"FOR GOD AND COUNTRY"

A New Series of Mats and Comments on the Preamble to the Constitution of THE AMERICAN LEGION

By Thomas E. Brockhouse

IN THE development of our Nation from its earliest beginnings to the present time, several gems of patriotic American literature have been produced. They seemingly have been a spontaneous outgrowth caused by intense human thinking in connection with great events in our national life.

"The Declaration of Independence, the Preamble to our National Constitution, the Constitution itself, the Bill of Rights, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, and others, may be cited as outstanding examples of inspired Americana.

Alongside these other gems of American literature, the Preamble to our American Legion Constitution takes its proper and fitting place as a product of men inspired. To the million members of our Legion wheresoever dispersed over the globe this Preamble stands out as the best short creed of Americanism ever written.

This series of interpretations of our Preamble is designed to make it meaningful as a guide for individual and group action. For God and Country we associate ourselves together for the purposes set forth in the ten principles of the Legion Preamble.

Truly that is a fitting introduction for that which is to follow. First things have been put first and the way properly prepared for great statements of principle.

This series is prepared for newspaper publication. The National Public Relations Division, The American Legion, 777 N. Meridian St., Indianapolis 6, Ind., will supply them on request to those who are interested in their publication.

Farmers have long known that you can't have prosperity on the farm without having prosperity in the city.

We are inter-dependent upon each other in an economic way. We're all in the same boat together.

One of the greatest economic mistakes we have made is the fallacious belief, as evidenced from time to time, that we can isolate one group against the other, that what happens to one group does not affect the others. This kind of economic isolationism has prompted some people, with best sincere intentions, to declare that we should ignore Europe and the rest of the world. "Mind our own business, and let other nations mind theirs."

Whether we have a Marshall plan and whether we spend billions or no billions for aid of Western Europe is not the theme of this column. We're going to leave that to you and to Congress.

Part of today's inflation is due to the inflationary effects of the Marshall plan whereby we agree to buy American-made goods and stop them from being sold.

Sumner H. Slichter, Harvard university's economic expert, doesn't foresee a serious let-down in business during 1948. Recently he said:

"We are going to make our problem somewhat more difficult by a third round of wage increases. The people who will profit most are those who profit from the first two rounds, namely, the farmers. One reason why people are willing to pay such surprising prices for meat is that we have three million more people working than any one expected would be the case at this stage of the postwar era. But they are not producing meat. They are not working in that part of the economy.

"The consumer goods industries will profit from a third round of wage increases temporarily. Their payroll will go up. Sales go up by the amount of the payroll increases in the consumer goods industries, plus the amount of payroll increases in the capital goods industries, minus the amount saved or taken in tax. Not a very big profit seems likely to result. Consequently, the consumer goods industries will profit to an extent, by a third round of wage increases. Capital goods industries probably will about break even. The workers will come out a little behind as they did after the first two rounds. Stockholders probably will come out behind because there will be new demands to be met and corporations are not likely to disburse all profit gains in the form of heavy dividends.

"Fortunately, we are in a strong position in several respects and may remain strong. Inventories are low. I believe they will continue to remain low. Keeping them that way is one of the most important contributions that businessmen can make toward achieving a smooth transition from the present state of affairs to a more normal one. "The needs of consumers and of business are very large. I think they will remain so even when the difficult adjustments in agricultural prices and in the export surplus take place. The question is whether those two adjustments will occur early enough. The earlier they come the better."

Who will benefit most by higher wages in the cities?

According to Professor Slichter, the farmers will!

As we said before, we're all in the same boat. We must be our brother's keeper.

George Lockhart spent the weekend attending the American Society of Piano Technicians' convention at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Monday he spent in Chicago, Ill. on business.

To Control Foreign Agencies Within the United States: Congressman Geo. A. Dondero's bill (H.R. 2948) to require foreign agents or persons, groups, societies, etc., whose object is the control or overthrow of the Government of the United States, to register with the Secretary of State, setting forth in detail information concerning their activities subscribed to under oath, was re-referred by the House of Representatives from the Judiciary Committee to the Committee on Un-American Activities. It will be considered by that committee in conjunction with Congressman Mundt's bill of a similar nature, on which hearings are now being held.

Bill To Call for and Exchange U. S. Currency was introduced by Congressman Sundstrom (R-N.J.) with a view to strengthening our National Defense and making European Aid more effective. The bill provides for calling in all United States currency and giving new currency in exchange of equal value. Congressman Sundstrom stated:

"As of September, 1947, $23,567,000,000 in U. S. currency was in circulation. No one knows how much of this amount is hoarded abroad by persons and private foreign business interests. Competent authorities believe it will run into billions of dollars. Europeans and Asiatics always have hoarded American dollars both while in their native land and after arrival here, should they enter the United States. There is not a European or Asiatic government today which commands the unreserved confidence of its nationals. My plan would rob no hoarder, but it would require that, within a certain time limit, these hoardings be turned into the central government which would turn them over to our government and receive new currency dollar for dollar in exchange therefor."

It is believed this exchange would promote recovery programs abroad because then governments would exchange these monies in local currencies of official value, thus placing foreign government in possession of additional needed dollars each day received. National defense would be strengthened, black market of our gold, it would be the business of international finance in the circulation of international revenue tax and it would stabilize U. S. currency at home and abroad. It would provide an inventory of currencies, actually outstanding, used in shipping, manufacturing, and improve gold cover for our currency through selling gold cover to the amount of our currencies actually in existence and outstanding.

Marshall Plan - Continued. The provisions of the Marshall Plan to so vary and the people who will have to foot the bill, are so confused as to its provisions that from time to time an effort will be made to list some of the items it contains. Many, many items in short supply in the United States are destined for shipment abroad such as 28,000 box cars, 22 million tons of grain, and 200 million dollars worth of lumber. We are also to furnish 200 million dollars of coal mining equipment, vast amounts of electric power equipment which could be used to install electrical lines for our own farmers, 150,000 motor trucks, 250 million tons of tobacco, 691 million tons of cotton, and 562 tons of daily products. Another short item in America; steel, is to be given to Europe in the amount of 1,800,000 metric tons. The lack of which has compelled many of our manufacturers to temporarily cease production of some items. One place where we could use this metal to great advantage would

FROM YOUR VALENTINE

A Prisoner's Note Started It

Seven valentines in history bore the name of Valentine, but the one who was destined to be trimmed in lace and decorated with hearts and flowers every February 14 was a young Roman priest who was beheaded on that day in the year 270 A. D. for refusing to renounce Christianity.

During his imprisonment the blind daughter of his jailer became his friend, and his farewell message to her was signed "From your Valentine."

That was the formal beginning, although 2,000 years ago the Romans had instituted the Feast of Lupercalia on February 14—the day on which birds began to mate—and dedicated it to Luperus, the pastoral god, and Juno, goddess of love. For 1,000 years after the death of St. Valentine, his feast-day was celebrated throughout Europe, generally in connection with local festivals heralding the coming of spring.

But around 1400 A. D. the custom of sending valentines began in England. The British museum has preserved a famous one from the Duke of Orleans to his wife, written in 1415 from the Tower of London where the duke was imprisoned after the historic battle of Agincourt.

As the tradition grew through succeeding ages, St. Valentine's eve began to assume some of the gentler characteristics of our Halloween. Valentines were delivered in combination with some harmless prank. Unsigned valentines and gifts were left on a young lady's doorstep after her aspiring suitor had knocked on the door and dashed away.

One old English valentine custom was to toss an orange or an apple, with valentine attached, through a loved one's window. It was the young blade's quaint way of saying, "You are the apple of my eye"; but that particular bit of sentiment has deteriorated to the point where, in the United States, we throw fruit only at ham actors and umpires.

So the custom progressed. A rustic penman who drew their own valentines gradually gave way to the commercial valentine card. Then lace was added, and cupids and hearts and arrows.

The ornate valentine you send or receive this February 14 has come a long way from that first tattered note, passed through dungeons bars, which read, "From your Valentine."

be in sinking additional oil wells to provide much needed fuel. One and a half billion dollars worth of petroleum and equipment will be sent overseas. Steel making equipment is also needed at home but slated to go to Europe.

Do the people approve of the shipment to Europe of these goods?

Buick takes the bows—with ten sparkling models, a new Vibra-Shielded ride, sensational Dynaflo Drive, 30-odd new advances

The curtain's up—the show is on—and square in the spotlight of public favor is this fashion-plate Buick.

This bonnie, brawny beauty is taking bows for the eye-appeal of its ten stunningly smart models...

Catching bouquets on the utter brilliance of Hi-Poised Fireball power...

Getting applause for Safety-Ride rims, pillow-soft tires, all-coil springing—for bodies newly sheltered against disturbing noise—for no less than 30 new features. And it's winning curtain calls on two major advances no other car offers.

One is the fabulous new Dynaflo Drive* where there is no gear-shifting, even automatic. You just step on the gas—and motoring close to magic is yours.

Other star feature is the Vibra-Shielded ride. Here for the first time you're shielded against vibration build-up that brings on fatigue. Here no tiny tremors can harmonize into big ones. Here is living-room comfort and quiet.

Your Buick dealer is showing this fashion plate that's touched with magic. See it. Check it for spaciousness, for solid-finishing steadiness, for superlative feel, fittings and fabrics.

Then—to get one into your garage at the earliest possible date—get your order in now.

NO GEARS EVER SHIFT IN DYNAFLOW DRIVE. In Buick's new Dynaflo Drive, sliding gear transmissions and complex gear-changers are made unnecessary. You simply set a selector lever and step on the gas. The power lever does the rest, adjusting itself to varying driving conditions with utter smoothness. You start up—accept—start up again—all without touching the selector lever. *Optional on extra cost—Plymouth models.

To the Voters of Northville:

Two years ago I was elected President of the Village of Northville and as such have presided over the Village Council.

Many of the citizens of our Village are unaware of what has been done or accomplished over these past two years, and I would like to give you a brief resume of the more important measures effected in that two year period:

- Equalization of tax assessments.
- Zoning ordinance.
- Building inspection became imperative.
- State Plumbing Code adopted to be effective July 1, 1948.

whereby State standards must be followed by plumbers licensed in the Village.

New amplified election ballot adopted.

New fire truck and equipment purchased, making Northville one of the best equipped municipalities in the State.

New police automobile.

New and more efficient equipment for the department of Public Works which includes a general purpose small tractor for scraping, truck loading and other uses, and, also including a street sweeper.

A new storm sewer system in Beal Town. Plans and specifications and program for curb and gutter, installations where vitally needed, to be followed by hard surfacing of streets.

Cooperation secured from Wayne County for the re-surfacing of Main street in 1948.

The building fund program has been carried on efficiently and has reached the point where it may be possible to start construction of the new community building within a year or so, said building to be constructed without any additional cost to taxpayers.

A new well is now being drilled to provide more water for Northville.

Our recreation program, both for minors and adults, has been developed so that it is outstanding in Michigan.

Out village indebtedness has been reduced.

A new sewer has been constructed to give relief to the sanitary sewer facilities in the Orchard Heights and Fairbrook Avenue area.

Village employees' wages have been increased to the point where they are comparable with the normal wage scale.

All of the above has been accomplished without increasing the Village budget in any substantial degree. The taxpayers' money has been handled conservatively and as wisely as possible.

I do not mean to imply that I am the sole one that has been responsible for the above enumerated progress, because it is necessary that the President of the Village and the Council work as a team and accomplish the things together. It is possible to accomplish much of the team pulls together.

There remains a great deal to be done. The past two years have not been perfect but without problems I find that experience is a great teacher. In my opinion, inflation and rising costs I believe it possible to conduct the Village business in the coming year without increasing the burden of the people with mere taxes. That is what we are all most vitally interested in. Securing more efficiency, receiving greater benefits without additional cost.

I wish to reiterate that a great deal is yet to be done to make Northville a more perfect place in which to live. I would like to us, the experience I have already gained to continue my work. I am in Northville seven days a week and at all times available for Village business.

I am now announcing that I am a candidate for re-election as Village President. I think I can do an even better job than I have in the past.

NEW BOOKS

Our library has received several new books lately and Miss Rhea Lyon lists some of them here, together with a thumbnail sketch of each.

"Bar Nothing Ranch," by Rosemary Taylor. (Author of "Chicken Every Sunday") "Noelke" Webb, wife of the owner, makes a graceful transition from musical comedy to life in the wide open spaces — where there are dudes in all sizes, shapes, and temperament.

"House That Jacob Built," by John Gould ("Author of Farmer Takes a Wife") John Gould unfolds the story of the house that he built on the same foundation where his grandfather built before him in Lisbon Falls, Maine.

"Unconquered." A Historical novel by Neil Swanson. An exciting story of the Pontiac Conspiracy, set in the Ohio River region, compounding love, greed, courage and tragedy.

"Within the Hollow Crown," by Margaret Campbell Barnes. Historical novel of the early Middle Ages and Richard II.

"Came a Cavalier," by Francis Parkson Keyes. A romantic story of a New England girl with the Red Cross in France during World War I, who marries a Frenchman and sees her adopted land succumb to tragedy and violence during World War II.

"East Side, West Side" by Marcia Davenport. A story of a crumbling marriage in the midst of the corruption of present day New York.

Other books include Robert Mantel's Best Plays of 1947-1948. Toward the Sunset, by Muriel Elwood. Stars in My Crown, by David B. Brown and The Bishop's Mantle, by Agnes Sligh Turnbull.

Use DDT With Care. DDT is not expected to produce any unfavorable effects on the reduction of diseases when used at rates usually recommended.

Strong Construction. Modern streamlined railroad passenger cars in many cases are constructed of stainless steel, the strength of which permits drastic reduction in weight and operating costs.
