

"Orchids to the ladies" must be the motto of our esteemed Mayor Langfield because at the recent Rotary Anniversary banquet, each lady was presented with a lovely orchid corsage he arranged to have flown, fresh from Hawaii.

Contributors for the sock and tie collection for the Detroit House of Correction this week are Mrs. Arlo Hager, Maurice Lapham, Jack Blackburn and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4012. These donations are greatly appreciated for rehabilitation work and many more are needed to keep the program rolling. Leave yours at the Record office or at the home of E. J. The leveling operation on Plymouth avenue at the end of Seven Mile Road is finished, and the next steps begin. The site is the future home for Rathburn Chevrolet Sales, now located on West Main Street. The bulldozing operation cut down five and a half feet of hill and uprooted four trees, one of them an elm so big in girth that two bulldozers shoving together couldn't budge it.

Ken Rathburn plans a big sign for the corner to let citizenry know that the corner will be the new Chevrolet and Oldsmobile home.

Only three more days to return those overdue books to the Village library without having to pay fines. Besides helping your finances, the library will be able to restock their shelves with many long lost books and magazines.

The many friends of Ida B. Cooke, principal of the Northville Junior High School, will be glad to learn that, following a stay in the hospital, she has returned to her home on Rouge Street and is feeling somewhat improved. We know she would appreciate receiving some cheerful greeting cards and messages from her many friends, whom she has come to know during the years spent as teacher and understanding counselor.

Police Chief Urges Controlled Speed

"How fast is fast?" This question, Chief Denton told the Northville Record today, probably arouses more widely divergent opinion among drivers than any other traffic safety topic.

"When such a marked difference of opinion exists," Chief Denton said, "it is obvious why so many traffic accidents each year involve a speed violation." A dangerous number of motorists, Chief Denton said, referring to National Safety Council studies, feel that "too fast" is some sort of definite speed limit above which the laws of physics determine that a driver cannot be depended upon to have complete control of his car.

"Actually," Chief Denton said, "too fast" may be any speed from 10 miles an hour to 100 miles an hour. We can't just arbitrarily say that 80, 70, 60 or 50 miles an hour is 'too fast' and let it go at that. There are times and places, for instance, when 90 miles an hour may not be an excessive speed at all—a supervised race course, for example. Even more often than this, however, there are times and places when 20 miles an hour may be literally—fatal!"

Chief Denton's interpretation of the problem was based on the theory that weather, road surfaces, mechanical factors and the driver's physical and mental condition are the real determining factors in the problem of what is a safe speed and what speed is dangerous.

"Posted speed limits," he said, give only the top speed at which enforcement and engineering officials feel travel is safe under ideal weather, physical and mechanical conditions. Anything less than that calls for a proportionate reduction of speed."

Chief Denton's discussion of speed coincided with the Michigan State Safety Commission's announcement of the June-July program of traffic safety education, which has its slogan: "Now—Take It Easy!" The program is being sponsored in cooperation with the National Safety Council and coordinated in Northville by the Police Department.

Guests at the Exchange Club luncheon Wednesday were Alton Peters, Col. Ward Van Atta, Mayor Langfield, who had with him, Cpl. Michael Nagy. Also present was honorary member, Rev. William Richards.

Employers Warned of Tax Deadline

Employers of household workers are again reminded that June 30, will signal the end of the second quarter for reporting those employees who now earn social security credit for their services in private homes.

"If the employee has performed services in someone's private home on 24 or more different days in this quarter, meaning April, May and June, or in the preceding quarter, and has received at least $50 in cash wages, then there is an obligation under the new Social Security law to file a report of these earnings with the Bureau of Internal Revenue," explained C. A. Mattson, manager of the Detroit - Northville Social Security field office at 12065 Wyoming, corner of Grand River.

"Many individuals are still not fully informed about the requirements in the new law with respect to domestic service," Mr. Mattson further stated, "and as a result are not sure as to the proper steps to take. We want everyone to feel free to call upon us for any information or assistance in carrying out the provisions of the recent changes in the Social Security law."

June 30, also serves as a deadline date for the farm operator who has had one or more employees on his farm for 60 or more different days in this quarter, or the preceding quarter, and has paid them at least $50 in cash wages. Other groups that now have an opportunity to earn credit under the new Social Security law are the self-employed, and employees of non-profit organizations. A pamphlet called "Your New Social Security" explaining in detail the provisions of the Social Security program can now be obtained without cost at your local Social Security office. Just call at, write, or phone the office for your copy. The telephone number is TE 4-4750.

Girls State Governor

ANDREA OWEN

Andy Owen Named Girls State Head

At formal ceremonies of the annual Girls State held on the campus of the University of Michigan last Thursday, Andrea Owen, delegate of the local American Legion Auxiliary, was inaugurated governor of the mythical "forty-ninth" state.

This honor was won by Andy following a successful campaign waged with 238 fellow citizens identical to governmental procedure. As chief executive, Andy presided at the daily sessions of the active state.

At the final session held in the Rackham Memorial Building on Monday evening, Andy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Owen of West Seven Mile Road were introduced to the assembly. Mrs. Don Severance, president of the local auxiliary, presented Andrea with a gift in behalf of the unit. Among the numerous telegrams sent the "governor," was a congratulatory message from Governor G. Mennen Williams.

Further honors will be Andy's when she will be guest speaker at the state convention of the American Legion Auxiliaries to be held in August at Detroit.

The purpose of Girls State is to provide a practice ground for citizenship training for girls of advanced high school age. During the seven days in this "state," the citizen traces the organization of political parties from the precinct, township or ward through the county and state organizations. She learns how the state party conventions are conducted, the party platform drafted and the election campaign carried out.

When the girls have elected their public officials and properly inaugurated them, they find a challenge in the task of learning to make that government operate successfully. Under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary, this Girls State has been training citizens for the United States since its beginning in the summer of 1938.

The low-hitting game was climaxed in the bottom of the sixth frame when the Hotel team loaded the bases with two out, but Charlie Freydl fielded Nick Manica's grounder for the third out.

The Mayors had to forfeit to the Optimists when they couldn't put nine men on the field in the other game Monday night.

If everyone uses scarce building materials wisely, more building can be done in Northville during the emergency, according to Harold C. Church of the Northville Lumber and Coal Company, local lumber and building materials dealer and member of the Public Affairs Committee of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

"Because of production restrictions adopted to meet the needs of the rearmament program, supplies of certain building products, such as nails, pipe, gutters and downspouts, metal lath and reinforcing steel, are likely to be restricted for some months to come," Mr. Church said.

"By not using those scarce products unless absolutely necessary, using no more than is required for safe construction, and the available supply can be made to stretch over a larger amount of construction work and benefit a larger number of local people.

"There should be plenty of lumber, wall board, cement, brick, and other non-critical building materials in the months ahead, but the amount of building that can be done will be determined largely by the care with which materials containing critical metals are used in building.

"With the virtual elimination of copper and aluminum for construction purposes, steel now is the material which must be carefully conserved in building until such time as expanded production makes it possible to meet both defense and civilian needs."

Dear Editor:

While listening to the radio the other day the announcer stated that "on the fourth of July, our forebears rang their church bells because they were thankful to live in a land that they could worship God as they pleased." He asked that the ones that were listening to him contact their pastors and see if in this land of ours, the home of the free and the brave, we could install with our younger generation how lucky they were and to remind the others of the freedom they take for granted.

So on the fourth of July may all churches here in Northville--at least in their sermons on Sunday, let everyone know how much we appreciate the regular freedom we have under Old Glory

Sincerely,
 Mrs. D. Wick

Farm Woman Gaining Poetic Fame Never Took Lessons

CLARION, Iowa—Mrs. Berton Ross, who lives on a farm a mile south of Clarion, is gaining quite a reputation as a poet, although she "never took training" and knows nothing about "poetic feet or meter."

Her friends have known of her talent for some time, but only recently has her fame extended the boundaries of Wright county.

She recently received the prize of the week from Chicago Daily Drivers Journal on "Poetic News Time." Two other of her compositions appear in Kitchen Katter, a Shenandoah radio station publication.

The versatile and prolific poetess also contributes to the United Presbyterian, and her poems are often read over radio station WHO, Des Moines, and station KXFD, Ft. Dodge. The Iowa Brochure of Poems also contains some of her work.

Mrs. Ross began composing about 12 years ago. Until that time she had no idea that she possessed any special gifts. Now she is often called upon to write special poems for weddings, anniversaries and such, and often appears before clubs and groups.

The poems come easy to her. "When I'm busy around the house," she says, "they keep buzzing around in my head."

Northville's Yesterdays

One Year Ago
Members of the local American Legion Post and Northville Recreation Committee combined efforts to present a big Fourth of July celebration for the citizens of Northville who were to remain in town over the holiday.

The Northville Recreation Committee sponsored swimming twice a week at the East Shore Beach, Walled Lake.
Population figures released revealed Northville's population was increased from 3,032 in 1940 to 3,221 in 1950.
Audrey Ford became the bride of Arthur Gotts in a ceremony at the Methodist Church.

Kyle Elizabeth was the name chosen for the daughter born on June 18 to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stueboll of Butler Avenue.
Norma Dahlgren and Lawrence Burnett were united in marriage at the Northville Baptist Church.
Five Years Ago
Dinner was served to 97 Northville High School Alumni at their banquet given at the Masonic Temple.

Gerald V. Harrison, for the past nine years principal of the Northville High school, resigned from that position to accept a similar position at Farmington High School.
The wedding of Marilyn Rinck and William Gallup took place in Ann Arbor.
Dorothy Leavenworth became the bride of Robert Smith, Jr., at the Presbyterian Church.
Floyd R. Lanning, lifelong resident of Northville, passed away at the Veterans' Hospital, Dearborn, after a two weeks' illness.
A quiet wedding took place at the Presbyterian Church uniting Helen Mathieson and Ralph L. Hay, Jr., in marriage.

Receipts of about $1500 was reported collected from the drive for cash donations for the Food Emergency Fund.
Ten Years Ago
Rev. Harold F. Fredsell was installed pastor of the Presbyterian Church.
Northville's fair is going to last five full days this year.

Approximately 90 members of the Northville High School Alumni Association attended the 21st annual banquet held June 19 at the school. The new officers are: Mrs. K. H. Babbitt, president; E. M. Bogart, vice president; Mrs. Willard Ely, secretary and Mrs. Franklin Van Valkenburgh, treasurer.
A son, Jackie Walter Earl, was born June 1 at the University Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. George Hanson.

Twenty Years Ago
Following are the dress winners of the contest sponsored by the Northville Woman's Club: Hazel Cordukes, first; Eunice Cousins, second; Velma Blake, third. The judges were: Mrs. B. H. Douglas, Mrs. Frank Harmon, Mrs. E. S. Beard, Mrs. Charles Dolph and Mrs. Charles Murphy.
Beautiful in its simplicity was the wedding June 25 which united in marriage Mary Beth Ponsford and Maurice Lapham.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

NON-PARTISAN NEWS LETTER

Politics in Michigan also is on vacation. Some stirrings are evident, but from all appearances the summer siesta is here.
Most activity stems from the G.O.P. state central committee where politicians are trying to create a more tightly knit organization—such as has been definitely lacking in the last two elections.

The new 18½-year-old draft has caused the greatest furor in the state the last few weeks. Despite assurances that "it will be months or even years" before any men under 19 are called,—eligible men are as reluctant to enter colleges as employers are to hire them until the new law has been tested.

Reports in the college draft deferment tests show that some two-thirds were above the passing mark of 70. Seventy doesn't mean deferment for sure.... his phase of elective service is as confused as any other.

Michigan's first draft call for doctors has been chopped from 67 to 41. The medics will get the nod July 26. The number was cut because "it was impossible to recruit 67."

Senator Moody already has drawn fire. Discussing the controls program in a Washington news letter, Republican Rep. Shafer said, "A publicity minded freshman attracted some attention recently by soliciting the advice of Bernard Baruch on the subject of inflation." Moody is not being ignored by the G.O.P.

Meanwhile Michigan Republicans have opened a campaign to present a united front against more federal consumer taxes. In telegrams sent to several congressmen Owen J. Cleary, chairman of the state central committee, suggested a solid bloc to oppose further taxes on income, gasoline, cigarettes, automobiles and other items.

Not missing an opportunity to blast the governor, Cleary said: "While Gov. Williams, as a Democrat, says he is opposed to consumer taxes, he hasn't raised his voice about the Democratic plans in Washington to grab millions of dollars more from Michigan people.... the federal government is bleeding Michigan...."

Gov. Williams is still promoting the St. Lawrence Seaway project to open Atlantic shipping to the middlewest. He and other backers of the $18,000,000 project did their best to sell the project to Missouri Valley representatives at a meeting of 15 inland governors. Result? Nothing as yet.

While the C.I.O. is working to get a referendum on the recent 1½ cent per gallon gasoline tax rise, the Good Roads Federation has been assured that opponents of the tax will be symmetrical in any efforts to invalidate or repeal the levy.

John J. Jacob, general counsel of the Wayne county road commission, says the "gas tax increase is not subject to a referendum as the state constitution exempts appropriations for state institutions from a referendum."

Will there be inflation or deflation this summer? Economists say it depends on Russia and whether she cools down her war plans. But is does HAVE to be one or the other? There was a time....

A safety program has been started to reduce the number of mail plant accidents. There are 22.5 accidents for every million man hours in small organizations while large plants have a casualty rate of only 8.95.

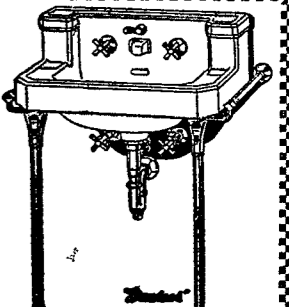

Is there too much industry in Detroit? A Washington house-estate committee has warned against too much concentration of defense industry in the Motor City. Threat to national security, he committee calls it.

A bill providing $3,000,000 for county and city TB hospitals has become law. The money will be distributed by the emergency appropriations commission ("Little Legislature").

Average price of farm real estate on March 1, 1951 in Michigan was nearly 2½ times that of March 1, 1941. As a whole land prices have risen 14 per cent in the last year.

World-famous Yosemite Valley in Yosemite National Park, California, was named a century ago. It was on March 25, 1851, that members of the Mariposa Battalion, while in pursuit of hostile Yosemite Indians, discovered the valley, and that night, while camped in the Valley at the foot of Bridalveil Fall, decided to name the highly scenic gorge for the Yosemite.

Greenfield Village Has New Exhibits

The first residence ever lighted by electricity, the old board-lit house, was opened to the public for the first time in Greenfield Village Sunday, June 24.

The quaint gaslight fixtures in the building, which was brought to Greenfield Village in 1928 by Henry Ford from Menlo Park, New Jersey, were wired for incandescent lighting by Edison himself in 1879. Previously the only building electrically illuminated was Edison's Menlo Park laboratory, also restored in Greenfield Village.

On Sunday, June 24, also one of the oldest residences in Greenfield Village, the Susquehanna House built in 1852, was opened to the public for the first time as a permanent exhibit. The house was moved from its original site on Chesapeake Bay in Maryland by Henry Ford in 1942. Its architecture illustrates the simple elegance in which the wealthier inhabitants of the early colonies lived.

Known as the Sarah Jordan boarding house, the Menlo Park building is located on a reproduction of the first electrically lighted roadway in the world. The original street lamps still function and are activated by a generator in the Edison laboratory. The lamps were first illuminated on New Year's Day 1879.

An intimate friend and collaborator of Thomas Edison, Henry Ford dedicated Greenfield Village to the inventor in 1929. During the dedication ceremonies Edison reenacted in his reconstructed laboratory the experiment which produced the first successful incandescent lamp.

The Sarah Jordan boarding house and the Susquehanna House will be open weekdays from 9:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Saturdays and Sundays from 9:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Christian Science Churches
That the spiritual meaning of the Bible is explained in Christian Science is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, July 1. The title of the Lesson-Sermon is "Christian Science."

The Golden Text is from Habakkuk (2:14): "The earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea."
Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Rev. 1:1): "The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to shew unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel unto his servant John."

Mayor Langfield Donates Services

The following article concerning Mayor Langfield was prepared by A. Blake Gillies, for his column which will appear in the next issue of the De-Ho-Co news.

"Those of us who spend a lot of our time at Dehoco know that physical diseases contribute greatly to the high population of correctional institutions.

"If we give any thought to the purposes of this type of institution, we know that we are falling down on the job unless we furnish thorough medical treatment in the interests of crime prevention as well as in the alleviation of human illnesses.

"Here, in our efforts to establish a well-rounded medical program involving all the major specialties, we are frequently able to draw upon a store of wealth that should give all of us great confidence in the happy future of correctional treatment in penal institutions.

"Our greatest source of such wealth lies in the hearts and minds of the generous people who contribute their advice and services to the principles to which this institution is devoted.

"Perhaps one of the outstanding examples of this type of giving occurred early this month when Conrad E. Langfield, mayor of Northville, accepted an invitation to assist our medical department by serving as consultant pharmaceutical chemist without remuneration.

"As president of the Northville Laboratories, Mayor Langfield makes available to the inmates of Dehoco his vast knowledge and high eminence in his field—a commodity we could not buy even with an unlimited budget.

"By accepting our invitation he brings to us the profound interest in humanity that has prompted his spontaneous response to civic duty throughout his career.
"As long as people of Mayor Langfield's caliber continue to respond to the needs of this community for correction, this thing we call "progressive penology" continues to live."

88 Year Old Pilot Still Takes Solo On His Birthdays

LOS ANGELES — Many airplane pilots believe in celebrating a birthday by looping merrily through the clouds. This action alone would not seem to be worthy of news coverage, but when James W. Montee, climbs into his craft and wings along on an annual birthday flight, all the local photographers and newsmen turn out to cover the event. Reason: "Dad" Montee is 88 years old.

According to the records of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Montee is the nation's oldest licensed aviator. He first soloed on his 60th birthday, Oct. 22, 1922, and has since logged almost 3,500 hours.

A pioneer in the field of aviation, Montee founded the first permanent airport at Los Angeles and built some of the west coast's first aircraft.

An erect, broad shouldered man of medium height, "Dad" could pass for a youngster of 65, and is proud of his fitness. "I'm limber as a kitten," he says. His silver hair is thinning fast, but "When I put on my hat they tell me I lose 20 years—and that's how old I feel."

Montee was born in a log house in Macomb, Ill., and "fought grasshoppers and plowed" until he was 20. He then went to Dodge City and from there to Pittsburg, Kansas. In 1895 he came to Redlands, Calif., to raise citrus. From 1908 until he entered aviation, he was a Los Angeles contractor.

His venture into the flying field came when his eldest son, Kenneth, came home from World War I, in which he was a pilot. With two other sons Montee formed an aviation company and the group was soon nicknamed "The Flying Family." They undertook to build three passenger ships and made a business of charter and passenger flying, aerial mapping and photography and movie stunt work.

Flying now is a family tradition, and Dad is the cause of it all. He laughed and set out to show them when they told him he was too old to fly. "I've flown everything from a Jenny to a four engine DC-4," he boasts, "And never even scratched the paint."

CARD OF THANKS

Love Story Ends When Romeo Is Sent to Prison

CANEA, Crete—The final chapter in Crete's modern "Romeo and Juliet" story, which made the headlines of newspapers throughout the world, was written recently when "Romeo" was sentenced to two years in prison.

A five-judge court convicted Costas Kefalouglanis, 32, of having carried arms illegally when he whisked away the daughter of a rival clan leader. In addition, he was fined 2,000,000 drachmas ($167).

Costa and Tassoula Petracoegori, the girl he wooed and carried away, were embittered by the verdict.
Costa, who took to the hills as a guerrilla fighter in World War II, protested that "the verdict was unfair and he would, therefore, be compelled to do what he had done during the occupation. He did not elaborate, but it was regarded as a hint that he might try to escape.

Bride Is Upset
In Athens, his 19-year-old bride, who is expecting a baby, wept. "I'm all upset. If he has to serve his time in Crete, of course I'll return to be with him."

She vowed she never would give up her husband despite the old family feud and the objections of her father, a member of parliament, who is a power in the Liberal party of Premier Sophocles Venizelos.

Politics was a factor in the "Romeo and Juliet" case. Costa's brother, Manuel, head of the Kefalouglanis clan, is a Populist (Royalist) member of parliament. Costa insists that his arrest violated a pledge by Premier Venizelos that Costa would go free if his marriage in a monastery chapel on Mount Ida received the blessing of Archbishop Spyridon of Athens. The archbishop gave his blessing when the honeymooners flew to Athens in September.

Violence threatened for several days after Costa had seized Tassoula from the main square in Candia, Crete's capital, as she came out of a movie and whisked her to a mountain cave. Troops and police joined irate Petracoegori clansmen in the hunt, but they never found the couple.

Love From Afar
After about a week in seclusion, the two made their way to the monastery and were married. Then they flew to Athens.

Costa said he had loved Tassoula from afar for years, but that bad blood between the families had made it impossible to ask her father for her hand. She said she had not loved Costa at first, but that his daring and boldness impressed her and "my love developed as I was with him in the mountains."

"Above all," she said, "his behavior and respect were beyond reproach."

In his final argument, the chief defense attorney stressed that kidnapping a prospective bride was not a new practice.

"Here in Crete, Sparta and the ancient Greek land," he said, "it is a common practice and tradition for strong men to steal their brides."

There is no appeal from the court's verdict, given under an emergency Greek law.

Phosphate Rocks Yield Vital Uranium, Commission Reports

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A new process of extracting bomb-making uranium from phosphate rocks as a by-product of fertilizer production was announced recently by the atomic energy commission.

With the new development, uranium in phosphate deposits "can be extracted economically in the production of highly refined fertilizer known as triple superphosphate," the commission said.

It has been known for some time that uranium occurs "as a very minor component" in the phosphate deposits in the northwest and in Florida.

"Considerable research work has been done to develop a process whereby uranium can be extracted economically from these very low-grade sources," the A.E.C. said.
"It is hoped that the new process will open up this new source of uranium. The process is classified secret and cannot be described."

Laborer's Wish Comes True, But Loses His Job for Ride

CHICAGO, Ill.—All his life Robert Leachman, 23-year-old railroad laborer, wanted to drive a freight train. He realized his dream recently—a ride in the cab of a big diesel locomotive. The trouble was, he took the ride alone.

Leachman saw a shiny new passenger diesel standing unattended on a siding in the railroad yard. He climbed aboard and ran his hands over the controls. The locomotive took off. Leachman, terrified, yanked every lever he could see.

"I couldn't stop," he said. "Then I prayed."

A block away from the take-off, the diesel, going 30 miles an hour, rammed a boxcar and a gondola and came to a stop. The round-house foreman accepted Leachman's resignation on the spot.

Surface—or strip—mines produced almost a quarter of the 1950 bituminous coal output.

Defense is your job, too!

Just one minute before this picture was taken you would have seen nothing here but waving grass, pine trees, and blue sky. For in only 60 seconds this alert Marine gun crew has landed by helicopter, set up its 75mm howitzer, and is ready to fire!

Precision training and maneuvering like this means that these men stand ready at a moment's notice to protect you and America. That they're doing their job for defense.

But, defense is your job, too! And one of the best ways to do your job is by buying Defense Bonds regularly. For by buying bonds you help build the great American economic strength that backs up our armed forces. And at the same time you put your money in the world's safest place. For Defense Bonds are as safe as America!

The U. S. Defense Bonds you buy give you personal
financial independence

Remember that when you're buying Defense Bonds you're building a personal reserve of cash savings. Money that will some day buy you a house or educate your children, or support you when you retire. Remember, too, that if you don't save regularly, you generally don't save at all. So go to your company's pay office—now—and sign up to buy Defense Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Don't forget that bonds are now a better buy than ever. Because now every Series E Bond you own automatically goes on earning interest every year for 20 years from date of purchase instead of 10 as before! This means that the bond you bought for $18.75 can return you not $25—but as much as $33.33—if you just hold it the extra ten years! A $37.50 bond pays $66.66. And so on. For your security, and your country's, too, buy U. S. Defense Bonds now!

*U. S. Savings Bonds are Defense Bonds
Buy them regularly!

NEWS and COMMENT

FROM CONGRESSMAN

GEORGE A. DONDERO

Members of the United States Congress last Thursday gathered in joint sessions to hear a speech by Galo Plaza, president of the South American Republic of Ecuador.

There was nothing exceptional in the fact President Plaza spoke before the Congress, because presidents of other countries have done so before. But there was something highly unusual and encouraging in what the president of Ecuador said.

For the first time within my own memory, a high official of a foreign country told the Congress of the United States, in so many words, that his people want no handouts, no gifts of any kind, from the American people.

President Plaza said that on the contrary his government and his people want only private investments of American capital, on a basis whereby Ecuadorian capital may join in developing the vast mineral and agricultural resources of that small and as yet backward country. In effect, he proposed a partnership between private enterprise of the United States and Ecuador.

In addition to this, he asked only that the United States include Ecuador in the implementation of the American policy of helping others to help themselves by exporting to them whatever of our technical know-how they may need in establishing sound and self-supporting economies.

The words of the Ecuadorian president spoke well for the pride and self-respect of a people which has only recently attained stable political institutions after many generations of periodic political upheavals. Incidentally, although an Ecuadorian, Galo Plaza was born and educated in the United States, and may well claim to be a citizen of both countries. As Americans, we can be proud of him.

Cardinals To Hold Monroe Tryouts

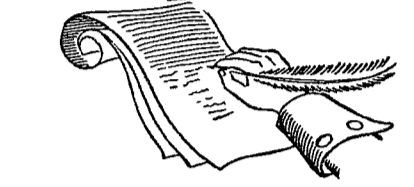

"Are there any potential major league ball players here?" is the question that Jack Sturdy and Bob Kline will be asking themselves when the St. Louis Cardinals conduct their tryout at the Monroe High School field in Monroe on June 28 and 29.

In the tryout camp at Monroe, which is one of many such camps conducted throughout the country by the Cardinals, Sturdy and Kline will be looking for the natural ability in the ball players which can be developed into the smooth perfection which is required in the majors. They will watch each aspirant go through his paces, noting particularly his catching, throwing, hitting and base-running. Those who are adjudged by the scouts to be future big league material will be signed to one of the 15 teams in the famous Cardinal farm system. There they will develop through the top-notch coaching and invaluable experience of the minors, into veteran baseball players. The best of these will become the major league stars of tomorrow, where they will be more than amply rewarded for their previously expended effort.

The tryouts will begin at 11:00 a.m. each day for all interested between the ages of 17 and 23. All those attending are asked to bring their own shoes and gloves, and uniforms if possible, as the Cardinals do not furnish this equipment. Any expenses incident to attending the camp will be refunded to all players who are signed to contracts by the Red Bird scouts.

Plymouth — There is every indication that this year's July 4th celebration in Plymouth planned by the Chamber of Commerce will be bigger and better than last year's event. Governor G. Mennen Williams plans to be on hand on the evening of July 3rd to help determine the winner of the popularity contest—Queen of Plymouth.

Farmington — An application for an advancement of funds from the Federal Government for school building plans has been made by Clarenceville School District, Louis Schmidt, superintendent, announced last week.

Rochester — Increased overcrowding of the Rochester Public Schools and the continued increase in school population in the areas "traditionally and historically" served by the Rochester High School, as indicated by 1951 school census figures, has created a situation within the area that has stirred school board officials of Rochester and the nine districts served by Rochester, to find it necessary to do something about it.

Inkster — Inkster's Village Council took definite steps at its meeting on June 14 to go through with plans for acquiring and constructing extensions and improvements to the Village sewage system. This problem has confronted the Council for many months and members feel it is "excellent for the health, welfare and safety of the people of this Village" that such improvements be made.

Homemakers To Hold Conference

Although last year's record-breaking attendance is not anticipated, home economists at Michigan State College are preparing to take care of more than 1,000 women at the annual Homemakers' Conference, July 10 to 13 at East Lansing.

The four-day program is designed to give instructions and entertainment to members of Michigan home economics extension groups throughout the state. Mrs. Leona D. MacLeod, state leader of home demonstration work, says an outstanding group of speakers has been obtained.

Dr. Alfred Haake, consultant in public relations for General Motors, Detroit; Miss Fannie Brooks, former specialist in health education at the University of Illinois; Mrs. Lloyd Sprague, New York, U. S. Delegate to the Status of Women Committee of United Nations; Miss Rachel Martens, home furnishings editor of Farm Journal, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Barton Reese Pogue, Indiana humorist and D. W. Varner, Michigan State College extension agricultural economist are among the speakers.

Women will be housed in Shaw Hall. In addition to general sessions, women may select from among 18 fields for daily one hour classes and among five different interest groups for daily sectional meetings.

Home demonstration agents in Michigan counties are making reservations for attendance. Last year, 1,125 attended to establish a new record.

Cahow, Believed Extinct Since 1625, Is Caught

NEW YORK—The cahow bird, believed extinct for 326 years, has been rediscovered. He has just been in hiding from people and rats these past three hundred years. Dr. Robert Cushman Murphy, chairman of the department of birds of the American Museum of Natural History, discovered the bird after a perilous 15-day trek over small islands off Bermuda. He caught five and took their pictures as proof of their existence. The bird has been widely believed to be extinct since 1625, when a famine struck the islands and settlers killed them by the wagon-load for food.

Tells of Capture

Mr. Murphy told reporters how he rediscovered the cahow, accompanied by his wife and two ornithologists.

"I had done quite a bit of work in petrels, the bird family to which the cahow belongs. I had long suspected the existence of the cahow. I got in touch with Louis L. Mowbray, curator of the Bermuda aquarium, who said he suspected the same thing and would be glad to help us look for one."

Murphy and his wife, Grace, flew to Bermuda. Using a diesel-powered launch, they probed the wave-washed coasts of many islands looking for the cahow.

It was dangerous work. The waters around the islands are full of reefs. The coasts rise steeply out of the water. High waves churn dangerously all around the sheer coral ledges. Finally, five days after the expedition began, Murphy wrote a note of victory in his diary: "Jan. 28. Cahows! Bermuda..."

Three hundred years hadn't changed the habits of the cahow. It still nested in deep burrows of limestone rock—some as deep as 11 feet.

Cahow Is Ugly

"Using a bamboo pole equipped with a noose, Mowbray succeeded in fishing out the first cahow," Murphy said. "At this point, the cahow was photographed for the first time in history."

If the cahow was once inhibited by zealous hunters, it has lost all fear of man during its long absence. One was picked up and passed from hand to hand. The bird stood, the inspection well. "Apparently he was quite unafraid of the presence of human beings," Murphy said.

The bird, it appeared, could well have hidden away all these years because of self-consciousness. It isn't very pretty, or else it just doesn't photograph well. Its photograph looks like a bad combination of penguin, owl, parrot, and jaybird.

Dr. Murphy described the rediscovery of the cahow as "most exciting" to the scientific world.

Cable Car Stalls Over 600 Foot Chasm; Twenty Saved

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil—Augusto Gonçalves, an electrician, risked his life to save 20 fellow passengers from a stalled cable car that dangled 650 feet above a mountain chasm for more than seven hours.

Gonçalves slid down a rope from the car after it stalled when one of its two cable tracks broke.

He then rigged up an emergency hand powered car which he propelled out 900 feet along the unbroken cable and rescued those remaining in the car four at a time. He made a total of five trips while thousands watched from the ground fearing the remaining cable might snap.

The passengers said panic rolled through the car as it suddenly swayed dangerously and halted when the car was halfway across the chasm between Uricia and Sugar Loaf mountains.

The railway runs on two cables from the ground to Uricia mountain and then to the top of Sugar Loaf, a 1,000 foot peak at the entrance to Guanabara bay. The line gives passengers a spectacular view of Rio de Janeiro and its harbor.

Scientist Suggests Agency To Control 'Rainmaking'

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Vannavar Bush, wartime research chief and now president of the Carnegie Institution, said recently he believed it is possible to make rain "under certain conditions" and proposed creation of a special agency to control the "new art."

"Man has begun for the first time to effect the weather," Bush told a special senate subcommittee. "No man can tell where it may end. Before the decade has passed we may be affecting the environment in which we live in a most extraordinary manner."

The group is considering a number of weather-control bills.
