

Dairy Farmers Open Modern Milk Handling Station

Michigan's most modern milk receiving station will be shown to the public when the members of the Michigan Milk Producers Association in the Detroit area hold "open house" at their new plant at Otterville on June 5 and 6. The top picture shows the endless conveyor which handles cans as fast as they can be unloaded from trucks at the covered dock. The conveyor line passes the inspector and brings the can of milk to the stainless steel weighing tank, where it is automatically lifted for emptying. The cans then continue through the sterilizer where they are washed inside and out, sterilized with live steam, dried, turned right-side up and the cover clamped on tightly. They continue on the same conveyor back to the truck, the first empty can arriving as soon as the truck is unloaded, thereby eliminating any delays at the station. From the weighing tank the milk passes through stainless steel pipes to the "wing" cooler (at left in lower picture). This cooler reduces the temperature of the milk 25 degrees in any kind of weather. The milk then flows to the holding tanks which are refrigerated and equipped with agitators. One more tank is to be installed, giving the plant a holding capacity of 15,000 gallons. Many other modern features provide much of interest to the public who will be given an opportunity to inspect the plant at any time from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. on the coming Saturday and Sunday. The station is located at the north edge of Otterville on state trunk line M 15, nine miles north of the junction with U. S. 10, the Dixie highway.

Administration Bill Is Passed by the Senate

Confronted with an unpleasant break in party ranks during a presidential and state campaign year, Governor Kim Sigler and legislators patched up some of their differences over governmental reform.

Legislators recalled the State Department of Administration bill from the governor. Lieut. Governor Keyes ruled the Senate could legally reconsider it. And the legislature jammed it through attaching an amendment whereby important control would be exercised by the state administrative board and not by the governor alone.

In turn, Governor Sigler and the "hans" Committee for Better Government in Michigan agreed to call off petitions proposing constitutional changes of drastic effect.

Such, in a nutshell, was the outcome of the tug-of-war between the governor and the legislature in the windup of the 1948 special session at Lansing.

It will mean one less amendment before the voters in November. There was considerable doubt at the capital whether 167,000 signatures could be obtained in time to place the amendment on the ballot.

The compromise postponed until a later time the issue whether the state government's 100-plus agencies should be merged and consolidated into 18 state departments with chief control in the hands of the governor. Also in the offing is the proposed four-year terms for state officials and new power for the governor to appoint key state officials, such as the attorney general and secretary of state.

These are still parts of the Sigler reform program. For the time being they will be put on the shelf awaiting the right moment for revival.

John Perkins, budget director, will become comptroller of the new state department which will wield control over functions of budgeting, purchasing, accounting, motor transport, building management and office services. His salary will be $12,000.

If Perkins can reduce the cost of the combined agencies, he will be able to demonstrate convincingly that reorganization not only means added efficiency but economy as well. Many voters assume that both can be achieved; that merger of 100 state agencies into 18 would automatically lower cost of government.

This attitude of voters toward government at Lansing fits logically into a popular belief that "Lansing" has too much money for its own good, that local governments should get a larger share through increased diversion of the sales tax.

The legislature voted a $5,000,000 "loan" to county highway departments for building roads. Counties are asked to pay it back from higher gas and weight taxes, if and when they're levied. The

"if" raises a question of whether the money ever will be repaid. Some legislators frankly expect the "loan" will be a gift.

The legislature also voted $13,500,000 for capital improvements at state institutions.

Net result of appropriation bill was an estimated deficit of $14 million by June 30, 1949.

Will the voters take heed at the estimated $14 million deficit and vote to repeal the sales tax diversion amendment in November? If Governor Sigler's judgment is any clue, the answer is "No." Sigler recommended to the legislature that the repeal bill be removed. This recommendation, like some others, was scuttled during the special session.

Town War Dead Honored Monday

Under blue skies, bright sun, and cooling breezes Northville's veterans and citizens turn out en masse to honor the memory of her heroic dead. Parade, and programs harmonized into a most fitting tribute to those whose sacrifices have made possible this America of ours.

Lead by the colors and guard of both Northville Veterans Posts, the school band, and an army and navy firing squad, the parade proceeded from the Veterans Memorial Hall to the Penniman Allan theatre when the major program of the day was presented much as outlined in last week's Record.

The speaker of the day, Douglas A. Graham, Legionnaire and holder of many high posts in that organization, spoke briefly and to the point. He showed the inception of the Day by the Grand Army of the Republic, and referred to the passing this year of the last G. A. R. member in Michigan. He spoke of the crosses on foreign fields and called with a clarion voice for citizens of today to make the hour one of dedication to the aim of the Legion, "For God and Country." Seek always to follow the inspiration and leadership of God, couple that with steadfast loyalty to our country and you have the solution for the questions that today meet America at the crossroads in international affairs. In closing he said "The soldiers' spirit is today, come with us to the graves of our comrades, that they renew our vows 'For God and Country'."

Announce Dairy Farmers' Drive to Push Product

The "June action time" drive of Michigan dairy farmers to provide ways and means for year round promotion of dairy foods was announced today by Bruce F. Clothier, president of the American Dairy Association of Michigan.

June is the month each year, he said, when dairy farmers of the state and nation make a voluntary "Advertising set-aside" at dairy plants to build the budget for their own "Say It With Sales" program.

The advertising, merchandising and research budget this year for the current nationwide campaign to maintain and expand the markets for dairy foods exceeded $1,200,000, the ADA president said.

"Farmers can do collectively what they cannot do individually," he emphasized. "The American Dairy Association is all dairy farmers and their industry working together in a business program that benefits all mankind."

There are now 40 states coast to coast that are active members of the ADA, an organization that started eight years ago with dairy farmers of six states.

The budget goals for 1948 have been set at a higher level to help the dairy industry meet increasing competition for the consumer's dollar.

In reporting ADA activities for the current year, made possible by the financial support of Michigan dairy farmers and the co-operation of plant operators in making the "set-aside," president Clothier said:

"Full color dairy foods ads paid for by the farmers of America appear every month in the national women's magazines, metropolitan press and Sunday Supplements, reaching into a hundred million homes. On more than 5,500 express trucks the message of dairy food goodness makes a half million sales impressions every daylight hour. Nutritional and market research conducted in 18 leading universities and educational institutions."

"New Look" for Gloves
A tablespoon of glycerin added to the water in which gloves are rinsed will make them look new.

Later she was united in marriage with Byron G. Filkins and the couple made their home at 543 West Dunlap street, now the residence of a grand-niece, Mrs. George Zerbel (Barbara Wellwood) and her family. Mr. Filkins passed away in 1929.

Mrs. Filkins was a life member of O.E.S. and served asmatron during the year 1914-1915.

Sutter's Mill
Sutter's mill, where gold was discovered January 24, 1848—just 100 years ago—was a complicated thing to be built by primitive tools and materials. The historic site is on the American river, 45 miles above Fort Sutter, Calif. It was in the fall of this mill that James Marshall, an eccentric carpenter who worked for Sutter, found the glittering yellow particles that started the California gold rush.

Putting a "Punch" in Lunch Packing, a lunch that "punches a punch" and avoiding that day-to-day sameness is a problem of many homemakers. Aim always to include something crisp, something juicy, and one hot, one sweet, one tart or salty, and one colorful food, advise nutrition specialists. Each lunch box should contain one third of the food supply for the day for the person who eats it. Lettuce put in sandwiches is likely to wilt and is better when wrapped separately.

Checking Equipment Will Pay Dividends Tractors Need Regular Servicing, Adjustment

Periodic checking of tractors and other farm equipment is a timely precaution that will prevent serious delays in the field, assure safer operation of machinery and make farm work easier.

Increasing the life of vital machine parts results in more units of useful production per machine and per part. This in turn means less cost per unit produced by the machine. A machine naturally wears out with Careful inspection of tractors and other farm equipment at regular intervals will increase efficiency of the machinery.

use. However, the rate of wear may be reduced greatly by a skillful operator who is exacting in his attention to adjustments for wear and for proper and systematic lubrications.

A tractor in good repair, agricultural engineers estimate, can operate on two to three less gallons of fuel than the tractor with faulty operation. Adjustments in the carburetor, governor, timing, manifold and valves also will increase the efficiency.

A careful check will disclose loose bolts and nuts as well as parts that need adjusting or replacing, thus eliminating the chance for costly breakdowns later. Every repair and adjustment should be made just as soon as the need is noted.

Farmers who are advised to equip their tractors with fuel extension tanks and to provide secure holders for grease guns or other servicing tools carried on the machine. Extra care, taken in this, can a faulty or a null in a tragedy.

Hitchhiking Pests.

"Hitchhiking" insects, taking advantage of the frequency and speed of modern airplane flights, offer a continual threat to areas of the nation now free from certain insect pests. A continual watch must be kept at airports in infested areas to assure that "hitchhiking" insects do not move from one part of the United States to another or leap easily across international boundaries via the airplane.

Last summer, inspectors of the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine intercepted the projected flight of thousands of Japanese beetles trying to hitchhike by airplane from beetle infested airports in Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Newark. These beetles threatened to move into beetle free sections of the United States.

Inspectors closely checked more than 7,000 airplane flights and supervised the application of a thin film of DDT from aerosols over hundreds of commercial and military planes. The beetles' favorite food plants in the immediate vicinity of the airports were sprayed, using mist blowers for the job. The summer's program was the most comprehensive ever attempted to prevent beetle spread, and yielded the largest number of interceptions for any season since this type of control work became necessary.

They Grow Mushrooms More than half of the nation's supply of mushrooms comes from two Pennsylvania counties, Chester and Delaware.
