Save Soap by These Methods

With soap, one of the scarce items on retailers' shelves, homeowners are finding it necessary to practice soap-saving economy. says Julia Pond, extension specialist in home management at Michigan State College.

Soap is most frequently wasted by using it to soften water. Even when plentiful, soap is an expensive water softener and should not be used for that purpose. Two very inexpensive and effective water softeners are trisodium phosphate and salt soda. Salt soda can always be obtained at grocery stores. Trisodium phosphate can be purchased at paint and hardware stores as well as at some grocery stores.

When a water softener is used, it should be thoroughly dissolved in the water before the soap is added. This reduces the quantity of soap used and at the same time produces the desired suds. In other words, the softener gives opportunity to "soften" the water before adding the soap. A good rule is to add the softener to the water 3 to 5 minutes before adding the soap.

Save both soap and water softener by measuring the quantities to be used. First do a little experimenting to learn how much is needed. After this is done, keep the measuring device in or near the package of softener and soap. Measure, don't guess.

When bar soap is used for laundering, make it into a soap jelly or soap solution. It will suds more quickly in these forms and do a better job of cleaning.

And there's the story of the nervous husband at the maternity hospital who said to his wife before registering:

"Darling, are you sure you want to go through with this?"

For the Future of America

Send Them

Back To SchoolTheir Privilege ... Our Duty

This is a message to those whose high school and college years are behind them. It is a message to the parents of boys and girls of high school age. It is a message to every citizen who loves the United States of America and who wants to see that under the next generation this nation shall continue on its path of greatness.

This coming year, their country will need boys and girls of high school age for the most important job in the world—important both for themselves and their country. It will need them to prepare to serve in a thousand ways anywhere from a year or two to eight or ten years from now. It needs them to go to high school!

The high school population of the United States has dropped a round million since the war began. If this decline continues, education in this country is going into a tailspin just when we need educated young people most.

It's hard to blame young people for wanting to work and earn money. Youth is experimental. It finds it hard to take the long view. And here's where parents and other elders come in. They ought to reason with a boy or girl who is planning to stay out of high school. He or she should be made to see that time invested in study now will pay the richest sort of dividends in usefulness to their country, in helpfulness to their families, in the happiness that comes from possessing skill and knowledge.

When the school bells ring this fall, they ought to sound like bugles. We need these students as truly as we need soldiers, sailors, and marines.

This scenic peninsula, between Lake Michigan and Lake Superior, has been badly depleted of mineral and timber resources. The copper mines at Houghton, Hancock, and Calumet, which once provided employment for tens of thousands of workers, enriched more bank accounts in Boston than those in the Copper Range. Mines are running short of good grade ore; many shafts are down at levels too low for competitive "peace-time" operations. The copper subsidy, justified by war emergency, is due to end in a few weeks. Copper mines are on the way out.

The best timber of the Upper Peninsula has been stripped by big lumber companies. Land was left to speculators and finally to the government for reforestation. Selective timber cutting is observed, if at all, by private choice.

Liquidation of the remaining timber and ore resources has been accelerated during the rush of war years. The Upper Peninsula knows this. Leaders are frank and comprehensive. They are mindful of the hard times which persisted during the Great Depression that followed the first World War.

What is the answer to this regional dilemma? Here are some signs pointing to possible solution.

"Michigan is not getting full economic benefit from the forest," declared Dr. Grover Dillman, president, Michigan College of Mining and Technology. Dr. Dillman is chairman of a special committee on forest products research created by the Michigan Planning Commission.

First, much of the wood that is cut goes outside the state to be processed or manufactured into products, he pointed out.

"Second, only a portion of the wood that is used in the state is made into products affording the greatest economy. The remainder is wood waste which, if made useable, could considerably increase industrialization in the Upper Peninsula."

Seventy-five per cent of the Upper Peninsula timber is shipped out of the state as rough lumber to be surfaced, cut up, and manufactured into consumer products.

The Upper Peninsula needs more furniture factories, more wood products industries, more tanning plants which could tan its pool of manpower. This industrialization, now lagging, would provide payrolls. Too much of the labor wage paid for processed articles goes to persons outside of the Upper Peninsula.

Instead of the lumber industry requiring the buyer to dry, plane and cut wood for use, these operations could be handled in small mills here.

Scientific management of wood would utilize the present waste of defective logs, tops and limbs of trees as well as sawdust, slabs, edgings, trimmings and shavings.

The result would be more income for the Upper Peninsula.

"In my opinion, the surface of agricultural potentials in the Upper Peninsula has only been scratched."

Such is the positive belief of Charles Figs, commissioner, state department of agriculture, who is a dirt farmer from Lenawee county. Figs pointed to a 40 per cent increase in dairy production in the past five years, and he added: "This is only a start as the records show the Upper Peninsula is well adapted to production of tame hay. There is no more abundant crop in the state."

Veterans SERVICE BUREAU

EDITORS' NOTE: This newspaper, through arrangement with the National Bureau of Veterans' News-Paper Union at 166 E. Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No reply can be made direct by mail, but only in the column itself will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Surplus Property for Vets

Through arrangements made with the Smaller War Plants Corporation to sell surplus war property to honorably discharged veterans who have entered business or farming, in amounts up to $2,500 or at priorities without buying through regular dealer channels.

Surplus items for any commercial, industrial, manufacturing, financial, service, medical, dental or legal or agricultural enterprise with invested capital not exceeding $50,000 owned as solo property by a veteran, or when non-veterans have not more than a half-interest, are eligible for purchase with the SWPC acting as buying agent or clearing house on all purchases.

All sales to the veterans will be made to SWPC under OPA regulations and in no instance will the price be greater than original cost to the government, less allowance for depreciation, "etc."

The $2,500 limitation is placed on amount of sales so that a broad and equitable distribution of surpluses available may be afforded to all veterans who apply.

A typical procedure on a veteran's application could be as follows: An honorably discharged veteran living in Troy, N.Y., is opening a lumber yard and needs $10,000 to start it.

He needs a light delivery truck, office equipment and other items. The nearest district collector, at Albany, makes formal application in writing to this nearest office, giving all the necessary details. SWPC reviews all factors and decides the applicant has a good chance to build a success. His needs are recorded and as the property is available SWPC will purchase the items up to, as far as possible, all requirements of the veteran. The veteran pays SWPC the amount involved on the purchase of the truck from the surplus property disposal office, either in cash or, in some special cases, under an arrangement of terms.

Questions and Answers

Q.—When a man has suffered wounds in action how is disability rating for pension purposes determined by the Veterans' Administration?

A.—The Veterans' Administration says that in the payment of service-connected disability pensions the percentage of impairment is determined on available records by a Rating Board. The percentage of disability is based upon the average degree of impairment in earning capacity, so that there may be a penalty on any individual for ability to overcome the handicap of disability.

Q.—What are the purchase price and conditions of an agricultural loan guarantee under the G.I. Bill of Rights?

A.—The purchase price must not exceed the "reasonable nominal value" of the property as determined by proper appraisal. The purchase price must be within the veteran's ability to pay and succeed in his operations. The local certifying committee will have to certify to the Veterans' Administration on its opinion as to whether or not the proposed purchase price of the property exceeds the reasonable normal value of the property.

Q.—Do navy chaplains receive medals? Have any been awarded?

A.—Chaplains in the navy may receive medals and decorations. Lt. Gen. Morris F. Williams was awarded the Bronze Star medal for meritorious service aboard the aircraft carrier Wasp, sunk in the Solomons. Lt. Cmdr. Joseph T. O'Callahan, captain of the bombed carrier Franklin, has been recommended for the medal of honor.

Q.—Can the mother of an only son request that he be kept in the U.S. and not be sent overseas?

A.—The war department says that a soldier who is an only son is subject to overseas duty if he is qualified. The fact that he is an only son will have no bearing upon his assignment.

Q.—What is a death gratuity for a veteran?

A.—A death gratuity is a lump-sum gift from the government made to next of kin when a member of the armed forces dies. The amount is equal to six months of the deceased person's pay.

Q.—What is the maximum interest rate which may be charged on a guaranteed G.I. Bill of Rights loan?

A.—Suddy: "Do you really like co-conceived women better than the other kind?"

May: "What other kind?"

The news that made August 11 a never-to-be-forgotten date in history has been followed by glorious days of rejoicing and thanksgiving.

Now, as we enter the long-awaited era of peace, we face new tasks, new responsibilities—new opportunities.

Immediately ahead is the job of swift reconversion to civilian production.

Your Telephone Company has its reconversion problem, too. For Michigan Bell has been on a war footing through all the 44 months since Pearl Harbor. The needs of war took over the raw materials and manufacturing facilities which normally would have allowed us to expand.

At the same time, the armed forces and war industry required a variety of telephone equipment.

Under those circumstances, there was just one thing for

Michigan Bell to do—take care of war needs and essential civilian needs first. All of them were met. But in many instances we were unable to provide telephone service to others who asked for it.

The patience and understanding of the public throughout the war has served as a constant encouragement to our 14,600 employees and has helped them maintain a traditionally friendly and courteous service under trying circumstances. We are grateful for the tolerance of those who have had to do without a telephone, or have had service from us that was not as good as we wanted it to be.

Now we mean to remedy conditions just as fast as we can.

We are tackling the job with all we have.

Even in the dark days when victory seemed far away,

Michigan Bell engineers were busy designing a post-war program. Their plans call for spending $120,000,000 for expansion and improvement in the next five years to provide all needed service to catch up with normal growth and assure safe margins for future development to utilize scientific improvements—to extend the rural telephone system.

The program will include the erection in Michigan of 46

new buildings and major additions to present buildings, the purchase and installation of $50,000,000 worth of switchboards and other central office equipment, the placing of long distance cable containing 50,000 miles of wire, and local cable containing 2½ million miles of wire—enough wire to encircle the earth a hundred times.

We recognize as our first obligation the supplying of serv-

The regular meeting of the W.P.C. will be held in the Village Hall, Tuesday evening, September 4.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schmitz, Billy, Tommy, and Karen have moved from Salem to 1875 Northville Road, the former residence of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Patterson.

The first of the annual summer band concerts was given Tuesday night in the village park. The band as usual presented a very enjoyable program. The next concert will be given on Sept. 12.

How Long before you'll get your new car?

AUTHORIZED industry-wide manufacturing quotas indicate comparatively few new cars will be available this year. And it is expected that strict priority rationing will continue until all essential needs are met.

The New York Times says: "Since the interest of the nation requires that every possible car be kept in service, continued, careful maintenance and conservation of existing cars is imperative."

So, when your present Ford needs attention—and it will, as it grows older—let us help you keep it rolling—as only your Ford Dealer knows how! We have genuine Ford replacement parts and adequate equipment. Our mechanics know your car best.

We pledge you the very best service possible. Let us help you get all the "extra" miles that Ford built into your car. By all means, bring it "HOME" for service!

There will be two First Grade sections at Wilcox this coming year. This will necessitate transferring some of the Sixth Graders from the Five Mile area to Hazelton. Pupils, however, will report to 4 schools attended last year with the exception of Seventh and Eighth Graders who will report at either the Newberry or Livonia Junior High School.

Transferring bus schedules have been made. This year, the new bus will operate and will consist of three or four as they did last year. This added equipment will improve the transportation service somewhat, but not as much as the Board of Education would like.

Last year, it was necessary to begin picking up pupils as early as twenty minutes after school as the morning. This year the first pick-up will be at twenty minutes to eight. The buses will travel over the same routes as last year.

The schools of Livonia Township will open with a two-day day Teachers' Institute Tuesday, September 4, according to an announcement made by H. O. Johnson, Superintendent of Schools. Students will report Thursday, September 6, for registration and a full day's program of regular school activities.

Schools in the North end of the Township will open at 8:30 a.m. and close at 3:30 p.m. Those schools south of Schooletcraft will open at 9:00 a.m. and close at 4:00 p.m. daily except Wednesday.

Because of crowded conditions, pupils entering school for the first time must be five (5) years of age on or before December 1, 1945. Parents desiring to enter children this fall should bring birth certificates for these beginners.

A DIAMOND TO CHERISH

A good diamond deserves to become an heirloom. But what constitutes a "good" diamond is another matter. There are so many subtle differences in cut, color and degree of perfection that only a demonstration will make them understandable. Come in any time. No obligation.

"We're all in hot water
—and happy about it!"

The whole family's in hot water day in and day out—and it's a delightful experience. From Dad's early morning shave to the last bath in the evening, hot water is making our life easier, cleaner and pleasanter. Before we had it always on tap, we didn't realize what a difference having it would make. Now we know—after having it for daily scrubbing and cleaning, unending washing of hands and faces, dishwashing, baths and showers, and so on. We're really in love with our electric water heater. It's completely clean—and dependable and free of trouble. It costs us only a few cents a day to operate, for Detroit Edison has a special low electric rate for water heaters. I'd advise you to get an electric water heater just as soon as your dealer can let you have one."

Water heaters are not generally available for sale now. A few are being manufactured and distributed. It will be to your advantage to have your name on your electrical dealer's list, so that you will be able to get one at the earliest possible time.

Only a generation ago household tasks were drudgery—particularly for the woman in the home. Today they are a pleasure. Why? Because of the comfort and convenience that electric appliances have brought to the American household. Electricity has made the old-fashioned way the wasteful way. Make your home today and your home tomorrow better. Turn on the electric life.

American Labor Celebrates Well Earned Gains

Since 1882 Labor Day has been observed on the first Monday in September. It was not until 1894 that Congress observed the day, and Oregon, the first state to make it a legal holiday, acted in 1887.

Once again American workers celebrate their annual Labor Day at a time of national satisfaction over the gains they have won—and they have been substantial—has been tempered by a sense of responsibility for their still unfinished war job.

Rep. Dondero Reports Conditions In Norway

Rep. George A. Dondero reports that stocks of foodstuffs have reached a very low point in Norway. Fish, major article of Norwegian diet, was very scarce due to seizure of production by the Germans and transportation difficulties. Textile materials, shoes, etc., were all made of substitutes and stocks were virtually nil. Virtually no cotton and woolen goods, leather shoes, and similar essentials have been available for months.

Many Industries Curtailed

Many industrial establishments including pulp and paper mills using domestic materials were closed or were operating upon a small scale due to lack of materials and fuel. Shortage of fuel also greatly restricted fishing operations.

Shipping Losses Heavy

Nearly one-half of Norway's merchant tonnage was lost in Allied service during the war. Before the war Norway's merchant marine, with over six million deadweight tons, was the world's fourth largest fleet. Revenues of the merchant fleet have long been a major factor in Norwegian national economy.

Farm Production Maintained

Agricultural production suffered relatively little; the production of grain was generally well maintained and prospects for the current season are good. Potato production was pushed above the pre-war level and the prospects for this year's crop is satisfactory. Dairy production is down to about one-half of normal and poultry production is even lower.

As of April 1945, there was a drop of 190,000 in the number of cattle compared to June 1939.

Lack of protein feeders caused the drop in dairy production disproportionate to the decline in the number of animals. During the occupation period, the number of horses in Norway increased by 25,000 and the number of sheep by 75,000. In contrast, the number of hogs was cut more than one-half and the number of chickens dropped from more than three million to less than one million. Silver fox farming was reduced to almost one-third of its pre-occupation status. During the period of German occupation of Norway, there was a reduction of 20,000 in the number of goats.

Currency and Banking

Currency circulation in Norway increased about six times compared with pre-war to a peak of just over 3 billion kroner on VE Day; since liberation circulation has been reduced by more than one-half.

"Black Market" trading was reported extensive during the German occupation (and was favored by the people as an economic measure against the Germans), but has largely disappeared since liberation.

A limited, but noticeable improvement in the economic situation has developed since VE Day. Allied authorities have arranged for emergency supplies of foodstuffs, coal, petroleum products, and other essentials for civilian use. Other supplies purchased by the Norwegian Government are now coming in, such as wheat, sugar, salt, coffee, and dairy products. The most serious need in Norway, as in a number of other liberated countries in the next few months, is for coal and petroleum products to maintain transportation, fishing operations, and essential industries.

At the time Rep. Dondero and the other members of the bipar-
