

Their Promise for 1948

Twelve-year-old Nancy Maloney displays the 1948 Girl Scout promise poster for which she modeled. It includes the Girl Scout promise and laws to which each of the more than one million members of the Girl Scouts of the United States subscribe. The promise and laws are similar to the code of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides in 25 countries; and the 1948 slogan, "Girl Scouts United by Ideals" signifies the bonds of friendship between Girl Scouts the world over. They are celebrating their 36th birthday anniversary this year on March 12 and during the week following.

Scores remained close all the way with the most margin at any time totalling six points. Hojes were high among the Northville fans as the Mustangs surged ahead briefly during the third quarter but they were unable to sustain the lead. Ten Little Servants

Ten little servants, waiting in a line,
Call one to do the wash—and still you have nine!

Nine little servants, working long and late,
Ask one to cook your meals—and still you have eight!

Eight little servants—working like eleven!
Call one to clean for you, and still you have seven!

Seven little servants—you don't need candlesticks
When this one lights the house for you—and still you have six!

Six little servants, electrically alive,
This one sews a handy seam—and still you have five!

Five little servants to help with every chore;
One can iron all the shirts—and still you have four!

Four little servants—such activity!
One breathes a little breeze—and still you have three!

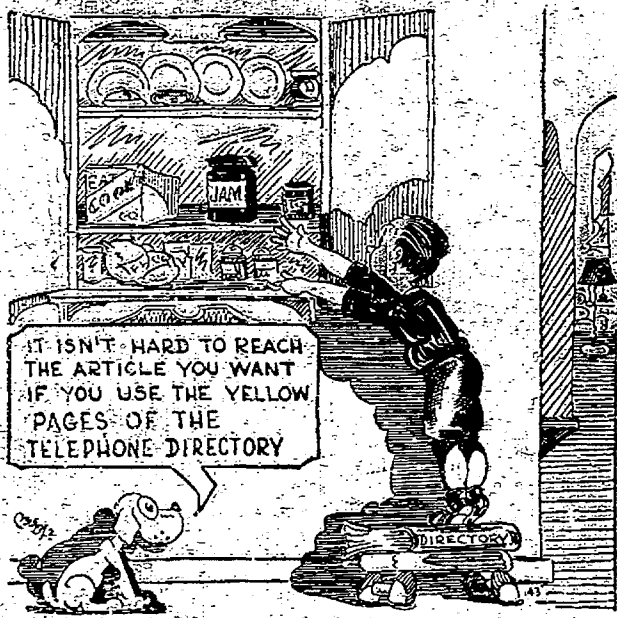

Three little servants—if you're feeling blue,
One will entertain you—and still you have two!

Two little servants, whose work is never done!
One keeps the food fresh, and thinks it's rather fun—

One tells the proper time from sun to setting sun.
(Dependable electric service makes these servants run—
And saves you lots of elbow grease. Suppose you had none?)

To leave this money in your place of business or take it home with you invites burglars and danger of loss by fire — both of which hazards are constantly present.

to the Editor

Dear Sir:

A stranger to you I dare hope you will forgive my addressing you. Please listen a few minutes to my words. I can't see another chance to get acquainted with somebody of your people. I often heard and read about the help our Americans give generously to many of my countrymen and so I hope to God there might be some one across the ocean who can understand my deep sorrow as mother. There is my sole slender boy, seven years old, he got to have a tuberculosis treatment. There is my little four year old daughter, her apple cheeks are shadowed by dark rings, to happy little girl always gay. Myself, I have to earn the money for all of us and I am glad that my job takes only five hours a day, so I am able to do some home-work afterwards. I think I am still able, but how long? I fear I can't stand it a very long time. Let me tell you we are in desperate need of food, my children are face to face with starvation. This is my last hope to find help.

Dear Sir: Give me, give my children the favor to request some of your friends. Maybe that will be one who can give his help to us. God Bless You and your family. My kids will be thankful forever.

Yours sincerely,

EVA SCHAPER,

The old time photographs running recently in the Record have been most interesting especially the one of the Dubuar Mfg. Co. and the more recent one of the D.U.R. Freight Office and the Interurban Electric Car.

I always said as a child that if I ever had an office I wanted one running over my place of business just as Mr. Dubuar had and once told him so.

The kind gentleman told me to be sure to do so as it made a pleasant contrast to some of the more monotonous humdrum you came in contact in the daily line of business. He further said "always try to have something pleasant to say or to think about it will help you a lot."

Needless to say I have never forgotten it.

Also the letter from Frances Cole Joslin was most amusing and interesting, especially to "Spitball" episode. Frances Cole was made that day by her students because her reaction completely dumfounded us. There was a lot of whispering and talking about the incident at the time among the students because the then Miss Cole teacher had reacted differently. She won our respect, love and admiration "hands down" and was always well liked amongst those she taught music to and to this writer opened the way to love of the opera, especially "Il Trovatore" which I never hear to this day without thinking of Frances Cole as she taught us the story of that opera.

Then there was a letter concerning the death of Frank Fry, whom I will remember as a little boy, which told of his many kindnesses to young folks. He took my brother and I on our first trip to Peace Island and stuffed us with bananas and oranges, aside from taking the time and trouble to explain how the Detroit River divided Canada from Michigan, how we were friendly nations and what impressed me most he said "we didn't even need water to separate us because we liked each other" and that we should always like other people more than ourselves.

May the Record continue to have the good success it rightfully deserves.

Most sincerely,

Michigan Bell is BIG...

but not big enough

Michigan Bell is a public servant. Our job is to give everyone the kind of telephone service he wants — when and where he wants it.

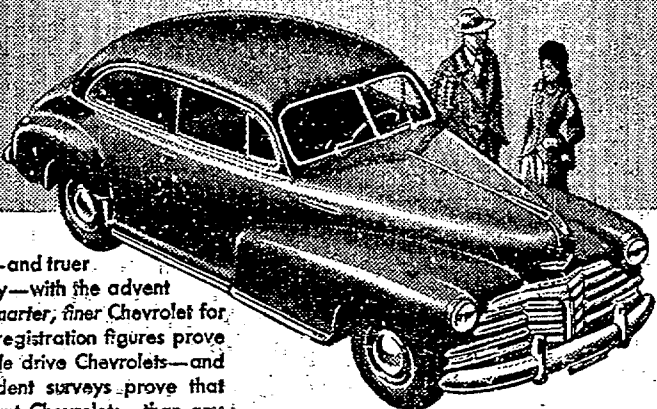

And while Michigan Bell's telephone plant is big, it is not big enough. Because of shortages of facilities there still are persons waiting for telephones. And we still can't provide all the types of services our present customers desire. Nor can we always serve everyone the way we would like.

That means we must continue to expand the telephone system as rapidly as additional switchboards, cable, buildings and equipment become available. We are adding new telephones, improving service and growing bigger every day.

And we must grow bigger still to provide more and better service for everybody, everywhere.

Governor Kim Sigler has re-designed his package for Michigan good government.

Immediate reform is giving way to long-range reform.

Showing a willingness to change his mind when convinced that he can achieve results better by other methods, Sigler now favors the following program which is being shipped for presentation to the state legislature in special session starting next Tuesday, March 16:

1. No new or higher taxes. Michigan taxpayers, the governor feels, are paying enough money today for government public service. The big job is to distribute this money equitably where it is needed. Hence, no new or higher taxes. For example: No increase in the state gasoline tax for additional road building.

2. Remove from the November ballot the legislature-authorized vote on revision of the state constitution by constitutional convention. The governor is convinced that piecemeal revision of the constitution is a more intelligent way. Voters can concentrate their thinking on a few issues at hand, other than opening the door wide to complete revision through the relatively slow process of a convention.

3. Remove from the November ballot the legislature-authorized vote on repeal of the sales tax diversion amendment. The governor has consistently favored repeal; he still does. However, he is convinced that the time is not ripe for such action. The public must be convinced of its necessity, and the most realistic way to do this is to demonstrate through red-ink financing—deficits, if you please—that the public cannot enjoy state public service (without new or higher taxes) while 76 per cent of the sales tax money is returned to home communities for spending by home government.

4. Four-year tenure of office for all constitutional and county officers except the state officers of secretary of state and attorney general, both to be filled by appointment by the governor. The first election to be in 1950, a non-presidential campaign year. These elected officials of take office on December 1, instead of January 1, as at present. The new governor, for example, could then ready his legislative program before the legislative meets.

5. An amendment to remove salary limitations from the state constitution. Added to these is a possible seventh plank—an amendment limiting the number of state departments and bureaus to a specified number, such as 20. Michigan has 100-plus state departments and bureaus. The governor may not press No. 7 unless the legislature balks at authorizing No. 1 to 6. Then he may take the "issue" to the people themselves, get petitions signed, and see that all amendments go on the November ballot.

There is also evidence that Sigler is thinking more of a "cabinet" of responsible department heads and elective officials and less of suggested power whereby the governor would have the right to hire or fire any department head.

These planks form a formidable program. They illustrate anew the process of democracy in action.

The Dearborn Coach Company's threat of a legal fight over the Village of Wayne's new bus act became reality in the form of an injunction against the Village Council.

A defective heating system is said to have been the cause of the fire that completely destroyed the Sickles school in Hamilton township early last Saturday morning.

Plans are already being made to produce a 4th of July celebration in Rochester which promises to be bigger and better than anything ever before attempted in this vicinity.

The new Garden City Eating and Drinking Establishment Ordinance (Ordinance 68) is now in effect and restaurants and other public places where food is prepared for immediate consumption must be licensed.

Michigan's one-two winners in the Americanism and Post Activity contest for 1946-47 have just been announced. By National Headquarters, 1st award, a Distinguished Service Citation, goes to Ernest F. Oldenburg, Post 216 of Milford.

Pinned underneath his car for nearly a half hour with the weight resting on his head and chest, William Lee Walters, 18, of Ithaca was dead when removed from the wreckage. The accident occurred just north of the Charles Hooper farm home, 4 1/2 miles south of Ithaca.

Robert Crane of South Lyon was elected to head the newly organized American Legion Tri-County Post No. 560 at a meeting of the members in the Hugh Arms and Son garage on March 4. The new Legion post was organized in South Lyon last month with the help of Legionnaires from Northville, Milford and Farmington.

Action on all phases of the American Legion program in the Department of Michigan will be taken at a 2-day conference to be held at the Rock-Cadillac hotel in Detroit March 13-14. Officially known as the annual spring meeting of the Executive Committee, the conference will bring together not only the members of that group, but also all Department officers and the chairmen and members of Department committees.

Almost unanimous agreement that Brighton needs facilities to be used as a Community Center was expressed recently by more than 30 delegates representing various organizations throughout the city. The meeting was called by Dr. Archie J. McGregor, serving as chairman of a committee appointed by the Board of Commerce to explore the possibility of obtaining a Community Center for Brighton and to discover the attitude of organizations in the city toward the establishment of such a center.

The off-street parking approach to Dearborn's mounting traffic problem struck a snag after differing forces were believed to have been in agreement. Central point in the continuing controversy is the so-called off street parking ordinance, which would require future buildings to provide appropriate parking space off the streets. The Chamber of Commerce board of directors once again voted to spurn the newest draft of the ordinance, charging that its authors had not written it in conformity with

THE WAY OF DEMOCRACY

... Of the People
 ... By the People
 ... For the People

Man's Ingenuity Has Conceived Nothing Better

Throughout their history, the American people have met social challenges by voluntary group action which they themselves initiated and controlled. They have rarely sought aid other than that which their own free enterprise has provided.

Today a challenge of great importance to Americans—a challenge disturbing to most, ruinous to many—

THE COST OF HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL-SURGICAL CARE
 is being solved here in Michigan in a typically democratic way.

BLUE CROSS—A NON-PROFIT PUBLIC SERVICE

Blue Cross offers a voluntary method of pre-paying hospital and surgical care without hardship. It is a non-profit arrangement developed in the public interest by Michigan hospitals and by Michigan's medical profession. It provides a method of cooperation between hospitals, doctors of medicine, and the public—to make good hospital and medical-surgical care available to everyone without financial strain on anyone.

By making a small monthly payment to Blue Cross, members of this plan and their families are entitled to hospital care and doctors' services when they need it without worry about expense. Over 1,200,000 Michigan people have solved this difficult and perplexing problem by adopting Blue Cross. Blue Cross adheres strictly to American principles and practice and to the fundamentals of non-profit operation.

TOWARD SOCIALISM

Government Operated Power Penalizes Citizens of 17th District. Because the 17th Congressional District is a thickly populated area and nearly every home, including farm homes, uses electric power, every member of the family is conscious of the great need as well as benefits derived from such power for lighting, refrigeration, and labor saving devices requiring electric power.

TIGHT OR JERKY STEERING IS JUST AS DANGEROUS

Jittery, loose or difficult steering is far more than a nuisance. It warns you of wheel imbalance and wear of steering parts... which mean quick, the wear, unexpected blow-outs... sudden loss of steering control. ACCIDENT! Before you land in hospital or jail, get a safety check-up and correction on your industry-approved BEAR Equipment!

The Public Works Committee, of which Congressman Geo. A. Dondero is chairman, devoted several days to hearings on the subject of the development of such power by private or public (government) industry. The project in question is not located in our Congressional District nor in Michigan, but it vitally affects all users of electric power indirectly. Congressman Dondero's bill authorizes and directs the Federal Power Commission to grant a license to the Savannah River Electric Company to construct, own, operate, and maintain the power house of the Clark Hill Reservoir project in Georgia. Enactment of this measure would relieve the Federal government from spending $15 million for the same purpose.

The Federal Power Commission in its testimony admitted that it had no Federal power policy and has one formula for fixing electric rates for public or government ownership and another for private industry. If the same formula were used for both, that is to include interest and taxes (which the government does not pay but private industry must) the rates would be the same. This means that electricity used by citizens served by government-owned power plants, where the energy is distributed indirectly to the consumer, is paid in part by you and the because we pay taxes to subsidize it in lieu of the taxes which private enterprise, if it were allowed to operate the plant, would pay on its transmission lines, plant, land and facilities.

Congressman Dondero, in commenting on the project stated: "Government owned and operated projects of this kind show the trend toward state socialism and place the government in competition with its own citizens. It threatens the loss of the investment of millions of small stockholders."

Thus a project hundreds of miles from our District affects us directly and forces the people of Michigan to pay a part of the cost of furnishing government-owned, cheap power to the people of several other states. It destroys the business of private individuals.

Inflation and the Marshall Plan: The Marshall Plan, now before the Senate for consideration, provides the manner in which its provisions shall be carried out for recovery in the several European countries, as well as the nature of the assistance to be given.

The greatest danger to our own economy lies in the materials to be sent to Europe—materials we need, including stocks which should be set aside for national defense. It is easy to see how the Marshall Plan will mean inflation at home. Sending materials of which we do not have enough for our own needs, to Europe, makes a short supply here. This means we must pay more for them, if we are able to get them at all. According to Henry J. Taylor, noted economist, who was present when the Plan was being worked out, hence has first hand information, we will send free to Europe 13,200 trainloads of coal, 11,800 trainloads of grain, 4,900 trainloads of the equivalent of steel ingots, 4,100 trainloads of fats and oils, 26,000 freight cars, $500 million in new American oil refineries and pipe lines, $2-1/2 billion in oil, gasoline and greases, $1-1/2 billion in iron and steel, as well as many other items of like character. Congressman Dondero asks: "Under these circumstances does anyone believe that we can escape inflation at home?"

Congressman Dondero advises: "A delegation from the Soviet Union is now in England bargaining for the purchase of a large quantity of locomotives, diesel engines, etc. To ship steel to England for reshipment in finished goods to Russia would not stop Communism. Let's not subsidize European Socialism!"

Camp Fire Girls Mark Birthday

The week of March 14 to 20 will mark the birthday anniversary of Camp Fire Girls. More than 380,000 girls, between the ages of 7 and 18, regardless of creed or racial background, will celebrate the occasion from Maine to California.

Camp Fire, founded in 1910, has proposed a national birthday project every year since 1916. This is always a program of current national interest in which all members may participate.

This year's project has as its theme, "Hello, World: Let's Get Together!" This suggests the desire of all men and women of goodwill to get together for the good of mankind. The girls will pursue the project in many ways — through corresponding with their "pen pals" overseas, forming "friendship groups" with children of other lands; learning to understand the history and customs of different countries; and serving their communities by aiding the needy.

Camp Fire's new project, motivated by these lines from the UNESCO constitution preamble: "Since wars begin in the hearts of men, it is in the hearts of men that the defenses for peace must be constructed," aims to promote global goodwill through understanding.

10 Commandments for Staying Healthy

"The last cold epidemic of the season usually arrives in Michigan along with the first spring thaw and raw March winds, and whether the month is a Lion or a Lamb, this epidemic is dangerous. These colds may lead to influenza, pneumonia, or untold sinus or tonsil infections. Many critical ailments readily follow in the path of sniffles," he said.

"Take to bed at the first sign of a cold," the epidemiologist advised. "The chances are that in the long run, you'll miss less work, school or play, if you do this."

"The third cold wave is upon us," Dr. F. S. Leeder, Director of the Bureau of Disease Control, Michigan Department of Health, warned Michigan residents today.

Dr. Leeder repeated his ten commandments for avoiding colds and their complications, placing special emphasis in this epidemic on the seventh:

1. Stay away from people having colds. Stay out of crowds during epidemics.
2. Avoid articles which may have been freshly sprayed with cold germs or handled by people with colds.
3. Get plenty of rest. Avoid fatigue.
4. Eat well-balanced regular meals. Drink plenty of water.
5. Wash your hands before eating or handling food.
6. Avoid sitting in over-heated rooms. Avoid chilling.
7. DRESS ACCORDING TO THE WEATHER, and according to the temperature in which you must work. Get some outdoor exercise.
8. Avoid dust, chemical or smoke-laden air. These irritate the throat and make it possible for cold virus to get a start.
9. Go to bed at the first signs of a cold.
10. Avoid self-medication. Call a doctor. Follow his advice.

It's a great day for the IRISH!

"When the law can stop the blades of grass from growing as they grow,
"And when the leaves in summertime their verdure do not show;
"Then I will change the color I wear in my caboose;
"But till that day, please God, I'll stick to wearing of the green."

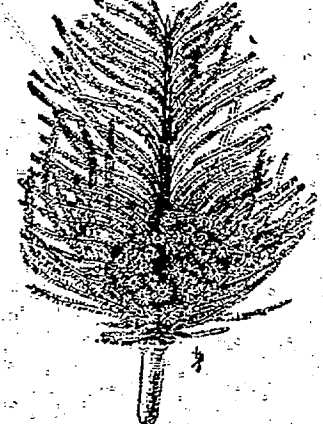

Methods Suggested For Treating Lice

Second Application is Generally Necessary

The poultry grower has a choice of several effective methods for treating lice. Which one he uses will depend on his preference or the availability of remedies, according to Washington State college. Whatever method is used, birds should be examined 10 days to two weeks after treatment to see if any lice still are present.

treatment usually is necessary and should be applied about two weeks after the first treatment.

One method is to fumigate with a 40 per cent nicotine sulfate solution. In this case directions of the manufacturer should be followed.

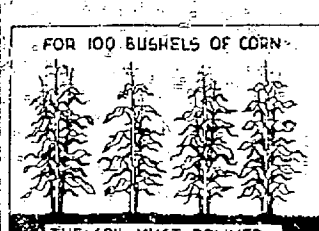

Lice powder also is effective. These may be DDT, nicotine sulfate or commercial sodium fluoride or sodium sticlosilate. These may be applied by the pinch method. It consists of placing on the skin of each fowl about 10 pinches, rubbing into the breast, each thigh, below the vent, on each side of the back, on the neck and head and on the underside of each outspread wing. The fowls also may be dusted, sprayed with dusting material or dipped in a solution. In some parts of the country louse ointments are widely used.

Pasture Makes Cheap Dairy and Stock Feed

Pasture is the cheapest and best feed your dairy and meat animals can get, declares the Middle West Soil Improvement committee. Not only will it save scarce feed grains, but also it will cut production costs and step up the milk and meat output. However, the soil must be fed to get a good stand of legumes and grasses. Legumes are heavy "feeders" of phosphorus and potash, requiring plenty of plant food. Liming, based on soil tests, use of manure and the return of crop aftermaths to the soil are other essentials.

Corn Production

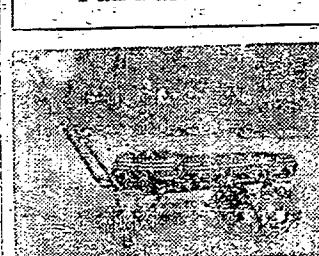

Many things are required to produce 100 bushels of corn per acre. The growing crop must have plenty of nitrogen, phosphate, potash and other plant nutrients. A shortage of any will hold down yields and lower the quality and feeding value of the crop. So the use of fertilizer is vital. For high corn yields, the soil must store water for drought periods. The accompanying chart shows how much of these it takes to produce 100 bushels of corn. Organic matter is especially important. While not a plant food, it is essential to crop production. Organic matter improves tilth and keeps the soil loose and open. It is a sponge that soaks up water readily for crops to "drink" in dry spells. It allows air to reach roots and soil bacteria. Organic matter can be built up by growing deep-rooted legumes and grasses frequently in the rotation. To get good stands, liming based on soil tests and a generous feeding of phosphate and potash are needed. Organic matter can be replenished, too, by returning barnyard manure, straw and corn stalks to the land. When plant food, good tilth, organic matter and other soil conservation measures are combined into a team, maximum corn production per acre is assured.

Pull-Push Cart

Discarded wheels and an axle from a child's coaster wagon were used for this pull-push cart. The frame is made from 1/2-inch pipe and is welded to the axle. It is handy for moving loads of small tools or equipment as the cart is strong, light in weight and easy to pull or push.

Value of Moist Mash For Poultry Questioned

It is not necessary to feed a moist mash in order to maintain high egg production, says Washington State college. Feeding moist mash involves extra labor and presents the danger of the growth of harmful mold and bacteria, especially during hot weather.

MSC Ag Engineers to Hold Open House

An official opening for Michigan State college's new agricultural engineering building has been planned early in May, according to A. W. Farrall, head of the agricultural engineering department.

Thousands of farmers visited the new building during the Farmers' Week program when the building was not yet fully equipped. New equipment is expected to be installed by early May and the building will be complete. The official opening will be held so that all people interested in agriculture may inspect the building.

General open house will be held Thursday, May 6, in addition to a general program in the afternoon, the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, Michigan area section, will meet and a banquet will be held at night.

State Continues 4-H Frozen Foods Program in 1948

Announcement has been made that the National 4-H Frozen Foods awards program is being continued in Michigan this year. It is conducted under the direction of the Extension Service.

The program encourages 4-H club members to learn the local foods best adapted to freezing and to develop skill in preparing and packaging them for placement in the home freezer or community locker plant to land variety to the family diet.

Awards for highest rating records of achievement in freezing foods include honor medals to county winners and a $50.00 U.S. Savings Bond to the state champion. International Harvester Company also will provide educational trips to the 1948 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago and $200.00 Fowler McCormick scholarships to four sectional winners selected from the state champions.

Members winning county medals in Michigan last year were: Marjorie DeHaan, Allegan; Leone McDonald, Antrim; Ada Salton, Barry; Carol Heinze, Berzie; Ann Ulrey, Berrien; Lois Ann Parsons, Cass; Alice Mae Whybrey,
