History of Salem Recalled By Oregon News Reporter

(By Eric Bergman)
(Salem, Michigan, September 10th. Special to the Statesman.) Just a stone's throw west of Detroit and Dearborn, Michigan is the little "cross-roads" Salem. The wife and I stayed here with Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stolanoff, the village's newest garage owner and she, the housewife of their farm, which at present is just in the peak of the peach season.

This little Salem at one time was called Panama. The original post office was called Summit. Original settlement, where the village new stands, was made by John Dickerson of New Jersey in 1825, though the land was located here several years previous to that time by Rufus Thayer.

Railroad, Aids City
At the time the railroad was run through here in 1868 the Community began to thrive and the post-office was changed to Salem, after a community south of Grand Rapids, Michigan, also called Salem, took another name.

The railroad is the Chesapeake and Ohio, from Detroit to Lansing, the state capital, and formerly the Pere Marquette line. At present the Hoban Manufacturing Company, formerly the Hamilton Rifle Company, purchased by John D. Hoban in 1945, is the main industry here, employing 24 persons and manufacturing a carbine-type 22 caliber rifle, which retails at $9.75. The company's motto is "The gun that everybody can own," Mr. Hoban told us.

Races Draw Interest
While in Salem, we visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Wheeler. He is 79 and present manager of the Stewart Coal Company office. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler remember Salem in its heyday of lumbering and peak grain and dairy business when he first worked for the Salem Butter and Cheese Company before it burned about 1896. One of Wheeler's hobbies now is following the yearly 60 day harness race meets just east of here at Northville Downs.

There are two churches now, the Congregational, established in 1858 and the Federated, which takes several faiths for worship. The Wesleyan Methodist Church now included in the Federated Church, was established here in a school house in 1841 (called Lapham's church) and the earliest church here was the Baptist in 1837. Across from the Federated "Church" still stands the original Baptist Church, more recently used as a blacksmith shop by Burt (Smitty) Haywood, who died this spring.

Town Board Governed
The Village is governed by four elected members of the town board. Firemen are paid $3.00 each per call attended. In the township of Salem are three constables. (Salem is in Washtenaw County with the county seat at Ann Arbor.)

Darrying is still much a "pay Senary" in this Michigan Community, and much corn and many Northville grown. The peach and a M. lent and we tasted October 17 is "Golden Blush" apples. Senior Wardens of Peaty Bartlett try at a country style dinner to be held in the Federated church house.

Lodge will open at 3:00 p.m. with the visiting Senior Wards performing the work. Dinner will be served at 6:45 p.m. Tickets may be had from any of the officers of the local lodge.

Rotary Club Speaker

CHARLES R. MILLER

Rotary Governor Visits Local Club

The Northville Rotary Club heard District Governor Charles R. "Shorty" Miller discuss Rotary objectives at the meeting last Tuesday noon. A club assembly attended by officers and committee chairmen held a business meeting before the regular session.

Miller presides over the 222nd District, which includes 75 local clubs, the largest Rotary district in the world except the group centered around London, England. Meeting at least once each year with each of the district's clubs taxes the governor's time almost to the limit. He said that he has met with 32 of the clubs in the district so far this year.

In his talk, Miller stated that one of the four primary objectives of Rotary International is to "bring better understanding to all peoples so that a better world may exist."

Miller then related the general theme of the local situation, pointing out that while there is a world population of over two billion and only 530,000 Rotarians in the countries of the world, that great events have small beginnings, that cooperation and perseverance have, through the years, brought all races to a better understanding. This cooperation, Miller said, stems not from some vague source, but directly from good works and plain labor of individual citizens in individual communities.

Miller cited the Rotary district governors' school at Lake Placid last year, where men from most of the nations of the world forgot their differences to further cooperation and success.

Oslo Kin of Dr. Hegge Leads "Common Man's" Orchestra

This month's Reader's Digest magazine carries an article entitled, "A Great Orchestra Goes to Factory Workers," which refers to the Oslo Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Odd Gruner Hegge, brother of Dr. T. H. Hegge of the Wayne County Training School.

This great Norwegian orchestra, according to the Digest, goes to factories in and around Oslo, giving concerts for the workers on their lunch hours. Factory managements believe that the orchestra has stimulated production. Since its first venture a few years ago at playing for 1600 men at the Akers Mekaniske Verksted, Oslo's largest shipyard, the Philharmonic orchestra has played for soap factories, paper mills, electric appliance plants, rubber plants, and shoe factories. Dr. T. H. Hegge, Director of

NHS Mustangs Seek 2nd Win Friday

The Northville Mustangs will be seeking their second win of the season when they tangle with Bentley High School of Livonia tomorrow night under the lights at Ford Field. The kick-off is scheduled for 8 p.m. The Mustangs stopped Bentley last year, 33-14.

After a loss to Brighton and a tie with Dexter, the Northville eleven broke into the win column last Friday night by defeating Holly, 13-7, in a closely-contested game on the home field. Dick Gray and Chuck Dickinson accounted for the Mustangs' touchdowns, with Tom Sutton kicking one extra point. Holly's marker was made by Rogers on a right end run.

For Monday morning quarterbacks the big "if" in the game was the Holly fumble at the goal line seconds before the first half ended. The Holly ball carrier, hit hard by tacklers, dropped the ball, which bounced into the end zone and was promptly picked up by Mustang quarterback Norm Rodamsky. "If" the fumble had not occurred, Holly's total might have been six or seven points greater, enough to provide a winning margin, assuming that the second half of the game had remained unchanged.

Northville drew first blood in the game when fullback Dick Gray, plunged three yards through the left side of the Holly line to score. The touchdown came six plays after a poor Holly punt gave the ball to Northville on the Holly 34-yard line. Center Tom Sutton got away a good kick for the extra point.

The Mustangs scored again in the third quarter after an uninterrupted march from their own 33-yard line. Quarterback Norm Rodamsky called a series of plays which saw Gray, left halfback Chuck Stephens, left halfback Chuck Dickinson and left end Ronny Jennings carrying the ball. At the six-yard line, Dickinson took a pitcheut and ran wide around the right end to score. Sutton's kick was wide of the posts, making the score 13-0 in favor of Northville.

A smoothly-functioning Holly backfield became deceptive in the last period and, after recovering a Northville fumble at mid-field, mixed hand-offs and delayed bucks in a successful march. Rogers, Holly halfback, scored from the six yard line. The extra point was made by rushing.

Spectators were entertained during half time by the Northville High School marching band, under the direction of Leslie Lee and Richard Burton. Led by three baton-twirling majorettes, the band marched the length of the field in a continuous diamond formation, then formed the words "Hello Holly" in front of the bleachers and played the Holly school song. Band members then paid tribute to the two varsity football coaches, Al Jones and Dick Kay, by forming the words "Jones" and "Kay", giving a yell for each and playing "Our Boys Will Shine Tonight." After forming a block "N" for Northville and playing the Northville school song, the band marched off the field.

Research and Education for the Training School, said that his brother has been conducting the Oslo Philharmonic Orchestra for 20 years or more. Dr. Hegge stated that his brother is a pianist and composer as well as a conductor and that he has directed concerts all over Europe as well as the Scandinavian countries.

Mrs. T. H. Hegge recently returned on the Gripsholm from Norway where she spent about four months visiting relatives and friends. Mrs. Hegge stated that prices are high on groceries and clothing and that the stores are still quite bare. Food is still scarce and taxes are very high, she said. The housing shortage is acute, she stated, and the Norwegian's life is consequently quite restricted due to food rationing and high taxes.

Operation Safety is the theme of a program making an effort to unify all traffic education on a national basis. Darkness creates a special hazard for the motorist, the pedestrian and the cyclist. In rural areas, slightly more than half of the fatal traffic accidents occur at night. Although almost half of all motor vehicle accidents occur between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m., three quarters of all accidents involving drinking drivers take place during the twelve-hour period. Among ways to reduce night accidents are: educate pedestrians

Labor Leaders On A &amp; P's Side

A deluge of telegrams from the nation's labor leaders and thousands of messages from consumers, all voicing opposition to the anti-trust suit against A & P Food Stores, have flooded the company's New York offices, an official of the food chain said today.

Union heads representing

MICHIGAN BELL

butchers, meat cutters, clerks, warehousemen and truck drivers, began sending wires as soon as news of the suit calling for company dissolution reached the press. At the same time, thousands of consumers have swamped A & P headquarters with phone calls, telegrams and letters praising the company's operation and criticizing the anti-trust charges.

The labor chiefs brand the suit an attack against organized labor and a threat to current living standards. All oppose the action of the anti-trust lawyers and pledge support of A & P's plan to defend its low-price retail policy.

Reflecting the sentiments of thousands of organized workers in food and allied industries, the messages stress A & P's high wage scales and excellent working conditions.

Earl W. Jimerson, president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters & Butcher Workmen, an A. F. of L. affiliate, in regretting "the action taken by Attorney General Howard McGrath," said his union was ready "to aid your company in any way we can."

Jimerson's wire referred to A & P as "almost thoroughly unionized," and assailed the action as a "sinister move to single out the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. Stating that 'the whole suit is nearly a blast at organized labor,' the message added that the company meets union wage rates throughout the country.

"This friendly attitude," it continued, "is reflected in your company's dealings with practically all other unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor."

A wire from the teamsters' union, Boston, said that "in view of our excellent labor relations with the A & P, Local 29 will do all in its power to publicize that the A & P pays the highest wages and provides the best working conditions for all its employees," and "is one of the largest contributors to the high standard of living the American public now enjoys."

The message was signed by John E. Hamilton, John J. Greeley, and John C. Harrington, business representatives of Local 829.

Similar statements were contained in telegrams from all parts of the country where A & P operates.

Polyphosphates

Compounds known as polyphosphates have become extremely useful in industry for turning clay and peat. They are, for example, added to drilling muds, the slays used to lubricate oil well drills and to float away the rock as it is cut by the drill. Polyphosphates are also employed to thin pastes of titanium dioxide, the dense white pigment applied to rayon to reduce shine.

Flint Playgrounds Cited By Dondero

Government for the welfare of all the people does not need to be a government of waste and extravagance. It does not need to be a government which endeavors to replace with inefficient and often needless bureaucratic services those things which the people can and should do for themselves.

Proof of these statements is offered by the success, attained at Flint, Michigan, by the Charles S. Mott Foundation in making the city in many respects a model community among all others in the nation and the world.

Charles S. Mott is one of the pioneers of the automobile industry. He prospered as the General Motors Corporation grew and became the largest organization of its kind in the world. But he always has continued to make Flint his home.

Back in 1934, Frank J. Manley, then head of physical education in the Flint public schools, addressed the Rotary Club on the lack of recreational facilities in the community. Charles S. Mott heard the talk and decided to do something to remedy the situation.

Beginning with a modest budget of $6,000, the newly formed Mott Foundation started out to make five of the city's 40 school buildings into boys' clubs in the hours when school was not in session.

Today the annual budget of the foundation is $250,000, far less than most cities the size of Flint spend out of taxes each year for operation and expansion of municipal recreation facilities. Over the past 15 years the foundation has spent about $2,000,000. But for the size of the expenditure the results have been tremendous. More than two requests each week come from other cities for blue-prints of Flint's method of achieving "the better life."

Now Flint has a summer camp where 650 boys go each summer; 18 supervised playgrounds for small children, 20 playgrounds for older children; four public swimming pools; 12 groups of public tennis courts; programs for teaching young girls sewing, cooking, general housekeeping, for making them prospectively good wives and mothers; adult education programs, school health services, a children's health center, an inter-racial center, and scores of other community services of the kind they are literally too numerous to mention.

All of this has happened because a great industrialist set out to apply business principles in a field where they had never been applied before. One of the cornerstones in the success of the Mott Foundation's recreational project has been the fact that the efforts of several thousand Flint citizens were enlisted. For example, much of the recreation equipment now in use was made from factory waste materials. Factory workers did the job as a civic contribution.

Nothing has been done in Flint that any other city cannot do in proportion to its size and needs, without spending more money than already is being spent. All it takes is the effort of some private citizen or some city official to arouse civic pride and interest in applying the principles employed by private capital to the betterment of municipal services.

Many people, including myself, believe the time has come to speak out concerning communists in labor leadership.

Philip Murray has said that communists no longer will be tolerated in CIO official positions. Yet the United Electrical Workers, recently elected an avowed communist as president of the union. The Electrical Workers in effect control the nation's communication system, of the most vital importance in a national emergency.

And who is to say that the coal strike, the railroad strike, the steel strike, and the threatened automotive strikes, started perhaps for legitimate reasons, may not play directly into the hands of Stalin? I do not believe the rank and file of unionism want anything but to see these labor-management arguments settled amicably and at once.

Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Cavell of Griswold Road were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Broad of Detroit. The occasion was in honor of Mrs. Cavell who recently had a birthday.

Mrs. Flora Maloin of Detroit spent last week-end with her sister, Mrs. Ida M. Cook of Griswold Road.

The local branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will meet Monday afternoon at 1:00 p. m. at the home of Mrs. William B. Walker Jr., East Eight Mile Road.

Careful Check Urged To Avoid Fires In Homes

With the advent of fall, State Police Commissioner Leonard is urging householders to carefully check cooking and heating equipment to prevent home fires.

Leonard, who is also state fire marshal, pointed out that according to past experiences such fires will claim a heavy toll of lives within the next few months unless every precaution is taken.

Last year, 184 persons lost their lives in fires in Michigan, he said. The majority of the deaths occurred in homes and most of the victims were children.

There were 15,000 dwelling fires with a loss of $7,000,000. More than 8,500 resulted from cooking and heating equipment. The greatest number of deaths was due to the use of a petroleum liquid, such as kerosene, to start stove or furnace fires.

With the arrival of colder weather heating equipment again comes into use. All such equipment should be carefully checked and every defect repaired. Combustible material should be removed to a safe place. Take every precaution to protect your home.

Leonard said the recent "Noronic" disaster in Toronto was a horrifying example of how quickly fire can bring tragedy. The commissioner visited the scene to assist Michigan survivors and aid in the identification of Michigan dead.

The sight of the blackened and contorted bodies in the morgue was a stark reminder that fire can be a deadly enemy as well as a friend. The impact was all the greater when one realized that, unless the rules of prevention are followed, what happened on the Noronic will happen in many, many Michigan homes, but the accumulated effect in loss of lives and property will be even greater. Now is the time to take that ounce of prevention.

A&P, TOO, TAKES OFF ITS HAT TO MR. C. WHIT BLOUNT

OF WAYNESBORO, GEORGIA

-AND TO ALL OUR OTHER GOOD COMPETITORS WHO HAVE TAKEN A SIMILAR STAND

An Editorial From The Atlanta Journal, Thursday, Sept. 29, 1949

Competitor Denounces Suit Against A&P

THE BOLD three-column advertisement in the current issue of the Waynesboro True Citizen catches the reader's eye. We quote it in full.

To our notion that advertisement by C. Whit Blount states the economic and governmental aspects of the case against A&P with a clarity and forcefulness that most of the editorial comment has lacked.

Also it strikes us as a fine example of sportsmanship in business.

Incidentally, it is about as effective an advertisement as could have been written for Mr. Blount's "Groceteria".

Makes you sort of wish you were in Waynesboro to trade with him, doesn't it?

* * *

An Advertisement From The Waynesboro True Citizen

A Word For Our Competitor The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.

There has been a move by the anti-trust department of the Federal Government to destroy our leading competitor, the A&P Food Store.

It may seem odd, but we are opposed to this move.

The A&P Co., is definitely our strongest competitor - they keep us hopping. But, we are still in business - And Expanding. We do it by selling quality merchandise, buying at a close margin and selling at CLOSER margin.

The so called "trust-busters" charge that the A&P Co. control some of the production and processing ends of the food business. As a result, they hold the cost price down on foods.

WELL, WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS?? If A&P holds the costs down, it makes our suppliers hold their costs down to the same competitive level. They can sell cheaper, AND SO CAN WE.

We intend to continue to try to sell better merchandise than A&P; We also will continue to have competitive prices.

BUT, We don't believe the government, or any individual should try to break up a firm that is doing a good, clean, efficient job of serving the people of this country.

Michigan State College scientists say that highly effective sprays are now available which work wonders in getting rid of these plant pests.
Dr. B. H. Grigsby, MSC weed control specialist, has recently prepared a new circular describing uses of these new chemicals. The circular is titled, "Weed Control in Resort Areas," and is part of the college series designed to aid operators of tourists businesses. However, the new circular is available to all who wish to get rid of weeds.
The circular describes weed killing methods in simple terms. There are sections describing chemicals, equipment, control measures, and precautions needed. Use of 2,4,5-T is described as the latest in chemicals to kill brush.
During fall months is an excellent time to spray weeds as they are often growing then and will be in good condition to absorb the killing sprays.
A copy of the publications, circular R-201, "Weed Control in Resort Areas," may be obtained from county agricultural agents' offices or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan.

Check For Good Herd Additions

Farmers who are buying heifers for dairy herd replacements this fall should have an eye out for big growthy, roomy animals that have the ability to produce well.
County agricultural agents and DHA testers often know where good heifers may be offered for sale.
The United States was the greatest candy-producing country in the world in 1948.

Because more people rely on newspapers for information than on other media, Michigan governor's hold press conferences twice a day.

The governor discusses problems of state government with reporters. The daily newspaper, in the matter of hours, carries news on these developments.

Woes of Michigan grape growers were aired recently at a conference called by Governor G. Mennen Williams and covered by the press. Oddly enough, grape growers apparently boycotted the meeting, as none of them showed up. How to dispose of the 1949 grape crop was announced as the theme. Testimony was given to the effect that growers were demanding $100 a ton, whereas the Welch Grape Juice Company, leading processor, was willing to pay $75. Miles Nelson, state department of agriculture, said the 1949 crop was normal, no surplus existed, and the quality was not up to par. He also told this writer that California grape growers were getting $25 a ton.

Clarence Rolander, information chief of the agriculture department, said that 26 per cent of Michigan's grape crop was usually sold as fresh fruit; 6 per cent was purchased by housewives for jelly and jam; and the remainder was sold to processors for grape juice or wine.

A Detroit produce man reported the modern housewife shuns the chore of making jelly, preferring to purchase ready-made products from the corner grocery. He said the new generation apparently had new ideas, and that applied to Detroit's Italian section, too.

As the grape conference went round and round, getting no-

BING GIVES BEAR PAL JASPER GOLF LESSON

BING CROSBY, who competed in the annual Toren Pole golf tournament at Jasper Park Lodge, Canadian Rockies, makes friends with everybody—even the clownish old bear. This fellow hangs around the garage lot where Bing keeps his car and waits for a handout of sugar. "You're a good guy not to bother me for autographs, so I'll show you how to make a chip shot. You'll be able to beat Hope one of these days," smiled the Great Crooner. Bing's the guy on the right.

where fast testimony quickly focused attention on the general problem of marketing Michigan food crops. It was revealed that Michigan's 1949 apple yield was 11 million bushels, as compared to 4 million bushels last year and a 10-year average of 6 million bushels.

Whereas the grape growers were apparently disinterested in state intervention, Michigan apple growers are very much interested. And yet the solution is not easy. For example, it was pointed out that many apple growers prefer to sell apples in bulk, not in smaller packages as preferred by many retailers and housewives.

Under state agricultural advertising law, any group of growers can qualify for limited state aid if they raise their own funds on a matching basis. Apple growers have done this for years. Furthermore, they raise a substantial sum of money annually by a recent contribution on each bushel of apples sold. This fund is administered by the Michigan State apple commission.

Because of the 1949 bumper crop which incidentally is of excellent quality, the state department of agriculture has offered to provide $1,000 from the department's special fund to augment the commission's program of promotion.

Minard Farley Jr., enterprising secretary of the apple commission, said growers were seeking cooperation of Florida outlets in an effort to obtain an apple haul-back for truckers who bring fresh citrus fruit to Michigan.

The Lake Michigan shore is one of the most important fruit belts in the United States. Grapes, peaches, apples and pears are concentrated here. Michigan ranks third in number of vines and peach trees and acreage of strawberries; fourth and fifth in number of apple and pear trees.

The harder fruits, moreover, are widely distributed in the southern portion of the state. Romeo's peach festival is an example.

Michigan agriculture requires the efforts of many persons other than fulltime farmers and family workers. In 1948 more than 50,000 seasonal workers were employed at the period of peak demand in August.

Surplus crops present the biggest headache to growers. That's where the state of Michigan comes into the picture for inspection, marketing and advertising.

You will have an opportunity to enjoy Michigan apples this fall, winter and spring at attractive prices. As for grapes, the growers apparently patched up their difficulties, and all is well. At least we hope so.

"Buick's the Buy"

It's part of every street scene—something you see every day.

Car owners in three different price classes—all happy about the same thing.

Another will tell you there's nothing like the SUPER's "happy medium" of size and comfort, power and easy handling, style and standing.

And if you're looking for prestige, where is your money going to buy so much as in that handsome 18-footer, the ROADMASTER, with its 150-hp performance and really royal bearing?

But all these good folks get together on this:

There's no ride quite so soft and cushiony as the Buick ride, whatever the size and series. There's no power quite so satisfyingly lively as Buick's high-compression, high-pressure Fireball power.

Above all, there's no "buy" like a Buick—no car that gives you such a rich dollar's worth of smartness, handling, comfort and liveliness for every dollar you pay.

So why not look the whole line over? Your Buick dealer has these grand travel-mates in a baker's dozen of different body types and sizes. Start your shopping in his showroom—and you'll find that even on delivery he has exactly what you want.

BUICK alone has all these features

Periodic Check-Up Saves Tractor Fuel

If you're interested in saving money in tractor operation, the Michigan State College farm machinery specialists have a few hints.

Any of a number of things can be causing high consumption of fuel—faulty spark timing, improper valve tappet setting, leaky valves, or a partially plugged radiator.

Then they suggest a check on the setting of the load needle valve of the carburetor. Even one quarter turn of this valve beyond that which is necessary can result in the use of at least two more gallons of fuel each day.

Be careful not to get the mixture too lean, however, for it will cause the engine to misfire and lose power.

Game Law Digest Has 4 Omissions

Four important omissions occur in the game law digest of the State Conservation Department and other literature. They are: Archers must carry bows unstrung in automobiles; the trapping season opens at noon on the designated dates; Macomb County is closed to Sunday hunting and campers must have permits to use state-owned lands. Permits are obtainable at conservation headquarters and agents selling licenses.

The squeal of brakes in the street outside brings many a mother to the door with fear in her eyes, wondering whether her child will be lying on the pavement. The National Safety Council urges motorists to drive slowly on residential streets, and never to forget that they hold the safety of children in their hands.

If you're as bright as your lights, you'll dim 'em! The National Safety Council says darkness adds danger to highway traffic, especially if drivers are blinded by each other. Keep your eyes and your lights on the road, and avoid glaring errors.

The National Safety Council says there is a slight difference between a driver's license and a hunting license. There is no open season on pedestrians.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our many friends for their sympathy and kindness during the illness and loss of our husband and father.

Implement Company Marks Anniversary

Manure Spreader First Built in 1889

The story of American enterprise is graphically illustrated by two buildings at the Coldwater, Ohio, plant of the New Idea Division, AVCO manufacturing corporation, which this year is celebrating its golden anniversary.

One of these buildings (actually a series of connected buildings) covers over 15 acres and houses 705,000 square feet of manufacturing facilities. Newly expanded, it boasts one of the most modern foundries in the nation and a full complement of equally modern production machines and processes. It is the plant in which New Idea produces its specialized line of farm implements and equipment.

August Bentschilling, who has been with the company 47 years, stands nostalgically at the forge in the "museum"—a replica of the original plant, and it is the same forge at which he worked in his early days with the company.

Across the street is a small, wooden frame building occupying just 1440 square feet of space. In it are an old forge and several simple machines of the kind used for manufacturing in the early 1890's. This is an almost exact replica of the modest structure in which Joseph Oppenheim first began building his now famous manure spreader in 1896 in the nearby village of Maria Stein, Ohio. The communities for miles around Coldwater, and sales personnel throughout the nation, know it as the "museum."

Large letters painted on the front wall identify the building as "New Idea Spreader Works 1899." Inside are the four rooms in which Oppenheim and his helpers fashioned the first one of the most important and most widely used implements ever devised by the farm implement industry.

The first room as you enter was the "forge and machine room," containing a forge, hand shear, hand punch press, hand threading machine, small high speed drill, benches and water tank for cooling a gasoline engine.

Quonset 'Crib'

Shown here is a new, Quonset-type storage quarters for grain which was built by Irvin McKibben, of Maddock, N. D., through a commodity credit corporation financing program. McKibben is supervising the dumping of the first load of his wheat crop into the newly-completed building which was constructed by Agco Steel Buildings, Inc.

Crossbreds Held Finer Type of Beef Animals

Experiments in breeding range cattle show that—annual for animal—crossbreds are a finer type than the purebred stock from which they stem originally.

In making that assertion, a livestock specialist claims there is a definite advantage that could result from planned cross-breeding of beef animals, and lack of uniformity of color is not an indication of inferior market yield.

A cord of seasoned wood will give as much heat as a ton of coal, and leave about one-quarter the amount of ashes.
