A review of the first 40 days of the 60-night meeting Sunday showed a new record for percentage of winners' favorites. Forty-five percent of the favorites have won during the meeting to date. This is believed to be the top mark for form horses this year on both harness and running tracks.

The local boys were defeated 12-6 in their opener last Friday night with Brighton in an exciting and well-played game. Northville's touchdown was scored by a pass from Stoval to Gray who carried the ball across the yard line. The Mustangs led the ball on the 3-yard line in the half and called, and they were unable to score.

About 1200 spectators attended last Friday's game, and with good support from the stadium to begin the Mustangs should put over the kind of job which makes for victory.

TAKING OFF THE WRAPS . . . Since the end of the war there have been many pictures showing how military and naval planes were being given protective coverings to preserve them while in storage. Now the process is reversed. What with crises and an expanding defense program, planes now are unpecked. Here, at Litchfield, Ariz., naval air facility storage depot, a big plane despreserving program is under way.

To the Editor

The following points may be of interest to this community:

On July 7, 1948, the Village Commission amended the Zoning Ordinance to re-zone Lot No. 227 and part of No. 228 from R-2 to C-2 for use as a trailer camp.

On July 19, 1948, the 2/3 vote of July 7 was determined illegal because of the objections of an adjoining property holder. Since these objections had been removed, the Commission revoked the amendment which would have been effective on August 9.

On July 26, 1948, after the re-appointed Board of Appeals on Zoning were relieved of their duties, Commissioners Locke, Stubenvoll and Schoultz and President Langfield sat as that board and, among other things, considered an appeal from the Northville Driving Club requesting that permission be granted them to alter present buildings and erect new buildings necessary to a trailer camp on Lots 227 and a portion of Lot 228. It was brought to the attention of, and acknowledged by, the above four gentlemen to whom we refer in private as the "Phoney Appeal Board" that a petition was filed the afternoon of that same day with the Village Clerk requesting the Village Commission to either repeal their amendment to re-zone the above lots for a trailer camp or put it up to the voters of the Village to decide the issue. While it is true that up to the time of this meeting the petition had not been certified, it seems reasonable that any public body, seeking to properly discharge its duties, would have fulfilled the request of the Driving Club until the Village Clerk and the Commission had an opportunity to act on the petition in accordance with Village Charter requirements. However, the four men shrugged off the significance of the petition and granted the Driving Club's request, resulting in the Building Inspector having to issue a permit in accordance with their ruling.

On August 2, 1948, the Village Clerk certified and presented the petition to the Commission. Commissioner Ely suggested immediate action, but received no support, and it was tabled for future action.

On August 16, 1948, a regular Commission meeting was to have been held, but enough Commissioners were absent to prevent a quorum. President Langfield instructed the Clerk to call a special Commission meeting on Monday, August 23 at 8:00 p.m., one day short of the time limit allowed by law for actions.

On August 23, 1948, the Commission repealed their amendment to re-zone the lots for a trailer camp.

During that time the petition froze the amendment to the Zoning Ordinance, no new building was done on the lots in question.

On September 18, 1948, it was observed that a new building was being erected on the site that had, because of popular request, been returned to its original zoning.

On September 20, 1948, the Village Commission was questioned about this construction and, out of the welter of evasions—emerged the following points:

1 The building is being erected in accordance with the building permit issued on the decision of President Langfield and Commissioners Locke, Stubenvoll and Schoultz, sitting as the Board of Appeals on Zoning.

2 The minutes of that Appeal Board meeting and the building permit itself grant permission to build for TRAILER CAMP PURPOSES ONLY.

3 The Commission was then questioned if they were any way they could stop that building, since their own action on August 23, repealing the amendment, determined that the lots could not be used for a trailer camp. The answer was that they did not think they could do a thing about it.

4 When asked if they could have a stop-work order drawn, until the situation was clarified in the court, they said they did not think it would be legal since they had no jurisdiction over the acts of the Board of Appeals on Zoning (when four of them had sat, self-appointed, on and as that board!), and implied that, if anyone objected to the trailer camp building, he could take it to court.

5 The Commission was then asked, since it was a Village problem, why it should not be they who took it to court. That was evaded.

6 They were then questioned about the use of the building when it is completed—could it be used for trailer camp purposes when a trailer camp is prohibited? They had no idea not returned to care Mr. Langfield said something to the effect that the new Planning Commission would probably cover the use of that land. Did the Commission repeal their amendment for a trailer camp with the idea of paying the buck to the Planning Commission to put the deal through?

7 No effective action was taken to do a thing about that building. We suggested that it be placed in the Proceedings that they were helpless to do, that which they did not want to do, but Mr. Langfield dictated some evasive statement instead.

It was then brought up by the audience that there was something upon which they could take immediate and effective action, and that was the abominable health conditions existing because of the trailers packed on the Fairgrounds which is in the jurisdiction of the Health Officer whom they appoint and who is answerable to their instructions.

In spite of Commissioner Stubenvoll's buck-passing to the effect that the County Health representative, Mr. Hilbert, should have done something about the conditions, it was pointed out that it is a Village problem and that proper sanitary measures should be enforced by the Village Health Officer and it is the duty of the Commission to see that he does it. The Village Health Officer can, and should enforce any laws which Mr. Hilbert can, and should receive directions and support from the Village Commission and the Police Department.

After numerous evasions, even Mr. Langfield finally admitted that the conditions were terrible and that he would "speak to the Health Officer in the morning."

"Conditions have been terrible" since August 2, the Commission has taken no action to enforce the health laws for the safety of the community, and no action was taken on Monday night!

Reim read the single ring ceremony by candlelight. The altar of the church was decorated with bouquets of gladioli and garden flowers. Mrs. Florence Button presided at the organ and Mrs. Rebecca Marr rendered "Because". The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Parks. She wore a white gown, styled with a square neck, and puffed sleeves. Her shoulder length veil was caught to head by a roll of satin and flowers. She carried a bouquet of white roses with satin streamers.

Her only attendant was Mrs. Helen Low of Ypsilanti, who wore a blue formal and a head-dress matching the bride's. Her bouquet consisted of pink and red roses tied with satin streamers. William Low of Ypsilanti attended the bridegroom and Glenn Ash and Ray Jinks of Walled Lake seated the guests.

New Engine, Styling Features in '49 Kaiser

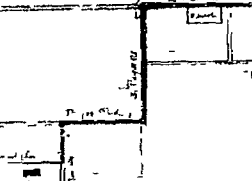

THE 1949 KAISER DELUXE sedan has more than 100 improvements—72 in styling and 30 in engine and mechanical features. Major developments, many of them based on the more than two billion miles which owners have put on K-F cars, include an increase from 100 to 112 in horsepower. A massive grille and bumpers are features of the new exterior design. A new instrument panel dominates the restyled interior.

Little Pigs Stunted By Worm Infestation
Tests Show Marked Retarding of Growth
Seldom are farmers inclined to argue with scientists, livestock specialists and others who keep warning that internal parasites are harmful to swine. Occasionally, however, a farmer will pose the question: "How much injury is caused by worm infestation?"
The answer to that question is provided in tests conducted by the bureau of animal industry to destep will be to survey freezing and curing methods now in use. Samples of meats typical of these methods of preservation will be assembled and compared for quality and nutritive value. Next, the experimenters will try first to duplicate, then improve the methods which the survey and comparison work indicate are most effective.

The bureau of animal industry will have equipment that can improve on "even the most severe winter weather. It will be able to freeze meat at 700 degrees below zero if that proves desirable.

Quality Cream Boosts Returns to Dairymen
Production of high quality cream will pay dividends to the dairymen. A few suggestions for assuring top production: Protect separator from rust, rinse with chlorine solution before using; wash with powder immediately after each separation; cool cream immediately; separate milk immediately after straining; cool cream rapidly and thoroughly before rixing with older cream; keep containers covered from the time the milk is strained into cans until it reaches the receiving vat; strap milk in milk room or milk house, not in the barn; cover cans tightly and place in cooler with cold circulating water.

Several Sheep Ailments Are Caused by Worms
Several ailments of sheep, including "nodular disease," "stomach worm disease" and "black scour," are caused by worms. Many attacks by successful sheep men, therefore, are directed against development or reproduction of the offending worms. While most of the eggs and young worms of these parasites are destroyed in winter, sheep must be treated to prevent entry of worms into the intestinal tract.

Research to Intensify Winter in Meat Tests
Freezing is one of the oldest ways of preserving meat. It is also one of the newest. The U. S. department of agriculture points out . . .
In old-time freezing there was not much that could be done about the process. It was a winter method, depending on continued cold. A mid-winter or early-spring thaw might spoil a meat supply intended to last for additional weeks or months. This was true whether the meat was wild game brought in by hunters or was from domestic animals.
Modern freezing is still so new that there is a good deal to be learned about it.
This is the purpose of an expansion of studies of meat freezing and curing made possible under the research and marketing act. A first

Spoilage of Stored Grain Hinges on Bin's Condition
Grain can be stored almost indefinitely with little deterioration in farm-type bins - those that hold 1,000 to 3,000 bushels—if the bins are kept dry, cool, clean and free of insects, according to the USDA.
For control of insect infestation, chief reliance must be placed on fumigation. Stalled corn has been stored for several years with a loss of less than 1 per cent, according to reports.

Herds and Flocks
Use of 2, 4-D sprays for weed control in pastures is not dangerous to grazing animals.
A home-mixed spray of crude benzene hexachloride powder and water is more likely to stain eggs in poultry houses than a good commercial roost paint containing the effective portion of the same chemical.
Poultry houses with light colored roofs are cooler in summer than those with roofs painted black.
To get water to hogs in distant pasture where there is no water supply, pipes can be laid on top of the ground. To prevent freezing in winter, disconnect and drain the pipe.

Internal Parasites Loot Farmers of Huge Toll
Even criminals never drain their purses as fast as the uninvited internal parasites that feed from the U.S. livestock industry every year. To gauge the parasites' toll, the federal veterinarian will see the thicker of walls. However, they keep right on eating those day and night. Parasites cause disease, wounds and poultry to eat more than they eat. They stunt the growth of young animals and sometimes kill them. Affected animals generally bring lower prices when shipped to market.

EAST TAWAS—Joseph Valinto, government forest engineer of Czechoslovakia, shook his head. He had been traveling about the United States and had just arrived in East Tawas for a visit at headquarters of the Huron National Forest.

"You Americans are so wasteful," he said. "I cannot understand it. Over in Czechoslovakia we try to plant trees as we cut them. We do not let any part of the tree go to waste. Even small sticks are gathered as faggots to burn in stoves. But in this country—it seems such a pity. You Americans waste so much."

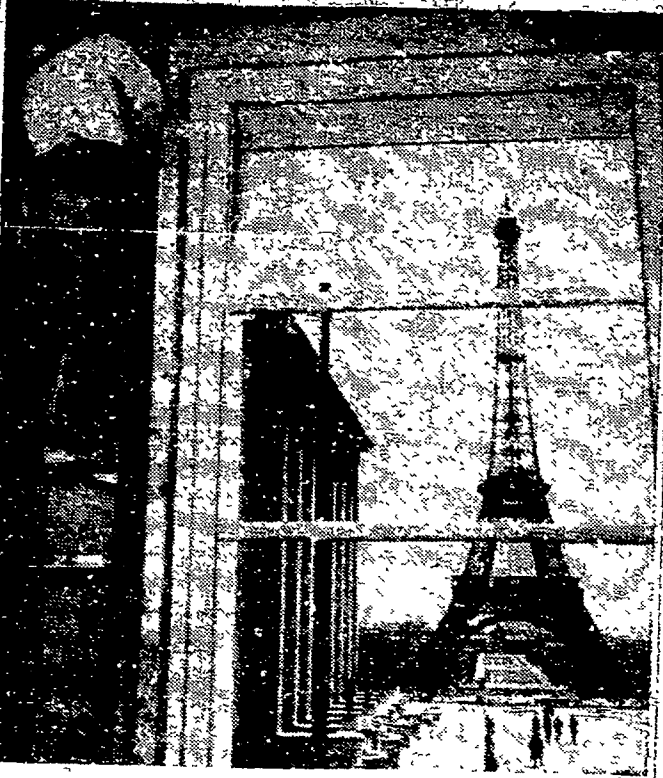

Valinto voiced his wonderment in a talk here with John Franson, district ranger.

Franson related it to us when we dropped in for a chat. That chat ended up in a day's inspection tour of a few of the 450,000 acres of federal forests under his wing. After getting a close-up of what Uncle Sam is doing to rebuild our vanishing forests, we were both worried over the future and somewhat reassured. It's hard to explain.

Here's a fast picture, as we got it.

"The United States is rapidly becoming a have-not nation in natural resources."

According to the last annual report of the Forest Service, the nation's woodpile has been reduced 44 per cent in the past 36 years. And listen to this. The annual drain on the nation's forest approximates 54 billion board feet, while the annual growth is only 35 billion board feet.

WHERE THE U. N. WILL TALK IT OVER... This month the United Nations is reassembling in Paris to have another try at persuading the world to settle down. Here, a workman is shown engaged in the decoration of the newly erected secretariat building adjoining the Chateau palace where the U. N. general assembly is convening. Through the window the Eiffel tower looms into the sky.

draining of our timber resources. We can't continue to cut and burn more trees than we grow. Our water level is dropping steadily. Soil erosion has soared as man turned forests and grasslands into open, bare fields. Dust bowls are man-made.

Our visit to the Huron National Forest convinced us of one thing. It's significant planting of trees, under expert supervision and long-range control, is a sound national investment—one that is self-supporting, paying steady dividends.

It takes 60 to 100 years to grow a tree. What are we waiting for?

And yet the picture isn't all black. There's a silver lining, of course, after all.

"I believe there is a change of national thinking about our natural resources," commented Franson. "He is a career man in federal forest work a native of Boston who went to the University of Michigan. Congress increased funds this year for tree planting and as a result 12,000 acres of trees are to be planted in Michigan. Crews started their work in the Huron National Forest last Monday (Sept. 13)."

The money spent will be an investment rather than an expense. National forests are beginning to "earn" their own way, covering cost of planting by sale of timber.

The annual loss is greater than the annual growth by more than 50 per cent.

Maybe the Czech forester was right, after all.

As substitute for tax, 25 per cent of stumpage receipts are returned by Uncle Sam to county governments. And 10 per cent comes back for local road improvements.

A careless camper started a forest fire here last May. Fed by a 20-mile-an-hour wind flame leapt over crowns of pine trees. In a matter of two miles in 90 minutes. Foresters, and farmers checked the conflagration only by literally fighting fire with fire.

If dry weather ever returns, and if an oil fire is not due, the peril of fire will be greatly increased.

Huron Woods. When the trees were all gone, the southerners became welfare clients of the community.

The modern system is much better. The Forest Service helped 126 farmers to organize a co-operative, the AuSable Forest Products Association. Proceeds of Huron pulpwood, sold to paper mills at Muskegon and near Ludington are pro-rated among members according to cords cut. The co-op has provided a steady income to supplement farmers' earnings, especially during winters. Wages now average $1 an hour.

Appximately 2,800,000 pine trees will be planted in the Huron forest all year.

A tractor and a tree-planting machine, manned by only two men in a pair, 10,000 to 12,000 trees in one day—about three times more than by hand. Trees are planted in rows.

Jack pines plant a 1,000 to an acre, about six feet apart, will mature in 60 years. If the soil is right white pines are used. The seedlings are planted close together so that each tree will be forced upward to get its share of sunshine and the result will be a tall pine tree. In 25 years the first thinning is done and one of this pulpwood will have cost of the original planting. Then in another 35 to 40 years the trees will be thinned again.

As the old trees are cut, new seedlings are planted. Then you have a perpetual supply of wood.
