

Town Clock Rests While Waiting for New Parts

The Town Clock in the Methodist Church tower rests peacefully with hands folded at ten minutes to eleven o'clock, waiting for repairs. A recent survey of the fifty-three year old landmark shows ravages of age upon cables, pinions and cogs. Just now the Village Fathers seek bids for its repair estimated to cost slightly over three hundred dollars.

During intermittent periods of enforced rest and recuperation comments both kind and unkind have been aimed at our Village timepiece. During the nationwide contagion of strikes one citizen remarked, "Northville's Town Clock is the only thing in the nation not striking." "Tear it down," "Costs too much," "Can't be depended upon," "Why should the Village pay for it when it's in the Methodist Church tower?" All have been common remarks of those who fail to see virtue in the Village Clock. Others feeling the pulse of time, and the background of the old Seth Thomas clock in Village lore enunciate a devotion that has increased with the years:

"While the clock rests below the snow white steeple and reflects its frosted light against the mellow moonlight of mild November evening, can you imagine proud Villagers awaiting the first strike of the new Northville Town Clock on the afternoon of New Years Day of 1947? Three hundred Northvillites crowded the Methodist Church and 400 more stood out in the cold as the clock was formally given to the Village and dedicated to its task of keeping time for the community."

The Village President J. A. Dubuar declared Jan. 1, 1894: "A Gala Day." Mr. and Mrs. John Gardner, who gave the clock to the Village, were brought to the church in a closed carriage donated by Messrs. Perrin and Taft.

They were seated in chairs in front of the pews where Mr. Gardner, who could not see, might hear the program. In the pulpit of the church were seated the Village officials and speakers.

On the pulpit was placed an old fashioned Seth Thomas clock, the first one owned by the donor and purchased by him some fifty years previously. The same company that manufactured the new tower clock, the voluntary was played by Mrs. Belle Randolph Long, Rev. Arnold invoked divine blessing and Mrs. Annie Poole Taft sang "Nearer My God to Thee." President Dubuar introduced F. H. Belding, who formally presented the clock at the request of Mr. Gardner. Hon. J. M. Swift made the speech of acceptance in behalf of the Village and paid a glowing tribute to the philanthropy of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner. Neddean Taft, Long, Barnhart and Miss Rutledge presented a quartette number. Frank Clark, Rev. J. M. Belding, Prof. Bliss, Rev. Parish, J. A. Dubuar and C. A. Hutton all presented five minute talks. "Our Village," "Our Hills," "Our Citizens," "Our Schools," "Our Churches," "Our Manufacturing Industries," "Our Business," were topics assigned to each speaker, respectively.

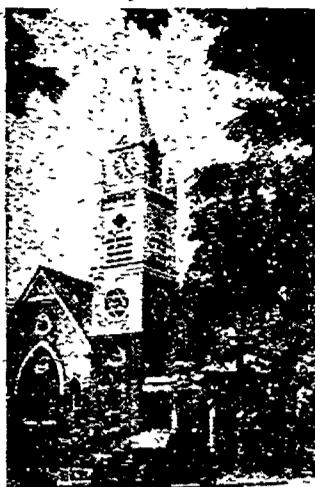

At this time because Mr. Gardner was getting rather tired it was thought best to start the clock. Pres. Dubuar escorted Mr. Gardner to the vestibule where W. J. Buckley, who had erected the clock placed the ropes in Mr. Gardner's hand. With a pull, "the magnificent gift was set in motion" at exactly five o'clock in the afternoon, January 1st, 1894. The program of dedication continued until well after five thirty o'clock.

Summarizing the program of the day the Northville Record dated January 5, 1894, loaned us by Harry B. Clark, reads as follows: "The exercises lasted two hours and though it was longer than intended the interest manifested showed no abatement till the last, it was a perfect success, all uniting with one accord to do honor to John Gardner, and of the honor shown and the good words said he may well be proud. It will be a golden spot in his memory to comfort his declining years."

John Gardner came to Michigan in 1837 and located a farm on West Base Line in Novi township three miles west of Northville. This farm is now the Mayhew Farm, and was formerly owned and worked for many years by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark. Mr. Gardner was born in Rensselaer County, New York, May 9, 1814. As a boy he was "brought out" to Jason Clapp of Pittsfield, County of Berkshire, Mass., at forty dollars a year to learn the Wheelwright or Carriagemaker's Trade.

Mr. Gardner was a man of strict integrity, who by thrift and frugality acquired a "handsome property." He was a farmer in the strict sense of the word, and farmed for over fifty years until failing eyesight made it impossible. He then moved to Northville. His obituary states: "Though always highly esteemed,

Mr. Gardner came into more than ordinary prominence in Northville by his recent presentation to the Village of the valuable

'Messiah' Will be Presented Again

Northville music lovers will again have the opportunity of taking part in or attending the annual local presentation of the "Messiah." This beloved Christmas oratorio will be sung in the Presbyterian Church on the evening of December 21st, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Chas. Taylor of Ann Arbor, a graduate of the University of Michigan Music School, will be the tenor soloist. Mr. Taylor appeared here two years ago. The names of the remaining soloists, all connected with the U. of M. School of Music, will be announced at a later date. Mrs. Barton Conners will again act as pianist and Mrs. G. V. Harrison will play the organ accompaniments as in other years.

Two rehearsals have been held and the next will be held Sunday at 4:00 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church House. Leslie G. Lee, director, extends a welcome to all who have previously sung with the chorus as well as to any newcomers who would like to take part in this presentation.

Chess Club Given Charter

Edward Tread, executive secretary of the United States Chess Federation presented the Northville Library Chess Club an official charter at the meeting held in the Library last Wednesday evening. N. M. Lazar, president of the local club, accepted the charter.

Approximately twenty-five members and guests were present to enjoy Mr. Tread's interesting comments and to view his pictures and paintings, books and other articles of interest. Chess sets from Mr. Tread's private collection, fashioned from plastic wood and bone, also a matched set of end games, ivory and ebony were also on exhibition.

In addition to the many interesting art and photographic studies of chess masters, Mr. Tread exhibited volumes on the play of chess many of which were more than one hundred years old.

A colorful highlight of the evening was the end-games checkmate problem presented by Mr. Tread. Paul A. Bayless received a volume on the game of chess for his solution.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of the club with Mrs. E. C. Welch presiding at the coffee service.

Winter plans of the club include tournament play with other clubs, active participation in the league of chess clubs in and around Detroit, and continuation of the local Wednesday evening meetings.

Drama Group Picks New Play

The Dramatic Group of the Recreation project held a highly interesting meeting at the Presbyterian Church House last Wednesday night. Several plays were reviewed and reported upon and the group chose "Home Sweet Home" as their first effort.

Dramatized by Ann Reynolds from the novel by Craig Rice, this play has entertained countless huge audiences. As a motion picture it was an immense success a year ago. A combination of hilarious situations with the suspense and thrills of the best "who-dun-it" makes it sure fire entertainment of the highest order.

The play will be produced shortly after the holiday season and Wednesday, December 10th at the Presbyterian Church House at 8:00 p.m. has been chosen as casting night. Copies of the play are now being distributed to those interested and may be obtained by contacting R. H. Knight at Neil's Northville Hardware. The cast call for eight men and six women as principals with four or five extras. Folks with a desire to see themselves behind the lights as principals or stage workers are urged to obtain a copy of the play and be present at the casting meeting.

Rev. Wm. Hughes, minister of the Northville Methodist Church, returned last Saturday from a hunting-trip north of Sudbury, Ont., Canada. In his garage the trophies of the hunt include an 800 pound moose, a 130 pound buck and a jack rabbit.

Rev. Hughes is planning a moose potluck church dinner for the congregation on the evening of December 12th.

Thanks for THE AMERICAN WAY

Thanks to "the American Way," the people of this Country enjoy — greater freedom — greater happiness — greater opportunity.

Never before have the benefits from our American way of life loomed so big to the people of the rest of the world, nor have our people had a better opportunity to evaluate their great worth.

Thanksgiving Day this year should mean more to every American. Not only should we join in remembering those early pioneers who gave thanks to God for their deliverance from want and oppression but we should also take into account our high standard of living as compared with the people of the rest of the world.

Few men, if any, would exchange their position here, no matter what their job may be, for the grief and limited opportunity that is held out to them in almost any other country in the world.

Here in America we can still create, build, develop and promote our individual ideas for the betterment and advancement of ourselves and all our people.

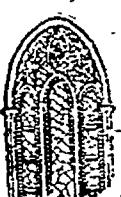

Let's keep it that way. Let's keep the American Way safe, by guarding more closely than ever the framework of freedom — Freedom of speech — Freedom of religion — Freedom of press and Equal rights for all, so that there will always be...A Thanksgiving Day in America.

LIBRARY NEWS

In observance of the 16th National Book Week Nov. 16 to 22, the Northville High School Library Club had on display some 20 new books. The books both fiction and nonfiction, were neatly displayed on a table in the inner room. Among them are such well-known stories as "Going On Sixteen" by Betty Cavanna, "Cow Country" by Will James, "Lutes Quest" by Caroline Dale Snodgrass; also several short story anthologies.

The library itself has been thoroughly cleaned and now displays a new modern type love seat and two matching chairs.

These new pieces of furniture, covered in cream colored leather, are the center of interest among the students. Downstairs a display of miniature books in the exhibit cases prepared by Francis Bonar and Elaine Powell, attracts much attention.

Each morning the girls are taking turns in giving reviews of the new books over the school public address system. So far the books "Going on Sixteen" by Betty Cavanna, and "Dark Horse" by Will James have been reviewed by Shirley Bennett and Jean Stevens.

Late E. D. Hines

Mentioned in Detroit News

The following story which appeared in a recent issue of This Week Magazine, Detroit News, will be of interest to readers of the Northville Record for its reference to the late Edward N. Hines, Wayne County highway engineer. Mr. Hines was a son-in-law of J. H. Steers, a Northville hardware man, whose store was located on Main street in the place now occupied by the Johnson Gift Shop. Mr. Hines was a frequent visitor in this village for many years and will be remembered by a number of Northville's older residents.

"Some weeks ago we printed a cartoon (showing application of white traffic markings on highway) that brought in a spirited letter from a Miss Helen Ann Kelleher. Miss Kelleher said that for 13 years she has been trying to find out who invented the white line that is painted on highways. She has written to all kinds of authorities but has never received a satisfactory answer."

Miss K's letter moved us to do some research in the matter and it's an important matter, too. The white line has probably saved more lives than any other traffic sign in use today. We learn that credit is generally given to the late Edward N. Hines, highway engineer of Wayne County, Mich. Mr. Hines painted the first white line in 1911. However, the white line was not a brand-new idea. A road out of Mexico City, built at least 350 years ago, has a distinct white stone line, presumably designed to cut down stragglers between burro drivers and the U. S. Public Road Administration tell us that the white line was first painted on the roads of Mexico City in 1911.

"One of the most unfortunate such a story," says Chief Sackett, "is that vicious stories of defamation, etc., have circled in Plymouth growing out of the recent house-breaking efforts and attacks upon women." This resulted in the names of three Chief of Police Lee Sackett is saying a general warning to residents of the city.

The names of not one but several business men have been linked with these alleged assaults. The stories go so far as to say that one or two of these well known business men have been locked up by the police.

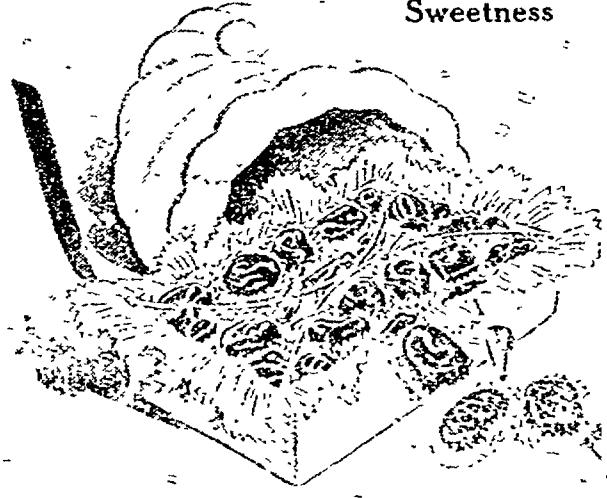

Chief of Police Sackett declares that there is not one word of truth in any of these stories. It is a crime to insinuate directly or indirectly that any person charged with any offense is involved in such an affair, and unless these stories are immediately ended some of the people circulating them may find themselves involved in both

News and Comments from Congressman Geo. A. Dondero

President's Message - Aid for Europe; President Harry S. Truman, before a joint session of Congress, delivered his message transmitting recommendations for interim aid for certain Western European countries and a program to curb inflation in the United States. The President set forth a ten-point program which can be covered by the word "controls". He himself aptly phrased it as a request for "police state methods" at a news conference on Oct. 16.

Mr. Earl O. Soave sets forth in concise language his appraisal thereof as:

"In this proposal to help Europe the President has tied prices, inflation and aid to Europe up into one package — namely "controls". His proposal to help Europe is the very program that has raised Europe: they have raised Europe; they have initiated initiative, controlled enterprise, debased the currency, and curtailed production. In short he proposes the same program now for America."

Price controls make for greater production and greater production should bring prices down and forestall inflation.

I am opposed to destroying our own economy, losing our own freedom, and burdening our own people with a huge debt which will necessarily have to be paid by our children, their children, and their children's children.

More than twenty billion dollars worth of American food, machinery, and other goods have been furnished to Europe since the close of the war; and most of the countries receiving these goods are in worse condition economically, politically and financially than at the close of the war.

American Aid to the Hungry Americans have always responded to the needs of those in distress, and I am sure that they will do again. I have feeding the hungry and extending aid to the countries where they know men and in desire to work, to provide freedom and a reasonable economic stability. It will call for personal sacrifice on the part of every American. It means hunger for us, greater production. As soon as we are turned up in that field, if we are sincerely interested in helping the people of Europe, there must be a voluntary sacrifice on our part.

One who has recently returned from Europe after an investigation of conditions bluntly states that Western Europe is in a ruined track more by fear than by the threat of hunger.

People are looking afar

around trying to find out how soon they will fall under the domination of the Communists or of the Red Army. For the same reason, people do not care to work, nor in order to make money. There is no incentive for greater earnings because nobody believes in the safety of savings in current

As long as Western Europe cannot be given physical safety, whatever money is being poured into it will be spent for current consumption only and not for investment. This is exactly what happened with the loan we granted

For these blessings we give thanks this Thanksgiving; for the privilege of attending the church of our faith to offer thanks; for our comfortable homes; for the food on our tables; for the clothes we wear; for the rights that belong to us . . . given to us by the great men who founded our country; for the gift of being able to encourage work and pray that our future may be filled with the treasures for which we fought a war.

Shall we feed our Wheat to Cattle... or to Children?

Millions of bushels of wheat and other grains—in fact 3/4 of our grain supply—are normally used for animal feeding. It takes about 4 pounds of this grain on the average to produce 1 pound of meat.

Western Europe is desperately hungry—her children stunted, underfed, her men lacking strength to work effectively. We must send them the wheat they need—for our sake as well as theirs.

Ravaged by 6 years of bloody war, plagued by freeze and drought that cut crops to the lowest point in recent history, our friends in Europe are tragically in need of food.

Wheat is the one answer—enough wheat merely to hold their diets at least at subsistence levels.

This is the job that faces us today—a job we can do and must do. We must cut our direct use of wheat products—just one slice of bread saved every day by every person saves about 70 million bushels of wheat a year.

We must cut down our use of meat—and start now buying the cheaper grades—to save the extra wheat that's fed to animals.

For our own sake as well as theirs, we must do this: Let us help our friends to help themselves. Let us help them get the strength to join with us in building a decent, peaceful world to live in.

GOOD OMENS

Employment at all-time high. More than 60,000,000 Americans working for "pay or profit." Fully 1,000,000 wives have gone back to jobs since Jan. 1—many to help husbands "make ends meet." Skilled workers still scarce.

2. Increase payments to individuals above that double proper in first half although purchasing power of dollar badly shrunk.

3. First half retail sales (in dollars) 2½ times as large as in 1939. Unit sales drag.

4. New signs of decline in England for "durables" (hard goods) such as motor vehicles, refrigerators, railroad equipment and machinery, although machinery orders have been shipping.

5. Record breaking agricultural income has made farmers rich. Total estimated assets of $100,000,000 four times prewar.

6. Exports zoomed to annual rate of $18,000,000,000 six times 1939—but overseas dollar supply is drying up fast and June exports fell off 15 percent. Import controls already imposed by Mexico, Argentina, Brazil and India. Most countries awaiting U. S. loans. Exports crumbled in 1931 for lack of foreign cash.

7. Retail stores have started cautious rebuilding of stocks but policy of purchasing agents is mainly hand-to-mouth or 60 days.

8. Production per factory employee rising gradually in most industries.

9. Volume of necessitous repair work—residential and non-residential—has expanded substantially, calling for use of more materials.

BAD OMENS

1. Broadening of inflation spiral, checked temporarily, restarted by steel and settlement and with certainty of higher costs, higher prices for most consumers' goods.

2. Administration's program to "stop Russia" in Western Europe. As in Africa, towardens U. S. with imperialism if carried through.

3. Congress extended government controls over exports and imports. This included petroleum. Exports to Russia will continue.

4. Savings by individuals fall in first quarter to lowest level since 1940. Cash and deposits dropped $1,800,000,000 but cold cuts of U. S. bonds rose $1,900,000,000. This was caution signal.

5. Manufacturers' inventories of finished goods of numerous types increased somewhat alarmingly in the first half.

6. Residential business and industrial construction has fallen far below expectations because of fantastic costs.

7. Some commodities shipping as pipelines fill. Despite sheet dearth all steel companies have surpluses of some products. Hardest hit are rubber and copper. In Akron there is considerable unemployment.

8. Production of non-durables, particularly textiles, dropped slowly but steadily throughout first half.

9. High prices, fear of future, have led many families to defer buying.

It will not suffice to blame the "Administration" at Washington for the fact that we, as a nation, are pledged to defend all freedom loving people against the threat of an aggressor.

Let's look at the record.

MICHIGAN-BORN THOMAS E. DEWEY, 1944 presidential nominee, is accepted today as the titular head of the national Republican party. On Nov. 5, Mr. Dewey took credit for inaugurating during the summer of 1944 the nation's present bi-partisan foreign policy. We would prefer to defend freedom through the United Nations, but we are ready to do it by ourselves if necessary. That is why a Republican congress voted aid to Greece and Turkey.

"It has been well said that we are in a cold war," said Dewey. "We are in it for the simple reason we are being attacked by all means short of war. The attack is by the most violent form of propaganda, falsehood, political penetration and economic sabotage."

The whole system of political and economic freedom for which our country stands is under attack by those who would establish a world-wide rule of a police state.

DEWEY SEES A "GHASTLY PICTURE" as an alternative of sending further aid to Western Europe. If Western Europe and Asia were to be over-run by Communists, "we should find more than a billion people in an armed camp under the control of an aggressive dictatorship.

In terms of dollars, such a condition would cost us in national defense alone, a great deal more than any program of aid to Europe, and it would cost us that annually for years to come. In terms of living standards we should sink to a level not seen by any living person in this country."

Dewey concludes: "We have only one choice and that is wisely to let those who stand with us in the world in the hope that they will also again as bulwarks of the institution of human freedom."

SENATOR VANDENBERG,

chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, stated at Ann Arbor on Nov. 3 that he fully agreed with General George C. Marshall, secretary of state, who described the supreme underlying issue" as follows: "Whether or not men are to be left free to organize their existence in accordance with their own desires or whether they are to have their lives arranged and dictated for them by small groups of men who have arrogated to themselves this arbitrary power."

MARY ALEXANDER,

POLICY, thus championed on a bi-partisan basis, offers risks that are virtually frightening. Should we take these risks? Can we avoid the danger of war regardless of what path we choose? Every citizen should weigh the evidence carefully and prayerfully. There is no escape. The hour of decision is again near.
