

Dondero Says "Time to Call Halt to Russia"; Last Barrier

Declaring that it was time to call a halt and stand up against Russia, Congressman Geo. A. Dondero, speaking before the Northville Exchange Club Tuesday, stated that "The U. S. A. was the last obstacle to the spread of what J. Edgar Hoover calls, 'the malignant way of life known as communism.'

Mr. Dondero told the problems and work of the Public Works Committee of the House and about some of the projects visited by his committee this summer. He spoke at length about the St. Lawrence Waterway project and what it would mean to the fresh water ports of the Great Lakes. He stated as far as the production of electricity, the government should stay in the wholesale end only. He spoke of our way of life as the marvel and envy of the rest of the civilized world, all the products of our government of freedom. He called upon all Americans to stand up strongly and unyielding against Communism and to appreciate this America that is ours.

"Novi" Makes Nat'l Magazine Luncheon Nov. 12

The name of our neighboring town, Novi, has received a great deal of comment and speculation during the years.

Only recently a story appeared in the American magazine concerning the origin or meaning of the word "Novi." Under a column showing the business section of the town, looking north along the New-World Lake Road, the story caption reads: "What's in a name?"

How did our cities, towns, and villages get their names? Here are some stories sent in by our readers, telling the origin of odd place-names on the map of America.

Novi is a village in Michigan about 30 miles northwest of Detroit. At first glance its name looks like a Latin word, but is not the case.

The story goes that when the train from Detroit to Ligonier was made by stages such in the early days, a dozen or more stops were scheduled along the way to provide for travelers and horses. Roman numerals were used on signs designating the number of the stop. Thus, before it ever existed as a town, the village was known as "Stop No. VI." Eventually the period was left out and plain Novi, Michigan, was born. W. J. Whalen, Detroit.

Two Concerts at School Today

Northville symphony music lovers will be gratified to hear a concert by the Women's Symphony Orchestra of Chicago with Kurt Kryl conductor, today, Friday, at the High school gymnasium.

Two concerts will be presented, the first one to take place at 1 o'clock, to care for the Grade school children, and the second at 2:15 o'clock for High school pupils and townspersons. Everyone is welcome and tickets may be secured at the High school.

For the past thirty-eight years and until the end of 1942, Mr. Kryl, the Czech conductor, toured the country with his famous Symphony band and orchestra. During the war years Uncle Sam called most of the personnel of the orchestra into service, so Mr. Kryl inaugurated a new innovation in 1942—An All Girl Symphony Orchestra. This year marks Mr. Kryl's forty-third annual tour and his orchestra appears before scores of college, school and civic organizations each year.

Appearing here with the orchestra will be Cecily Taylor, harpist; Herbert Meulton, tenor; Fay Schrecker, flute virtuoso and Dorothy Santopadre, soprano.

Selections by Mozart, Brahms, Fauré, Tchaikovsky, Strauss, Kern and many other famous musicians will be included on the program.

Farm Topics*Cube Turkey Steaks
To Aid Consumption*Process Boosts Market
For Large Type Fowl

By W. J. DEYDEN

Turkey raisers want to produce the larger holiday bird—the public wants the smaller fowl. The cost for a large tom is too much for the average family. To produce a small turkey the cost per pound of gain is far greater than in the case of the larger fowl.

Desiring to create a year around consumer demand for turkeys, the National Turkey Federation and the Poultry and Egg National board de-

Beet Top Silage CutsRequirements for Hay

The best feeding practices have demonstrated that by use of beet top silage in the ration, the hay requirements may be reduced by one half in the feeding for production of beef, mutton or milk. The succulent value of the silage supplements its actual feeding properties and thus of forage and other feeds many feeders think that the silage has a value almost equal to good hay, ten to ton.

The rate and frequency of liming depend primarily upon the acidity of the soil, the kind of soil and the crops grown.

Flies may strike at the most inopportune times and places, and many are caused by such insignificant things as discarded oily rags.

Fattening Crate

It may be advisable to confine poultry in small pens for market feeding. This fattening crate is easily made by the poultry raiser and also will make an ideal broody coop.

Feeding and watering troughs should be placed so that the birds may secure food and water between the slats. Place a wire bottom so that drippings can fall through to a removable dropping board for cleaning.

Cannibalism Term

Frequent in Winter

Cannibalism may be started in the laying house during the winter months due to confinement of birds formerly adjusted to ranges, to lack of proper air, improper housing, poor laying, injured birds left in house, blow-outs and insufficient and improperly constructed nests as well as idleness, crowding and inadequate eating and drinking space. You're Planning Now for '48...

YOU'RE figuring how to cut costs, increase yield, conserve time, labor and the land--probably by budgeting new farm equipment. It's the logical step, since greater use of machinery offsets higher labor and farming costs.

With your county agricultural agent, He has the latest information, based on down-to-earth research, on all types of electrical farm equipment. He can arrange for you to see the equipment at work...to talk with the farmer who owns it.

In short, he can give you accurate, unbiased recommendations on your long-range electrification program. He has no equipment to sell; there's no charge for his services. He's there to help you make more money from every acre you farm.

How many of these "WIRED HANDS" are working for you?

(The Edison man can advise you on each--as applied to your own farm.)

The DETROIT EDISON Co.

I don't think we need to live in a world of the past because the world isn't going to pot at all unless we want it to.

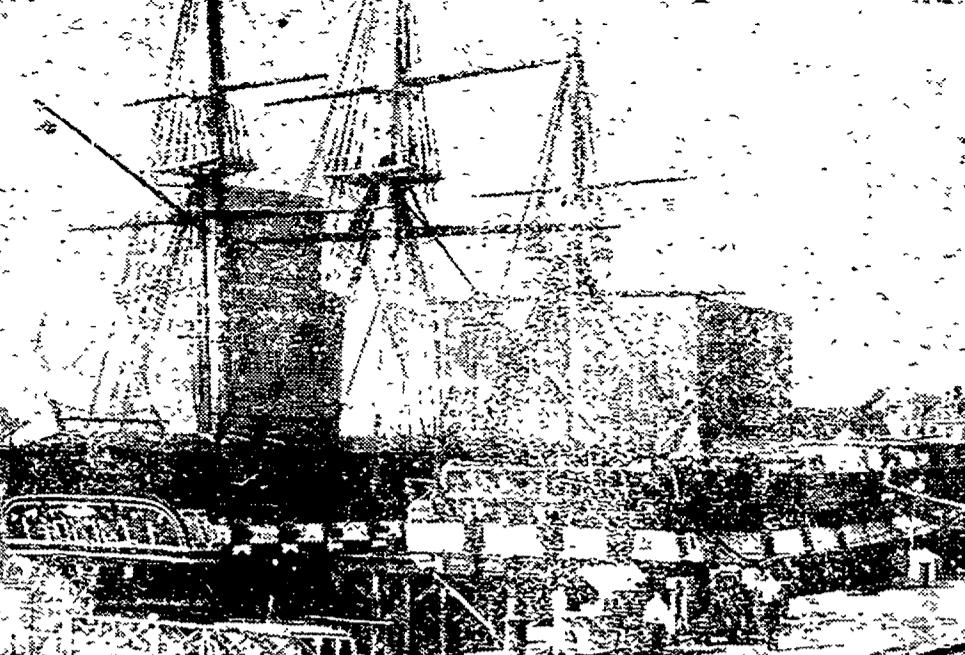

C. F. Kettering, retired vice-president of General Motors Corporation in charge of research and now its research consultant, speaking

The occasion was the 14th annual meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors' association in Detroit. News executives of daily newspapers throughout the United States were in attendance.

"Boss" Kettering's remarks, "The Day after Tomorrow," were an affirmative, positive reminder that Detroit's "know how" of making things through mass-production was achieved only by competitive free enterprise and that we'd live in "the golden age of opportunity unlimited."

"Since I have retired," he said, "I have organized several new companies. One is the Utopian Transportation Company, Limited, and that is a non-profit organization. I am trying to raise a fund and you can help in your little community, to give free transportation to these people who think this is a lousy country."

The only thing about the Utopian Transportation Company that I wanted is that the trans-

CAMPAINING FOR RESTORATION . . . The once-proud U. S. Constellation (foreground) which rode the high seas in defense of her country now lies a forgotten hulk at Charlestown, Mass. Almost forgotten, that is, in a fight to restore the ship to its original condition has been begun by the Navy Club of the U. S. A., Rockford, Ill., the organization which made possible the refitting years ago of the U. S. Constitution (rear). The Constellation is the oldest navy ship afloat, and there is a chance now that she once again may raise her masts to the sky as she did long ago.

portation is limited to one direction

The other company I have is a stock-selling company known as United States Preferred. I am trying to sell that and I am getting along pretty well. Of course, a poor man like myself doesn't understand a lot of things that are going on, and especially other people don't either.

One of the things I don't understand about this country is called upon to make up the deficit for all the cockeyed European indulgence, and stop our own work around here and do it. I don't understand that, but at all.

We don't get the work we just don't want to do, and a little I have to go to Harvey Clegg, the manager, and he said, "You're all right." He said, "If a fellow is in the gutter, you can't take him up without him coming back." So, I told Mr. Clegg, "I'm not going to do the job, but I'll do the best I can." I didn't understand what the hell was the matter with the United States Preferred, but I still do.

When it comes to laying a hand on the tax-hopper, that little I don't understand. I think the continental over the guys that were trying to take us. I expect continental over that all $500 after I tell about United States Preferred, but I still Kettering's remarks philosophical and often humorous, were mainly because they served to remind us that America's greatness has been built on the development and use of superior machines. According to one survey, the average machine investment per worker in America is $6,000. Who is going to put up this $6,000? Any citizen who is willing to save money and to risk it as an investment for profit.

Back in 1870 the average American worker worked 60 hours a week. He earned $6.50.

Compared with 1947 real dollars, that would be worth $16.50. In 1948 he got $12 a week for 40 hours' work. Today, he gets $60 a week and works 40 hours—all because of the American system of free enterprise, risking money for profit.

There is no place in the world where this is true. So, don't sell the United States short for socialism or other European ideologies.
