mortality.

Although tuberculosis had many control problems in common with other diseases, it also has some peculiar to itself. Unlike many other forms of illness, for instance, it pays no attention to any vaccine yet developed. Thus there is no such thing as immunizing our people or any portion of them against this disease in the way that they may be immunized against typhoid, smallpox, diphtheria, etc.

Another difficulty standing squarely in the pathway of more effective tuberculosis control is the fact that there is no known cure for this disease in the sense that there is for malaria, in the form of quinine and atabrine. It is true that rest is often referred to as a specific for tuberculosis, and it has certainly produced remarkable results in many cases. Nevertheless, it is not a specific as the term is usually understood.

Unlike most other communicable diseases, tuberculosis does not announce its presence in the early, more easily arrested stages by marked, unmistakable symptoms. A person is likely to have it for months or even years before he has any reason to think he is sick at all. How unfortunate it is that early-stage tuberculosis is not as easy to recognize as a cold, chickenpox, whooping cough or malaria! In spite of all these difficulties in the way of effective tuberculosis control, the cheering fact is that real progress has been made. If anyone has any doubt as to this, he need only consult the mortality tables to have a change of mind. In this State, for instance, the tuberculosis death rate dropped from 127 per 100,000 population in 1917 to only 46.2 per 100,000 population last year. This represents a reduction of nearly 64 per cent.

(Note: Michigan's death rate has dropped about 65% in the same period.) Whether this remarkable record will be partly shared under the stress of war times remains to be seen. However, one thing is certain: The official tuberculosis groups and the official public health agencies have no intention of supinely accepting a rise in tuberculosis mortality as an inevitable result of the war. They are determined to place every resource at their command into the fight against this disease.

It is gratifying to health workers that the military authorities are taking such great interest in the tuberculosis problem. Perhaps that is the result of sad experience during the First World War when large numbers of men with tuberculosis lesions were accepted for military service and later suffered serious breakdowns. It appeared at that time that this important and costly lesson had not been fully digested as little was done to immunize the crews of the first x-ray chest pictures are a part of the physical examination of every person selected for military service although, unfortunately, this wise step has not entirely eliminated the danger of a soldier's breaking down with tuberculosis so that danger has been greatly reduced. We have the authority of the National Tuberculosis Association for the statement that the majority of those who have broken down with tuberculosis were among those first million who were permitted to enter the service without chest x-rays.

"One of the most valuable by-products of this searching examination of prospective soldiers' lungs is the discovery of a large number of tubercular cases in an early, more easily arrested stage. These cases are referred to the State Department of Health and later to the tuberculosis victims' own county health departments. They are then added to the official morbidity records at both the state and local levels. Others may thus be cautioned against the danger of contracting the disease from them, special precautions may be observed by the members of their own families, and in many cases, the victims themselves can obtain prompt admission to tuberculosis sanatoria. A special effort is also made in many cases to ascertain the source of infection, see that it is eliminated and persuade all persons closely associated with the victim to have examinations made of their chests.

Continued progress in tuberculosis control in wartime may impress many of my listeners as an excellent thing to wish for as beyond hope of realization. However, let us see if it is such an unrealizable dream after all. Is it really too much to expect that the enemies of tuberculosis may be able to use these terrible war years as a time for plotting the overthrow of this great menace to human life and health?

There are many who do not think so. Among them are Howard W. Blakeslee, science editor of the Associated Press. He re-

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

John Vlcek, Farm Labor Assistant, is busy placing boys and women on farms for seasonal and all-summer work. Wayne County farmers are urged to place their orders for farm help at once, especially where they can use boys and women. Available help is being sent to other counties whenever the job and the boy can be matched. There is some confusion about the age of boys to be placed. Only youth 14 years or older can be placed through this program by the County Agent's Office.

SHOOT ROBINS?

There is a legal way to shoot robins that are destroying crops, as sometimes given by the United States game management agent for Michigan (Stephen Creek, 318 Federal Bldg., Bay City) and by the state department of conservation. Both permits are required. Both agencies conduct their own investigations of complaints before issuing permits.

Farmers Forget Safety

Michigan farmers continue to forget safety measures, according to reports of overturned tractors, deaths from improper electric fencing, rural fires and battles with livestock. County Agricultural Agents are warning the average farmer to locate danger spots and then get rid of the hazards, since accidents don't "just happen."

Care of Eggs

Eggs for market or home use need more care in summer than in winter, when freezing is the most important danger. Eggs should not be washed before storage, or during sorting for market or table use. Water destroys the protective film that keeps out air and odors. Instead eggs should be wiped off with a dry rough cloth such as old toweling. Storage even temporarily should be in an open bowl or wire basket in a cool place.

Corn Borer Loss Huge
Corn borers in 1943 caused a loss of more than $35 million dollars on farms in Michigan, the eastern part of the corn belt and in northeastern states.

Timber Growth Unequal

Estimates indicate that the drain by cutting, fires, insects and disease on U.S. forest resources in 1943 was 50 per cent greater than the 11 billion board feet grown in forests in the year.

Control of Disease and Insects

Reports indicate that there was considerable brown rot in peach and cherry trees at and right after blossoming in several sections of the State. When blossoms are attacked, the blighted blossoms remain on the tree twigs, hanging limp and blotted. These become gummy and sticky in damp weather and are, together with rotted green fruits, a source of brown-rot spores for later infection. Orchards that suffered an attack of brown-rot early in the season will be well inoculated with spores for the rest of the season. Such cherry orchards should be sprayed thoroughly with two more applications at two-week intervals after the initial fall spray. An application of fungicide is recommended for plums two weeks after the initial fall spray, and for peaches, two weeks after the shuck-fall.

With such an abundance of spores in trees, it will be doubly important that pre-harvest applications be made on plums, peaches and sweet cherries. Your spraying calendar gives the times for applying these pre-harvest sprays or dusts. Ripening fruits are much more susceptible to brown-rot than are green fruits. Thinning of peaches and plums so that no two will touch is a supplementary measure that helps to control brown-rot during the ripening period.

Why Vernon J. Brown for Lieutenant Governor?

His qualifications are unquestioned. The Republicans of Michigan have a right to demand such a man for this important office. Responsible workers throughout the State, believe that Vernon J. Brown is the one man in the Party who, as Lieutenant Governor, can function as a cooperating member of the Republican team.

In recognition of the need for his services as Lieutenant Governor, Vernon J. Brown was willing to forego selfish considerations and accede to the wishes of Republicans throughout the State. He believes the Republican Administration is entitled to the services of a Lieutenant Governor who will work with the administration in the public interest.

Such an attitude certainly deserves the sincere consideration of every Republican on Primary day, July 11.

FISHERMEN SHOULD HAVE GOOD LUCK

Hook-and-line fishermen should have better than ordinary luck with the opening of the bass and bluegill season on June 21, according to conservative department fish authorities.

Department spokesmen, however, are even more happy to report a second warmer-than-normal temperatures should not mind the biting of the fish, which is known with confidence to be off the "bait excessive fishing lines by the enthusiasm of the panfish reason.

Fred Lyke should be contented to meet and report to the Department of Natural Resources, the latest in the water level of fish, which comes from the oxygen in the water when heavy ice and snow surfaces of lakes shut off the sun's rays, the present relatively higher lake levels, and the fact that war restrictions have limited fishing in recent years.

Graduates of the current year are always included in the Alumni Reunions, which of late have taken the form of a cooperative picnic in Cass-Benton Park. This year's gathering will be held on the hill at the west side of the Park at 6:30 o'clock. Each person attending will furnish their own table service and food and drink. A big crowd is hoped for on this twenty-ninth reunion.
