

Korean War to Determine UN Survival, Cole Declares

"The life of the United Nations hinges on the outcome of the Korean War," said Lieut. Scott W. Cole, who arrived home Friday for 45 days on a medical leave from the Korean war.

"If people will only have faith in the United Nations and support the war effort, there is no doubt but that the United Nations will survive and stay as a world government," he said. Cole, who was wounded five miles south of Taejon, is recuperating at the home of his mother, Mrs. Jean Cole of 130 West Cady street.

Cole said that already there are evidences of a World Army in Korea. Many nations have sent both supplies and men into battle to wipe out the Reds. Morale is high among the men, he said, and the equipment which the men have to use is good and there is plenty of it. General Douglas MacArthur is extremely well liked by the men and they have every confidence in their leader.

Cole said that he was both surprised and appalled at the lack of seriousness in the attitude of the people here at home towards the Korean war. He emphasized that the Korean war is serious business and the American people must make every effort to support the defense program.

At the conclusion of his 45 day leave, Lieut. Cole expects to rejoin his division in the Far East where he serves as aide de camp to General Hobart Gay.

Auxiliary Police Plans Under Way

Preparations and plans are being formulated to develop an Auxiliary Police group to handle casualties, traffic, and evacuation if Detroit and environs are subjected to an Atom Bomb attack, Sheriff Andrew C. Baird announced at a Civilian Defense group meeting last night, at the Dearborn City Hall.

Outlying municipalities were represented by the Chiefs of Police, Mayors and Supervisors. The Wayne County Road Commission, WJW Radio Station and the Michigan Bell Telephone Company had representatives to discuss the part that each will play in the over-all Defense Program.

Sheriff Baird invited Brigadier General Clyde E. Daugherty, Director of the Metropolitan Detroit Office of Civilian Defense, to address the committee. The General stressed the importance of recruiting as rapidly as possible, this auxiliary group. In the event of a bombing, one bomb dropped in a thickly populated section would devastate an area six miles square, causing 100,000 casualties and making 50,000 homeless. These evacuees would have to be absorbed by the smaller municipalities who would act as big brother to the City of Detroit which has always looked upon itself as big brother to the smaller communities. The General further said that the only way that the safety of the citizens can be even partially assured, is to train and educate this group as to what to do in the event of bombing. Such tremendous destruction would involve traffic, medical care, repair crews and general policing.

Captain Johnson of the Road Patrol, reported that the organization of Auxiliary groups is going forward. Squad Leaders will be screened and urged to get their groups together as rapidly as possible.

The meeting closed with tentative plans for another meeting in the near future.

LANDMARK BEING RAZED

The Northville Foundry, which dates back to Civil War times, is being torn down as part of the expansion program of the Michigan Powdered Metal Products Company.

Michigan Powdered Metal Begins Expansion Program

Wreckers are busy tearing down the Northville Foundry building on East Cady Street to make room for an expanded Michigan Powdered Metal Products Company.

John Haller, owner of Michigan Powdered Metal Products, this spring purchased the property from J. O. Stephenson of Detroit. Workmen salvaged the one building which has been completely rejuvenated and painted and the other building is being torn down by the Arch Wrecking and Salvaging Company of Detroit.

A tentative expansion program has been planned for Michigan Powdered Metals said company spokesman, James Stimpson, assistant to president John Haller. The present building will house the administrative offices and the production departments will be moved to the new building. Extensive landscaping will be done about both buildings and a new parking lot will be added for the convenience of customers and employees.

At present Michigan Powdered Metals has about 65 employees and they specialize in making Haller oil well bearings, which are patented in the United States and in foreign countries. The oil well bearing is the result of years of research on the part of Mr. Haller who is a very competent engineer and tool man.

Haller has perfected a method of making an oil reservoir inside the powder parts of a bearing which prolongs the self-lubricating properties of it by 500 to 600 per cent. According to an article which appeared in the April 1950 issue of Iron Age, an industrial magazine, "Haller oil well bearings are reported to withstand much heavier loads than conventional sintered bronze or iron bearings. . . . Michigan Powdered Metals has complete facilities for the contract manufacture of powdered metal parts that must be held to close tolerances. The company has complete research and production facilities. Much of its equipment, including all dies, are designed and built in its own shop and the company has a completely equipped heat-treat department."

The Northville Foundry building dates back to Civil War times when it was owned and operated by Charles D. Harrington. Later it became the Michigan School Furniture company and in the 1880's the Globe Furniture company took it over and manufactured church and school furniture. Church and school bells were manufactured there in the 1890's until the time of the drastic fire which idled about 150 men.

The Foundry was reorganized under the late F. S. Harmon and at the turn of the century it was known as the American Bell and Foundry Company which engaged in bell casting and later manufactured furnaces. In the 1920's Harmon died and the company was organized under James Huff who headed it for several years.

During the depression years, several companies used the building for foundry work such as the Independent Furnace Company and Arthur Marz. J. O. Stephenson took it over in the 1940's and used it for war work.

Optimists Sponsor Americanism Series

"Actions speak louder than words."

In using this axiom, Fred Hunter, chairman of the Northville Optimist Club Americanism committee, announced that the club will sponsor a series of three Americanism meetings during September at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall on Plymouth Road, to sell America back to the Americans. He said that all of the citizens of Northville are cordially invited to these meetings on September 11, 18 and 25 at 8:00 p. m.

"Americans," said Hunter, "are spearheading the fight of free people against the spread of Communism. That is why we are arranging these meetings so that the citizens of our community will know the vital differences between the opposing economic philosophies behind this fight. It is important, too, that we know more about the benefits of the American economic system that has made our American way of life superior to all others."

The Northville Optimist Club feels," Hunter said, "that it has an obligation to the people of Northville to explain these benefits and to aid in halting the trend toward Socialism and totalitarianism in this country."

The program will consist of six full color sound slide films which tells the story of man's fight for economic freedom, from the prehistoric days to the present. Each film is a complete story in itself. Two films will be shown at each of the three meetings. The films use history to sell Americans the appreciation of their fundamental economic freedom. History has proven that whenever people lose economic freedom they also lose all human freedoms.

"This slide film program," Hunter said, "takes a new approach to economic education." Each film is based on historical facts. The entire program involves a typical American family headed by Tom Smith, a typical American worker. The lessons of history are brought home to him and to the "Tom Smiths" in the audience.

"We are looking forward to a large attendance at these meetings so that Northville may establish a pattern for the rest of the nation in selling America back to the Americans," Hunter said.

In our eyes the Village Optimist Club is certainly fulfilling its duty as a service organization to both our village and the nation as a whole in taking on the sponsorship of the "Land of the Free" Americanism program.

The series of booklets and the film which it reproduces presents in the most understandable, and interesting manner that we have ever seen, knowledge of the economic and political philosophy upon which this country of ours has been built.

In our opinion it would be the duty of every adult and child in Northville, every other service club, church and organization, to support this campaign, read the available literature and spend Monday evenings, Sept. 11, 18 and 25 at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall seeing the story of your country.

Looking back into the files we found this answer to the question "What is Americanism?"—

What is "Americanism?" That question is on the tongues of people today more frequently than ever before. A committee of Congress has been working investigating "un-American activities" without giving a precise definition of what is American and what is not.

It is easier to tell what Americanism is not, perhaps, than to put into any short discussion what it is.

Americanism definitely is not Communism, nor Fascism, nor Nazism. It is none of the philosophies based upon the power of the strong to oppress the weak, of a minority to control the majority by force. More than that, Americanism is not a system or belief in a system which concedes to Government any authority whatever to direct or regulate the acts, thoughts, beliefs or manners of any citizen without the consent of the citizenry.

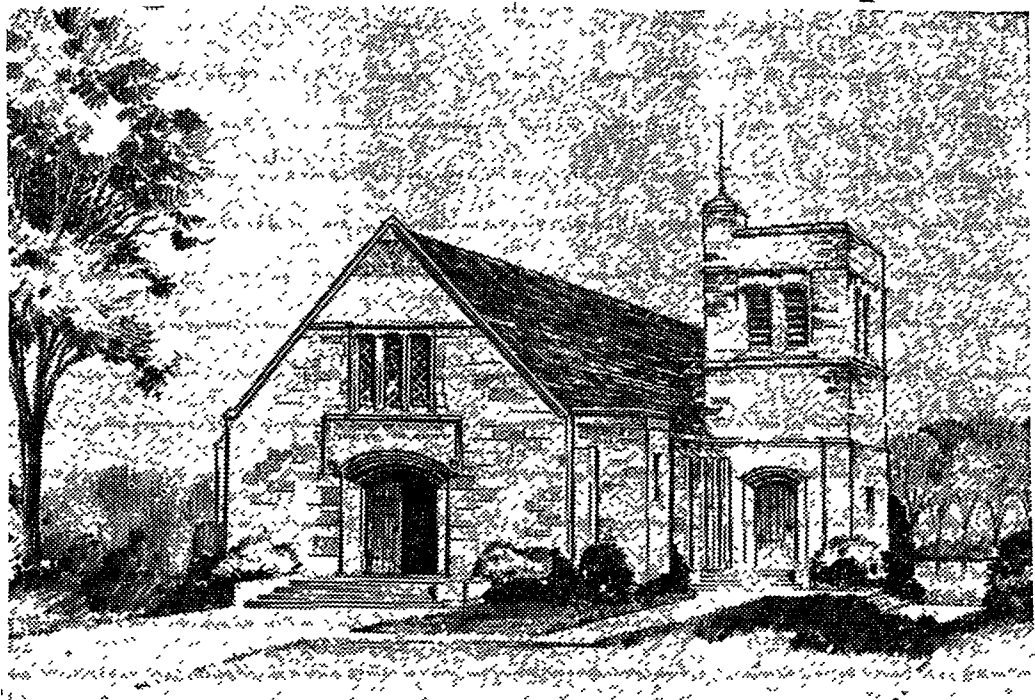

Americanism is a scheme of government based upon the Declaration of Independence as much as upon the Constitution; and the root of Americanism is found in the Declaration's assertion that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Upon that fundamental principle of Americanism a nation has been built whose people acknowledge no authority superior to their own — the people's — and in which there is no human with power to dictate to the citizens what they may or may not do, except as the citizens themselves have delegated such powers temporarily to their governments for the promotion of the general welfare.

Americanism, in short, is the greatest and most successful experiment ever made in the history of the world in human self government. Any time Americans want to exchange their system for one in which the administrators of government will be rulers instead of servants of the people they are at liberty to do so.

We do not think many Americans want to make the change.

MSC to Build Alumni Memorial Chapel

Michigan State College will begin construction in October of a $170,000 all-faith memorial chapel, honoring approximately 500 Spartan alumni killed in all wars in which the U. S. has engaged. The structure, financed by contributions of MSC alumni all over the world, is expected to be completed in early spring of 1951. The chapel will be of stone construction and a modified Gothic style, according to Claud Erickson, Lansing, chairman of the MSC alumni building committee. To be located directly across the Red Cedar River from Shaw Hall, the building will seat more than 200 people. It will be open at all times for use by students, alumni, faculty and visitors, and will be used extensively for weddings, memorial services and other sacred events.

MSC Students Want Sports Televised

More than 70 percent of the students at Michigan State College believe that college sports should be televised, although telecasting of football games was recently banned by the Western Conference.

In a radio listening survey conducted this summer by the MSC department of speech, dramatics and radio education, 73 percent of the 977 students interviewed favored the sports by video. Seventy-seven percent of the students, however, said that they would not stay from a game to watch it on television.

Students in favor of TV for college sports said that people otherwise unable to attend the events would have a chance to watch them. The chief objection to televising sports was that students wanted to "keep commercialism off the campus."

The world's most popular engine
More trucks use Chevrolet than any other make! And one important reason is Valve-in-Head engine design. For 38 years Chevrolet has been the largest producer of world famous Valve-in-Head engines.
Blue-Flame combustion
Chevrolet's Valve-in-Head design makes possible the smooth, even burning of the fuel—blue-flame combustion. Combustion chambers are scientifically shaped to wring more power from every drop of gasoline.
Lower cost per mile!
Chevrolet's Valve-in-Head Loadmaster engine with greater horsepower at the clutch offers important advantages to truckers. It means greater efficiency—it means bigger pay loads at lower cost per mile!
PLUS—Chevrolet Advance-Design Truck Features!

Net horsepower . . . the power you use, the power delivered at the clutch . . . is the true measuring stick of a truck's ability to haul payloads. And for net horsepower, Chevrolet heavy-duty trucks with Loadmaster engine have no equal among the five most popular standard equipped makes in their weight class—13,000 to 16,000 lbs. G.V.W. Chevrolet heavy-duty trucks lead them all! Compare the facts! Check the serial plates of all other popular makes for proof. And remember—it's the power at the clutch that counts! walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. But his delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night."

Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Gen. 1:27): "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them."

The Ford Truck operators you see in the photograph on the left, are participating in the gigantic, 48-state Ford Truck Economy Run along with the thousands of other Ford Truck owners.

For the 6-month period ending December 31, they are keeping accurate, day-to-day records of gas and oil consumption, repairs, maintenance, loads hauled and miles travelled. They are demonstrating, for the record, what they already know from experience—that Ford is America's No. 1 Economy Truck Value!

Upper left: Ernest Imbordini and Ford Big Job of Graff Trucking Company, Kalamazoo. Upper right: Hutson Roelof, George Betz and Bert Roelof of Gatesburg, with a Roelof Dairy Ford F-3. Now it'll be down in black and white—demonstration of Ford Truck economy! Each month of the Economy Run, from July through December, 1950, these participating Ford Truck owners throughout the nation will report their day-to-day economy records. The final results will be a comprehensive record of operating economy for every truck-using vocation. Tabulations will come from every region in the country, and cover all road conditions, in all climates. Thus the low cost operation of Ford Trucks will contribute to Ford's reputation as America's No. 1 Economy Truck Value!

Yes, the entire U.S.A. is the proving-ground for Ford Truck economy!

EVERY FORD TRUCK IN THIS GIGANTIC ECONOMY RUN CARRIES THIS SIGN. This black and orange sign is mounted on every Ford Truck in the Economy Run. Look for it. Ask the driver about the money-saving economy and the greater all-around value of Ford Trucks.

Eclipse of Moon Due Sept. 25 U-M Astronomer Says

It was meteors in August but the September feature in the skies will be a total eclipse of the moon.

Dr. Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan, reports that the moon is scheduled to be blacked by the earth's shadow on Monday, September 25 with a portion of the eclipse continuing on into the early hours of September 26.

The moon will start to enter the earth's shadow at 9:32 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, and at 10:54 p. m. will be completely blacked out. This total phase will last for 46 minutes.

The September moon also makes news because it is the Harvest Moon since the sun enters the autumnal equinox at 9:44 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, on September 23 and begins its long journey south of the equator.

During the month, Jupiter will continue to be a bright object in the southern skies throughout the night. The night of the eclipse also will be an ideal time to locate the Great Square of Pegasus since the moon will be just below this constellation at that time.

The star marking the left and upper corner of the Square is not a part of the constellation of Pegasus but belongs in the star picture of the constellation Andromeda which presents another beautiful spectacle in the eastern sky during early September evenings.

A look at any astronomical map will help in locating these constellations, Dr. Losh reports.

NAREB Opposed To Realty Price Ceiling

There is no need or justification for price controls on real property and the National Association of Real Estate Boards is opposed to any such infringement upon property ownership, Robert P. Gerholz Flint, Mich., president of NAREB said today.

"This statement is made," Mr. Gerholz said, "to clear up a misunderstanding that arose when a wire service news story incorrectly quoted a member of the NAREB board of directors on this subject. In a recent interview at Santa Barbara, Calif., Charles B. Shattuck, a member of the NAREB board of directors, said:

"It looks to me like we are already in a war, as a result of which the federal government probably would place ceiling prices on real estate and everything else in an attempt to control inflation." A news report of Mr. Shattuck's address incorrectly quoted part of this statement as "The federal government probably should establish ceiling prices on real estate. Neither Mr. Shattuck nor the NAREB board of directors advocates or approves of price ceilings on real estate. This is diametrically opposed to most fundamental policies of NAREB."

During the month, Jupiter will continue to be a bright object in the southern skies throughout the night. The night of the eclipse also will be an ideal time to locate the Great Square of Pegasus since the moon will be just below this constellation at that time.

If mildew stain remains after washing and drying in the sun, it may be bleached out by moistening with lemon juice and salt and then spreading in the sun. Use this treatment with care on colored clothes advises Olivia Meyer, Michigan State College home economist.

NON-PARTISAN NEWS LETTER

Defense needs of Michigan continue to get top billing. The state legislature, convening again at Lansing, received a request from Governor G. Mennen Williams for a $2,000,000 civilian preparedness program. The cost of a "living blood bank", planned as aid for an A-bomb attack, was estimated at $1,000,000. Minimum A-bomb destruction in Detroit would be 100,000 killed or injured, 100,000 homeless, according to Brig. Gen. Clyde E. Dougherty, civil defense director.

Michigan's National Guard is not ready. This fighting force which saw some of the roughest duty in the New Guinea campaign against Japan would need five months of intensive training to be ready for combat, according to Gen. Ralph A. Loveland, Guard commander.

With 18,900 officers and enlisted men normally assigned to an infantry division, some 7,500 guardsmen fell out for summer training at Camp Grayling.

And at the same time, Dwight D. Eisenhower still says, "You can't win anywhere if you don't win this one."

Michigan cities are losing their policemen to the army. In rapid succession most areas of the state have asked for blanket draft deferments for their single patrolmen under 26.

Just how bad can a bar get? The answer, according to the state liquor commission is this: Any licensee convicted of three serious charges within two years will lose his license. The question arose in connection with a Detroit establishment which was closed for 30 days and assessed $500.

The tavern has been charged at various times with selling liquor to minors, having an intoxicated bartender serving intoxicated patrons, allowing intoxicated persons to loiter, having an unsigned license and operating under unsanitary conditions. "We can't help it," Commissioner Harry Henderson said, "if previous commissioners were lenient... But the next time

Michigan automobile manufacturers are concerned over our inadequate roads. Since the nation's car population has jumped so rapidly (12,000,000 more vehicles since before World War II) it is feared that the highways will not be able to handle the traffic. Solution: More money for more and better highways, according to Albert Bradley, G. M. executive and chairman of the national highway users conference. "Less was spent for highways in 1949 on a comparable dollar basis than in the average foreign year," he asserts.

What happens to the home guard if the National Guard is called? A paper army will move in if current plans mature. Called the Michigan State Troops, this army will be composed of World War II veterans who will be available on paper but called out for drill and instruction only if the Michigan Guard is called. The organization will prefer combat infantrymen.

Daisy Girls Win 3rd Softball Crown

For three straight seasons the Daisy Girls Softball team has won the championship in their league. The Daisy Girls also won the Inter-city crown for 1949-50 in basketball.

In 1948 they were champs in the Plymouth Softball League and in 1949 stepped up a notch and signed up with the Central Michigan Girls' League, and came out with the league trophy.

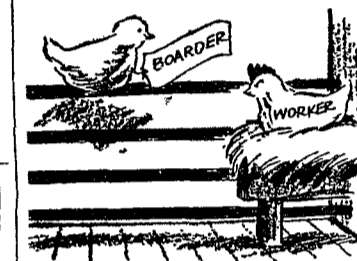

This year they wound up in second place, one game out of first, and then beat the Adrian Merchants two straight to take the crown again. The girls are also in the Times Tournament at Vlasic Park in Detroit where they have three wins and no losses with one game to play.

Under the management of Floyd Fleming and the coaching of Joe Sowa and Will Rayburn, this team has enjoyed three very successful seasons.

Egg Profits Down During Hot Months

Poultrymen Recommend Close Culling of Flock

On the average, poultrymen fail to realize a profit above feed costs during July, August and September because of low egg production per hen. For example, during this period in 1949, the average monthly production per hen for the United States was 13.2 eggs. As a rule, poultrymen who maintain an average egg production per month of 15 or more eggs during this period, realize a profit.

When the profit margin gets slim, it's poor business to cut down on the laying mash, or take it away entirely, with the expectation of bringing the hens back into production later when egg prices pick up. The solution to the problem of increasing profits requires close culling of flocks. Get rid of the "boarders".

Poor layers, as well as non-layers, can be spotted by certain physical characteristics, such as "crow heads", pale, shriveled, scaly combs, yellow beaks, yellow legs and clean feathers. A good layer will have large red comb and wattles; an enlarged, smooth, moist vent; and well spread, pliable pin bones.

Poultrymen who start culling now will increase profits. Cull often and closely and sell the culls while they still have good body weight. Then feed the remainder of the flock a good laying ration.

Scientists Conclude Calf Parasite Study

A study of the parasite infestation of calves on pasture has led C. D. Grinnels and J. L. Moore of North Carolina to three main conclusions: (1) calves under ten months of age should not be turned on pasture; (2) calf pastures should be rotated to reduce the parasite intake; and (3) calf pastures should be grazed part of the time by horses, mules or by mature cattle.

Parasite populations build up very rapidly on calf pastures, the investigators found. The increase was most rapid on heavily grazed plots, these showing almost double the parasite population as the lightly grazed plot.

Calves under ten months are extremely susceptible to parasite attack. Rotating pastures and grazing them with mature animals cuts down the population. Mature cattle have an age immunity.

Mustang Gridders Report in Drove for '50 Season

Football drills got under way in earnest this week when more than ninety high school varsity aspirants reported for the squad, the largest number ever to turn out, according to Athletic Director Harry Smith.

Head Coach Al Jones and Line Coach Dick Kay conducted a "skull" session at the high school last Friday, at which plays and instructions were outlined. Jones and Kay moved their charges outdoors to Cass Benton park Monday for twice-daily conditioning drills and practice sessions devoted to plays.

Hot weather hampered the drills to some extent as Jones and Kay, pointing to a probable intra-squad scrimmage Saturday morning at 9 a. m., began to whip the 1950 version of the Mustangs into shape.

The Mustangs will probably operate from a modified "T" attack again this year, a formation which can spring a play directly from the popular and difficult "T" formation, or shift into a single wing. The offense demands top-notch coordination and timing, plus polished blocking, but does not demand great weight at every position, which the Northville squad does not seem to have.

Graduation last June hurt the Mustangs to some extent, but many veterans have returned this fall, to be augmented by varsity reserves who saw action last season.

The nine-game schedule opens with Ypsilanti-Roosevelt here at Ford Field September 15, with Dexter coming to Northville for the second game. All games this year will be night contests with the exception of the Clarenceville tilt, there, at 4 p. m. October 27.

Coaches Jones and Kay and the Mustangs have their work cut out for them this season with nine tough opponents. Not a game on the slate can be classed as a "breather." Ypsilanti-Roosevelt and Dearborn Lowry were not on the Mustang schedule last year, but the other seven games are rematches.

Facets of Freedom

Liberty is the one thing you can't have unless you give it to others.—William Allen White.

Democracy means not, "I am as good as you are," but "you're as good as I am."—Theodore Parker.

As I would not be a slave, so would I not be a master.—Abraham Lincoln.

Those who expect to reap the blessings of freedom must, like men, undergo the fatigues of supporting it.—Thomas Paine.

Eternal Vigilance is the price of liberty.—John Philipot Curran.

Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery? Forbid it, almighty God! I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death!—Patrick Henry.

No man is worth his salt who is not ready at all times to risk his body, to risk his well-being, to risk his life, in a great cause.—Theodore Roosevelt.

I have not yet begun to fight.—John Paul Jones.

The sacred rights of mankind are not to be rummaged for among some old parchments or rusty records. They are written as with a sunbeam in the whole volume of human destiny by the hand of divinity itself, and can never be erased or obscured by mortal power.—Alexander Hamilton.

For what avail the plough or sail, Or land or life, if freedom fail?—Ralph Waldo Emerson

Liberty will not descend to a people, a people must raise themselves to liberty; it is a blessing that must be earned before it can be enjoyed.

They that give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety.—Benjamin Franklin.

I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country.—Nathan Hale.

Advertisement for 'ON CAPITOL HILL NEWS and COMMENT FROM CONGRESSMAN GEORGE A. DONDERO'. Includes a small photo of the congressman and a logo of the Capitol building.

If any proof is required of the fact that Truman Fair Deal members in the 81st Congress are the ones who have failed to declare a holiday on partisan politics, now that the country is at war, it is necessary only to cite their attitude toward the Mundt-Ferguson-Nixon Bill.

This measure, designed to protect the country against Godless Communism, and to control its agents, who have infiltrated into key positions throughout the country, is one of the most effective of its kind introduced in the Congress since the danger of the Communist fifth-column became plainly apparent to everyone.

Yet the Truman leadership in both House and Senate has permitted the Mundt-Ferguson-Nixon Bill to get exactly nowhere. Instead, that leadership even now is wavering uncertainly over what shall be done with a watered-down and largely ineffective measure sponsored by the Truman administration.

For many years the Congress has been aware of the threat to our institutions and to our national security presented by the American Communists, the fellow-travelers, and the Kremlin secret agents who have operated against the best interests of the American people for nearly twenty years.

One needs only to recall the overwhelming votes by which the House in past years continued the Un-American Activities Committee, in spite of administration opposition and opposition from all leftist elements to know how acute that awareness has been. The Republican 80th Congress set up the Un-American Activities Committee as a permanent standing committee.

Then on May 19, 1948, the Republican 80th Congress, in the last days of its final session, saw the House pass by a vote of 319 to 48 the Mundt-Nixon Bill, as the present Mundt-Ferguson-Nixon Bill was then called. This measure then, as it would do now, required all Communist agencies and individual Communist agents to register with the Department of Justice.

But the Senate, held by a narrow Republican majority in 1948, failed to act on the Mundt-Nixon Bill. In this Congress the Truman Democratic majority leader, and as such the administration spokesman, has refused to permit the Bill to reach a vote. An effort is being made by the sponsors of the bill to tie it on to some other measure, such as the Economic Control Bill, but it appears unlikely that this effort will succeed.
