American Bald Eagle Identified As Sheep Killer

Nov. — When the same number of sheep in southeast corner of the nation's mightiest Jackson and southwest Wash.-American bald eagle is identified as the killer of sheep, as is known, though not on so large a scale have been reported in two southern Mich. counties, there's the sort of southeast Livingston county, where a community knows The American bald eagle is the town's model citizen protected by federal and state law. There is great reluctance also, were headaches for on the part of authorities to the conservation department's sanction killing of the birds enforcement officers. There is no question concerning the identity of the marauding birds that, in recent weeks have injured considerably

The eagles kill sheep by dropping onto the animals' backs, seizing their necks with strong talons while they rend pieces of flesh from in front of the hip bones.

Some authorities have insisted that the king of Americans birds could not have "scared" so despicably an ordinary turkey buzzard have been the culprits. But Michigan's turkey buzzards have departed, for winter comes in advance of the eagle and the killings continue.

The conservation department is listening to complaints of aggrieved farmers and is advising that the latter can kill eagles legally only after they have secured necessary permits from federal and state agencies.

Lansing Nov. — A sharp-tailed grouse that was wild-trapped in the western end of the upper peninsula seven years ago, has been released near Trout Lake on the west side of Chipewa County, was shot by a hunter October 27. Conservation department game men say the bird's age is unusual.

Transfer of the bird from the west to the east side of the peninsula was in connection with the department's first effort to widen the sharpants' range. Birds so transferred have apparently succeeded in establishing themselves in the vicinity of Trout Lake. The bird shot last week was released not far from the place it was killed.

Michigan Nov. — Michigan is a port of call nowdays for many of the later migrating birds that are scattering south from Canada before winter's arrival. Frequently seen now are large flocks of red-winged and rusty blackbirds, and smaller groups of robins, bluebirds, members of the sparrow tribe. Most of the insect eaters, common in Michigan in summer and early fall—swallows, warblers, vireos, and others—are already gone.

Coming into Michigan from the north to spend the winter are the scattering snow buntings, tree sparrows, and juncos.

They join a group of permanent birds, such as crows, grackles, rooks, house sparrows, and juncos.

SAVE ELECTRICITY Electricity requires coal for its manufacture. Thousands of tons are burned every day at Detroit Edison power plants. Every time you turn on an electric switch in your home, or plug in an electric appliance, you are actually burning coal—coal that has been transported by train and by barge, that represents vital production and war materiel. Coal is a critical war material. So is electricity, and it should not be wasted. Save electricity whenever you can, as much as you can. Help save urgently needed fuel.

29 MILLION TONS. As a part of the patriotic Fuel and Fuel Efficiency Program to save 29 million tons of fuel (or their equivalent) this winter, 1,500 business establishments, large and small, in south central Michigan have entered to pay into a fuel savings fund for this year's heating season. Contributions will be avoided if everybody helps by "turning off."

GILDING THE HOT DOG Make the famous hot dog a gilded dish presented by our Home Service Department.

Crown Roast of Frankfurters Arrive fresh every day from a dozen in a dozen cities. Place nothing between the two layers of round frankfurters to hold them in place.

Sweet Potato Souffle Add one cup dried cereal, one tub sweetened cream or two well-separated butter and 1/2 cups hot water to three cups mashed sweet potato.

CONVERSION The Dime and Ford Buildings in downtown Detroit have operated their own power for 31 years—and now have changed over to using Edison electricity and steam. 1,300 tons of coal and 120,000 gallons of fuel oil will thereby be saved for the war. It is estimated practically all the big buildings in downtown Detroit—one hundred million dollars worth of them—operate without furnaces or boilers. For light, heat and power, they depend wholly on Edison service.

You save coal, transportation and manpower when you save electricity.

The feed supply is, at present, in much better condition than it was during August, he says. However, the side effect of the war is the transportation of

From a national viewpoint the prospective 1944-45 supply of grains, plus carry over, is estimated to be about six percent smaller than 1943-44, but slightly larger than the 1938-42 average supply.

NEWS of
MEN AND WOMEN
IN UNIFORMLiquid in Tires
Subject of Study

Tests conducted by E. G. McSibber and E. C. Saine, of the Department of Agricultural Engineering at Michigan State College, indicate that the percentage of liquid till has no significant effect on the traction capacity of a motor tire, provided inflation pressure and total weight carried are the same.

We will be assigned to our ships' crews while we are home. When we get to our new base we receive some more training, then we take the hog across the big pond.

Liquid-filled tires show less deflection under heavy loads than do air-filled, the experts indicated, which tends to reduce the danger of damage by excessive flexing of the side walls. This often occurs when loads are added on air-filled tires and the operator neglects to make an appropriate increase in the inflation pressure.

Other significant findings reported are:

1. Lower inflation pressure materially improves the traction capacity of tractor tires.

2. Other factors remaining the same, increasing tire cross-section improves the traction capacity.

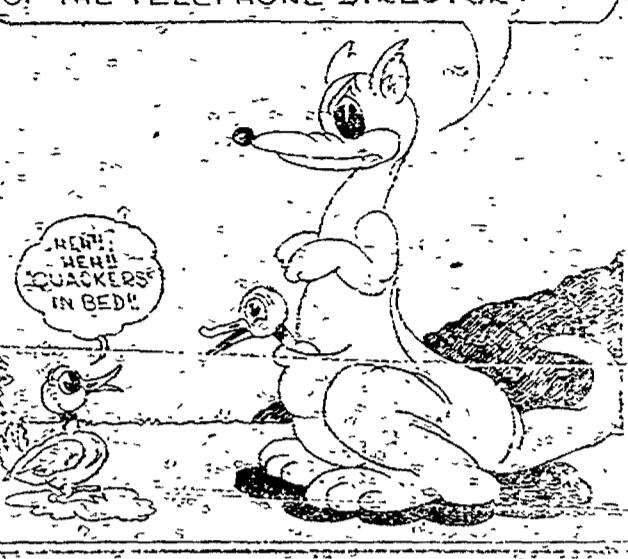

3. At constant temperature, the increase of pressure with increase of weight carried is much greater with 100-per cent liquid-filled tires than with air-filled tires.

4. Preliminary tests indicate much lower loss of inflation
