Portrait of a Patriot

He did not become patriotic by putting a flag out in front of his house every Fourth of July, Labor Day and George Washington's Birthday.

He did not fight in France. He did not land on Guadalcanal or Saipan. He was too old to be drafted.

But he did do something of the utmost importance...

He has worked out, in black and white, a plan for spending and a plan for saving—and he's living up to them. He is confining present spending only to necessities. He is saving every dollar he can. He is planning ahead to the percentage years when his dollars will buy more. His plan calls for buying War Bonds. His plan includes a regular deposit to his bank account. His dollars are fighting to win the war and fighting to prevent a dangerous rise of prices on the Home Front. Hats off to a real patriot.

Senator Ferguson spoke with firmness. He fairly snapped the words out, giving them added emphasis...

Now you don't give immunity to anybody. The witness must be an important link in the crime. Usually he is one of the biggest rogues...

The one-man grand jury system authorized by the Michigan legislature in 1916 constitutes a powerful and effective weapon for prevention of corruption in government...

As Detroit's famed racket master who obtained the indictment and conviction of approximately 150 persons...

It took three years time to get all the grafters to trial in Wayne county, said the senator. The interview took place at the Detroit Golf Club off Palmer road...

The public must be patient, he continued. A successful investigation takes time. In the first place, you must have adequate funds at your disposal...

Second, you must get the best talent available. I hired fifteen young attorneys, each man anxious to make a name for himself, for $1 a year. O'Hara did a brilliant job...

You can't reveal who you are hiring as investigators, for all testimony must be received in utmost secrecy. Your personal convictions don't mean a thing until you get the actual proof...

It is my personal conviction that were it not for the device of immunity for key witnesses, we would have continued corruption in government.

Immunity policies your government allows conscience to assert itself, and conscience is a mighty force for justice. I have seen men get down on their knees and pray that they may be permitted to tell the truth...

Senator Ferguson retailed how he had to wait until 12:01 a. m. one Monday to receive testimony, as the law prohibits the taking of evidence on Sunday. He merely engaged the witness in conversation until the clock indicated at midnight the arrival of Monday.

Again I want to emphasize it is important for the grand jury to have enough funds to do the job. If you don't do the job well you had better not try it at all.

As an illustration of the value of the one-man grand jury to good government, Senator Ferguson cited the Michigan State Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

As for the one-man grand jury investigation at Lansing, Senator Ferguson indicated he had been following its progress through the press. These remarks of mine were prompted by my own personal experience as a one-man grand jury. I feel definitely that the system itself is sound. It is cheap insurance. But crooks are cowards at heart, and I know it.

Oct. 30, 1944

Dear folks - I finally got another chance to do a little writing. I hope my mail bag catches up with me soon. It seems like all I have been doing is moving ever since I left the States. I was in an area just outside of Cherbourg, France. I moved from there up through Belgium and Holland and ended up on Adolphe's front walk. I saw the ruins of Paris and it is all quite a mess. Belgium and Holland are both a lot cleaner than France will ever be. The people are all together different. This is about all of the paper so will close. Say hello to Bert and Dorothy. Your son, Ralph.

Fvt. W. W. Johnston arrived home Monday eve from Childress, Texas, where he is training as an Air cadet. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Johnston of High street.

Carl Dalton writes to his parents, the J. C. Denton, of Pontonich street that he is in Luxembourg, and that "Dad would sure like this place for duck hunting. I hope to write you from Berlin one of these days."

Ensign Chas. Pink was a welcome visitor at the Northville school day week, being back in the States on furlough. He and his wife and baby are visiting the latter's parents in Detroit and Ensign Pink expects to ship out for the Pacific area at the close of this leave.

Elizabeth Meyer Thomas is in training as a Spar at a station in Palm Beach, Fla.

Pvt. Lowellyn Kinnsley, formerly of this place, was returning to his camp in California, following a leave spent here, on the Challenger when that train was wrecked. Fortunately, Lowellyn escaped injury.

Tech. Sgt. Keith VanAmburg has been spending his leave from Bruning, Neb., in this village with his wife, the former Arline Blake and their little son, Hugh, and in Plymouth with his parents. Keith leaves the 28th and will soon go overseas.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation By The President

In this year of liberation, which has seen so many millions freed from tyrannical rule, it is fitting that we give thanks with special fervor for our heavenly Father for the victories we have received individually and as a nation and for the blessings He has restored through His vicars of our arms and those of our allies to His children in other lands.

For the preservation of our way of life from the threat of destruction; for the unity of spirit which has kept our forces strong; for our abiding faith in God; and for the promise of an enduring peace, we should lift up our hearts in thanksgiving.

For the harvest that has sustained us and, in its fullness, brought succor to other peoples; for the bounty of our soil, which has produced the sinews of war for the protection of our liberties; and for a multitude of private blessings, known only in our hearts, we should give united thanks to God.

To the end that we may bear more earnest witness to our gratitude to Almighty God, I suggest a nationwide reading of the Holy Scriptures during the period from Thanksgiving Day to Christmas. Let every man of every creed go to his own version of the Scriptures for a renewed and strengthening contact with those eternal truths and majestic principle which have inspired such measure of true greatness as this nation has achieved.

Now, therefore, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, in conformance with the joint resolution of the Congress approved Dec. 28, 1941, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the 23rd day of November, 1944, a day of national thanksgiving; and I call upon the people of the United States to observe it by bending every effort to hasten the day of final victory and by offering to God our devout gratitude for His goodness to us, and to our fellow men.

Franklin D. Roosevelt.

6TH WAR LOAN

SOCK 'EM WITH A BOND

To the Editor

2749 First Avenue North, St. Petersburg 6, Florida

The "Record" shows that Northville is going forward and is giving loyal support to our armies and navies. It is not to the Commander-in-Chief at the polls.

So many of your young people have left the town that Mrs. Smith and I find very few familiar names. How quickly the new personnel come into the picture. In only three and a half years, Northville has become strange to us who have moved away.

We are very happy to know that Mrs. Buck is back in St. Pete and we shall have the real pleasure of seeing her and having her up with other friends. Don Yerke is coming up to see us tomorrow. He is looking well and strong.

Mrs. Smith and I are in our usual state of health and are now enjoying this delightful bright and cool weather.

I have been supplying the pulpit of Pinellas Park, Presbyterial church for the last year. But now we have found and installed a young pastor, so that I am relieved now and give most attention to our yard and our few flowers.

So for the day, "Our God is Marching On" and we must march with Him by faith, by courage and by sacrifice. He purposes to have "Peace on Earth" but all fallible men and sinful governments have too often thwarted Him. Now may we be His pure and obedient instruments to work out a "holy peace" and maintain it for ever more! My warm regards.

Faithfully yours,
 Thos. W. Smith.

New Gothic Door Adorns Church

The Northville Methodist church has recently been improved in appearance by the construction of a Gothic entrance door which follows the same lines used throughout the structure, thus harmonizing the whole.
