NHS Mustangs Seek 4th Victory Friday

Northville's Mustangs will be after their fourth win of the season when they tangle with the Roosevelt Eleven of Inkster tomorrow night at Ford Field in Northville's Homecoming. Inkster was on the short end of a 6-0 score in last year's game. Kick-off is scheduled for 8 p.m.

After a morale-shattering first few minutes in last Friday's game which saw Centerline jump off to a 13-0 lead in 12 plays, the Mustangs settled down, pulled out all stops and came from behind to win 18-13.

Both Centerline touchdowns in the first quarter followed NHS fumbles shortly after kick-off. The first TD was scored when Centerline's Donovan got behind the Northville secondary and took a high, bombshell pass from Parks and japed into the end zone. The second was a seven-yard plunge through the line.

With a 13 point deficit to make up, the Mustangs settled down to business. Quarterback Norm Rodamsky, who was later sidelined for the remainder of the season with a broken leg, took by the ball over the goal on a quarterback sneak from the one-foot line. The touchdown climaxed a 71-yard drive by Northville. Sutton's kick for the extra point was wide.

The Mustangs showed that they had really settled down, shortly later when Chuck Dickinson recovered a Centerline fumble and promptly threw a touchdown pass to Dick Gray that was good for 38 yards. Northville trailed 12-12 at the half.

The game-clinching score came in the last period on Tom Sharake's pass to Ronny Johnson from the 31-yard line.

The Centerline game demonstrated that the Mustangs have improved in all directions. The end performed well as pass receivers and constantly hampered Centerline plays before they could get well under way. The backs ran harder and with more deception and used a passing attack which has been noticeably lacking in previous games this year. The end of the season, however, is four games away.

Dads of the Northville players were honored at the Centerline game by "Dads' Night." Each of the fathers sat on the sidelines wearing his son's number on his back.

H. S. Pupils Invited To Blue Jean Dance

Admission to the dance will be by ticket only and a donation of ten cents will be collected at the door. All high school pupils are cordially invited to attend the event.

Sgt. Musolf's Body Found In Czech.

Mr. and Mrs. William Musolf of Dansville received word recently from the graves registration section of the army that group identification had been made of the B-17 Flying Fortress which their son, Tech. Sgt. Kanoid C. Musolf was lost in.

Sgt. Musolf was lost in his 33rd mission over German-held Europe August 16, 1944. The plane in which he was a member of the crew was found in Czechoslovakia. Sgt. Musolf was well known in Northville, having visited here many times. His aunt is Mrs. Minnie Snow of West Seven Mile Road and he has many other relatives in the vicinity.

The letter to his parents from the Army read, "The department desires that you be given the most recent information concerning your son, the late Technical Sergeant Kanoid C. Musolf."

"The American Graves Registration Service in their search for deceased American personnel recovered certain remains from the area in which your son and others of his command met their death. Identification could not be established at the time of the recovery. Unknown designations were assigned pending further investigation and temporary internments were made in a United States Military cemetery overseas."

"The investigation is now complete and it has been determined that although the circumstances render individual identification impossible, sufficient evidence was obtained to warrant a group identification of these remains."

"These will be shipped to the United States for interment in Jefferson Barracks National cemetery located at St. Louis, Missouri. This particular cemetery was selected as being the most central to the families of the deceased."

"You and the next of kin will be notified of the time and date of final interment sufficiently in advance to permit you to attend the services."

Sgt. Musolf is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Musolf and brother, Neale of Dansville and a grandfather, John Musolf of Grass Lake.

Hunters Fined For Breaking Game Law

Five hunters reached into five pockets and handed over eighty-nine dollars—$17.80 each—in fines and court costs last Monday night at Judge C. A. McCullough's court at the Village Hall. The fines were for violation of hunting laws.

The hunters all plead guilty to various charges, including having loaded guns in cars, hunting without a license and hunting before 10 a.m. Another man was fined for having a hen pheasant in possession. He said that the hen had been hurt by his dog, that he had not killed it himself. "The law," said Judge McCullough, "is clear-cut. A man doesn't have to be convicted of killing the hen pheasant. If he has it in his possession, he's guilty. It's best to leave them entirely alone, even though they may be crippled."

Peoria has the longest uninterrupted weather record in Illinois from 1858 to the present.

"Ring-Rot"

Buying clean seed raised in disease-free fields is good protection against "ring-rot" disease in potatoes.

Painters "Baby" Their Hands On Fall Painting Projects

Autumn is the time when awnings come down, screens are stored, and storm windows come out for painting. If these activities are lined up for your "next-free-Saturday," several ideas can make it easier for you.

Awnings will last longer and look better if they are scrubbed with mild soap and thoroughly rinsed and dried before storage. Metal parts should be lightly oiled.

In storing, hang the awnings with as few folds as possible, and in a dry place to avoid mildew.

If window sills need attention, choose a mild, sunny day for their painting. Brush the sills free of dust; sand them lightly to remove flaky, baby paint. When the sills are in bad condition with some of the raw wood exposed, a primer coat is advised before the regular painting.

Prime Coat for Hands

Smart painters "prime-coat" their hands, too, with a protecting film of baby oil before they begin a painting project. Baby oil rubbed thoroughly into hands before the job makes it easier to get paint off afterwards. The baby oil lubrication does away with the mean, stretched feeling usually left after you've cleaned the skin with drying turpentine.

Other professional tips speed painting, too. A paper picnic plate "glued" to the bottom of the paint can with a dribble of paint, catches stray drippings.

A flexible cardboard guide which can be pressed between the glass and the edge of the window frame helps keep the glass unspattered.

Stiff wrapping paper twisted cone-style or a picnic plate forced around the handle of the paint brush help catch drippings in an overhead paint job.

Disease Transmission

Fears that dust particles in the air might spread the foot-and-mouth disease virus from Mexico to the United States seem to be unfounded, in the light of recent veterinary medical research in Switzerland. Failure to transmit the disease to experimental calves through dust and air from infected quarters led to this conclusion.

Armed Forces

During the war the government employed 11 million in the armed forces.

300 Bad Checks Passed Since July

Vacation days are profitable days for fake check passers in Michigan. More than 300 fraudulent specimens have been turned in to the State Police special investigation bureau since July 1.

Although these were record months from the standpoint of the number of bad checks received by the bureau, the checks represent only a small portion of all those passed in the state.

Last year the Michigan State Police revised their fraudulent check file. It now contains more than a thousand specimens produced by individual passers and a list of some 5,000 names and aliases used by known forgery experts.

There is also a cross-index file of individual check writing characteristics and a collection of photographs of professionals and likely suspects.

According to Detective Fred Kelly, who is in charge of the file, the number of bad checks passed could be greatly reduced if persons who cash them for strangers required more identification. As much identification as possible should be obtained but, he warned, this can be forged, too.

In all instances, pertinent information should be written on the reverse side of the check itself. Kelly advised: "Car license numbers should be obtained whenever possible. And always insist that a check be signed or endorsed in your presence."

Some businessmen require a stranger to place a thumbprint on a check. This is a good practice but prints must be taken properly to be of any use. Special ink pads must be used and the thumb must be rolled, not pressed firmly, on the check.

A professional check passer will gladly press a well-linked thumb on his check, pick up the cash and depart. He knows a pressed print is as worthless for identification purposes as the check he left it on.

SWEET TRUTH ABOUT SUGAR

All sugar for household use is sucrose. So sugar is sugar—no matter whether it comes from beets or cane.

Expert chemists can detect no difference. Leading Home Economists freely state that any supposed difference in pure sugars is simply a figment of the mind.

That's why it's smart shopping to buy sugar for value. Buy—

Northern Mich. Honeymoon Follows Saturday Wedding

Lighted tapers and bouquets of white mums formed the background Saturday night at the Northville Methodist Church for the wedding ceremony which united Helen Louise Boyd and James Orlow. Reading in marriage, Rev. William Hughes read the double ring service at 8 o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Boyd of DuBar street and Mr. Reading is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reading of Detroit.

Carl Stephens sang "Oh Perfect Love", "Through the Years", and "The Lord's Prayer". He was accompanied by Mrs. Richard Sommers.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white skinner satin, fashioned with a marquette yoke edged with a ruffle of chantilly lace, long sleeves which were full at the shoulder and extended to points over the wrists, fitted bodice and a gathered skirt which fell into a long train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion edged in chantilly lace fell from a sweetheart crown with piping of white skinner satin. She carried a colonial bouquet of white rose buds and stephanotis with satin streamers.

Mrs. Dorothy Carey of Northville was the matron of honor and she wore an aqua-taffeta gown, styled with a high neck and small Peter Pan collar, cap sleeves, fitted bodice and a gathered skirt with a bustle in the back. She wore matching muffs and an aqua headpiece adorned her hair. Her colonial bouquet consisted of bronze mums.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Clarence Reading, Jr., of Detroit and Mrs. Alton Miller of South Lyon, wore Indian orchid taffeta gowns similar in style to the matron of honor's. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow mums.

Sharon Ann Johnson of Northville was the flower girl and she wore a yellow taffeta gown similar in style to the other attendants. She carried a colonial bouquet of bronze and yellow mums.

Clarence Reading Jr., of Detroit served as best man and Alton Miller of South Lyon and Jack Doren of Northville were the ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Boyd chose a toast brown dress with dark green accessories. Mrs. Reading wore a pale blue dress with black accessories. Each mother was presented a corsage of yellow mums.

About 200 guests attended the reception held in the church house following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and was centered with a four tiered wedding cake and lighted candles. Mrs. Elvin Fisher of Brighton, aunt of the bride, cut the cake and was assisted by Mrs. Joseph Cramer of Northville. Mrs. Gene Garner, cousin of the bride, had charge of the guest book.

The young couple left on a week's trip to Northern Michigan for going away Mrs. Reading chose a beige and cocoa brown suit with dark brown accessories. Upon their return from their trip they will make their home in Detroit, where Mr. Reading is employed at Cadillac Motors.

Uncle Sam Says

"Take a good look at that plane, Dad! It's the 'Flying Cartoonist' and it's carrying a group of Americans who are doing their 'bit,' a great big 'bit' for their country. The passengers are some of our top-flight cartoonists, every one of whom has helped to sell U. S. Savings Bonds, using their comic strips to emphasize the old American principle of thrift. And they practice what they preach, realizing that the regular purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds is the one sure way to save. And Savings Bonds pay you $4 for every $3 invested, in just ten years."

NEWS and COMMENT FROM CONGRESSMAN GEORGE A. DONDERO

Among all the absurdities of Truman Fair Deal policy, none is greater than the contrast between treatment accorded successful American business firms and the vicious, cartelized monopolies abroad.

his Fair Deal mercenaries view with suspicion these firms in this country well-managed and efficient enough to prosper and expand. The Fair Dealers now are using the Sherman Anti-Trust Act in an effort to disintegrate and perhaps run out of business such firms as Dupont and A.P. The one has been among the strongest factors in improving and at the same time keeping automobiles within the reach of average buyers; the other has long been the greatest single factor in holding down food costs to consumers.

But elsewhere the story is different. Fair Deal politicians rancidly think foreign business firms worth coddling with American tax money; firms almost invariably leagued in the vast monopolistic cartels which destroy free competition and throttle trade. For them ECA funds have been poured out by the billions of dollars. These dollars, of course, have been provided by American taxpayers, including American business firms.

Thus the foreign monopolists have been strengthened in the use of their cartels to fight non-monopolistic American free enterprise for the markets of the world. Uncle Sam sends money to foreign governments which use the money to subsidize the cartels. All of this might have some good reason, such as revival of foreign production, if it were not for the new factor which has entered the situation. This factor has reduced Fair Deal policy to utter absurdity.

Owing to adventures in socialism and the reactionary practices of cartelized industry and trade the foreign nations have failed to revive production to the extent necessary for economic independence. Production unit costs are too high to make possible any real competition with high-wage low-cost American production for world markets. In other words, owing to economic policies in these foreign countries, Uncle Sam has largely failed in an effort to rehabilitate the war-worn productive and trade organizations and plants upon which any renewed economic strength and prosperity must depend.

But now even the Fair Deal politicians are forced to realize that Uncle Sam is beginning to scrape the bottom of the barrel of his generosity. The time is approaching when tax money which vast quantities no longer will be available for the aid of countries which pursue economic policies that defeat their own recovery. Government tax income must continue to fall so long as the Fair Dealers harass and obstruct taxable wealth-producing American business firms.

So what do the President and his Fair Deal advisers do? They call for large-scale private investment of American capital in these foreign countries. They ignore the fact that small investors cannot safely invest abroad; that only these successful business firms, with their skilled management and financial wisdom, can do so without certain loss. They even propose liberalized tax laws on income earned in foreign countries, while continuing to impose well-nigh confiscatory taxes on income earned at home.

Large scale private investment of American money abroad doubtless should be the means of further attempts to rehabilitate the foreign economies; Uncle Sam already has handed out $13,269,000,000 in grants since the war, and has extended $10,000,000,000 more in largely uncollectible credits. But if this is to be done, the Fair Dealers must cease the harassment of successful American business; must, indeed, encourage such success in every way possible.

This policy of attempting to smash big, well-managed companies at home, while seeking to encourage the vicious cartels which have strangled business enterprise abroad for many years, is utterly absurd. It just doesn't make sense.

Pork, Apple Prices Expected To Drop

Even though a three-year low in cost of living figures was reached recently, additional drops in the retail prices of two important commodities, pork and apples, can be expected. C. O. Talla, branch manager of the Kroger Company in this area said today.

Pointing to a 13 per cent increase in hog numbers, with peak marketing yet to be reached, and the largest apple crop in more than 10 years, he said that both were plentiful in supply and prices were the lowest in years.

Kroger, as well as many other food distributors, is staging extra promotions, running newspaper advertising and featuring displays and prices on both items in an effort to stimulate an increase in the movement of these farm products. "Moving the abundant supply quickly will not only aid producers, but also will provide consumers with good values," the Kroger official said.

Prior to the war years, Kroger and many other food chains conducted these producer-consumer promotions to move agricultural surpluses. Such promotions proved effective in stabilizing farm prices. "Keeping farm prices from sinking below the cost of production is in the best interest of both the consumer and the producer," Mr. Talla said.

Wayne—A program dedicating the slighted athletic field in Lower Rouge Park has been suggested by the Wayne High School Athletic Council and, according to Wayne High School Principal Don Randall, the program will be presented preceding the Wayne-Ypsilanti football game which will be played here Friday night, October 21, at 8.

Anthrax—May through September are the principal months for outbreaks of anthrax in livestock.

Sting Rays—Some of the fresh-water sting rays of the great Orinoco river in Venezuela are found more than 1,600 miles inland from its mouth. All have a long, sharp spine, usual in the middle of the tail.

Egg Producers Get Better Prices By Watching Trends

Consumers of Michigan-produced eggs have gained some benefits from the educational campaign for higher quality production in recent years. A recent study by the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station shows that farmers are marketing cleaner eggs and more high quality eggs since 1942.

The study was a research project of L. E. Dawson and J. A. Davidson of the Michigan State College poultry department which dealt primarily with eggs marketed through grading stations. The report is based on a survey of records of Michigan's first federal-state egg grading station started in 1937 at Hamilton, Michigan.

The most important trend in the study shows that producers in the Hamilton area are taking advantage of the seasonal trend which has resulted in higher egg prices in the fall and winter. Throughout the United States, production in the months of October through January is not adequate to fill the demand. Producers in the Hamilton area, as a result of the grading and educational program, plan production to get more eggs during these months of improved prices.

Turkey Supply Good For Locker Buying

If you have a frozen food locker or home freezer you may want to take this tip on your holiday turkey supply from Howard C. Zindel, Michigan State College poultry extension specialist. Zindel thinks now is the time to get the "bird in the hand" and then into the freezer.

There's no fear of a turkey shortage this season, but Zindel thinks prices are lower now than they may be when the holiday demand picks up. Some producers started birds earlier this year and the supply of turkeys of most sizes is adequate. Properly dressed and frozen, the turkeys will keep in frozen food storage for many months.

Signs are multiplying that the proposed bridge over the Straits of Mackinac will soon become a pressing issue. The Michigan Hotel Association recently adopted a resolution recommending to the Governor and to the State Highway Commissioner that every effort should be made at a nearby date to bring about the construction of the bridge. The resolution pointed out that the structure could be constructed 50 per cent of its cost being paid by grant of the congress and the remaining 50 per cent being paid by sale of revenue bonds to private investors "without obligation of any kind on the part of the state." Hotel men feel keenly that Michigan will miss a good bet if the traffic bottleneck at the Straits is not removed in the near future. Leading argument: Modjeski and Masters, bridge and traffic engineers, forecast that motor traffic across the Straits would triple in one year after completion of a bridge.

Approximately 5,000 employees of the Ford Motor Company at Dearborn will be eligible for retirement in April, 1950 at pensions of $100 per month including Social Security benefits. The company estimates that 13,000 employees are sixty years of age or over. The new pension plan will cost the company $20,000,000 per year. Increase in the price of Ford automobiles may be an indirect result.

With election of Wyley R. Kirk of Fairgrove as chairman of the State Agricultural Commission, speculation has increased that Charles Figy, director of the State Department of Agriculture,

HAROLD BLOOM

This Question:

We have just built a new ramp-up room in our basement, and have bought new furniture for it. Is there any kind of insurance that would cover loss to the furniture if the sewer should back up and run it?

may be replaced in the near future. Figy was reappointed by the old commission early in 1949, but the usual one-year appointment was withheld.

Governor G. Mennen Williams continues to utilize the Attorney General and State Controller as agencies to put Republican state elective officials on the defensive. The Attorney General has ruled that purchases by the Highway Department must be cleared through the Department of Administration of which the controller is director. As Republicans hold a majority on the state administrative board, headed by the Governor, the recent moves by Williams have been largely nullified.

Banks of Michigan paid a record sum of $3,503, 673 as interest earnings on funds of the State Treasury, it is announced by State Treasurer D. Hale Brake. Brake has been mentioned as a possible Republican candidate for Governor in 1950. Accordingly, he has been the target of criticisms by Governor Williams, well publicized in the press. When the Governor asked the State Treasurer to collect interest on some $32,000,000 in state funds on deposit at banks, Brake replied with a press statement that such was not practical in view of the state needs for funds and requirements of banks for 30 to 60 day or longer withdrawal notice for money on deposit drawing interest.

The October term of the Michigan Supreme Court is being watched carefully by Lansing observers. Among the cases before jurists is the suit brought by Attorney General Stephen J. Roth, contesting appointment of former Gov. Kim Sigler as Special Macomb County Prosecutor. The case involves a charge that former Senator Ivan A. Johnston, Mt. Clemens, allegedly accepted a bribe while serving as Macomb County Prosecutor. Special Macomb Judge Paul R. Cash, Alma, ruled in favor of Sigler.

The continued trend of high school graduates to colleges and universities is shown by the all-time enrollment record at Michigan State College, East Lansing. The 1948 total was 15,886 the new record is 16,051. Of this number 43 per cent are war veterans. To remind visitors that most of its new buildings are being financed without cost to the public, the college administration has erected large signs in front of new buildings with this reminder.

Contracts have been awarded by the state administrative board for construction of the first 500 bed unit of the new Northville State Mental Hospital. Total overall cost of the hospital development is expected to approximate $12,000,000 with facilities for 3,000 patients. The hospital is only 30 minutes from downtown Detroit.

Grass root sentiment on state issues are to be studied by a republican policy planning committee headed by Dr. Robert M. Ford of the University of Michigan. Ford was a former administrative assistant to former governor Harry F. Kelley Vice-Chairman are Herman H. Luhrs, Royal Oak; Mrs. Isabelle Schwaderer, Cass City, and George A. Osborn, Sault Ste. Marie.

Horses Must Work To Pay Their Way

Tractors are found on almost every Michigan farm, but here and there a team of horses is still kept for special jobs. Farmers who have "one last team" claim there is no sentiment connected with the animals. The horses get board and room and often spend much time in their stalls.

John Doneth, agricultural economist at Michigan State College, estimates that unless the team is working at least 700 hours a year it is not paying its way.

So though "sentiment" may not enter the picture—the team is getting a lot of paid vacation unless working at least 70 work days 10 hours long each year.

Market Turkeys In Convenient Form

Thanks to the development of the modern turkey industry we no longer need to reserve that special treat for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Turkey is now a thrifty meat choice any day in the year.

Both whole turkeys and parts are marketed in new, convenient forms—ready-to-cook, either frozen or freshly drawn. It is also marketed in ready-to-eat forms—canned, frozen, smoked, advises Jeanette Lee, assistant to the dean of home economics at Michigan State College.

Modern turkeys come both smaller and larger than their ancestors. They are also meatier, more tender, plumper, and more compact with a larger proportion of breast meat. The smaller ones are suited for the small oven.

Dressed birds come higher priced than live ones and ready-to-cook ones higher than dressed turkeys. But the actual cost per pound of ready-to-cook weight is about the same for all three. The reason is that the dollar spent on live or dressed birds buys more waste. Worth considering too is kitchen time saved on ready-to-cook birds.

Weight loss in dressing and drawing varies with the bird. In dressing, turkeys lose from 8 to 12 percent of their live weight. In drawing, dressed turkeys lose 13 to 16 percent of their dressed weight. From the live to the ready-to-cook state, turkeys lose from 20 to 26 percent of their weight.

Turkey parts are half turkeys and quarter "turkey roasts." Other popular parts are disjointed pieces or "cut-ups"—legs, breast, wings, necks, back, cross-cut steaks and fricassee pieces.

Michigan waterfowl hunters, conservationists and philatelists purchased 83,582 federal duck stamps last year to place the state sixth in sales throughout the nation. The largest sale, 171,388, was recorded in California. A record-breaking 2,127, 588 stamps were sold nationally.

J. H. Hale, Halehaven, Fertile Hale, and Elberta varieties of peaches are recommended for freezing by Dr. Pauline Paul, Michigan State College frozen foods researcher.

The duck hunter who becomes more skillful in judging distances, takes into consideration the killing range of his gun, and shoots only at reasonable ranges can help reduce the number of cripples.

Commercial plywood as known today dates from 1905 when it was first made in St. Johns, Oregon.

HOLE BIGGER, MODERN STYLE—A Michigan Bell pole-hole digging truck. On the rear is a huge corkscrew-like drill. Where soil conditions permit, it bores down into the ground and digs a clean, deep hole in a few minutes. Then a derrick on the truck hoists the pole and lowers it into the hole. This is one of many modern, time-saving devices Michigan Bell is using to help speed more telephone service to rural areas.

FAMILY AFFAIRS—Throughout Michigan Bell there are many instances of two or more kinsfolk employed by the company. In Detroit, for example, a mother and her three daughters work at a Long Distance switchboard. In Pontiac there are more than 100 employees included in mother-daughter, brother-sister, father-son, aunt-niece, sister-brother-cousin, and in-law combinations. In some cases, working for the telephone company has become almost a family tradition.

TAILOR-MADE FOR THE FARMER—The telephone saves time for all who use it. But it's particularly valuable to the farmer. He often lives some distance from markets, suppliers, stores, friends and neighbors. One telephone call, to buy, sell or order something, or talk to an acquaintance, may save many miles of driving... many minutes or hours of time which can be devoted to the farm. When you think of the work it does, the cost of the telephone is really mighty small.

Turks Feet Into Miles
Filament wire 565 miles long is drawn from a single two-foot-long, four and one-half-pound bar of pure tungsten at the Westinghouse plant in Bloomfield, N. J. The wire is about one-sixth the diameter of an average human hair, is used in six-watt light bulbs.

Steel Piss
Veterinarians have taken a tip from surgeons. Many pets and valuable animals are saved each year through the use of stainless steel pins for bone setting.

Bright Garnish
A clever garnish for pork chop platter. Cut a cucumber into one-half inch slices. Again cut each slice but not quite through, then slip a thin slice of red radish into the cucumber.

OF CONGERS, NEW YORK

We're Sure that Millions of Farmers and Consumers Feel Just as You Do!

One of the wonderful things about Americans is their great sense of fair play. Ever since the anti-trust lawyers announced their intention of putting A&P out of business, tremendous numbers of people like Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York, have deluged us with letters, wires and phone calls. These people are telling us, as Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies do in the following letter, why they like A&P and why they don't want to see this company destroyed.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

Gentlemen:

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.,
New York City, New York

We have been distressed by the possibility that the A. and P. stores, because of unfair accusations, may cease to exist. I wonder if you will see that our letter reaches the proper source, if there is one.

We are farmers, as you know, and not only sell our products, but buy necessary food from local A. and P. stores. We deliver farm produce, daily, to approximately eighteen stores in nearby villages. This includes two A. and P. markets, whose managers very wisely buy on-the-spot, thus saving deterioration due to excess handling, transportation and longer time from the farm to store. Our price to sixteen stores is the same as we get from the two A. and P. stores.

We wondered whether the low prices we see all the time in A. and P. stores might mean that sales people were underpaid. Evidently not, for we have noticed that the same employees stay on year after year, and we know high-school students in our town who have started at the bottom with A. and P. and risen to responsible positions.

Then what is this all about, if the consumers, the salespeople, and those who manufacture your brands, the truckmen, the laborers and the farmers are ALL satisfied?

We believe the answer is simple. The A. and P. has developed an organization whose efficiency should be an example to all stores handling food. If this were so, independent grocers could well expect larger profits. The solution is not in destroying something that has taken years to build, but in encouraging all merchants to still further improve the efficiency of their operations.

Very sincerely,

Niles M. Davies
Eileen Davies

For 90 years this company has tried to build a sound business on the basis of giving consumers more good food for their money and giving farmers better markets for their products.

It is heartening to know that the public approves of the job we have done... to know that our policy of fair, honest dealing has won us the friendship of millions of consumers and farmers.

We will always be grateful to all our good friends who have offered us their help.

We are proud to live in a country where such things can happen.
