LANDMARK TO BE RAZED

Public Is Invited To View Old Opera House Saturday

One of Northville's oldest landmarks, the Opera House is about to be torn down to make way for the New Center Building, a handsome edifice which will consist of four stories and seven apartments.

With the razing of the opera house, Northville will lose its last tangible trace of an aristocratic era. That era's activities were centered about the opera house around the turn of the century, when ladies in velvet and lace gowns and patent leather shoes and men in Prince Albert coats, plug hats and canes, arrived in horse drawn carriages to attend the opera.

The public is invited to view the old opera house on Saturday between the hours of 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at their own risk. A policeman will be on hand to keep the crowd moving. No smoking will be allowed.

A stroll through the opera house, which is located on the second floor of the four story red brick building on the corner of Center and Dunlap Streets, brings on a surge of nostalgia which is difficult to stem. Although the red, blue, green and orange paint is fading and peeling, the plaster is cracked, the staves and the windows are broken, a visitor wandering through the old building cannot but visualize the grandeur of a yesterday, for the opera house was once the heart of Northville's social life.

The stairway leading to the tiny ticket office is thin and creaks with old age, and must have carried many of Northville's prominent pioneers to see "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Peck's Bad Boy" or "The Two Orphans."

The curtain, tattered, dusty and mellowed with age and the warped, backdrops are still intact on the old stage. Over the stage is painted a gigantic black owl, its wings outstretched as in flight.

The eye meets a sign to the right of the stage which reads, "Rules of this house, no whistling, stamping of feet, scuffling, throwing missiles or loud talking. This means you." These rules were enforced.

The two opera boxes are still there, their carpets worn threadbare. A handbill which reads, "Opera, one night only, August 22," still lies on the floor. The little red cherubs holding stage

Calendars To Be Distributed Soon

Northville community calendars for the year 1950, made possible by the local business men and sponsored by the Northville Coordinating Council, will be distributed throughout the village and rural area within the next few days.

Under the direction of Mrs. Elden Biery, chairman of the local distribution by the Cub Scouts, the delivery will be made with the help of the Den Mothers.

Please patronize the advertisers who make the calendars possible each year.

Xmas Seal Sale Now In Progress

Villagers recently received through the mail their 1949 TB Christmas seals. Mrs. Gerald Woodworth, chairman of the local drive states that in addition to the direct mailing of the seals, booths are open at the bank theatre and at the post office for the convenience of those who wish to purchase seals.

Tuberculosis is one of the most important health problems facing the American people today and this is especially true here in Northville and in the Wayne County area. Last year, tuberculosis killed 955 Detroiters and Wayne county people. Three thousand and sixty-four new cases were reported in Detroit last year, which is over half of the entire number found in all of Michigan.

Nationwide efforts to bring tuberculosis under complete control in this country were started 45 years ago when the National Tuberculosis Association was founded and launched its campaign against the disease.

Today the TB and Health Society of Wayne County is one of 3,000 associations affiliated with the National Association which are conducting sound programs of tuberculosis control in communities throughout the country.

With the funds derived from the sale of double ended cross Christmas seals the Wayne County TB and Health Society is helping to seek the unknown cause of tuberculosis in the County so that the people can be placed under treatment and the danger of their spreading their disease eliminated. It is being that people are correctly informed about tuberculosis so that individuals can protect themselves and their families against the disease. It is aiding tuberculosis patients to readjust to their new way of life and to prepare them to resume useful living in their communities when the disease is arrested.

If enough money is secured from the present seal drive another X-ray Mobile unit will be purchased for use in Wayne County. Buy Christmas seals today!

Northville Delegates Report On Girl Scout Convention

The Northville Girl Scout program, year by year, has grown increasingly important, not only in unit membership, but as a youth function dedicated to the primary Scout goal - that of making each girl a self-reliant, useful member of her community.

An executive council, fashioned after the plan of the highly functional council of larger areas, has recently been established to guarantee the most effective medium of better planning for the girls and to afford Northville a closer tie in with the National and International program. Scouting personnel agree that the new council, together with the newly inaugurated leaders training program, played a big part in making the 1949-1950 season the most successful and profitable in terms of achieving the greatest possible good for Northville Girl Scouts.

In accordance with the council's plan of having the program dovetail with the National set-up, a specific fund was set aside in the budget to send a delegate to the annual International Girl Scout Convention. This year, since two members, Mrs. Fran Jennings, Education chairman, and Mrs. Alec Lawrence, Troop leader's chairman, had already planned to attend, each was partially subsidized to represent Northville and to attend those sessions specifically planned to meet the needs of Scouting in areas similar to Northville.

Following is a report to the community by each of the delegates:

Mrs. Alec Lawrence: "Milwaukee turned a friendly shade of green when 6000 women descended upon it for the National Girl Scout Convention in November. The first thought which hit you as you looked out over several acres of delegates was the heart-warming fact that here were 6000 human beings, from all parts of the country, bound together for four days by a genuine and constructive interest in the welfare of young people.

"The sheer mechanics of the convention deserves a special applause. It is no easy job to handle as large a delegation as that. Yet there were no visible errors in timing or planning.

"Whereas most of the program was in the hands of adult Scouts, Milwaukee's young people kept before everyone the fact that 'The Girl' is the core of Scouting. Everyone was impressed with the poise of the senior girls, some from the International Troop and some from the blue-clad Marine's troop. They took their places at the microphones with complete poise and self-assurance.

"One of the highlights of the convention was Dr. Lillian Gilbreth's talk at the closing afternoon session. A safety engineer by profession, and famous as the mother in 'Cheaper by the Dozen,' Dr. Gilbreth is also an active member of the Girl Scout organization.

"The convention laid particular stress on a good camping program, as year-round outdoor activities are the core of Girl Scouting. Northville's future plans will include camp training for (Continued on Back Page)

If your grey hair won't embarrass you, my catchphrase might." Or Mrs. Hughes' frantic efforts to become a social bug in the community.

Northville's Yesterdays

One Year Ago:

The Rotary Club this year is reviving the tradition for home and town Christmas decorations. Spearheaded by this service club, the village took on a pine scented atmosphere last week-end as lighted strings of pine were strung.

A total of 1324 persons took advantage of the free chest x-ray service when the mobile unit was in Northville December 2 and 3.

The Northville Recreation Committee next Monday evening will hold two showings of Christmas movies at the Presbyterian church house.

Poster Fred Van Atta is the new Cub Master, and Robert McTigue is the new assistant Cub Master. A. Russell Clarke is secretary and treasurer of the organization.

An ad for a Northville Women's Shop reads as follows: A very fine selection of Kayser silk hose, boudoir caps, Billie Burks and camisoles make lovely Christmas gifts.

Jack Pickford and Mable Norman will be seen with Harold Lloyd in the "Yarnin'" at the Alceum theatre. Admission is 20 cents.

Under the bold heading "Don't Let Anybody Fool You!" the ad states that the success of the civil action will destroy A & P, raise the cost of food and increase the likelihood of similar attacks on other chain stores.

The company states the anti-trust lawyers are "trying, by court decision, to impose a new kind of economic policy on the people of this country. If they succeed in destroying A & P, they will be destroying the method of distribution that has helped to make the American standard of living the envy of the world", the ad states.

The A & P arguments are directed against claims made by anti-trust representatives in speeches, radio talks, letters and newspaper releases. The Washington lawyers say that the suit will not close a single A & P store, will result in lower food prices and will only affect A & P.

The A & P points out that the court is being asked to "break up A & P's retail stores into seven groups, each of which must be sold to different owners, and operated under new management" and to "order us to sell A & P factories which produce many of the fine foods you find in our stores, to still other new owners."

"None of the present owners, who have made A & P what it is today, can have anything to do with either the stores or the factories," the ad continues.

"No one can predict what the policies of the new owners of the various parts of A & P will be. Nor, despite the anti-trust lawyers' statements, can anyone tell how many A & P stores will remain open or will be closed. So while there may be a food store where your A & P is now located, it won't be your A & P store. Make no mistake about it. If the anti-trust lawyers win their suit, it will mean the end of A & P as you know it."

The company cites reasons why the suit would result in higher food prices instead of lower costs as the government lawyers claim. "The very heart of the anti-trust lawyers' case is that A & P's methods, which they claim are illegal, have enabled the company to undersell competitors. How can anyone possibly say that you will get lower food prices by eliminating the company that has done so much to bring them down?"

The ad goes on to explain that the suit would make A & P get rid of its manufacturing facilities which enable it to pass savings along to consumers in the form of lower prices.

"Make no mistake about it," the ad states. "If the anti-trust lawyers succeed in putting A & P out of business, you will find your food bill higher."

In refutation of the government claim that only the A & P will be affected, the ad points out that the suit can be used as a basis for an attack against other grocers and merchants in other lines.

"If A & P is destroyed," according to the company, "no businessman could safely pursue an aggressive sales policy designed to lower prices and give his customers a better deal if by so doing he takes business away from any competitor."

The company's statement concludes by saying, "Even if the anti-trust lawyers have no intention now of prosecuting other suits, a decision against A & P will establish a precedent that could be used by the present anti-trust lawyers, or any future anti-trust lawyers, to destroy any efficient business that buys cheaply, sells cheaply and grows big in the process."

Job Opportunities Are Plentiful For College Grads

Winter graduates of the nation's colleges will find plenty of jobs, but they won't compare with the post-war flush of top positions available from companies then hard-pressed for executive talent of all types.

Tom H. King, director of the Michigan State College placement bureau, advised seniors there will be enough jobs for fall and winter graduates, but it will mean harder work and for a longer period of time than before.

"Graduates will have to return to the procedure of working from the ground up," he attributed this to the general cut-back in in-training courses by business and industry because of an oversupply of college graduates employed.

King said most businesses felt a recession was in the offing last Spring and juked plans for expansion. Firms slashed long-range employment of college trained men more than 25 per cent last year.

"However," King said, "biggest firms having large numbers of employees reaching retirement age, leaving for other positions, or necessitating replacements through death require a large number of college graduates every year."

Most fields, though, mainly crowded in the past few years by college graduates, will make room for qualified applicants, King said. Foreign trade and exporting, however, have shown a marked decrease in number of new men employed during the past eight years, he said.

"But the average engineer, accountant, teacher, or business administration major will find positions about as open as they have ever been," King said.

MSC Receives Grant from Carnegie Corp.

Construction of a Memorial Chapel, honoring 341 alumni and students killed in World War II, will begin soon on the Michigan State College campus.

Construction of the non-sectarian chapel will mark the first step toward completion of a $300,000 Memorial Center, objective of a fund drive launched in June, 1947. Other part of the project will be the building of an International House to provide accommodations for study, discussion and meetings of foreign students.

The Memorial Chapel will cost approximately $170,000, which approximates the amount of contributions received thus far through the Memorial Center fund drive, according to Tom H. King, alumni director.

An intensified program to complete the total project has been launched by the MSC Alumni Advisory Council, and it is hoped that construction on the International House can begin within the next year, King said.

Rheumatic Fever Fund Receives Two Grants

The health of the children of Michigan received a substantial assist from the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation and the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. when these two organizations made grants totaling $10,500 to the Rheumatic Fever Control Program of the Michigan State Medical Society. Announcement of the gifts was made by L. Fernald Foster, M.D., Bay City, Secretary of the Society.

The largest grant, $6,000 from the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., was announced by Ernest Richards, prominent Alpena Publisher, and Percy C. Angove, Detroit, President and Executive Secretary respectively of the Society. Henry T. Ewald, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Michigan Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation presented the check of $4,500 for his organization.

Dr. Foster in announcing the gifts said "that the life-giving program of rheumatic fever detection centers currently operating in thirty Michigan cities can now be enlarged through the generosity of these grants. In a few short years Michigan has progressed in this program to the point where other states and cities are looking to this Commonwealth for leadership. With the added funds we can go further toward the end of making available to all the people of Michigan the latest findings in the diagnosis of rheumatic fever and arthritis."

Statehood Is First In Minds Of Hawaiians

ALL THAT REMAINS to remind Hawaiians of a fateful Sunday in 1941 when Japan's air and sea power sought a soft spot in America's Pacific defenses are the rows of white crosses in the cemeteries and the figure "7" under December on the calendar.

Even the white crosses are vanishing as the bodies of most of the Pearl Harbor dead are being taken home for reburial.

While the name Pearl Harbor is on the tongue of the world as synonymous with surprise and treacherous attack and our defense chiefs are trying to out-guess potential enemies upon the next Pearl Harbor, Hawaiians themselves are concerned with something less military—statehood.

Whether or not the strategic center for control of the Pacific still lies near Pearl Harbor or has shifted elsewhere is not argued in Hawaii.

The people have been keenly interested in statehood since the territory was organized in 1900. The Japanese attack they consider just an event in their history. They'll tell you a long striving to achieve statehood is their history, not to be overshadowed by any one event.

They do not consider it incongruous that Japan's first blow against the nation of which they hope to become a part was aimed at Pearl Harbor. But they are tired of martyrdom and the look of an amused memory that crosses the faces of Americans when December 7 is mentioned. They want equality for their territory with the 48 states.

A Letter To Santa!

Northville, Michigan

Dear Santa:

Went down to that new Dodge & Plymouth showroom here in town to other day. Had quite a talk with them two fellows down there that sell cars. In your last letter you said you were looking for something to haul your Christmas presents in if there wasn't any snow. Well, you should see the nice Plymouth Suburban they have there. Green, just for Christmas! And room to carry all your presents and Mrs. Claus can even ride with you. They said it cost $1890.35 and then something about a heater as a Christmas present with the car.

Now, for your helpers up at the North Pole, they have some of them new used reconditioned cars at good prices. Set for the cold North Pole weather, too. Why, I saw a 1941 Chevrolet, an '41 Ford, an '46 Plymouth, an '40 Plymouth an they all looked pretty good to me. But they had a '41 Dodge there that needed some work on it. Well, Santa, it just needs some time on it. Maybe your toy man could use this one.

Then they are giving some kind a Christmas present to all their friends that come in at Christmas time. Oh yes, and I nearly forgot to tell you Santa, all the cars they have there can be bought today and the first payment isn't due for forty-five days.

If you know of anyone that is looking for a new Dodge or a new Plymouth, now is the time to buy one and make it a Christmas present to the whole family.

Well, good luck Santa and we'll leave a piece of apple pie and cheese on the table for you. Don't forget, Lincoln Logs for Johnny and a cement mixer for George.

Yours truly,
Daddy Dan

Basketball NEWS

The NHS Mustangs will travel to Brighton tomorrow night for their second game of the season, and try for their second win. Brighton is just up the road a piece, and a gymful of Northville rooters would make a big difference in how the team feels. Let's get behind the lads.

A new addition to basketball rules in high school this year is intended to minimize some of the roughness which often accompanies the closing minutes of a game. In the last three minutes of play, if a foul is committed, the fouled player takes whatever number of free throws he's entitled to, but the ball is not in play. All players move around behind him to the middle of the floor. After the player has finished his shot, the team of which he is a member takes the ball out of bounds.

One of the purposes of this new rule is to stop deliberate fouling or near-fouling to get possession of the ball. This often happened in past games, especially if the score was close.

Nobody has anything against a basketball team playing aggressively, but the feeling of coaches and officials is that often a game has a tendency to degenerate into football or a wrestling match for that all-important possession of the ball. Hence the rule.

VARSITY
In a game which had its rough moments, the Mustang varsity five pulled steadily away from the Clarenceville Trojans last Friday night, and won the first basketball game of the season, 48-25.

In the first half the Trojans from Clarenceville High School of Farmington played aggressive ball, with not too much finesse. The Mustangs, using a zone defense and a fast-breaking offense, occasionally allowed themselves to be drawn into the Clarenceville style of play, but mostly stuck to their own tactics and played smooth, fast basketball. The fast break was working well, with Captain Gerry Heaton often the spearhead. Heaton piled up 18 points to top the night's efforts, and Bob Godette led the Trojan scoring with nine points. At halftime, the Mustangs led 22-15.

In the third quarter the Mustangs stuck strictly to their own style of basketball and garnered 14 points, while holding the Trojans to zero.

Captain Harry Smith sent in a new team to start the fourth quarter, consisting of Bob Cole, Dick Coolman, John Poulos, Dick Robinson and Norm Rody (Rodanski). They played for five minutes, and Smith used his entire team before the game ended. Clarenceville scored ten points in the fourth quarter, but the Mustangs added 12 to their total to bring the final count to 48-25.

The starting line-up was Jennings, Heaton, Stanley, Prom and Porter.

Michigan State College has received a grant of $32,500 from the Carnegie Corporation of New York to set up an area program in research and evaluation center. Funds are to be used over a five-year period for study of problems involved in providing technical assistance to "economically underprivileged areas of the world."

By virtue of the grant MSC will have opportunity to assist in carrying out President Truman's new-famous Point Four program. Objectives will be to improve agricultural extension methods and make available technical and scientific findings of this country—all calculated to raise the standard of living in foreign nations.

Dr. Charles P. Loomis, head of MSC's department of sociology and anthropology, will direct the center and research project. Work will start immediately in Costa Rica, with extension of the project later to Colombia, Peru and other South American countries.

Support and cooperation for the work will come from the Inter-American Institute of Agricultural Sciences of the Pan-American Union, located in Costa Rica.

RESERVES
The Mustang reserve quintet played an all-around better game of basketball last Friday night at the NHS gym in swamping the Clarenceville reserves, 39-15.

The game was never close, with Northville gathering 20 points in the first half and holding the Trojans scoreless.

In the first two quarters the Mustangs showed the benefit of better training. Reserve Coach Dick Kay's team constantly out-jumped the Clarenceville players, showed more organization and usually controlled the ball.

In the second half Clarenceville settled down to some extent and began using plays, showing more team effort and coordination. Northville, in spite of the fact that there was slightly less coordination and team balance, piled up 19 points while Clarenceville was getting 15.

Captain Pete Spagnuolo was high scorer for the Mustangs, with 10 points, and Albers was top for the Trojans, with six. The reserve team for Northville was composed of Spagnuolo (Capt), Turk Stalker, Don Maclean and Don Graham at right forward; David Lee, Gene Maloney, Jerry Graham and Jerry Freydl at left forward, and Harold Weeks, Denny Carl, Chuck Dickinson and Weston Fitzpatrick at center.

Packers Outclaw Wildcats, 6-2, Keep Hockey Lead

A small but enthusiastic crowd gathered at Riverside Arena last Monday night to watch the Packers outclaw the Wildcats, 6-2, and keep their lead in the Michigan Amateur Roller Hockey League to two full games.

The game was wild and rough with hard checking but few penalties, were served. Both goalies put in a full night's work. The Wildcats netted twice, and the Packers goal keeper topped 35 tries.

The Packers collected two goals in each of the first two periods. In the third the Wildcats moved their claw, but only briefly. Also, a riot of last Wilest rusher, Center George Jann on took a pass from right wing Eric Clenchman and landed the puck into the net, but the Packers' Fuzzy Sutherland nullified it, assisted by Kenby Dea. Right Wing Jack Stevenson scored for the Packers' moments later in a scramble in front of the net on a pass from Sutherland.

The game's last goal was a roller which the Packers goalie watched roll lazily up to the net, take a crazy wobble and tumble in.

Games are played every Monday night at Riverside, and Wednesdays at Arcadia Roller Rink in Detroit.

What Happened To Mighty Mite?

What's happened to Mighty Mite? That's the question being asked at Westfield Farm Supply.

Has some feline fancier cat-rapped him, or has he merely gone the way of all cats and eloped? All evidence seems to point to foul play.

Mighty is short haired, grey and half Blue Persian. He can be easily identified by his abnormal front paws.

While he was at the Westfield store, Mighty Mite was as near to cat heaven as he could get. No cat ever had it so good. Because he had seven toes on each of his front paws, he was something of an oddity and a celebrity. He had all the attention he could want. He took advantage of the lime light and refused to stalk the rodent kingdom. His mice were delivered to him wrapped neatly in paper.

Mighty disliked the outdoors. There isn't much chance of his having heard the call of the wild. He was deaf to everything but praise.

No cat with a gold-plated deal like that would deliberately walk away from it. The evidence, Watson, is circumstantial, but convincing. Some unknown party has fished the feline, but who?

NEWS FROM NOVI

By Mrs. L. Rix

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Murdock received about one hundred guests at an open house at their farm home on Thirteen Mile Rd., Sunday afternoon. The occasion was the celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. They received many lovely gifts from old friends and neighbors. Mr. and Mrs. Murdock have spent their entire married life on the farm which Mr. Murdock inherited from his father, an old pioneer. Mrs. Murdock was the former Vina Phelps, whose parents were also pioneers, and lived on a farm near North Farmington.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garlick spent Thanksgiving and the following day with their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Dean Parker at Mont Rose.

Mrs. Marie DePogter of Detroit has leased the Rowley House and will have charge as supervisor of the Novi Convalescent Home, as the Rowley House will then be identified.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greer moved their furniture into their new home on West Grand River over the week-end and expect to be settled very soon.

Mrs. A. McCollum is getting some relief from a severe eye affliction with the treatments she is now undergoing.

The Sunshine Club will meet with Mrs. Fred Garlick for their Christmas passing party next Wednesday, December 14. They will have a noon-day pot-luck dinner.

Mrs. Norman Rowley and son and Herbert Rowley left Novi early Sunday morning for Pomona, Calif., where Mrs. Rowley will join her husband, who has a lovely new home awaiting her arrival. Norman Rowley is a printer and works on the Pomona Press. The Rowley's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Munro and children also live in Pomona.

The Novi Blue Star Mothers had a very successful bazaar and bake sale last Saturday. They cleared over $100.00. There are several aprons, a few

Mrs. Fran Jennings: "The Thirtieth National Girl Scout Convention was held in Milwaukee November 15-18, 1949 with attendance between seven and eight thousand."

"Sixteen years ago, the Girl Scout membership had 315,904 registered members. Today there are more than a million and a quarter of us. The phrase 'Come Along With Us' was chosen as our new slogan, because it so neatly expresses what Girl Scouts are doing and hope to do. It suggests action, forward moving, cooperative action in an organization which has proved through thirty seven years that it knows how to work with young people."

"The International Juliette Low discussion was a most interesting and inspiring one. Twenty-nine countries besides our own have Girl Scouts and Girl Guides in both the Brownie and Scout age groups. It is wonderful to know that our Girl Scouts here have the opportunity to help Girl Scouts in other countries through the Juliette Low World Friendship Committee."

"There is a new world pin available. Wearing this pin will let the whole world know that you are a member of an International organization."

"The Northville Girl Scout Council would like to extend to the community the invitation to 'Come Along With Us' in developing a better program; in recruiting new volunteers; in building a larger, more active membership; in providing more camping and in developing broader, more far reaching international understanding."

Presbyterian Men To Have Sports Night

Monday, Dec. 19 will be observed by the Presbyterian Men's Club as their annual "Sportsmen's Night." Venison and elk has been made available by Nelson Schrader for the roast dinner.

Colored movies on "Hunting and Fishing in Alaska" will be shown and Jerry Miller will speak briefly on his experiences on going to Alaska this summer by means of the Alcan Highway. Some of his personal pictures will be shown. Guest of honor at the dinner meeting will be Lloyd Collins, newly elected president of the Layman's Council of the Detroit Presbytery.

The dinner and meeting is open to all the men of the community. Reservations should be made with the secretary, Tom Gillick on one night, Edward C. Welch.

Men interested in helping with the Club Scout program should contact the committee, Donald B. Severance, Donald Sutherland or Dr. W. Sanford.

Opera House—

idea of a theatre. Another told me that when Mr. Little could get a bit of money, he would buy a few bricks, so it was built on the installment plan, so to speak, and its completion was necessarily long drawn out."

"Around the turn of the century, the Northville opera house, which seated 800 persons, was used by the Northville Dramatic Club, which at one time was headed by the late Dr. Swift, a prominent Northville pioneer. Mrs. Verkes' paper stated, 'Brown and Tucker, a stock company, played once every year for several years. One of our prominent men peddled bills so that he might get a pass When Uncle Tom's Cabin came to town some of the boys about town led the bloodhounds in the parade so they would be given a free ticket. Macy's complimentary were given out and one play the participants had to throw dishes every night recklessly on the floor, then friends were admitted free of charge.'"

The old opera house was also the scene of many a Northville High school graduation exercise. An Indian Kickapoo medicine show also invaded the opera house for a one night stand."

The Northville Record was housed in offices below the opera house at one time as were the Alcan theatre owned by the late William Thompson, and the first saloon ever opened in Northville, which was run by a Mr. Westfall. Frank Thompson of West Dunlap Street states that when he was a young boy about nine years old, a roller skating rink opened up in the opera house building.

The late Henry Ford wanted to buy the old opera house after it had been condemned by the fire and police departments as unsafe as a public gathering place. He wished to have it moved to Greenfield Village so that it could be preserved for posterity, but Sam Pickard, then owner of the building, refused to sell.

Ralph Pickard, present owner of the building, states that the building will soon be torn down and a modern business and apartment building erected. When the opera house passes from the scene, Northville will lose one of its last links to the glorious past when the pioneers and their ladies dressed for the opera house performances.

The friends of Mrs. Alice Rebecca Wallin will be sorry to learn of her death in Detroit Tuesday. Funeral service for Mrs. Wallin will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. at the McKay Funeral Home on Jefferson Avenue. Miss Wallin is a former Northville resident.

Seaman Ling Is Host To British Ruler

John A. Ling, Jr., fireman, USN, of 521 Randolph Street, was a "host" to the King of England when that ruler recently visited the heavy cruiser USS Columbus of which he is a crew member.

All personnel received hearty congratulations for their "smart" appearance from the Sovereign, whose many years' service with the Royal Navy has given him a sharp eye for such things as a smartly turned out sailor and a trim, clean ship.

The King was a luncheon guest of Admiral Conolly, whose flag flies in the Columbus. The U. S. Ambassador to the Court of St. James, Lewis Douglas, and many other American and British dignitaries also attended.

P. Baldwin Passes Michigan Bar Exam

Local residents will be interested to hear that Philip C. Baldwin was one of the 251 lawyers who recently took and passed the Michigan Bar Examination.

Mr. Baldwin is the son of Mrs. Don Harrington and the late Richard T. Baldwin. The Baldwins formerly resided in Northville and Mr. Baldwin at one time owned the Northville Record. Phillip attended Northville Schools, took his pre-law work at Albion and graduated from the University of Michigan last June. Mr. Baldwin is married and has two daughters, Elizabeth and Cecelia. The Baldwins reside in Albion where Mr. Baldwin has set up his law office. He is the brother of Mrs. R. M. Atchison of Rogers Street.
