Church Given Silver Service

Miss Martha Horton and her brother, Edward Horton of Pontiac, former Northville residents, have presented the Presbyterian Church with a silver water pitcher and goblets. It is part of a large silver set originally given to Rev. and Mrs. James Dubuar by their congregation as they served the Northville Church during the years 1851-1868 and 1872-1875. The set was divided among the various members of the Dubuar family which still is represented in Northville by Mrs. E. H. Lapham, Mrs. C. L. Blackburn and Mrs. C. M. Chase.

This is the second set of old silver received by the church. The original communion tankard and chalice was restored to the church by a gift of Mrs. Charles H. Paul. The set dates back a hundred years when the communion communion cup was used. When the individual glass cups were introduced and the silver set was to be sold, it was purchased by Mrs. Paul who was then Miss Camilla Wheeler.

The Trustees of the Northville Presbyterian Church recently authorized the purchase of a permanent Book of Living Memorials to record all gifts given to the church. The book is to be dedicated in the spring when the church celebrates the 100th anniversary of the erection of the present sanctuary and the 119th anniversary of the founding of the church. The present building is believed to be the oldest public edifice in the community and although enlarged and modernized, the center portion of the building is the original red brick structure.

Millis to Be New Edison Manager

After 45 years of service with The Detroit Edison Company, Edward J. German, District Manager at Wayne, retires as of March 1. An announcement by J. W. Parker says:

He will be succeeded by Edward L. Millis, who comes from the Detroit office of The Detroit Edison Company and before the war was District Manager at Northville and Howell.

Ed German was born in Detroit in 1883, graduated from Western High School and then attended the University of Michigan. While attending the University he worked part-time for the Company in its Detroit Office. In those days the Company had only about 6000 customers.

In 1915 when the Company was expanding into the rural areas, Mr. German came to Wayne as Manager.

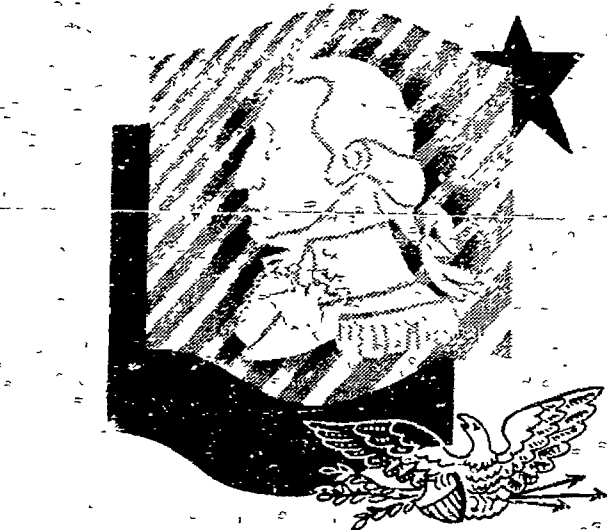

He has remained in charge of the Wayne District for the past 33 years during which time the employees increased from about 10 to 120.

During his 33 years in Wayne, Mr. German was President of the Board of Commerce, an active member in the Co-ordinating Council of Churches and Clubs, President of Wayne Rotary, and for two years President of the PTA of the Roosevelt School in Ypsilanti. He is one of the original organizers of the People Community Hospital which recently has opened and is now operating. Mr. German is a member of the Executive Board of the Wayne District and also a member of the Operating Committee of the Hospital.

The employees of the Detroit Edison Company are planning a retirement party for Mr. German at the Congregational Church on Friday, February 26.

The new District Manager for Wayne, E. L. Millis, came to the Company in 1915 following attendance at Michigan State Normal College. His first job in the Company was in Ypsilanti District. Following service in World War I, Mr. Millis came to Detroit and was employed in the Sales Department until 1926 when he was appointed Manager of the Northville and Livonia Districts. The scores by quarters were as follows: 10-4, 26-19, 38-23, 46-37.

The reserve team was also defeated 43-29 but the game was encouraging as when these teams met earlier in the season, the future N. H. S. team was defeated 40-15.

Purchase New Auto License Plates Now

Time is getting short for use of 1947 automobile license plates in Michigan, the January sale of the new tags did not show the same increase over January of last year that was shown in December when all branches issued about one-third more plates than in the previous December.

by open house starting at 5:30 p.m. at the E. O. F. hall, 131 N. Lafayette street, South Lyon. Circuit Judge Robert M. Toms of Detroit has issued an order to show cause why the City of Ann Arbor should not be forbidden to extend water supply and sewage service to any areas or agencies, until it can show that the serious problems within its own borders have been solved and the extension of service will not burden the taxpayers of the city.

Nearly half of Michigan's 106,000 miles of roads and streets have deteriorated to the point where $1,400,000,000 must be spent during the next 12 to 15 years to bring them up to date. An additional $700,000,000 is needed to pay for replacements and maintenance of those that are presently adequate, the Michigan Good Roads Federation revealed today.

Trout Fisherman Must Buy Stamp

Michigan will collect a stamp from trout fishermen this year, a special one dollar license fee.

Stamps must be affixed by resident and non-resident trout fishermen alike to the general rod licenses which are issued to persons who fish in Michigan's inland waters. Money obtained from sale of the stamps will be used for trout propagation and planting.

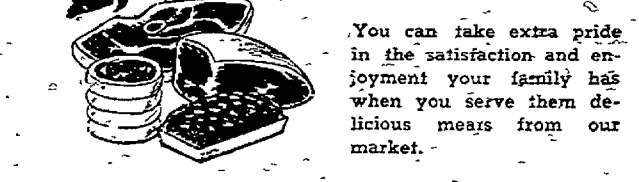

Michigan is believed to be the first state to use the stamp method of license fee collection, although the federal government has been selling 'duck stamps' to wildfowlers for a number of years. Distributors of fishing licenses will sell the 'trout stamps' which are banknote engraved and printed in green ink. Stamp collectors are showing interest in the new issue.

The trout season opens April 24 and September 12. The stamps go on sale March 15.

How well do you know your own home?

How many electric motors are there in your home? And how many electric heating appliances do you have?

When you check the list below, perhaps you'll find that you've underestimated the electrical equipment that keeps your home pleasant and comfortable.

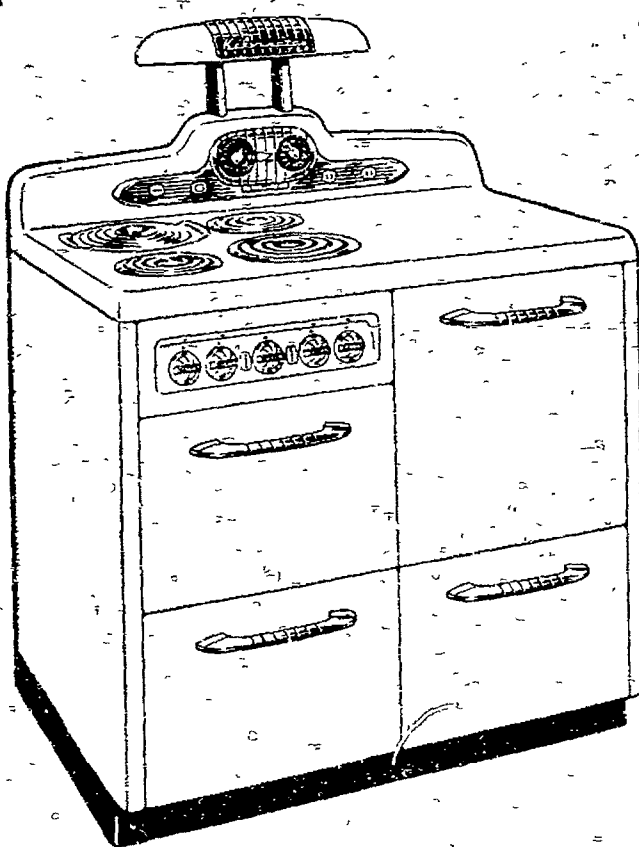

Our records show that customers are using more and more current in their homes—our production of electricity is at record-breaking heights, far greater even than when war plants worked round the clock. But that increased use of current means that—for a few more pennies a week—you get household tasks done in less time—with less effort—and for less money than in any other way.

- Check your electrical equipment against this list... Motors: Sewing machine, refrigerator, washing machine, clock, razor, record player, furnace fan, electric tools, ventilating fan, ironer, vacuum cleaner, kitchen mixer, dishwasher, vibrator, stoker or oil burner, electrical toys, home freezer. Heating Appliances: Toaster, heating pad, electric blanket, range, water heater, roaster, space heater, bottle warmer, hand iron, mangle, coffee maker, waffle iron, bun warmer, curling iron, grill, tea kettle, heat lamp.

(Figures show that the average Edison customer has more than five of these.)

To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America

—From the Preamble to the Constitution of The American Legion

Membership in The American Legion is open to honorably discharged veterans of World Wars I and II. By associating in The American Legion, veterans can give meaning to their desire to support the first principle of the Preamble.

Because of our maturity and experience we realize what can happen in countries where the fundamental law of the land is overthrown by violence or circumvented by expediency. We know our National Constitution was produced by the supreme efforts of men inspired. It has been flexible enough to serve our people for 150 years and seems destined to serve our people as long as time endures. The Constitution is our guarantee of liberty, freedom, and democracy. It is older than the fundamental law of any other modern nation. It has stood the test of time. We are proud as citizens and Legionnaires to reaffirm our allegiance to it every time we open a Legion meeting.

How A & P Gives You Lower Food Prices

During the past week you have noticed lower prices on many important food items in your A & P Stores.

These prices are a direct reflection of the reductions in the market cost of the food to us. Many of our customers are amazed to find these price reductions going into effect so quickly at the retail level. They wonder how we do it. There is no mystery about it.

We are able to reflect these market reductions promptly because of three basic policies:

1. We endeavor to buy our food from primary sources of supply, such as farmers, meat packers and grocery manufacturers, and move it directly to our stores and warehouses. This keeps down the cost of distribution to us and the price to you at all times.
2. When the cost of food to us goes down we do not wait until we have exhausted supplies on hand, but endeavor to reflect reductions in our retail prices promptly.
3. We are food merchants, not food speculators. We do not build up great reserves of food at any time. We are in the market from day to day, buying food to meet our customers' day-to-day needs.

The lower prices you are finding in A & P stores, coming as they do at a time when all of us are concerned with the high cost of living, have prompted many of our customers to ask us what the food price outlook is. Are there going to be further price reductions in these and other foods?

Frankly, it is impossible for anyone to predict future retail food prices without knowing whether the break in the commodity market is temporary or the beginning of a general trend. Grocers do not control the price they must pay for food. They can lower retail prices only to the extent to which they buy wisely, keep their own costs and profits down and pass along savings resulting from lower wholesale prices to their customer.

We base our retail price on the cost to us, plus our low cost of doing business, which includes our small profit of about 1 1/2 cents on each dollar of sales.

Therefore, we can say A & P prices will follow the market trend and that any further reduction in the cost of food to us, or in our costs of doing business, will promptly result in lower prices in our stores.

You can count on A & P to give you lower prices whenever and wherever it is possible. You can trust A & P to give you the most quality food for your money.

Checks Soil Losses
Good soil management pays dividends in making heavy crops per acre, building organic matter in the soil and at the same time checking erosion. The results shown above summarize tests at the University of Illinois Elizabethtown experiment field since 1918.
Manure, lime and phosphate made the difference between the two plots. The soil was already rich in potash.
The heavy crops of alfalfa-clover and small grains protected the soil from beating rains. The soil of the treated plot with its 16 tons of organic matter per acre could soak up more water faster than the soil of the untreated plot with only five tons. Less water was left to run off and carry soil with it.
For erosion control on longer slopes a crop rotation that includes more years in soil protecting crops such as legume grass mixtures is advised. Full fields on a 12 per cent slope such as was in this field would need a rotation of corn, winter grain and two or three years of legume grass mixtures for best results. Contour farming, strip cropping and terracing would help, too, to slow down the water so that more would have a chance to soak into the ground.

Our Village
By Harold Hartley

Cl. Man. Are Human Beings

One, while doing heavy construction work, I found it necessary to paint my house in off hours. I finished the job after two months of part time effort and the third day after its completion I came home to find my wife in company with a playmate, sitting on the side of the house. Instantly angry, I dragged him into the house and pushing him roughly on the sofa asked him what he was doing that for. Only slightly over four years old, he made no reply but merely sobbed and sobbed. When he had quieted down I still insisted on knowing why he did what he did. In a broken voice he explained that he was cementing the side of the house to make it stronger. While he was explaining, I remembered the endless talk he must have heard - coming from me - about cinder blocks, cement, gravel, planks, two-by-fours etc. I realized then that it was his very love for me which made him want to imitate, with the only materials he had at hand, the king of work he had heard me say I was doing. I had punished him for loving me. I told him I was sorry and gave him something he could plaster with, mud, but I decided then that I could study more seriously a book I had bought Infant And Child In The Culture Of Today by Dr. Arnold Gesell, director of the Clinic of Child Development at Yale University. This work, based on some twenty years experience with hundreds of children, and its companion work, The Child From Five To Ten, I found to be invaluable and, I recommend it here to all parents, not as a cure-all but as a help in the difficult task of child-rearing.

The Yale Clinic, gives many proofs of its contention that children "develop by stages of growth; that suddenly, at a new stage, they are able to do what they could not do at a previous stage, and that parents who understand this and who have some idea of the stage their child is passing through will find it far easier to guide him. Conversely, if they do not understand this, their discipline cannot help but blunder, and sometimes cause harm.

The Clinic also believes that of three main methods of child-rearing: (1) Guidance - based upon understanding the child's stages of growth, (2) Laissez-faire - based upon letting the child do, as far as possible, what he pleases, with a minimum of guidance, and (3) Authoritarian - based upon strict discipline and rather harsh punishment, the first method achieves the best results.

At any rate, if you think your child is more harum-scarum than others, more uniquely rambunctious, you will be pleasantly surprised by reading the Yale Clinic reports and finding that two hundred and seventy-five out of three hundred children of the same age as your child are doing exactly what he does. You become less nervous, more tolerant and because of this, more capable of making good decisions with respect to your child, and guiding him properly.

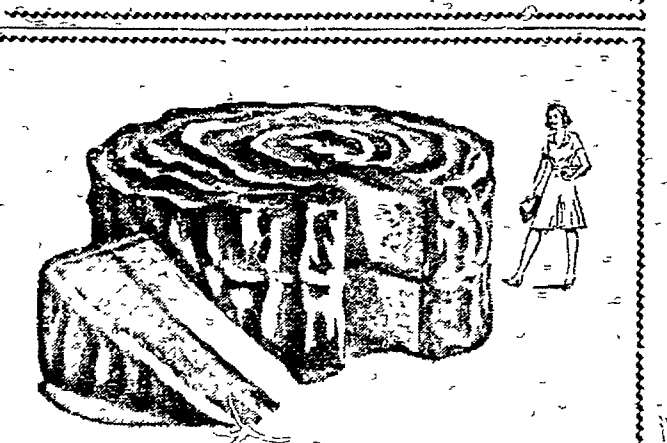

Note: Both works of Dr. Gesell mentioned above can be gotten by inquiring at Public Library.

Rural Tele-news

NUMBER PLEASE - Two dozen different kinds of Michigan Bell operators provide telephone service in Michigan - local, long distance, information and others. Latest is the mobile service operator who handles calls to and from motor vehicles.

BIGGER SPAN . . . LOWER COST: New high-strength steel wire now is being used for many rural lines instead of galvanized iron wire. The new wire, under certain conditions, lets us span our poles up to 350 feet apart. This means fewer poles and less hardware and reduces the cost of rural-line construction.

GOODBYE, OLD CRANK: Last year, some 2,700 Michigan Bell customers said goodbye to familiar crank-type telephones which were replaced with more modern equipment. Still more Michigan Bell customers in rural areas will have their telephones "changed over" this year. It's all a part of our $13,500,000 postwar rural expansion and improvement program.

Floyd Johnson Exchange Speaker

Floyd Johnson, director of Wayne University's Albert H. Schmidt Foundation farm since its founding in 1944, will be a speaker before the Northville Exchange Club on Wednesday, February 25, at 12:00 noon. His topic will be 'Farming as a Hobby.'

The Albert H. Schmidt farm, located 22 miles from Detroit, near Washington, Michigan, is both a school and a home for the student farmers, all of whom have served in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps. The majority have lived in cities or towns and are giving their interest in farming a chance to express itself in actual farm living and farm work.

First-hand experience under expert guidance is provided in rotating crops and keeping soil fertile raising broilers, and in caring for laying flocks, dairy cattle, horses, hogs, or other farm animals. Modern farm equipment used for training includes tractors, motorized combines, hay balers, corn pickers, and milking machines.

The farm, in its present form, became part of Wayne University in 1944, when the Detroit Board of Education accepted the offer of Albert H. Schmidt retired Detroit business man to finance the $70,000 purchase price.

Don't kick the farmer, it's the food retailer in the points in all the current discussion regarding high food prices. They aren't responsible for high food prices.

Who? Listen to Paul S. Wild, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc. We heard him recently in newspaper advertising convention in Chicago. Here is an excerpt worthy of careful consideration today even though they appear to be some current trend toward lower prices.

When will food prices come down? When all the elements of cost come down. If we wish to send vast quantities of food to the rest of the world and I assume we do, then we must accept the inevitable consequence, scarcity and high prices at home.

If we wish labor to have high wages and shorter hours to enjoy a higher standard of living then we must remember that this increases the cost and we must pay for it.

If we want the government to engage in the multitudinous activities which it now supports then we must accept that this costs money and means high taxes here, and high taxes mean higher prices. If we want lower prices, the farmer, the manufacturer, the working man, the distributor, the transport industry and the government must put their heads together and see what each is doing, which may be eliminated, what each is charging which may be reduced.

It is really very simple to figure out why food prices are still comparatively high. The quick answer is that the demand is greater than the supply. There are more dollars than there is food. Our own people are bidding for the supply while the whole world is bidding against them. That always makes high prices.

Another answer is this: Food starts on the farm but before it reaches the home maker, it passes through many hands and processes. First the manufacturer must buy from the farmers. According to government figures, he had to pay $2.65 in 1947 for farm products that cost him $1 in 1939. He had to pay $1.80 for the same amount of labor which cost him $1 in 1939. At each step the cost of doing business for labor, materials, equipment is up from 75 to 100 per cent.

Are high food prices the result
