

Picked up a copy of our neighboring publication, "The Livonian" last Friday and found the following item of local interest. It follows, in part: Although many Livonians are still being stopped, warned or ticketed for speeding, Chief George Harmon reports that 9 out of 10 cars stopped, especially on Seven Mile road are Northville motorists. This should serve as a warning to local citizens that Livonia enforces its speed laws; Seven Mile road is posted with 40 to 50 miles per hour speed limit signs.

Pity the plight of the poor farmer who came to town in his truck laden with baled hay last Wednesday afternoon only to lose about half of his load as he turned the corner at the intersection of Wing and Randolph streets. When we left him, he was knee deep in the stuff, scratching his head and wondering what to do now.

Work is rapidly progressing on the new sidewalk being laid from the High school to the Grade school. C. O. Hammond is doing the job which is expected to be completed in time for the opening of the new school term.

Mrs. B. Baskins is the sole contributor of socks and ties for the Detroit House of Correction Occupational therapy department this week. Don't forget to support this worthwhile project; leave yours today at the Record office or at the home of E. J. Willis, 119 Rayson street.

Mayor Conrad E. L. Agfield recently received a letter from the co-chairman of Detroit's 250th Birthday Festival, Andrew J. Kirkpatrick and John G. Mullaly, congratulating him for his efforts in the parade.

Villagers driving down Main street the first of the week were startled to find a portable signal anchored in the middle of East Main street and Hutton street. The signal is being given a trial period to determine whether one is needed there.

Ball Game Tonight To Crown Champs

Tonight's softball game between the Cy Owens Ford team and the winner of Wednesday's contest between the Northville Hotel and Stone's Gamble Store will decide the champions of the Northville Softball League.

All three teams went into the last two days of the playoffs with one loss chalked against them. The Hotel nine lost to Stone's team last Wednesday night, 9 to 2, but the Ford squad upset Stone's 9 to 4 Tuesday evening. The Ford aggregation knocked the Optimists out of the tourney with an 8 to 7 defeat on Monday.

The Northville Record went to press before the contest between the Northville Hotel and Stone's Gamble Store Wednesday evening. Tonight's match between the winner and the Cy Owens Ford team will be at 8:30 at Ford Field.

Northville Hotel had a two-run lead over Stone's Wednesday, August 8, on Al Wister's triple in the third inning which scored LaRue and Lash. The lead held up until the top of the last inning, when the Hotel nine took advantage of four hits, five walks, an error and two batsmen hit by pitched balls to push across nine runs and win 9 to 2.

The Ford team nipped the Optimists and pushed them out of the playoffs with an 8 to 7 victory Monday night.

The Optimists posted an early lead with a run in the first frame on Jerry Graham's hit, but Ford went ahead 2 to 1 in the third on Wellman's single.

The Optimists bounced back with three runs in their half of the third and added another in the fourth to run the tally to 5 to 2 in their favor, but hits by Cole and Joe Gatter for Ford scored two base runners in the fifth inning to close the gap to 5 to 4.

Ford's added four more markers in the sixth when Joe Gatter singled to score two runs. He and Cole scored later on an error.

The Optimists picked up two runs in their half of the seventh via three errors, a walk and a fielder's choice, but couldn't get the tying run and lost 8 to 7.

Ford's team downed Stone's 9 to 4 Tuesday night to drop Stone's out of the undefeated class.

The Ford crew led all the way, piling up three tallies in the first inning. Don Bidwell batted Cole in and Gatter and then scored on an error. Bidwell rammed out (Continued on Page Six)

Rotary Club Hears Talk on Government

Rotarians heard John Iglover, assistant director of the Michigan Municipal League of Ann Arbor, discuss relative merits of the village form of government and the city form at the Rotary meeting Tuesday noon.

Iglover, who was impartial and had no interest in whether Northville becomes a city or remains a village, presented legal evidence in his comparison of the advantages and disadvantages in making a change. The Municipal League serves as research agent and aide to most villages and cities in Michigan.

Iglover's talk centered on streamlining the system of government and eliminating duplication of village and township functions. Four main points were included: (1) assessment of village and township taxes, (2) single registration for all elections except school elections, (3) streamlining of supervisor representation on county boards, and (4) consolidation of the judicial, or justice of the peace, system into one active justice who would be salaried rather than on a fee basis.

Members of Northville's council were guests at the club for the meeting and participated in the question and answer session which followed Iglover's talk.

Friday the firemen were called to Gerald avenue where a car had caught fire. The blaze was quickly extinguished. Later they were sent to West Main street to put out a grass fire.

The massed air might of the nation will be on display here at the 1951 National Air Races at Detroit-Wayne Major Airport, Saturday and Sunday, August 18 and 19.

More than 100,000 are expected in attendance each day.

On the ground in finger-tip display and in the air in thrilling formations and speed dashes, more than 300 of the latest types of planes used today by the Air Force, Army, Navy and Marine Corps, and the buzzing light planes of the top civilian pilots will keep the audience busy from 9:30 in the morning until 5:00 each day.

The services will have on display such famous planes as "Lucky Lady," through which the visitors may actually walk. It's a world-tour of aviation on a single airport as a part of Detroit's 250th Birthday celebration.

And on top of this, will be comedy acts and aerobatics by the top professionals and the competition for the national parachute championship; bands and music; announcers to explain every minute; luncheon snacks and drinks and the biggest day of fun ever for thousands from all over this entire section of the nation. ## Better Farm Groups is Goal for U-M's "Operation Tracer"

"Operation Tracer" at the University of Michigan may lead to increased yields and greater nutritional value in farm crops. The research program, which has just been announced, has been made possible by a grant of $100,000 to the Michigan Memorial Phoenix Project by Dearborn Motors Corp. The grant is designed to establish and finance the research for the first four years.

Centering in the University's School of Natural Resources, "Operation Tracer" will seek more information on trace elements in the soil. Scientists know that the presence or absence of these elements—iron, boron, copper, zinc, manganese, molybdenum—is of tremendous importance to the growth of virtually everything humans eat. But beyond that little is known definitely.

"Operation Tracer" will attempt to discover how plants assimilate trace elements and to determine which elements, how much and in what form they should be applied in order to make such crops as corn, potatoes and wheat grow faster and better. The trees on the wood lot should be a part of every farm also will be included in the study.

Although only small amounts of these trace elements are needed by plants, spectacular increases in yields have been obtained when they were added to deficient soils. Thomas A. Farrell, president of Dearborn Motors, pointed to the following:

Iron sulfate sprayed on soy beans in Iowa doubled the yield. Without zinc sulfate, sweet corn cannot be grown on some muck soils in Michigan. But yields of more than eight tons per acre are possible with the application of 100 pounds per acre.

In commenting on the Dearborn Motors Corp. grant for "Operation Tracer," University President Alexander G. Ruthven said "The teamwork between an important industrial concern and a University research staff which is contemplated by the project is exactly the kind of mutually beneficial program that we envisioned when we launched the Phoenix Project. That the study of tree and plant physiology should result in immense benefits to mankind will be the common goal toward which both of our institutions will strive."

Surviving are four sons, Leonard, Edmund and Joseph, all of Detroit; Elmer of Northville, and two daughters, Mrs. Raymond Newhouse and Mrs. L. D. Riley of Northville.

That Summer Cold May Be Hay Fever U-M Doctors Say

About nine out of ten persons suffering from hay fever believe they have a "common cold" or sinus trouble, according to doctors in the Allergy Clinic at the University of Michigan hospital.

Unfortunately, many of these people mistakenly often turn to nose drops for relief without realizing it may contain substances to which they are allergic, the U-M doctors explained.

Individuals who are in doubt regarding whether their symptoms of "runny" nose, sneezing, and "watery eyes," are indications of hay fever or a common cold should consult a doctor to obtain an accurate diagnosis, the Allergy Clinic pointed out.

The doctors explained that hay fever causes an increase of certain white cells in the blood stream which can be readily determined.

The confusion between hay fever and the "common cold" probably arises because of the similarity of certain symptoms. However, the University physicians said patients with hay fever do not have a fever even though they may feel hot.

Hay fever symptoms can occur year-round as the result of dust or the use of face-powder, toothpaste, milk or other foods that may contain substances to which a particular individual is allergic, the clinic declared.

The clinic doctors indicated that the widely-heralded drug, Cortisone, has proved very effective in treating some patients with allergic eye diseases involving conjunctivitis (inflammation of the eyelids).

Dr. John M. Sheldon, professor of internal medicine, in charge of the University Hospital Allergy Clinic, reported that new compounds, related to Cortisone, are also being used in certain allergy patients with a good deal of effectiveness.

However, he pointed out, these new compounds are still in the evaluative stage and not available for general use.

Many Italian Sites Visited by Jamboree Scout Gunsell

The following excerpts were taken from letters received by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Gunsell of Clement road from their son, Dick, who attended the Scout Jamboree in Bad Ischl, Austria from August 3-10. The following letters were written while he visited in Italy.

July 28

Well, Rome is quite a surprise to me. The train we had was wonderful and the station in Rome is actually the most beautiful and modern one we have ever seen—all glass and Italian marble. It is huge—much larger than New York's largest station. There is so much in Rome to see, but I will tell you this much. Rome has a large number of new apartment buildings, good roads, good transportation and excellent hotels—a very progressive city.

The Roman ruins and their famous cathedrals are magnificent to see. This morning we went to the Vatican Palace (Sistine Chapel) with its beautiful paintings, books, etc. In our two days in Rome we visited the Borghese Gallery and Museum and saw some of Michelangelo's masterpieces. We also took in the Trevi Fountain, Pantheon, Old Appian Way, the Catacombs, the Coliseum and as an unusual experience, the Scouts went up to the Pope's summer home and talked with him in an arranged meeting.

In Rome, 615 Lire are equivalent to the American dollar. Gas for cars is $1.15 a gallon; shoes range from 12,000 Lire to 15,000.

Boats, boats and more boats! This is Venice and not a cat or bicycle in sight! Gondolas are the rule here in this ancient but interesting city and so today we enjoyed a ride down the Grand Canal.

It is interesting to observe that the majority of Italians wear white clothing—just a custom, I guess. We see again the communistic signs and readings which we encountered all over Italy. Venice with its famous gondolas may be interesting to a tourist, but as far as living conditions are concerned, United States is heaven.

Most Italian people are in a class: first, second or third. Either you have it or you don't. There are lots of farms between Rome and Florence on steep hillsides where olive groves are very common.

A Thrifty Spaghetti Dinner Helps Balance Tight Budget

There are two ways of keeping the overstrained food budget within bounds. One is to set a price you can afford to pay each day for that day's food. The other is to average up the meals, spending more one day than another, but coming out "even" at the end of the week.

A spaghetti dinner once a week is one of the thrifty meals to count on if you use the second plan. A roast, perhaps, on Sunday, and then a spaghetti dinner Tuesday or Wednesday, mean a nice balance.

The best of it is that the spaghetti dinner can be as delicious as the roast. A sauce that glamorizes your big dish of spaghetti into a real Chef's treat comes in an eight-ounce can, made with either meat or mushrooms. Both variations are delicious. The rich tomato puree is combined with just beef for the meat sauce and with tender mushrooms for the other. They are ready to serve as soon as they are heated.

When you're cooking spaghetti remember that in this case the watched pot does best. It needs watching so that it won't boil over. Some cooks add a little butter to the water—a sort of kitchen method of pouring oil on troubled waters—to prevent boiling over.

When you're ready to serve up, remember that the experienced Chef handles spaghetti lightly. Mix some of your good sauce in with the spaghetti in the serving dish and serve the rest in a sauceboat, and be sure the sauce is really steaming hot.

Remember another Chef's trick—that spaghetti should be served with something crisp. French or Italian bread or bread sticks, crusty-brown, and a dish of raw vegetable sticks and slices add just the crispness needed.

a triple in the third frame to chase in Cole in the third. Niven's hit scored Stanley for the Stone team in the fifth, but Ford's added five runs in the sixth on two hits, two errors and a walk. Joe Gatter got his third hit of the game, a double good for two runs.

Stone's made their bid in the seventh, loading the bases with Niven, Schroeder and McClellan. Maclean's hit to right field was bobbled and let Niven across the plate. With the sacks still full, Lyster Wick walked to force in Schroeder. Thompson was out on a grounder, but McClellan got across on the fielder's choice for the final Stone tally.

Times Ain't Much Changed From B.C.; Researcher States

NEWARK, N.J.—Somebody has said that there is nothing new under the sun and Dr. Moses I. Finley, assistant professor of history at the Newark College of Arts and Sciences of the State University, is inclined to agree with him after studying business practices in ancient Greece.

Dr. Finley has discovered, for instance, that when a citizen of Athens, circa 400 B.C., got in financial difficulties because he had bought too many silk togas for his wife or too much wine for his parties, he did just what moderns do. He went in hock. That is, he mortgaged a piece of land, borrowed money and paid off his creditors.

This is one of the many significant facts about the way the ancient Greeks did business which Dr. Finley has uncovered in his search for new knowledge in this heretofore rarely studied field—the machinery of finance 2,350 years ago.

A student of ancient history for more than 20 years, Dr. Finley became interested in ancient business practices in 1947 and began his study by reading everything available on the subject.

His interest was quickened by what he read about the Horoi, stones which the early Greeks placed at the boundaries of their property lines. The existence of the stones as boundary markers had been known for a century, but when Dr. Finley finished studying some 152 of them he had added knowledge about their use.

He found that the Horoi were used as much as the record of a mortgage as a boundary marker. Working from the original Greek, Dr. Finley has been able to determine from the crude lettering on the Horoi the various reasons why land was mortgaged. Generally people of some wealth were involved and in general the mortgage was the result of borrowing.

From other Horoi he found information on the Greek way of life. Some record charges on property given as a dowry. Others specify that the property was to be kept intact for a minor. Dr. Finley also discovered that in ancient Greece the mortgage was more a substitute for an actual debt than security in the modern sense of the word.

Burlap and cotton for bags is apt to be in short supply. Proper care of the ones now being used on the farm will prolong their usefulness.

Defense is your job, too!

HERE is a group of strong, healthy young American soldiers enjoying an after-choy gab session while they polish up for tomorrow's inspection. They are a part of the best-fed, best-equipped, best-cared-for Army in the world—the United States Army. And they are just like the boys from your home town, from your own block, who are training now to do a job of defending your country—and you.

Defense is your job, too. And one of the best ways for you to do that job is to buy U. S. Defense Bonds. For your Defense Bonds help maintain America's economic strength just as these boys help maintain her military strength. Go to the Pay Office where you work and sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan, or join the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank. Do it now!

The U. S. Defense Bonds you buy give you personal financial independence

Remember that when you're buying Defense Bonds you're building a personal reserve of cash savings. Money that will some day buy you a house or educate your children, or support you when you retire. Remember, too, that if you don't save regularly, you generally don't save at all. So go to your company's pay office—now—and sign up to buy Defense Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Don't forget that bonds are now a better buy than ever. Because now every Series E Bond you own automatically goes on earning interest every year for 20 years from date of purchase instead of 10 as before! This means that the bond you bought for $18.75 can return you not $25—but as much as $33.33—if you just hold it the extra ten years! A $37.50 bond pays $66.66. And so on. For your security, and your country's, too, buy U. S. Defense Bonds now!

VA Urges End to Stiff Credit Curbs

This is no time for the government to renege on commitments to veterans, Alexander Summer, Newark, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said today in calling for relaxation of unnecessary home buying credit controls. "Only two million of the 15 million eligible veterans have exercised their GI rights for home purchase credit," Mr. Summer said, "and the Veterans Administration estimates that another four million veterans will want to use GI home loan guarantee provisions. Recent restrictions on this type of credit have taken most veterans out of the market for homes.

"Average families who can make the kind of down payments on homes that have been found sound in recent years are now denied any hope of home purchase by excessive down payment requirements. This kind of credit control rations housing in a way that leaves families of modest means out in the cold. It rations housing backwards, leaving those with ample cash free to do as they wish.

"We can carry on an adequate program of home production and expanded home ownership without hampering the defense program in any way. The argument that previous credit terms for home purchase are inflationary has fallen flat. There is no evidence that imposition of the controls has had an anti-inflationary result. In fact, these controls have boosted prices in some instances.

While administration leaders have been pulling the opportunity for home ownership away from typical families, under the guise of fighting inflation they have issued $171 million in tax exempt bonds to finance a public housing program, thus demonstrating that they do not believe their own argument that financing of housing is inflationary.

"At the outset of the credit control program, the federal agencies responsible for home credit controls promised to keep abreast of conditions and to relax controls when the need became apparent.

"It is now shamefully apparent all over the United States that there is a need to end the system of home purchase for the well-heeled only."

Wayne — Wayne's hospital need is severe. That was one conclusion everyone agreed upon at Monday night's meeting called by the Wayne Jaycees.

Dearborn — Mayoral candidate John T. McWilliams opened what may turn out to be a violent campaign against Mayor Orville L. Hubbard this week as he told a meeting of the East Dearborn Kiwanis Club that Hubbard's failure to establish a Traffic Control Program has resulted in Dearborn having "one of the worst" traffic death records in the United States.

Dearborn — A fast-moving real estate deal in which Mayor Orville L. Hubbard "requested" the City Council to approve the trade of 20 city-owned lots on Silvery Lane for 140 acres to be added to Camp Dearborn in Milford Township, was quickly railroaded through the council Tuesday evening as five pro-Hubbard members voted to approve the exchange.

NON-PARTISAN NEWS LETTER

If the weather has been hot, the political picture most certainly hasn't. Capitol activity has fallen off to the lowest summer in years, with only the occasional foundation for fall maneuvering to break the monotony. Only action worthy of mention has been among Democrat incumbents, Governor Williams and U. S. Senator Moody and Republican aspirants Fred M. Alger, Jr. and John B. Martin, Jr. Williams, who has not yet announced he will run again, has been crossing frequently between the governor's summer home on Mackinac Island and the mainland. Alger, who would like to displace Williams, has been touring the state in an unfamiliar Alger style, speaking to many groups and crowning several queens.

Senator Moody is hard to find. He's in and out of Michigan so often his associates find it difficult to keep track of him. Martin, who wants Moody's job, is being an aggressive Republican, currently touring the Upper Peninsula and objecting strenuously and publicly to anything from Democratic sections.

Auditor General John B. Martin, Jr. has lashed out at the Liquor Control Commission's power "to throw out of line the entire budgeting process of the state by increasing liquor inventory." Commission Chairman George Burke, Jr., said tersely, Martin "makes noises like a candidate for the U. S. Senate."

The vacation season is at its height with traffic streaming through Michigan from every state in the union. Slowed up by chilly weather for a while, resorters hope now for a near-record year. Auto travel across the Straits was up 12.9 percent in the first seven months of the year. Ferries carried 321,235 cars in that period as against 272,030 in the same time last year.

State park and recreation areas are about on par with last year, but the number of out-state fishing licenses issued have gone up. Parks have had over 7,422,000 visitors thus far.

The State Defense Council hopes to get mass blood typing done cheaper and quicker. A second experiment has been ordered. Method to be tested is said to cost 33 cents and give persons their blood types in three minutes. The system now being used costs $110, and results aren't known for a month.

The Michigan State Bar will be asked to get behind a forced reappointment of the legislature, a move long opposed by rural and upstate interests. Committee making the recommendation says reappointment should remain based on population but should eliminate the Moity clause which permits a county to have one representative in the house though lacking sufficient population.

How does industry feel about Michigan? A survey by the State Department of Economic Development shows manufacturers like proximity to manufacturers' market, availability of skilled labor, nearness to materials and general characteristics of state as place to live.

They dislike high wage levels, low productivity—especially in Detroit—distance from markets and distance from steel sources.

No more enrollment padding has been found in Michigan schools. Twelve districts have been audited, 288 yet to go.

Business apparently is good in the state. Reo Motors of Lansing reports that it sold $11,865,000 worth of lawn mowers in 1950-51. At the same time General Motors announces a $1 per share dividend on common stock and Oldsmobile says it will build a half-million cars a year by 1960.

New and used car dealers expect an upsurge in sales, but they aren't sure whether it will result from easier credit terms or fears of a price increase.

Each year forest fires in the United States, most of them man-caused, destroy enough wood to build 86 thousand homes.

SOCIAL SECURITY COVERAGE FOR SELF-EMPLOYED COMPULSORY

Apparently there is some misunderstanding of the self-employed person's obligations under the amended Social Security Act. C. A. Mattson, manager of the Northwest office of the Social Security Administration, explained that Old-age and survivors insurance is not optional for people who are working for themselves in their own trade or business, or as partners in such enterprises. If you are self-employed and derive as much as $400 in net profit from your business or businesses in any taxable year after December 31, 1950, your social security coverage is compulsory by law.

The only exceptions are income derived from self-employment income derived from practice as a physician, lawyer, dentist, osteopath, chiropractor, optometrist, naturopath, veterinarian, architect, CPA, licensed, registered or full-time practicing public accountant, Christian Science practitioner, professional engineer, or funeral director.

This means that, if you are not in one of the excepted groups, you have the same obligation to report your own income and pay the self-employment tax as you now have to report and withhold social security taxes on your employees' earnings. However, as a self-employed person you do not report yourself along with your employees. Your self-employment income must be reported annually on your income-tax Form 1040, Schedule C, especially revised for this purpose. Your first such report is due March 15, 1952, covering your self-employment income for the taxable year 1951 and payable along with the report is your self-employment social security tax, which is 2 1/4% of the first $3,600 of your net business profit. If you are a partner in a business, the tax is levied on the first $3,600 of your distributive share of the partnership net profits, whether or not the profits are distributed.

However, if you have had wages in covered employment during the year, on which social security taxes have been withheld, the amount of any such taxes is offset against the amount of taxes due on self-employment income.

For additional information on the new social security law, call at, write, or phone the Northwest office at 12065 Wyoming, corner of Grand River. Telephone TEKas 4-4750 if you cannot come in.

The Heavyweight Division

STEPPING into the heavyweight picture we have the feeling that we've just invaded a squirrel cage or stuck our features into a revolving fan.

Just what is the heavyweight division, anyway? Walcott whips Louis but doesn't get the decision. Then Louis knocks out Walcott. Ezzard Charles gives Louis a bad trimming. Ezzard Charles then gives Walcott two unhappy evenings by knocking Jersey Joe around.

Then along comes Rex Layne and whips Walcott, making it practically unanimous. For Jersey Joe is now close to 38 years old, possibly older.

In the midst of this turmoil and confusion Rocky Marciano knocks out Rex Layne, late conqueror of Walcott. Then the aging Walcott knocks out Ezzard Charles.

If you can make anything out of this pretzel-shaped situation, you have considerable on us Louis, Walcott, Charles, Marciano and Layne are all in the jumble. Three of these have given Jersey Joe a healthy powdering—Louis, Charles and Layne.

On a matter of percentages Ezzard Charles is still ahead. But Jersey Joe Walcott is the heavyweight champion of the world. He not only holds a knockout over Charles but he beat him six out of seven rounds by outboxing and out-fighting him.

On top of this scrambled heavyweight situation we have Robinson and Turpin moving into the scenery shortly. Jim Norris admits that Madison Square Garden can't handle over two big fights in one month. This leaves a flock of heavyweights on the outside looking in.

Having won two out of three matches from Walcott, Charles deserves his return bout. But Louis has been training for another shot at Charles for over a year. And Marciano, backed by Al Weill, says he won't meet anyone but the champion.

If Walcott and Charles meet, a Louis-Marciano contest would be highly important, as well as interesting, since both Louis and Marciano can hit with the impact of a brick at close enough range.

It would be more than interesting to see Marciano piling into Joe Louis as he piled into Rex Layne.

No Big Stars

The heavyweight situation today is the most highly involved in many, many years.

It is now evident that with a 38-year-old fighter—one who had lost his last four important matches to Louis, Charles and Layne—the new world's champion, the quality of this rickety division isn't any Mt. Everest peak. It has to be pretty low. But as long as it is now a big four-cornered matter among old rivals, it has at least taken on a keener degree of national interest than anything we have seen since Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey left us, over 20 years ago.

For example, most of the old-time boxers that I talked to after the Marciano-Layne fight were confident Charles could take both Walcott and Marciano.

As it developed Charles couldn't take Walcott alone in his third stab, and Marciano's status, he man who wrecked Layne who beat Walcott who knocked out Charles, is still a mystery. Where does this lead us? We are deeper in the underbrush than we were at the start of the argument.

If the Past Performance Chart means anything at all the four men left are about as evenly matched as one could hope to find.

Rex Layne is still two years away, waiting for the day when he can discover what a left hand means. Rocky Marciano might be in the same fix regarding experience, of which he has had little in high-class boxing society.

Ezzard Charles was regarded as a good, careful boxer who couldn't punch. Against Walcott he looked to be in a half daze. He made very little active effort to defend his slipping crown. He must have seen that said crown was skidding rapidly and yet he still wouldn't make a threatening gesture. It was a sad performance on the part of a defending champion. But there was nothing sad about the way Walcott finally won the big title.

Looking Ahead

The American League dominance in baseball will never return again by any heavy margin—not while most of us are inhaling the thin breath of life. I mean by that the A.L. won't again have a Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx and Greenberg operating its salvos.

These four hit more than 2,000 homers, if our memory is intact. Babe Ruth had around 714, Lou Gehrig—494, Foxx—334 and Greenberg had 331.

It's amazing the number of things one can remember having forgotten.

NOTICE TO ATTORNEYS

The attention of the Members of the Bar is called to the amendment of Sections 32 and 35 of Chapter I of the Probate Code (701 32 and 701 35) Compiled Laws of 1948) (27.3178 (32) and (27.3178 (35) M.S.A.) by Act 253 Public Acts of 1951.

Section 32 is amended by the addition of the following paragraph to Sub Section (b):

"In all cases where notice has been given solely by publication as aforesaid, copies of such notice shall be sent by the petitioner, fiduciary or his attorney by registered mail, with return receipt demanded, at least 14 days prior to the time appointed therein for hearing, to all persons appearing at the time of such mailing from the records of the estate or proceeding with respect to which such notice is given to have an interest therein, and such copies shall be mailed as aforesaid to the persons entitled thereto at their respective last known addresses: Provided, however, That such service by registered mail may be dispensed with whenever the names or addresses of such interested persons are unknown and cannot be ascertained by the exercise of reasonable diligence or whenever such interested persons are unborn, unascertained or have only contingent future interests, or have signed a petition for an order of said court with respect to which such notice by registered mail would otherwise be required, or by writing filed in said court have waived such notice."

Section 35 is amended by the addition of the following sentence to the paragraph:

"Whenever the address of any person entitled to service, but who has not been personally served, is unknown and cannot be ascertained by the exercise of reasonable diligence, or such person for any other reason is not served with notice by registered mail, the affidavit shall so state, together with the reason for such non-service."

These amendments are the result of the Mullane Decision of the U. S. Supreme Court and should be carefully studied as they must be fully followed when the Act goes into effect the latter part of September.

The Probate Court is preparing forms to be used in connection with the new Act and they will be ready when it goes into effect.

Predict Tiny TV Tubes Will Oust One Now In Use

GARY, Ind. (NPC)—Television is on the march. New components and other developments are on the way through invention and research. Progress is inevitable, declares National Patent Council, so long as the American Patent System continues to offer the incentive to invent and produce.

Television is stepping along, and the sets of today will make way for the sets of tomorrow. Some unknown inventor of today may be a television giant in days to come.

You don't like those scanning lines that disturb the close-up view? Be patient. Soon there will be no visible scanning lines. This is the promise of Philo T. Farnsworth, the once unknown western farm boy, who suddenly emerged as a television pioneer when he invented and patented the electronic-scanning picture tube. Electronic scanning knocked out mechanical scanning. The latter used a revolving perforated disc that screened the picture. Farnsworth thinks our present direct-view tube is on the way out, just as the smaller direct-view tubes have already almost disappeared from the market.

Tiny Tubes Coming
"It now seems entirely feasible," Farnsworth said recently to a group of radio engineers, "to build a receiver tube six inches long and less than an inch in diameter that will have 15,000 times the screen brightness of today's direct-view tube. With such a tube, we shall be able to use a built-in screen in the receiver or to adjust the set so that an image may be projected in three-by-four-foot size on a separate screen or wall."

New kinds of tubes will also improve the eye of the camera, Farnsworth said. The camera sees with about the same effect as the normal human eye. But the new tubes will enhance the camera eye so that it will see through the infrared region of the spectrum with 100 times the efficiency of the human eye; in fact, "where the human eye does not see at all."

Smaller tubes and other technical advances should bring the costs of television sets down in the near future. A set described in the January Radio Review is in line with the Farnsworth predictions. This set cut production costs by using a low-loss insulating phenolic plastic housing instead of building a voltage driver that was vacuum impregnated, oil filled, and hermetically sealed. Costs in replacements or repairs have also been substantially reduced for this unit.

Research scientists are looking for precision refinements in the transmission and reception of ultra-high frequencies which will permit many more television stations to operate and provide the viewer with a wider selection of programs. They say television is coming around more and more corners. It is moving ahead on its own muscle as a shining example of private enterprise. Television has remained free and independent of government subsidy to serve all corners. It is hoped that bureaucratic edicts will not seriously hinder progress.

Modern Philip Nolan Keeps Atlantic Stirred for Years
NEW YORK, N.Y.—A modern "man without a country" is shuttling back and forth across the Atlantic between the United States and Italy. Homeless for 12 years, his plight seems apt to continue, as neither nation will give him shelter.

Immigration service officials refused to let this modern Philip Nolan, a man named Frank Russo, disembark from the ship Italia on which he had arrived from Italy, where also he was refused admittance.

It all began in 1939 when Russo denied American citizenship to get out of a prison term in Florida. After serving part of the sentence, he was deported to Italy. He stayed away on a ship returning to America in 1945 and again was deported.

Back in Italy, he stayed away again on another U.S. bound ship. This time he was held ten months at Ellis Island and deported back again in 1949. Determined, he bounced back across the ocean. This time he was held at the island ten months and left for Italy May 28. A few days ago he returned on the same ship. U.S. Immigration officials, however, said he could just stay there (on ship). Italian officials feel likewise, which puts Russo in quite a spot.

Judge Levies Overtime Fine On Railway, Promises More
RICHMOND, Calif.—Parking tickets are always a problem. And if you think your jalopy is a special target for overtime tags—consider the case of the city that fined a railroad engineer.

A Richmond city ordinance says trains must not block a grade crossing for more than five minutes.

Police Judge Clare Horner said Southern Pacific trains violated that rule eight times and fined the company $80, with a strong warning: "Next time you're in for sterner judgment."

Iron and steel scrap is needed once again to keep the nation's steel mills rolling at full capacity.
