To the Editor

October 26, 1946.

Well here I am in the sunny south, only it's not very sunny. We have quite a bit of rain and it gets pretty cold at night. It is also very sandy and hilly here.

I expect to finish my basic training at Fort Bragg in about three weeks. After I finish my basic I expect to go overseas.

You probably know why I am writing this letter. Yes, I am thanking you for the Record, which I have received regularly each week. It keeps me in touch with the happenings around Northville. It sure makes me feel at home when I am reading it. I guess I'll close for now and am thanking you again.

As ever,
 Pvt. John Schroder,

County Agent's News Column

E. I. Besemer

It's good, sound business to prepare your cows for freshening with a good feeding program. Money spent on feed for a milk cow during her six-week, to two-month dry period before freshening will return milk production in months ahead that will pay the costs many times. E. I. Besemer, County Agricultural Agent, says fall and winter freshening cows show good production records throughout the year. The best time to guarantee a good production record for the year is during the six week to two month "vacation" time the cow has before freshening. Feeding of liberal amounts of high quality roughage and from 6 to 10 pounds of grain daily is recommended. It permits the cow to build up milk-making material which adds production after freshening time. A good grain mixture to use is 600 pounds of wheat, 200 pounds of corn, 100 pounds of high-protein concentrate or other protein feed. In addition to the grain and roughage, the cow should receive salt, preferably iodized. In some instances cobalt sulfate is recommended. Always provide milk cows with plenty of water. The county agent says "records at Michigan State College for the dairy herd improvement associations over the state show that an average of 3000 cows a day will freshen in Michigan from September to April."

Demonstration Agent's News

Emma DuBoff

If you are an economical housewife interested in your family's health, you are serving lots of fish this month. According to Miss DuBord, home demonstration agent, fish will give you that necessary protein you are missing these meatless days.

When you are serving those fish fried in deep fat, Miss DuBord suggests that you intrigue your family with a new recipe popular in the deep South. The recipe is for "fish puppies" and they are cooked in the hot grease along with the fish. You'll be making good use of that precious fat. Mix 2 cups of enriched corn meal, 1 tablespoon enriched flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder and 1 tablespoon salt. To this add 6 tablespoons chopped onion. Then add one whole egg and 2 cups of buttermilk. Drop the batter by spoonfuls into the hot grease a few at a time so the "fish puppies" will not cool the grease. When done they will float. Put on paper to drain.

Check Furnace
 Furnaces have been doing heavy service through the winter months, and may have developed cracks or breaks through which heat and fumes may be leaking. Furnaces should be carefully examined for such defects and repairs made with high-grade furnace cement, which is very easy to apply with a putty knife, and is generally available from paint and varnish dealers.

Early Rising
 It pays a housewife to get her family up 15 minutes earlier in the morning in order to avoid that breakfast-time rush and confusion which often results in upset feelings.

It's Christmas Time at the Gamble Store 22

Deer hunters may smile at so conservative an estimate of a season's expenses of $25. But the conservation department points out that even at this minimum average rate, this year's anticipated 300,000 hunters will spend a collective $7,500,000 for goods and services in pursuit of their sport. Last season's 270,000 hunters are believed to have spent in excess of six million dollars. At the current resident license fee rate of $2.25, less than 10 per cent of the hunter's $25 is paid toward management and protection of the deer herd.

"The folks on our party line are GOOD NEIGHBORS!"

AMERICANS are naturally friendly people, generous and thoughtful of others.

With many families being limited to party-line service in order that more folks may have telephones, there are real opportunities to be good telephone neighbors. People who are considerate of others on the same line help to make everybody's service better.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

A good party-line neighbor thinks of it this way:
 "Somebody else on my line may be waiting to make a call, so I won't talk any longer than I have to."
 "When the line is in use and I'm waiting my turn, I won't interrupt."
 "When I finish my call, I'll make sure I've hung up properly, because if one instrument is left 'off the hook' it puts all the telephones on the line out of service."

"Halloween Open House" was observed at the Neighborhood Church Thursday evening and a goodly number of folks, young and old, dropped in to sit by the fire, visit a little and help themselves to bowls of nuts conveniently placed. A quartet of ladies was in charge. The finest stunt of the evening was that rendered by Billy Varhol, who delighted his hearers by singing "In the Garden". The most interesting costume was that worn by four year old Marion Lee Johnson, a black Fauntleroy velvet suit that had been the property of "Uncle Bob" Hunter more than thirty years ago.

An interesting feature of the Neighborhood Bible School Sunday morning was the placing of 90 pictures in the birthday link. They were contributed by the oldest grandmothers of the neighborhood in honor of the 90th birthday of Mrs. Leslie Mayfield, now a resident of St. Petersburg, Fla. She formerly lived in this section and was an active part in the opening of the Neighborhood Bible School several years ago.

"I broke my husband of biting his nails."

"How?"

"I had his teeth."

Get Deer Hunting Licenses Early

Get your deer hunting license now and avoid that last minute search from dealer to dealer for one, the conservation department is urging sportsmen.

The department's 2,700 dealers already have been furnished with 10 to 20 per cent more deer licenses than they sold last year, but since hunters do not always buy their licenses from the same agent, local shortages develop in some areas and surpluses in others when the heavy buying is deferred to the season opening.

Now in the dealers' hands are 380,000 resident deer licenses, 14,000 non-resident licenses and 3,000 camp permits. Last year 270,000 bought deer hunting licenses.

Undaunted by defeat at the hands of up-state rural legislators, Bob Ford is at it again.

This time his pet reform is modernization of Michigan county government. And this time he is checking his baggage from the educational security of the University of Michigan, based on a year of research of which he is the author.

In collaboration with Claude B. Taylor, Ford has completed a study which is the most important and challenging study in the history of Michigan's County Government.

It was the same Ford who in 1941 attempted to carry out his plan to modernize state government at Lansing. One project, we recall, was the consolidation of the state insurance and state banking departments. An administrative assistant to the governor, Dr. Ford worked hard and diligently at Lansing. He burned the midnight oil by the gallon. He assembled facts by the ton.

As administrative assistant head of a new department, Bob earned his money. But the legislature thought otherwise. Members decided to economize on Ford, and he was left high and dry.

The defects of Michigan county government, as Dr. Ford sees them, are about four in number. First, there is no "over-all administrative head." We quote: "Absence of a chief executive is contrary to good management principles in both business and public administration. A chief executive is as necessary to county government as to city government, or to private business."

Second, there is "considerable duplication of functions between agencies." For example, the auditor, clerk, register of deeds, and the clerk of the county clerk's office are all doing the same job. The county clerk is the chief executive officer and is responsible for certain financial functions.

The administrative staff will be reduced to a minimum. The number of agencies will be reduced to a minimum. The county clerk, register of deeds, and auditor will be combined into one office. The county clerk will be the chief executive officer and is responsible for certain financial functions.

Third conclusion: The Board of Supervisors "is too large and possesses both legislative and administrative powers." It is Ford's contention that reduction of big-size boards "would be conducive to efficiency and economy and he points out that Wayne County's board has 34 members, Oakland 27, Kent 24, Saginaw 51, Calhoun 39, and Genesee 37.

We quote: "In all of these counties, the board of supervisors is larger than the state senate, which has 32 members."

Fourth conclusion: The "bed-sheet" size ballot of elective officials. This reform is obvious. It is intended for populous counties where "name" candidates thrive and where the voter is near helpless to identify good candidates from bad candidates.

Concerning that popular election is the essence of democracy, Ford quotes one authority as saying: "Popular elections are not at the heart out of democracy if carried to the extreme." The big obstacle to needed reform, as the university expert sees it, is the state constitution. The state constitution of 1908 permits considerable freedom for counties, and as a result a large majority of them have home rule charters. Michigan leads all other states with 53 manager cities. There is a close second with 57.

Two years ago—1944—the Northville election brought defeat to a proposed home rule for Wayne county. It was defeated by a margin of 136,000 votes. The proposed reform was inspired by local officials coming out of a 10-man grand jury investigation in 1941 and 1942.

At that time the Michigan Institute of Local Government was opposed to the amendment, just as it was this year to the proposed sales tax revision amendment. State Treasurer D. Hale Blake is its president.

The institute then appointed a special study committee and finally recommended that the state constitution be amended to provide an alternate form of county government, if approved by voters at a special or general election.

Then each county, if desiring to come under the plan would have to hold a special election. Next a popular primary election and the election to select charter commissioners. And finally a fifth election to approve or reject the charter commissioners' charter.

County governments would be streamlined by the institute to provide for a county council to be appointed by the board of supervisors, and a "county chief executive" to be appointed by the board of supervisors. It is suggested that either the county clerk or the county controller be designated as the "county chief executive" who would be a sort of county manager in his authority.

It is noted by Dr. Ford that twelve Michigan counties now possess the legal authority to appoint a controller, but only four of them—Calhoun, Genesee,

Oakland and Macomb—have done so. Among the county offices which Dr. Ford would abolish are the office of county surveyor and office of county coroner. The register of deed and the county clerk would be merged into one office. The county health officer would take over the functions of the county coroner.

It's quite a big dream. People of Michigan must be convinced first they will get better service for their money. That's the real hitch.

LITTLE - SMITH

A quiet wedding took place in the local Presbyterian Church Saturday, November 7, when Vera Mary Little of East Six Mile Road and Doris Smith of this village were united in marriage by Rev. H. F. Fredsell in the double ring service.

Her flowers were white gardenias.

Attending the young couple were Mrs. John Hochkins of East Cady street and Clyde J. Dean of Pontiac. Mrs. Hochkins was attired in a navy blue dress with which she wore a corsage of pearls.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hochkins. Mrs. Smith graduated from Northville High school. The groom attended schools in Sardinia City. He was a member of the Army Air Corps and served in the South Pacific. He received his discharge in January of 1945 and is now employed with Fisher Body of Pontiac.

MILLIS - ALLEN

Ruth Mary Millis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Millis of Birmingham, was united in marriage to Thomas Robert Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen of that city, on Saturday, November 2. Rev. R. V. Harton read the single ring ceremony at 10:50 o'clock Saturday morning in the Holy Name Church at Birmingham.

The altar of the church was decorated with white chrysanthemums for the service. Mrs. James Cronan of Howell sang "Ave Maria" with organ accompaniment by Shanny Rocco of Birmingham.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin with a bertha of rosepoint lace, the skirt ending in a slight sweep. Her veil of French illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap of ivory satin and she carried a prayer book topped with clusters of white roses and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Duane Zemper of Howell, as matron of honor, and Peg Quick of Flint, as bridesmaid, wore identical gowns of ice blue tulle. They carried bouquets of orchid-pink gladioli and wore matching headresses.

John Porter of Cincinnati, Ohio served as best man while James Rowland and Richard Allen (brother of the groom) seated the guests.

Mrs. Mills chose for the occasion an aqua crepe dress and Mrs. Allen wore a gray crepe dress. Each wore a corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony a reception for two hundred guests was held in the Birmingham Community House.

The young couple left for a wedding trip to the Smoky Mountains. Mrs. Allen wearing a gray-beige suit with brown accessories. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Allen will reside in Detroit.

Ruth Mary is well known here. Having attended the Northville schools during the years the family lived on West Dunlap street. Upon their removal from the village, Ruth Mary attended Marygrove College, later graduating from Michigan State College.

Pastures Require Good Legume Stand
Lime and Fertilizer Essential to Success

Legumes are a "trust" in any permanent pasture building program if good yields of high quality forage are to be obtained, according to Dr. R. Dodd of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

"The legumes not only provide the nitrogen for additional grass growth and greatly increase the yield, but they also increase the lime and protein content of pasture herbage," he pointed out.

Legume seedlings, however, must first be limed and fertilized if permanent pasture growth is to be assured.

Describing tests made by the Ohio station, Professor Dodd said that in these trials legume seedlings had failed regardless of the seeding method unless the soil first was limed and fertilized. In only about one trial in ten did satisfactory stands result from seedings of Ladino and Louisiana white clover and lespedeza on disced pastures, and in the absence of lime and fertilizer.

DDT Use for Hairy Vetch Recommended
Recent experiments at Oregon Maryland and Wisconsin experiment stations would indicate that the use of DDT, while causing some injury to honeybees, may offer advantages that will overcome these losses and even prove a blessing to the beekeeping industry.

When hairy vetch was dusted for the hairy vetch weevil, at the rate of 3 per cent DDT dust, 25 pounds per acre, effective control was secured. Bees were in most cases absent from the dusted fields for several days following the dusting. As hairy vetch is of considerable importance to the beekeepers in many regions, and as the weevil would soon kill out the crop, the importance of these tests is of considerable interest and value.

Build a Potting Bench

This potting bench may be built by using a box about 30 by 21 by 30 inches.

Latin Club Initiates 20 New Members
Students Honored At Annual Crop Show

At the last meeting of the Latin Club twenty new members were initiated. They wore Roman costumes and had to carry books and do errands for their Dominus (masters) during the day. Three rooms were decorated in Halloween fashion and represented the heart, body, and mind. Pat Johnson acted as a guide for the new members who were led to the Homerooms and given lectures by the class officers on the purpose and activities of the club.

Students Honored At Annual Crop Show
There seems to be some mystery over the fact that Bill Barber and James Heslop attended the annual 4-H crop show at Pontiac a week ago. It is rumored that Bill received the Grand Championship Award for hybrid corn in Oakland County and Jim came in with second prize.

At its first meeting the Latin Club elected officers as follows: Myron Wapple, First Consul; Don Larson, Second Consul; Nancy Lisenberger, Scriba; and Keith Branch, Quaestor. The colors of the club are gold and blue.

CLUB NEWS
Last Saturday Mrs. Shedd and two members of the Senior Home E. Club attended the Region VI meeting of the E.H.A. Clubs in Plymouth.

Photo Club members are advancing in their knowledge of photography. They are using the old kitchen as a work room. All announcements are being posted on the bulletin board in Miss Lucht's room, which they are using for meetings.

Northville's Yesterdays

ONE YEAR AGO:

Next Tuesday, November 13, is the date set for the 1945 bazaar and luncheon which is an annual event in the history of the Northville Methodist Church.

A composite photograph recently received by Mrs. Mollie Strong of N. Center, sent by her son Pfc. Robert from Guam, shows six Northville servicemen who were all stationed there at the same time. All the boys had lived in this village and attended Northville High school, about the same time and so were more than mere acquaintances.

The group consisted of Pfc. Robert Strong, Harold Tuck S 1/2, Pfc. Bill Sutton, Robert Ely S 2/2, Pfc. Gene Nizel, Alex Funtke S 1/2.

On Friday, November 2, the Northville football team traveled to Brighton and defeated that squad by one touchdown—6 to 0.

Last week Wednesday evening the Northville D.A.W.s presented a check of $1001.50 to the Northville Recreation Committee. The presentation was made publicly by Sam Weidich of the D.A.W.s Association, to Ward Masters of the Recreation Committee.

Money has been provided for completely re-outfitting members of the Northville school band. The purchase of new uniforms from head to toe will be possible for each of the sixty members of the band according to Leslie G. Lee, director. The money has been accumulated through community service. The uniforms will not be available for some time.

FIVE YEARS AGO:

The annual Methodist chicken pie bazaar which draws patronage from surrounding communities as well as the village at large each year, will be held at 5 p. m.

Carroll Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Carlson and a student in the Northville High school was named second place winner in the Michigan State High School Contest seeking a "Slogan for 1941 America."

The N.H.S. undefeated Mustangs ran their victory string to six straight victories last Friday, Oct. 31, defeating a powerful eleven from Berkley, 9-0, on a rain drenched field at Cass Park.

Northville Lodge No. 286 F. and A.M. is making arrangements for the observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the lodge and the annual Past Masters Night to be held the evening of Monday, Nov. 24.

Nearly 200 Northville people gathered at the Methodist Church House Wednesday, Nov. 5 to honor the Northville community class of 21ers, those who have this year become voting and registered citizens in the community.

TEN YEARS AGO:

Mrs. Esther Elliott, for 60 years a resident of Northville, died Oct. 31, at the home of her son, Chief of Police William H. Safford.

Nelson Schrader, giant junior of Northville is seeing a great deal of service with Michigan State's football team this fall as left tackle.

The vote Tuesday in the village was heavy. A. B. McCullough who is 93 years of age cast his vote for the seventeenth time in a presidential election. The first president he voted for was U. S. Grant.

Last rites were held at 2 p. m. Monday from the Langfield home for one of Northville's most prominent citizens, E. C. Langfield, 67, vice-president of the Northville Laboratories.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cochran received injuries at 4 p. m. Wednesday at the blinker on Eight Mile and Farmington roads when their car was struck by another motorist.

A prominent villager reports that last year on Halloween night he paid $3 to have his home guarded. This year he had more fun in Northville's youth and left his house unguarded. Someone threw a green tomato through a large glass window. It will cost him between $2 and $3 to have it replaced.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO:

Final taps were sounded for George Goodell, one of Northville's two remaining Civil War veterans, Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Berry Northville, together with a number of relatives, returned the past Wednesday of one of humanity's greatest benefactors—William H. Maybury, for whom the tuberculosis sanatorium located in the town of Northville is named.

Russell F. Gale, whose herd of purebred Holstein dairy cattle is well known in Northville has recently chosen a trade mark to identify his herd. It is Rural.

Charles Bristol and family are now nicely settled in their new home recently purchased on Rogers street.

R. A. Grant and family have moved into the house on Wing street, just vacated by the Bristols.

The pupils of the first grade who have been neither tardy nor absent during the first two months of this year, are as follows: Eliza Murdoch, Irene Thompson, Lawrence Henry, Gordon Kidd and Wyland Pepper.

More Rural Phones Being Installed

More Michigan farmers than ever before use the telephone as an important aid in the management of their farms. For the first time in the history of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, more than half of the establishments in rural areas served by the company have telephone service.

Theodore H. Dawson, head of the company's rural development program, said that over 53 percent of the rural establishments in Michigan Bell territory now have telephones as compared with 44 percent on Jan. 1 of this year.

During the first three quarters of this year, Dawson declared, the Telephone Company completed 26 percent of its goal of providing service for 20,000 additional families in rural areas in 1946.

He said the goal will be exceeded if material shortages get no worse.

Although the number of families on the rural waiting list is approximately the same as on Jan. 1, Michigan Bell has been installing phones in rural areas at a record pace.

Since the first of the year, Dawson said, 17,200 additional rural telephones have been installed, bringing the total in Michigan Bell territory to nearly 100,000.

Dawson said the reason the waiting list has not been reduced substantially is that new applications are continuing to come in at an unprecedented high level.

"The majority of the 13,200 applications for service still unfilled were placed since the first of the year," Dawson stated.

In the face of this great demand, Michigan Bell put up 6,650 miles of telephone lines and reduced the number of parties on 2,280 lines to 3 or fewer as of September 30.

The number of telephones in rural areas increased 21 percent during the first three quarters of this year while urban telephones increased 12.7 percent.
