NEW CHEVROLET

We are doing our best to see that you get your new car as quickly as possible

We want to thank our customers and prospective customers for your friendly patience while awaiting your new Chevrolets.

We know it is a hardship to wait for needed transportation; but we believe you will understand that we, and Chevrolet, are as eager to deliver cars as you are to obtain them. Unfortunately, production so far this year is far under expectations. Chevrolet Motor Division sums up the situation thus:

"Even though our rate of production normally exceeds that of any other manufacturer, we have been able to build, up to July 1, only 12.4 per cent as many cars as we had built up to that date in 1941. Production is still far below normal because of frequent shortages of essential materials and parts. Strike after strike at the plants of our suppliers has seriously impeded our progress toward full production, and the cumulative effect severely hampers every manufacturing and assembly plant. In June we were able to build only 29.2 per cent as many cars as we produced in the same month in 1941."

While production is restricted, so-in proportion—are shipments of cars to us. As production increases, we are assured of getting our proportionate share of the total—and as quickly as cars are received, we will speed deliveries to our customers.

Remember—Our CAR-SERVICE is your best CAR-SAVER. Keep your present car "alive" till you get delivery of your new Chevrolet by bringing it to us for skilled service now and at regular intervals.

Northville's Yesterdays

ONE YEAR AGO:

The community went wild as President Harry S. Truman proclaimed the end of World War II. Shrieking sirens were heard and in general, bedlam reigned in the community.

S. C. Robert Stueckle of Walnut street was reported missing aboard the USS Indianapolis.

Captain Captain G. Denton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Denton of Randolph street, was decorated for heroic action in Belgium.

T. W. William Asher was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in the Siegfried Line. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Asher of Grace avenue.

It has been announced that the Northville schools will open September 6.

Jean Orr, daughter of the James Orrs of West Seven Mile Road, and William Kelly of Ishpeming were united in marriage at the Presbyterian church.

FIVE YEARS AGO:

Four Northville boys, David Hay, John Stevens, Jack Tringharts, and Cecil Ronk, are in the August Army Service Call from the local draft board.

Harry B. Clark and George Garner have been named to head the fall horse show.

Richard Boissel of Ann Arbor replaces Victor Lumley as pharmacist at the Gurnell Drug Store.

Alice Banks and Charles G. Gentry were married by Rev. Harry Lord at the Methodist church last Saturday.

Marie Angone fractured both her ankles in a fall from a horse.

From the Northville Unit of the Red Cross 50 sewed and knitted garments have been turned into headquarters in Detroit.

TEN YEARS AGO:

The opening of the new pavilion on Main and Center streets Thursday, marked a new epoch in the history of Northville because no town or city of its size anywhere can boast of a more attractive or modern business district.

Fire swept through the top of the dairy barn of the Wayne County Training School early Monday morning, burning 160 tons of newly cut hay, and caused damages estimated at $25,000.

Dr. H. L. Griswold and Charles Dohr have been elected Northville delegates to the national exchange convention in Detroit August 30. Carl Ely was named alternate delegate. Roy Craven, Meadie Lapham, Harold Bremner and Mr. Ely were invited to Northville to represent them on the reception committee at the meeting.

At a wedding ceremony held Saturday in Our Lady of Victory church, Ruth Gaffin and Kenneth Cook were united in marriage.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO:

Northville's 18th year club members 27 of them in all, visited the General Motors playing field at Milford, Wednesday.

A very charming wedding in the presence of relatives and lots of friends occurred at the home of Mrs. Charles Finsen Saturday, where her daughter,

Elmer Rice's "Dream Girl to Begin Two-Week Engagement at Cass Theatre, Detroit, Tuesday, Aug. 20

"Dream Girl," Elmer Rice's latest comedy, which was one of New York's reigning hits last season, will begin a two-week engagement at the Cass Theatre, Detroit, on Tuesday, Aug. 20. Judy Parson will have the roll created by Betty Field, and will be seen as George Allerton, a young lady who spends a great deal of her time in daydreaming. Mr. Rice, with the artful assistance of scene designer Joe Melchior, has brought those dreamlike weird life, and has given Miss Parson a role that allows her to act field day.

She's on stage practically all of the time, either in dreams or reality, on the curtain's rise to its fall. Richard Widmark and Ann Andrews are co-features with Miss Parson in a cast that also includes Harry Antonio, Helen Rose, Philip Arthur and many others.

"Dream Girl" played to capacity houses on Broadway until it closed last month for a two-month run, and won a week's notice from the New York critics as a comedy-suspirer, "a girl" (Barnes) and "a delightful comedy" (Scribner).

Rice's play "Who Was I?" burst upon a startled public in 1934 with its original, successful "On Trial" when it was first put on and fresh out of a "play-off," was written a total of 14 matinee plays during his 20-year career, including such smash successes as "Street Scene" which won the Pulitzer Prize back in 1929. The Acting Company—Counsellor-at-Law—Management Day, and many others.

The "Playwrights" Company, eight years old and one of the leading theatrical groups of America, presented Abe Lincoln in Illinois and There Shall Be No Night (both Pulitzer Prize winners), "The Patriots" (winner of the Drama Critics' Prize), "No Time for Comedy," "Kingsolver's Home" and "The End of St. Louis."

H. L. Ely, who recently asked the man who had just arrived at the summer resort, "Is it hot?" replied the man who had been half-frozen, "I guess even white by now." Mr. Ely on August 1st that I had a notion to go home, but I am staying to see the race to start in ten days longer."

TO BUILD HOME FOR PARALYZED VETERAN

Paralyzed from the hips down due to shrapnel wounds suffered Germany April 1, 1945, William H. Barber, Berkley, Mich., veteran, must remain as a patient in a Chicago hospital until he can find living quarters. Since their home burned a year ago his parents have been living in the rear of a store and have no room to care for their invalid son.

But young Barber won't go homeless for long. The Berkley American Legion Post No. 61 set up a "William Barber Home Building Fund" and several citizens of the town have offered their services to start the completed matinee of house building rolling. Blue prints for a ranch-type house have been drawn and considerable money has been donated toward the fund.

Planning to make a go in the near future the Berkley Legion is seriously considering law, a profession he could follow in a wheelchair. He is not married, but there is a girl in Santa Monica, California, who he expects to come East soon.

Urges Women to Adopt Modern Canning Methods

Although canning methods have improved as a result of research programs in the past 25 years, many of the more certain and approved procedures have not been adopted by some women in Wayne county, according to Emma DuBord, County Home Demonstration Agent. Women who use only the latest approved methods in USDA and Michigan State College bulletins have less spoilage, a survey shows. They also have safer and more nutritious products. There are only three methods which give satisfaction, and these methods are not equally successful for every product. Miss DuBord explains. For safe canning of non-acid vegetables (all except tomatoes), meat, fish and poultry, a pressure cooker with a correctly regulated gauge is necessary. Tomatoes and all fruits should be done in a water bath which is deep enough so that the jars may be covered with two inches of boiling water. The open kettle method, long a favorite of our older relatives, is successful for jellies, jams, preserves and pickles. These are foods in which sugar, vinegar or salt aid in preventing spoilage. This method is not safe for vegetables or meat and results in a very high percentage of spoilage. Fruits and tomatoes canned "open kettle" lose good value and are more likely to spoil. The two best arguments against open canning are danger and spoilage. The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and other reputable canning authorities discourage the use of this method because so many painful and fatal accidents have occurred and also because success is a gamble, Miss DuBord reveals.

Canned goods closets full of fruits and vegetables canned this summer will give the same feeling of security as a binful of coal with a storm approaching. Every modern homemaker realizes by now that she needs canned or frozen foods to help provide her family with an attractive, well-balanced diet through the winter months. Miss DuBord has carefully planned family food preservation campaign to meet this year more than ever. Slipshod methods result in too much of one food and not enough of another. Miss DuBord cautions. First, a list should be made of the foods that will not be available fresh, and the amount your family uses. It is recommended that the individual list at least two servings of fruit and two servings of vegetables, other than potato, be served each day. Then, those who use the oven can then have a good idea of what fruits should come out of the family canning equipment for use on days when no fresh fruit is available again.

To be sure fruits and vegetables can be canned successfully, sugar is canned at 10% and sugar-free canned at 10% of the amount of fruit. One quart of fruit, 1/2 cup of sugar is required. This amount will cover the number of cans required enough food for most families. Many daily over-the-counter fruits are new table again monthly, winter produce, and fresh fruit is not available again. To be sure fruits and vegetables can be canned successfully, sugar is required. As recently announced by the American Legion, complete plans have been made for the re-enactment of this country's 328,000 World War II dead, and the Army and Navy will soon write next-of-kin to obtain instructions for disposition of the bodies.

Mr. Forster was born June 29, 1910 at Dearborn. He resided in Detroit for a number of years and, for the past twenty-two years had lived on his farm Valley Top on Goddard Road.

Presbyterian Church Scene of Angove-Foster Wedding

The Northville Presbyterian Church was the scene of a beautiful late summer wedding last Saturday evening when Marie Angove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Angove of West Main St., and Murray B. Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley B. Foster of Romeo, were united in marriage.

Tall baskets of white gladioli, lilies and cat-tailed candelabra holding lighted tapers decorated the church. Mrs. G. V. Garrison presided at the console organ and a sorority sister of the bride, Mrs. Jas. G. Williams, sang "Through the Years" and "Because." The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Harold Fredsell.

Presented by her father, the bride wore a gown of white-frosted marquisette with long pointed sleeves, ruffled collar and a long train. The fingertip veil was caught to her head with clusters of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with white orchids.

The attendants were Mrs. Richard Ambler as matron of honor, and Mrs. Robert Angove, mother of the bride. Mrs. Edward Angove as bridesmaids. The bride was attired in a gown of chartreuse balloon cloth and the bridesmaids' dresses were of old gold.

Two girls carried bouquets of lavender asters with matching ribbons. Mrs. Ambler's hair was in the darker shades. All the head bands of the same flowers.

The groom was attended by Robert Church of Pontiac as best man while Robert Angove, a Detroit and Ed. Angove, seated the guests.

How do they do it?

Could you produce one-third more crops with 10% less manpower? The farmers of America did it during the last full year of the war!

How? Partly by working themselves and their machines longer, harder. Partly by assisting hired help with wired help.

Electricity has taken over more and more farm chores. It pumps water, grinds feed, cures hay, fills silos. It steps up milk and egg production. It eases farm housework, too.

Cheap, dependable electricity has done more than any other force to make farming efficient and farm life comfortable.

Who electrified the farms? Rural electric service didn't happen over night. It started more than 25 years ago—with America's business-managed electric companies. These companies did the pioneering—the pick-and-shovel work.

The advantages of electricity on the farm were many. The problem was to get it to the farmer. Distance and weather called for new methods and materials. New farm machines suitable for electric drive had to be developed.

Each problem was licked in turn by American initiative and ingenuity. Service grew steadily better and cheaper. Farm by farm, area by area, the web of wire expanded.

What of tomorrow? Today Detroit Edison serves 35,273 farms (about 95%) of all farms in our territory and more than 180,000 other rural customers outside of incorporated towns. That's real progress.

But the job isn't done. As fast as transformers, wire, poles and other critical materials become available we are extending reliable, low priced electric service. It is our goal to make this service available to every home, farm, business and industry at the earliest possible date.

For your listening pleasure tune in The Electric Hour every Sunday at 3:30 over WJR featuring Anna Jamison and Bob Sharley with Robert Armstrong and his orchestra.

THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY

What is really happening in Palestine? What's behind the bombing of the King David Hotel which cost more than 100 lives? Who are the terrorists responsible for the crime? What—if anything outside of their alleged sadism—were the causes, immediate and basic, of the Jerusalem holocaust?
