Green Post and Unit No. 147 of The American Legion is again appealing to the citizens of this community to donate Christmas gifts for the thousands of men and women confined in service, veteran and private hospitals throughout the State of Michigan. Farmers Turning To Efficiency in Milk Production

Methods that will produce the most milk efficiently and economically will be of chief interest to Michigan dairy farmers during the next few years, believes A. C. Baltzer, Michigan State college dairy extension specialist. He points out that dairymen have recognized that since 1941 the government has been one of the largest single buyers of dairy products. They also realize that the price for their product and the subsidy money received have created a price structure that will undergo changes during 1946.

Among several steps that can be taken to meet these changes, Mr. Baltzer recommends a re-evaluation of alfalfa seedlings to produce more and better roughage for dairy cattle. He points out that an acre of alfalfa will yield more milk-making units than any other crop except corn.

It is evident that renewed seedings of alfalfa are needed on thousands of Michigan farms to gain greater milk yields at less cost," he stated.

Three other steps suggested by Mr. Baltzer are keeping the better producing cows, health improvement to reduce animal losses, and practices that will improve the quality of the product.

Records from dairy herd improvement associations shows that of every 10 cows the three low producers make less profits over feed costs than the one high producer.

Growing and breeding better cattle at home, rather than attempting to purchase cattle, will receive renewed attention in coming months, Mr. Baltzer predicts.

"But why do you insist upon being paid in advance? It has always been my custom to pay my help at the end of the week."

"That's all right, ma'am, for them that stays a week, but I hardly ever do."

"I want justice!" shouted the man who was being tried. "I demand justice!"

"Silence!" commanded the judge. "Remember that you are in a court room."

54 Million Jobs Sighted for 1946

Rise in Output of Civilian Goods Seen by Experts.

NEW YORK—Civilian goods production will aggregate $50,518,000,000 a year by September, 1946, and provide jobs for 54,000,000 workers, the committee for economic development predicted.

Admitting that the United States since 1929 had never had "substantially full employment," the committee nevertheless declared that some of the present gloomy unemployment forecasts "were on the over-optimistic side."

A two-year study of statistics obtained from 146 manufacturing firms and 128 trade associations, numbering 20,000 members, indicates strongly, the committee stated, that within one year after full resumption of peacetime production the value of annual U. S. industrial output would top by 41.8 per cent the 1939 aggregate of $38,845,000,000.

Business "can and will be good" in the peacetime years immediately ahead, T. G. MacGowan, chairman of the group's marketing committee, told reporters.

The postwar labor force of 60,000,000, of whom the committee expects about 54,000,000 to obtain peacetime jobs, compares with a 1939 labor force of only 48,000,000 workers, of whom but 47,398,000 had jobs.

In 1939, the last year of peace before the outbreak of the Second World war, the labor force in the United States was 54,766,000, of whom 53,757,000 were gainfully employed. Last year there were 52,600,000 workers in civilian jobs and 11,390,000 in the armed services, but of a total labor force of 54,010,000.

Attention was called to the fact that recently many qualified observers have emphasized that numerous workers, women, for instance, and college students who took wartime jobs, will not want work immediately, thereby creating additional job opportunities for war veterans.

Improved machinery, better methods and continuing increase in the efficiency of the American workmen will make it possible for the production to rise in greater proportion than the number of employees, the committee stated.

But while there admittedly is going to be a large-scale market for American manufacturers in the next few months, "suitable merchandising plans" are imperative if full consumption is to be realized, the committee told businessmen.

Nazis Are Barred From Business by Army Chiefs

FRANKFURT, GERMANY—United States army headquarters recently ordered active Nazis from governmental and quasi public positions. In contrast, the new order is designed to deny every phase of German life.

The directive permits the issuance of temporary revocable licenses to physicians and others engaged in such activities "as are necessary for the health, safety, or well being of their community."

Heretofore, military government authorities have directed their main attention to ousting Nazis from governmental and quasi public positions. In contrast, the new order is designed to deny every phase of German life.

Two Radio Dials Guide Vessels in Mine Fields

LONDON.—A 30-pound radio device that enables a navigator to determine his vessel's position by reading two dials, and consulting a chart, was taken off the secret list recently by the admiralty.

The apparatus, which guided ships from many parts of southern England through minefields to Normandy beaches on D-Day, was credited by seamen with being five times more accurate than any other navigational aid.

The instrument sends out a radio beam which allows the navigator to take readings from the dials. The vessel's position is then determined by correlating the dial readings with a specially marked chart.

Pole Predicts That Few Will Shun Homeland

LONDON, ENGLAND.—Jan Stanczyk, Polish minister for social welfare, predicted recently that fewer than 500 of the more than 1,000,000 Poles stranded in Europe would refuse to return to their homeland. Stanczyk is a member of the Polish delegation to the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration, which is responsible for the care and repatriation of displaced persons. Poles constitute the largest category of Europeans who were uprooted by the war.

Modern Students Found To Be War-Conscious

ROCKFORD, ILL.—It was a consensus of 2,000 Illinois teachers in convention here recently that the war had its effects on school children, but as to what these effects were there was much difference of opinion.

It was generally agreed by the "schoolmarm" that today's children, compared to those of 21 years ago, are more aware of their war obligations.

Happiness has this advantage over great wealth—people don't try to borrow it.

Judge (to convicted burglar)

"Have you anything to say before sentence is passed?"
Burglar—"The only thing I'm kicking about is being identified by a man that kept his head under the bedclothes the whole time!"

It is futile to worry about yesterday or tomorrow, and it is foolish to worry about anything so temporary as today.

Niles-Darnell Wed in Double Ring Ceremony

The First Presbyterian Church of Northville was the scene Saturday evening of the marriage of Dorothy Niles to James William Darnell, recently discharged from the Marine corps. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. J. Leslie French. Baskets of assorted fall flowers and lighted tapers flanked the altar and Mrs. Florence Miller sang "I Love You Truly" and "Oh Promise Me." Mrs. Connors presided at the organ.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother, Norman A. Niles, wore a gown of white crepe with black accessories and a picture hat to match the gown. She carried a bouquet of roses and gardenias.

The bride's matron of honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Helen Niles who wore an aqua gown with black accessories. The groom's best man was his brother, James A. Darnell.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Niles chose a pink floral gown and carried a bouquet of roses. Mrs. Darnell's gown was of blue crepe and she carried a bouquet of baby chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Darnell left immediately after the wedding for a week's trip to Providence, R. I. and Pennsylvania, traveling by motor. For going away Mrs. Darnell chose a beige ensemble. The young couple plan to make their home in Northville.

Dorothy is a graduate of Northville High and also of Cleary Business College, and she had been employed as a secretary. James is a graduate of the Plymouth school and has served in the Marines for three and a half years, just recently receiving his discharge. Dorothy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Niles of W. Cady street and James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Darnell of Plymouth.

Good Gathering at Parent-Teachers Meeting

Lee and refreshments in the form of cider and doughnuts were served at the close of the program by the mothers of the first graders.

The date for the next P.T.A. is November 15. There will be a panel discussion on the subject "What Is An Educated Child?"

Small Business Aid

The small business division of the U. S. Department of Commerce is taking particular interest in veterans who are returning from the wars with the intention of entering the small business field.

The small business division has given the subject considerable time and thought and now has available for veterans a booklet, "Veterans and Small Business" which answers numerous questions in the minds of the returning soldier.

The booklet covers many facts of the highly competitive small business field and covers subjects such as, "Postwar Plans for GIs"; "Industry's Job to Place Servicemen"; "The GI Bill and Small Business"; "What About These Veterans Loans?"; "Factors in a GI's Business Success"; "Getting Started in Your Business"; "How Long Can I Stay in Business?"; "Survival Chances of Retail Stores"; "Risk-taking in a Postwar World"; "Training Program for Small Business"; "Marketing Facts on a County Basis"; "Small Town a Most Important Market"; and seven other factors or subjects.

These chapters were written by experts and information contained will be invaluable to the veteran contemplating entering the small business field.

These booklets are available to veterans by writing to the "Small Business Division" of the United States Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

Questions and Answers

Q. Can a mother who is all alone and in poor health, have a son released from the Army if he has been in since Jan. 25, 1945, and in the South Pacific since June 19, 1945, and has never had a furlough? Mrs. J. W. Greenwood, Wis.

A. The War Department says that the fact the mother is all alone and in poor health would not necessarily bring about the son's release. If the case can be considered a "hardship case" release might be given, but each case must be decided upon its merits and be recommended by the commanding officer. If your son, however, has been in the army since the dates you give, he possibly has enough points for his discharge now, or at least in the very near future. Without points for battle stars or decorations, which count five each, he has approximately 33 points. He is eligible for application for discharge now at 70 points and the number is fixed at 60 points November 1.

Q. My daughter wishes to know whether she will be entitled to services of a doctor and hospitalization benefits when her new baby arrives, if her husband who is now in the navy is discharged under the point system before the baby arrives?—Mrs. W. A. L. Mill Iron, Mont.

A. The Navy Department says that if she is now receiving navy medical care to which she is entitled, the navy will do everything it can to help her provided she does not move from the area where she is under treatment and the pregnancy is in the later stages. She must contact the nearest navy hospital or dispensary for specific information.

Q. Is there a course of study in fire fighting listed in the educational program for veterans and are there any books available on this subject?—G. E. D., Philadelphia.

A. Many schools approved by State Boards of Education have instructions in fire fighting. For instance, the University of Maryland, College Park, Md., and Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., have such a course. It may be possible that the University of Pennsylvania has such a course. Suggest that you write one of these schools.

Q. Will a soldier who has been in service for two years and 11 months in the States and 13 months overseas receive mustering-out pay if he is given a dependency discharge?—Wife, Trolar, Mo.

A. The War Department says that if his dependency discharge is honorable he is entitled to mustering-out pay.

Q. Please advise if an ex-serviceman can obtain a loan to join up in an open shop in one or more unions?—J. C. Coffeyville, Miss.

A. Can find no regulation which provides for a loan to join a union.

Downs Plan

(Continued from front page) broke all Downs records for the amount of money handled on any one race. Another full field of nine is expected to parade to the starting post for the word from starter Harvey Hartman.

Racing at the Downs this week has been given further zest by the arrival of several stables from the Fall meeting at Buffalo Raceway in Western New York. Among the arrivals from Buffalo is Goldy Scott, one of the prime favorites of the Downs fans last fall. Goldy makes her first start tonight, and as she has been racing in high form, will carry strong support from her old admirers.

Post time for Saturday night will again be advanced fifteen minutes, and will be promptly at 8:15, instead of the usual 8:30, which is the starting time on week-day nights. This means that the daily-double windows will close at 8:05.

"So your husband has given up betting on horses?"

"Well, he had an idea that he would like to know where his money went, so he's joined a poker club."

RED CROSS HOME NURSING

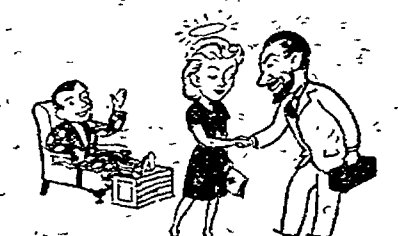

WHAT'S YOUR SICK-ROOM RATING?

HELPLESS HELEN—Under her willing, but unskilled hands, sheets wrinkle, food trays spill, bath water drenches the mattress and herself. Her equipment is scattered... she wears herself out running up and down stairs. The doctor gets little help from her... and the patient stays fretful and uncomfortable.

ABLE MABEL—She can make a comfortable, "day put" bed, without disturbing the patient. She can give a good, relaxing back rub... and prepare attractive trays. She can keep an accurate daily chart of her husband's temperature, pulse, and respiration. She makes the doctor's skill count most.

NURSES ARE SCARCE—DOCTORS ARE BUSY!—To help you care for your own families, the American Red Cross is offering free courses in Home Nursing, taught by professional nurses. You learn the fundamentals of bedside care, and how to carry out the doctor's orders intelligently and report to him... by telephone, if necessary. You even learn how to improvise hospital equipment at home.

If there is no home nursing course offered at present in your community, ask your Red Cross chapter how you may help organize one.

To the People of this Community

"Thanksgiving is in the air. The spirit of the Good Provider hugs you warmly. What better time or reason to buy another extra Victory Bond?"

As you stand the festive table this year, first year of world peace since 1901, remember the millions of men and women in Germany, about 250,000,000 Americans will be separated on this family holiday from fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, boys, sweethearts and children. Every extra Victory Bond is a link between home and the Tokyo or Berlin people.

There's self-interest in your purchase of any extra bond today but there's nothing to you country, too. You have more to gain by ownership of as many Victory Bonds as you can possibly buy. You guarantee yourself a better chance for personal peace and prosperity. You also help your government to pay the war costs and return home of your loved ones. Buy a Victory Bond today. Thanksgiving Day is your own home and your neighbor's home.

Special to The Northville Record from The Michigan Department of Conservation

Purchases by the conservation department of recreational lands in southeastern Michigan now total 29,081 acres.

An additional 1,324 acres have been acquired during the last month in the vicinity of Brighton, Highland, Island Lake, Ortonville, Piskney, Pontiac Lake, Proud Lake, and Rochester.

Eventually, according to plan, the state will acquire 100,000 acres stretching from Jackson into Oakland county to provide play space for three-fifths of the state's population. The sum of $3,000,000 was voted by the 1944 legislature to finance purchases. The department also has acquired 350 feet of frontage at the mouth of the Au Gres river on the north side of Saginaw Bay, 1,000 feet of frontage on Lake Emma in Presque Isle county, and 400 feet of frontage on the Escanaba river in Delta county, using fishing license revenues.

With close to a million young trout to feed during the coming winter, the conservation department hopes for an easing of the food shortage by the first of the year.

Increased pork production in late fall will make more pork melts available, the melts being an important constituent of fish food in normal times. The melts are mixed with a dry meal. The department's fish food requirements average 75 tons each two months and hatcheries have operated on a hand to mouth basis during the war years.

Effect of longer fishing seasons on a southern Michigan lake will be given a test in Cass county.

Under authorization granted by the last legislature, the conservation commission has approved the opening of Birch Lake in southeastern Cass county to fishing for all species except largemouth and smallmouth black bass, bluegills, and sunfish beginning May 15 during the next three years.

June 25 has been the opening day of the fishing season on this and other southern Michigan lakes in previous years.

Under the new regulations the lake will be closed to all fishing only from April 1 through May 14.

The last legislature approved establishment of special seasons, size and creel limits, and methods of taking fish on not more than 20 lakes and not more than one lake in any county, for such experimental purposes.

Taking of brook trout six inches in length on certain sections of Hunt creek and Fuller creek, a tributary stream, in southwestern Montmorency county, has conservation commission approval.

Reduction of the size limit from seven inches, minimum legal length of trout under present fishing regulations, will be effective for experimental purposes during regular open seasons for taking of trout for a three-year period beginning next year.

The conservation department's institute for fisheries research has conducted experimental work on Hunt creek for several years and the approved change in regulations is part of its research program.

Sales of temporary and annual non-resident fishing licenses are 15 percent above those of last year, according to the conservation department.

End of fertility was packed by a sharp increase in tourist travel, as reflected in fishing license sales to outside residents.

Lease to the North Range Mining Company of Negaunee of 720 acres of state-owned land in Baraga county for iron ore exploration and mining purposes is announced by the conservation department.

This is the second lease of state-owned lands for mining purposes issued by the department. The Pickands Mather and Company leased approximately 12,000 acres in Dickinson county a year ago.

Another week has passed without a forest fire having been reported by the conservation department, a near record in total elapsed time without a fire during fall months. Forests are greener than is usual at this season.

A total of 16,663 acres has been burned in 1945 fires this year, nine fires during September burning only six acres, a record low for the month.

"Selling Michigan to Michigan people" should be a major activity of the Michigan tourist industry, according to Governor Harry F. Kelly.

Kelly aired his views before members of the Michigan Tourist Council which met recently at Higgins Lake. The council, a state agency, comprises the secretaries of the four regional tourist associations and a number of other interested citizens.

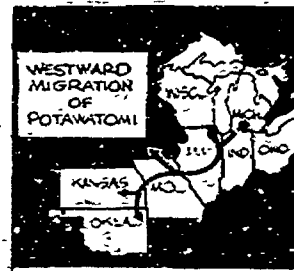

The governor's statement was made as a comment on the need for greater advertising promotion in Michigan and nearby states of the Middle-West and less promotion on a national basis by which the travel attractions of Michigan would be presented to residents of California, Maine, Texas and other states of the Union.

It is this writer's conviction that the Michigan tourist industry is missing a good bet in preservation and promotion of some of Michigan's unique historical landmarks.

Mackinac Island has been acclaimed by the Daughter of the American Revolution as being Michigan's most historical spot. These words are found on a tablet in the memorial park just below the Fort. The maintenance of Fort Mackinac, a truly national historical shrine, is a responsibility of the State of Michigan which provides funds to the Mackinac Island Park commission, a state agency, as the operating authority.

To the northeast of Mackinac Island is another historical landmark, old Fort Drummond, which enjoys the distinction of being the last British fort in the United States.

This military outpost was established by British troops following their evacuation of Mackinac Island in 1814. Whitney Bay at the southwestern promontory of Drummond Island was selected by Lt. Col. McDonnell, British commandant at Fort Mackinac, and Captain Payne of the British Royal Engineers and Captain Collins of the British Royal Navy because of its accessibility to Indians and the resultant value to the British in retaining the valuable fur trade.

That old Fort Drummond is being shamefully neglected by the State of Michigan even to the extent of being properly marked with a tablet is a fact that cannot be contradicted and which we have previously deplored. Remaining yet for visitors to see are two great chimneys used for officers' quarters; another fort chimney now part of a private cabin, some walls of old buildings, evidence of the fort artillery road and the L-grade grounds and the British military cemetery, 100 by 150 feet.

At this fort the former Mackinac Island troops—350 to 400 in number—were on duty until the fall of 1828, just 14 years after the Treaty of Ghent which formally closed the War of 1812. Here is a genuine historical landmark, now neglected and overlooked as a tourist appeal. It could attract thousands of visitors every summer. It is a genuine relic of early American history.

During the 1945 summer season we had the privilege of visiting another island in Michigan that is rich in historical lore and which is being overlooked also by the tourist industry and the State of Michigan.

We refer to Beaver Island at the north end of Lake Michigan, accessible by boat from Charlevoix and hence three hours' off the tourist travel lane along the west coast.

St. James, the only town on Beaver Island, enjoys the distinction of once being a rival Mormon kingdom. It is to Brigham Young's Salt Lake City.

The story of the Mormons in Michigan is fairly well known to Michigan residents. When Brigham Young was chosen to be the successor of the murdered Joseph Smith, James J. Strang led a group of dissenting Mormons to Michigan's Beaver Island. They founded St. James because of its fine harbor at the north end of the island.

The King's Highway, the main thoroughfare from St. James, is a reminder of the Mormon era as are Lake Galilee and the River Jordan, the island's sole trout stream.

But the most interesting relic of the Mormon period nearly 100 years ago is the Mormon printing house, a frame building with low ceiling and roof. Here the Daily Northern Islander, a daily newspaper, made its debut in 1858. A front page containing an announcement of the "murderous assault" on King Strang is on display in the lobby of the King Strang Hotel, now operated by Fred Spalding, formerly of Pontiac.

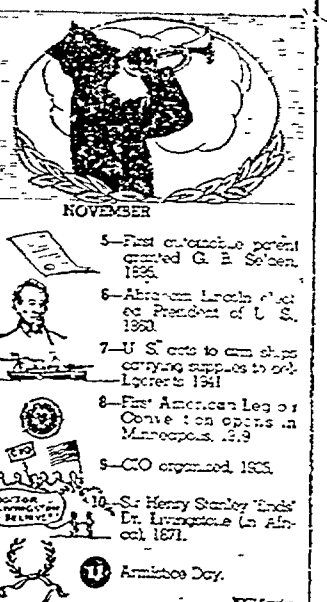

Like the old British fort on Drummond Island the old Mormon landmarks at Beaver Island have been ignored and neglected by the State of Michigan, despite their obvious historical value to future generations and their potential commercial benefit to the tourist industry.

We cite these two landmarks as affording examples of what might be utilized in "selling Michigan to Michigan people."

In Wisconsin the state government has acquired four historical landmarks. These are maintained by the state conservation department as a part of Wisconsin's recreational-tourist attractions.

We believe Michigan should consider the example of Wisconsin and acquire old Fort Drummond, the remaining Mormon landmarks on Beaver Island and other similar historical spots where there is still time to save them from extinction.

We believe, as does Governor Kelly, that there is a real job to be done in "selling Michigan to Michigan people."

for peace!

Tremendous as were the wartime power needs of the Detroit area, Detroit Edison expects the peacetime demand to be even greater. In anticipation of this, Detroit Edison has a $125,000,000 expansion program for the next ten-year period.

It is now spending $4,000,000 to complete the installation of a new 100,000-horsepower turbo-generator and boiler in the Marysville power plant. This unit is identical with one which went into action during the war years when the tremendous needs of our war plants for electricity were supplied promptly and completely. There was no "standing in line" for power in the area served by Detroit Edison.

When the new machine goes "on the line" sometime in 1946, it will increase the company's total generating capacity to 1,750,000 horsepower—enough to serve all the electrical needs of southeastern Michigan today and tomorrow.

News and Comment from Congressman George A. DonderoCommittee Reports on Old World Conditions

The report of the House Joint Committee, which visited 32 countries in Europe, Asia, and Africa, has given to the U. S. House of Representatives the committee's observations of the immediate post-war world. The report was given by Rep. Victor Wickersham (Dem.) of Oklahoma, the chairman. Rep. George A. Dondero (Rep.) of Michigan served as vice chairman.

The committee of 11 members, consisting of one member from each of 11 different committees of the House of Representatives, was the first Congressional group to visit the Soviet Union since the war and one of the first to make special inquiries into conditions in the Scandinavian area, the Balkan area, and throughout the Middle East.

Objectives of Committee
The purpose of this committee in making this study during the Congressional recess was to observe general conditions relating to transportation, coal, food, clothing, housing, UNRRA, matters affecting service men, matters pertaining to the possibilities of securing a lasting peace, and other matters of national interest, particularly matters affecting the standing committees represented, such as: Agriculture, Education, Rivers and Harbors, Appropriations, Foreign Affairs, Judiciary, Flood Control, Mines and Mining, World War Veterans' Legislation, and so forth.

The membership of the committee consisted of the following: Victor Wickersham (Dem.) of Oklahoma, chairman; George A. Dondero (Rep.) of Michigan, vice chairman; Samuel A. Weiss (Dem.), Pennsylvania; Walt Horan (Rep.), Washington; Michael A. Feighan (Dem.), Ohio; Chester E. Merrow (Rep.), New Hampshire; Walter B. Huber (Dem.), Ohio; Homer A. Ramey (Rep.), Ohio; A. S. J. Carnahan (Dem.), Missouri; James C. Fulton (Rep.) of Pennsylvania; and Frank L. Cnel (Dem.), Kentucky.

The committee traveled under written orders from the War Department, which authorized the members to proceed as a joint committee, and left Washington, D. C., on July 20.

All 11 committee members remained together for 37 days, during which time they traveled 20,000 miles and visited 20 countries. The original committee observed conditions in Labrador, New Foundland, Iceland, Scotland, England, Ireland, France, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Russia, Switzerland, and Italy.

Then Reps. Dondero, Weiss, Chief, and Ramey returned to the United States, and Rep. Fulton left the group to make additional studies of naval installations. The six remaining members of the original committee went on to view the situation in the following countries: Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Greece, Egypt, Lebanon, Syria, Turkey, and Palestine. Rep. Horan left the group in Palestine to return to the United States. The five remaining members of the committee continued on to visit Iran, Saudi Arabia, India, Bahrain, Isle, Iraq, Libya, Algiers, and French Morocco.

The committee, in its report, made extended observations on conditions in Soviet Russia and the Balkans, and touched upon questions of foreign relations, service personnel, inflation, relief operations in Europe, surplus property, oil in the Middle East, and other subjects likely to have a bearing on future legislation before the U. S. House of Representatives.

Horan left the group in Palestine to return to the United States. The five remaining members of the committee continued on to visit Iran, Saudi Arabia, India, Bahrain, Isle, Iraq, Libya, Algiers, and French Morocco.

The committee, in its report, made extended observations on conditions in Soviet Russia and the Balkans, and touched upon questions of foreign relations, service personnel, inflation, relief operations in Europe, surplus property, oil in the Middle East, and other subjects likely to have a bearing on future legislation before the U. S. House of Representatives.

THERE are more telephones today on most rural lines than before the war.

This is because there were so many "war-essential" rural folks who had telephones installed. And because of shortages of materials and manpower, we weren't able to expand the system sufficiently.

Now that the war is over, we are resuming our rural expansion and improvement program. As sufficient trained manpower and materials become available, we shall be able to add enough new lines so there again will be fewer telephones per line.

Meanwhile, the best way for everybody to have good service is to treat his telephone neighbors as he himself would like to be treated: keep all calls short... avoid listening in or interrupting when the line is in use... hang up the receiver carefully. One receiver off the hook can tie up a whole line.

flames by the accurate gunnery of the 482nd half tracks. So accurate was the fire from the 482nd guns that not a single enemy plane was able to actually penetrate the inner defenses of the bridge. It remained intact but when the 482nd left, the Ludendorff Bridge collapsed. Here is the official citation:
"Battle Honors—As authorized by Executive Order No. 9396, 22 November, 1943 (sec. 1, Bull. 22, WD, 1943) superseding Executive Order No. 9075, (sec. 111, Bull. 11, WD, 1942) the following unit has been cited by the War Department under the provisions of Section IV, Circular No. 333, WD, 22 December, 1943, in the name of the President of the United States as public evidence of distinguished honor and distinction."
The citation includes many units. The 482nd Anti-Aircraft Battalion, Carl Denison, commander, is cited for "outstanding performance of duty in action from 28 February to 9 March, 1945 in Germany. On 28 February, Command B launched an attack from the vicinity of Soller, and less than twenty-four hours later crossed the Rft River at Dekum. Forcing the enemy into disorderly retreat, the unit headed southeast, reaching the heights west of Remagen on 7 March, where troops of the command could see the Ludendorff Bridge across the Rhine River with large numbers of German troops fleeing across it. At 1500 hours that day, a prisoner was captured who revealed that the bridge was named for demolition and was to be destroyed at 1600. At 1535 hours, one column of Command B reached the western approach to the bridge. The span was still intact. Although the destruction of the bridge was imminent, American troops unhesitatingly rushed across the structure in the face of intense enemy automatic weapons fire. An explosion rocked the bridge but did not destroy it. Engineers scrambled down the abutments, cutting wires leading to other demolition charges and disposing of hundreds of pounds of explosives by hurling them into the river. Bulldozer tanks, working under heavy artillery and small arms fire, filled craters at the bridge approach to permit vehicular passage. Upon reaching the opposite bank, troops of Command B fought gallantly and cleared the surrounding high ground. Although the strength of the span was unknown, tank units rumbled across the bridge after dark and lent their support to foot troops. Anti-aircraft artillery men deployed their weapons so skillfully that in the ensuing days numerous enemy planes were destroyed in vain attempts to destroy the bridge. The superb skill, daring and esprit de corps displayed by each officer and man of Command B, 9th Armored Division, in the dash to the Rhine, the capture of the Ludendorff Bridge and the successful exploitation of this first bridgehead across Germany's formidable river barrier made an outstanding contribution to the defeat of the enemy."

Each donor is requested to include a card of identification and in order to make the boxes uniform they should cost between three and four dollars. The Legion and Auxiliary invite your active participation in the great Christmas party for 15,000 Michigan patients. See that your donation reaches the collection center at Cloverdale Dairy from where it will be properly handled until it reaches the bedside of the patient you have made happy with the gift box.

den a niece and have one daughter, Mrs. Preston Brady, of Long Island, a son, James, of Downers Grove, Ill., and three grandchildren.
The second Northville citizen to sever business connections was Ray Van Valkenburg, who was on duty Wednesday at the Northville sub station of the Detroit Edison Co., for the last time. Mr. Van has worked at the sub station for the past thirty-one years. He was first employed by the old Globe Furture Co., then the Village, working in the Village steam plant which stood on the present location of the Edison plant, that company buying the property in 1914. The building burned down in 1921 and the present structure was built.
Mr. Van was honored Tuesday evening with a retirement dinner which was held at Hillside, Plymouth. Forty-six men, all Edison employees, attended from Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Wayne, Dearborn, Detroit, Redford, Farmington and Northville. Richard Smith of Dearborn group foreman, presented the honor guest with a Parker pen and pencil set in behalf of the company. Short talks and musical selections by Jas. McNabb made up the program.
Mr. Van was born on Six Mile Road to Mr. and Mrs. Emory Van Valkenburg and moved to New York state when four years old. The family moved back to Michigan in 1899 and to Northville in 1894. Mr. Van having lived here ever since. Mr. and Mrs. Van, who live on east Main street, have a son, Spencer, of Vicksburg a daughter, Mrs. Clifford Stevens, of this place and three grand children.

Some people have no respect for age unless it is bottled. This one is from an accident insurance advertisement:
"Take out a policy. One customer got her arm broke the other day and we paid her $500. You may be the lucky one tomorrow."
Desperate Woe: If you don't carry me, I'll take a rope and hang myself in your front yard.
Girl: Now, Egbert, you know my father doesn't want you hanging around.

Dickie Gives Toots a Pedicure

"Dickie," eight-months-old pet parakeet, perches atop her canine playmate, "Toots," six-months-old puppy, as they frolic on the rug in the home of their owner in Detroit. "Dickie" seems to be giving "Toots" a pedicure by the simple expedient of pecking at "Toots' claws. This is a daily job which the parakeet has taken over for his pal.

Starved Allied Soldiers Freed

The physical condition of these two members of the British Royal Artillery, is representative of thousands of Allied soldiers freed from Japanese prison camps by American troops. They are shown relaxing on the hanger dock of the USS Black Island, one of the liberation ships that has been set aside to see that former prisoners are rushed home.

Went Into Business for Himself

He was given credit for knocking out more tanks and killing more Germans than many divisions, while he was AVOL and served with the French underground. He is shown wearing the French beret. He said he deserted army as he did not like to peel potatoes. Court martial cleared him of charge.
