

For his 25 years of service as head of the Wayne County Training School, Dr. Robert H. Haskell was honored by the Wayne County Board of Auditors who passed a resolution in his honor last Tuesday. The resolution said "the school had made an unexcelled record in returning innumerable children to useful stations in society."

One correction and two additions have been made in our listing of returning college students: Cleon Newton attends Wayne university not Lawrence Tech as previously stated. Sally Merriam has begun her training at Grace hospital. Charlene Waid is beginning her freshman year at Michigan State Normal college, Ypsilanti.

The last issue of the Ford Parts and Equipment Manufacturing Division News carried an item concerning Stanley Gierczyk and Clyde Casterline of the Northville Ford plant. Both men marked their 25th anniversaries with the company last June.

Much interest is being displayed over the 1909 Ford Model T sedan which is on display at the Cy Owens Ford salesroom. A one owner car, the auto was traded in about five years ago for a panel truck by a resident of Plymouth.

It was a pleasant surprise to go down the alley on East Main street the other day to be greeted by a maze of blue morning glories growing stately up the side of the wall of a building just beyond the rear of the G. E. Miller salesroom. The blooms provided a contrast to the otherwise plain alley.

One of Northville's oldest homes, the Blackburn house on East Main street, was the center of interest this week. Spectators gathered to watch the house being raised from its foundation to be moved to its new location on Orchard Drive. The house is being moved to make way for additional parking space and an alley entrance for the shopping district.

This week's good samaritans to the tie and sock cause are J. W. Hawthorne, Mrs. T. J. Knapp, Mrs. Thorne Niemi and Mrs. Margaret Hochkins. They will be sent to the Detroit House of Correction Occupational Therapy department where the women will make draperies out of them. Leave your old socks and ties at the Northville Record office or at the home of E. J. Willis, 119 Rayson street.

Don Stevens, Bob Stoianoff and John Burton returned home Sunday from a hunting trip in Wyoming. The boys each got an antelope and John also shot a bear.

We think you'll be glad to note in this week's Record that the Boy Scouts with the aid of the Village Recreation department have taken it upon themselves the task of providing movies for the children of the town on Saturday evenings. In our estimation this is far better than having the kids risk hitch-hiking to Plymouth or other surrounding theaters.

According to George Simmons, secretary of the Novi township zoning board, a very good crowd was present at the hearing of the proposed amendments to their zoning ordinance. Believe it or not nearly all of them wanted more restrictions added to the present code.

School Board Sets Tuition Rates

At the last meeting of the Northville Board of Education, tuition rates to school districts for the 1951-52 school year were set as follows: grades, kindergarten to sixth, $135, and grade seven to twelve, $185.

The report of Superintendent Russell Amerman included the statement that a survey will be conducted to determine the need for a hot lunch program in the school. A request for bids for blacktopping the playground was also made by Mr. Amerman.

Upon the request of the athletic department, approximately $500 was set aside for the purchase of new athletic equipment. The calendar for the school year was also approved.

Guests at Rotary Tuesday were Jack Taylor and Bob Marsden of Plymouth; Floyd Brangan, Bob Wesley, Lee Butler, Dick Duncan, Harold Feil and Guy Weis.

Mayor Suggests Board Appointees

With the expiration of Mollie Lawrence, Elmer DeKay and Elmer Perrin on the Zoning Board of Appeals, Mayor Langfield recommended that Mrs. Lawrence and DeKay be appointed to succeed themselves and that James Green be appointed to the third vacancy.

Commissioner George Locke moved that the recommendation be accepted. The motion was carried.

At the recent Village council meeting, Attorney James Littell reported the progress made on acquisition of alley and parking lot properties. The deed covering the triangle at the rear of the George Miller garage has been acquired by the Village. He reported the completion of the Freydl deal, also.

The Council was in agreement that the 1951 Village taxes on the property at the corner of Main and Center street be paid by the Village. This corner which is owned by Harry Himmelsteib and M. C. Gursell is being used as a Village parking lot. Village taxes on the parking lot at the corner of Dunlap and Center streets will also be paid by the Village.

Superintendent Hartner was instructed to survey the condition of the Village sidewalks.

Rolling Down The River

by the PETZ BROS.

Friend of ours recently brought his Studebaker in for a bit of tuning, after a four thousand mile vacation jaunt. Told us of stopping at a small town rodeo, where he searched valiantly for a place to park. Finally, noticing one spot, recently vacated, he started to drive around some wooden barriers to get at the solitary parking space, when the town police stopped him. "Wassa matter," yelled the law, "when them barriers is up, you ain't supposed to go around them."

Now our friend is a school teacher by trade and a bit of a grammarian by inclination (he even criticizes THIS column), so he answered (a bit lamely we thought), "all right chief, but if you are going to talk to me like that, please watch your grammar."

"Leave my grammar out of this," shouted the chief, "she's a nice gentle old lady. You stay away from them barriers."

Well, you're not making any mistake in grammar when you say "Studebaker." As a matter of proven fact, you're not making any sort of mistake. The word "Studebaker" stands for power, speed, comfort, economy and so many fine adjectives, that it can't help being the finest car on the road today. You really must drive the '51 Commander with its new type V-8 engine to fully appreciate what we're trying to put into words. Why not do it today?

From where we sit, it looks like the army wants 18-year-olds in uniform because they're quick to learn things. The politicians don't want them to vote for the same reason.

The fellows in the shop have been wondering where you've been and did you have a good time on your vacation? Now that you're back it grates their sensitive nerves to hear you rolling down the street sounding like a one-lunged scooter. We suggest that you bring the jalopy in for an expert check-up and drive away feeling like you owned a new car. Really is miraculous the way these mechanics of ours can put an ailing motor back in tip-top shape. You'll like it much better too!

Well, must go now, but do you remember that old saying, "you can't take it with you." The Bureau of Internal Revenue revised it recently to read, "Just try to keep it while you're here!"

Yours,

BILL and WILL PETZ.

Northville Gridders Lose Opener, 36-6

After the Northville High school football team initiated scoring in the first quarter with Leon Holman's touchdown, the Ypsilanti Roosevelt squad fashioned six scores to down the Mustangs 36 to 6 last Friday night.

The Roosevelt eleven struck three times in the first half and garnered three touchdowns in the second two quarters, losing possession of the ball only once when they were forced to punt.

Northville marched steadily to the five-yard line in the first period where Holman took a pitchout from quarterback Don Maclean and swept wide around left end to tally.

Ypsilanti knotted the count on their second play when Tom Kidd, who accounted for 24 of Roosevelt's points, went around right end, reversed his field, and went 19 yards to cross the Northville goal line.

Kidd added six more points from the 22-yard marker on a reverse that fooled Northville ends and line-backers and John Oney was the scorer on another reverse play from the four later in the first half.

All conversion attempts failed and Ypsilanti led 18 to 6 at half-time.

Kidd added two more TD's in the second half on reverse plays, each good for four yards, and Oney wrapped the game up in the final period with a 63-yard punt return for his second touchdown of the game.

Northville's inability to handle Ypsilanti's reverse plays contributed heavily to loss of the game, played on Briggs field at Michigan State Normal college. Roosevelt stuck to a running game and never resorted to passing.

Ypsilanti gained little through the center of the line but the strategem of faking in one direction and running the ball to the opposite side of the line produced results.

The Mustangs made headway against the heavier Ypsilanti line but were forced to punt when their attacks stalled. A fumble and an intercepted pass cost them possession of the ball on two occasions.

NHS, Clarenceville Teams Meet Friday

The Mustangs of Northville High school will travel to Clarenceville for the second game of the grid season Friday night, September 21. The game will begin at 8:00 o'clock.

Northville defeated Clarenceville 25 to 12 last year on a muddy field at Clarenceville that hampered both teams. The game will be the first football contest for Northville as a member of the newly formed Wayne Oakland County League. Other members of the loop are Clarenceville, Clarkston, Holly and Milford.

No Northville-Ply. Rivalry in 1951

For the first time in the history of the school, Plymouth will not be on Northville High's football schedule this year.

Northville and Plymouth now belong to different leagues, and each league has reorganized this year. After each league had made up their football schedules it was found that Northville and Plymouth could not get together because neither had an open date when the other did.

The rivalry between these two schools will be resumed next year when Northville meets Plymouth in the first game of the schedule.

The Elton R. Eaton Friendship trophy will still be given to the team that wins the most games from the other in basketball, baseball and track. The two meet a total of four times in these sports and should each team win twice the possessor of the trophy will be determined after the last contest.

The two arch rivals have been foes for many, many years. A few years ago when the schools were about the same size some keen competition developed and many close and exciting games were played to capacity crowds.

Goodwill Industries Plan Thursday, Sept. 20, Pick-Up

Mrs. W. E. Forney has consented to serve as a volunteer co-ordinator for Goodwill Industries in Northville. James Mitchell, representative of the Goodwill Industries is scheduled to pick up discards in this community Thursday, September 20.

Heavier contributions of household discards from towns in Southeastern Michigan are imperative if the Goodwill Industries of Detroit is to go ahead with its program of expansion in behalf of handicapped men and women.

This was explained by Mr. Mitchell, who was in Northville this week, stimulating greater interest in the Goodwill program providing employment and job training for disabled adults.

"Materials of every kind are badly needed at the present time if the Goodwill departments are to operate at capacity," declared Mr. Mitchell.

"Clothing, including hats and shoes, are always particularly welcome, since the reconditioning of garments is one of the major operations of the Goodwill Workshop and accounts for a substantial part of the operating revenue. Furniture also can be used to particular advantage just now so the articles can be reconditioned for the usual fall upsurge of buying in the Goodwill Stores."

The training program for handicapped in the Goodwill workshop has been greatly expanded during the present year, with about 100 new employees added to the working force. Mr. Mitchell explained. Under a five year expansion program last spring it was hoped to treble the Goodwill program by 1958.

Housewives having articles to turn in are urged to telephone Mrs. Forney at 353-J so that a

Fisherman Lands 24-Pound Catch

Claude Drake, 516 North Center street, reports landing a 24-pound carp from the Little Rouge river at the edge of Cass Benton park last Friday morning.

He stunned the 35-inch fish with a head blow in order to land it, since his rod-and-reel and 24-pound test line might not have stood any other kind of landing. Drake used a split minnow plug to attract the fish.

On Saturday morning he went out again and landed a 5½-pound pike approximately at the same spot.

On Monday we heard an unidentified angler complaining about the 20-pound (by visual guess) pike he lost just short of landing because of low test line.

We now expect to hear about many other fish—lost and landed—in this area.

NOTICE!

Experience has shown that leniency in the enforcement of traffic laws and regulations has failed to supply necessary safeguards to life and property. Residents of the community and transients alike are committing many traffic violations.

As Commissioner of Police, I have instructed the Northville Police Department to forthwith strictly enforce all traffic laws and regulations within the Village of Northville.

Apparently, only in this manner can we have the necessary protection to life and property.

Employees Save To Share Profits

A check for $70,000 representing the first deposit of employees' savings under the recently inaugurated Kroger company employees' savings and profit sharing plan is delivered by Joseph B. Hall, president of the retail food company, center, to William A. Mitchell, president of the Central Trust company of Cincinnati. O. John M. Lockhart, Kroger vice president, on left, looks on. Mr. Hall, Mr. Lockhart, and the Central Trust company are trustees of the savings and profit sharing funds.

At the time the first check was delivered, Mr. Hall announced that 16,018 Kroger employees or more than 86 per cent of those eligible have joined the plan. Their savings are at the rate of more than $2,500,000 a year. These employees also will participate in Kroger profits. Because a portion of the fund derived from company profits will be invested in Kroger stock, participating employees as a group will within a few years become important stockholders in the company, Mr. Hall explained.

NEWS and COMMENT FROM CONGRESSMAN

GEORGE A. DONDERO

Strenuous efforts in both the House and Senate during the past few weeks to reduce substantially the appropriations made by the Congress in response to administration demands were largely unsuccessful. The economy bloc was defeated.

At the same time, those efforts gave rise to some serious misunderstandings among many people as to the reasons behind them. These misunderstandings were aggravated by a tendency on the part of administration supporters to charge the economy bloc with an intent to give aid and comfort to the nation's enemies.

As a matter of fact, the situation finally reached a point where anyone who criticized a fantastic spending proposal had the charge thrown into his face almost before the words of criticism were out of his mouth.

It was this which caused Senator Paul H. Douglas of Illinois to suffer a temporary nervous breakdown on the floor of the Senate last week. Bald accusations by administration spenders were more than his nerves could stand.

Therefore it would seem worth while to explore the reasons behind the effort to cut defense spending this year from nearly $62 billion down to approximately $55 billion; a reduction of about 10 per cent.

In the first place, the Truman Administration is committed to a policy of inflation, as a means of creating the illusion of general prosperity. Members of the economy bloc knew that the military budget contained requests for hundreds of millions of needless expenditures.

The efforts of the spenders to get the appropriations as high as possible even resulted in an attempt to use the un-Constitutional device of appropriating for expenditures more than two years in advance. In the end this device was rejected. As a result, it now appears certain that not all of this year's appropriations will be spent, and some even will be carried over into 1953.

Members of the economy bloc knew also that the military, if given a free hand, would be inclined to commit funds for munitions and war equipment which would become obsolete before ever it was used. We have had many examples of that in the past.

Furthermore, it is conceded by everyone in Washington, except the spenders, that a new World War at worst is several years away, and at best may never be fought by present generations.

Still further, if the Armed Services and the mobilization agencies know they must economize, they can be expected to try harder to get a dollar's worth of munitions for every dollar spent.

As a member of the economy bloc, I voted in the House for drastic cuts in the fantastically needless expenditures demanded by the administration. I believe that the defense appropriations, as they now stand, are far too high.

America must become strong, and stay so. But to wreck the national economy through overproduction of war materials too far in advance of any possible need, is to play directly into the hands of the enemy. Russia long has boasted that she would force this country into national bankruptcy by the means she is employing now.

When you come right down to it, who would you say is patriotic in the true sense—the economy bloc or the political spenders, who would destroy the nation's defense potential by making the nation bankrupt?

Hearings Resumed on Bell Application

The Public Service Commission Wednesday resumed hearings on the application of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company to increase its rates sufficiently to boost revenues 17 percent, or $22,000,000 a year.

The Commission's staff was prepared to present its side of the case as hearings reopened. Michigan Bell, early in June, concluded direct testimony on its application which would raise rates slightly less than 3 cents a day for most residence users.

As the hearings were renewed, John A. Greene, Michigan Bell president, said "inflation that brought us here for a rate increase last May continues unabated and even greater. And we don't see any indication that the future offers hope of price relief in the things we buy, lower taxes, or a reduction in the overall cost of doing business."

"We never have caught up with inflation, despite our technical advances and the most rigid economies in the operation of the business. The revenue increases so far granted the company are still about one-fourth the increase in the price of most everything else the consumer buys. Michigan Bell has granted wage increases alone that are almost double the amount of rate relief that it has been accorded."

Michigan Bell's application includes a proposal to increase the charge for public telephone calls from 5 to 10 cents.

LUCKY GUESS WINS VILLAGER A DIAMOND RING

You can imagine how thrilled and surprised Mrs. Fred Balko, Jr. of Napier Road, was when she was told that her guess of 2083 diamonds was the answer that won her a diamond ring, valued at $200.00.

The surprise came on her wedding anniversary. And to make her feel more like Cinderella, the ring size exactly matched her finger.

The ring was awarded last Saturday by the Herrick Jewelry Store in conjunction with their display of a collection of diamonds worth $250,000.

Northville School Begins 52 Years As U.M. Accredited

It was 80 years ago that the University of Michigan revolutionized the admission of graduates from Michigan high schools.

Until the University took action in 1871 to admit on the basis of high school diploma, the standard practice had been to require a formal academic examination of all applicants for admission.

The admission by diploma was introduced during the acting presidency of Henry S. Frieze whose administration was marked by the admission of women to the University.

The idea has stood the test of time and is now adopted in whole or in part by practically every college in the United States. Out of the plan has come the University's program of accrediting high schools in the state.

The accrediting program is now carried out through the University's Bureau of School Services. Over 300 high schools in the state were visited in the past school year by University representatives who made periodic visits to all schools to see whether they should remain on the accredited list.

"Emphasis is no longer placed on inspection of the school but rather on the service which can be rendered by the University in helping the individual school with its problems and the improvement of its program," according to L. E. Vredevoe, director of the Bureau of School Services.

Accreditation has proved valuable to students from schools on the University list, not only in entering college, but in transferring to other secondary schools in the United States and foreign countries, Vredevoe points out. Full recognition of accreditation by the University has been given by all accrediting agencies, universities, colleges and secondary schools.

There were only five high schools on the accredited list when the plan was launched in 1871 and these same schools have been on the list ever since. They are the high schools at Adrian,

Ann Arbor, Jackson, Detroit Central and Flint Central. From this start the list of accredited schools has grown to 635, with 100 schools continuously accredited for 50 years or more.

Northville and Plymouth have been on the University list of accredited high schools since 1900.

FAVORITE RANGE OF A FOOTBALL FAVORITE

The Johnny Greenes Cook Electrically!

"I'm so glad we have an electric range," says attractive Mrs. Johnny Greene. "I don't know how we'd get along without it," joins in Johnny. "Alice is a career wife."

Whereupon Alice adds, "That's one of the reasons why I so often delegate cook's job to my range. I put dinner in the oven before I leave for my law office and set the controls. When Johnny and I get home dinner's ready to be served. An electric range is ideal for working couples... it's so time-releasing. It's so clean, too. I just can't seem to say enough nice things about it!"

Once you've cooked with an electric range you'll be as enthusiastic about it as the Greenes. See the modern electric range for yourself—at your dealer's—today!

REPROACH BEYOND ACCEPTANCE

Sometime this year, probably about the middle of December, the 1,000,000th traffic death will occur in the United States unless—there is mass determination to postpone that fateful date.

It is shocking to realize that since the turn of the century, since the first automobile chugged and hissed to the derision and excitement of a horse-drawn era, the lives of almost 1,000,000 men, women and children have been squandered in one of the most senseless and tragic wastes of modern times.

But even more shocking than the toll is the inescapable fact that few Americans feel any real personal concern. As their fellows perish about them, they look on with a detachment and complacency that is difficult to understand and even more difficult to alter.

There rests the keystone of the entire traffic safety structure—personal concern. The duty of every responsible citizen is to strive for traffic safety as a voter, as a volunteer worker in whatever capacity his interests and abilities direct, and as a driver and pedestrian. Even the relatively small percentage of accidents caused by mechanical failure of motor vehicles could be reduced if owners would make sure their cars are in safe condition.

Two years ago the well-loved Margaret Mitchell was struck down on a street in Atlanta by a driver who, while personally culpable, was only the product of his city's apathy. The blood of Margaret Mitchell was on the hands of everyone whose indifference set the stage for the tragedy. Shocked into action, Atlanta today is making impressive strides in accident prevention.

But what will it take to spur the nation into action? Will 1,000,000 deaths—the day of seven-figure reckoning—do it? If so, the dead will endure to some purpose and memorialize a new hope.

One million deaths, then, can be more than a morbid milestone on a road without ending. It is a place to examine the failures of the past and to plan for the future.

For more than a decade the techniques of traffic accident prevention, tested and proved by the National Safety Council and other organizations, have been available for application by any city or state. What has been the result?

While most states have a statute requiring examination for a driver's license, only a few administer the law strictly enough to give it meaning. Thousands of drivers lack the skills, physical faculties and mental attitudes for safe driving. Re-examination of older drivers of those who have been involved in accidents or violations is virtually non-existent.

Enforcement of traffic laws always will be necessary to curb the irresponsible minority. Yet in most cities far less than minimum standard of 25 percent of the police power is devoted to traffic.

The finger of accusation has been pointed repeatedly at the teen-age driver. Yet only a third of our eligible students are receiving driver education, and far less than that number are offered behind-the-wheel instruction.

Only 13 states permit tests of blood alcohol to be used in court against the most reprehensible motoring miscreant—the drinking driver. Yet scientific tests are the only sure measurement of intoxication.

Engineering and road building have fallen far behind the demands of the motor age. Lack of funds is the common excuse, yet billions of dollars in gasoline taxes have been diverted into channels of political expediency.

Automatic revocation of a driver's license for serious misconduct is invoked all too seldom. Jail sentences are few. The system of fines and penalties throughout the nation is a hodgepodge of improvisation, the temper of the court, and the stature and legal counsel of the defendant.

Officials can act effectively and decisively only within the limits of public support. Only a few states and cities have organized public support groups of influential citizens who can arouse the interest and crystallize the opinion of the community. And many of those that do exist are merely letterhead donations to the public good.

These are but a few of the more obvious holes in the dike of traffic safety. They can be plugged, but only through the aroused interest and insistent support of people who care.

A little time remains before the 1,000,000th victim is counted. At best, that somber date can be pushed into 1952—if 1,000,000 ghosts are a reproach beyond acceptance. Are we going to do something about it?

Wolverine Race Meet Successful

"Put the fastest horses on the fastest track and you've got the finest harness racing there is."

With that simple formula, General Manager Al Weil has made the current harness race meeting at the Detroit Race Track the most successful ever presented in the Wolverine state.

The track has been surprisingly fast from the outset, thanks to the wizardry of Superintendent Charles Coon. Times of 2:06 or better have become commonplace. In the first week of the season, Brother Harmony stepped the mile in 2:02.4, the fastest paced mile on a Michigan strip in more than ten years.

Husmen are predicting that mark will fall before the season ends. They also expect the track record for a trotter—a 2:04.1 mile by the great Proximity last year—will be surpassed. For drivers declare that the strip already is the fastest in the country.

The unprecedented program of $93,000 in stake races has attracted the foremost standard-breds in the United States and Canada. The season will reach a climax October 8 when the Grand Circuit comes to town for a week of keen racing. This will be the first time the Grand Circuit has been held here since 1927.

The high standards of racing are only a part of the explanation of the popularity of the meeting at the Middlebelt Road oval. The $4,500,000 plant is one of the most beautiful in the country. Nothing that will add to the convenience and enjoyment of the patrons has been overlooked.

For a pleasant evening of exciting diversion, come out to the Detroit Race Track. Nine races are presented nightly except Sunday through October 13.

Trenton Times Series Helpful In Village-City Gov. Decision

Recently in the Northville Record we reprinted the first in a series of articles running in the Trenton Times concerning the advisability of changing the form of government in that town. Since the "Waking Up" editorial in the Plymouth Mail a few weeks ago, Villagers have wondered about a change in Northville, too.

We hope that this series of articles that we are going to reprint in the Record for the next few issues will clarify the thinking of our people so that if a decision such as this is placed before us our actions will be based on a knowledge of the outcomes and advantages.

The article follows:
 (Editor's note: The following is the first of a series of interviews with village and township officials concerning a proposed change in Trenton's form of government. Six questions on basic aspects of the transformation will be submitted for opinions to all interviewed officials. The list of identical questions will be published each week along with the answers and opinions of local governmental officers. First to be interviewed is Lloyd R. Currey, village councilman.)

Interview questions and Currey's answers are as follows:

1. Do you think Trenton's present and future expansion merits a change in the existing government?

sewer mains, in the thinly populated areas."

5. What is your opinion of the council-manager form of government?

Answer: "The manager plan, in my estimation, is the best type of local government. The Village of Trenton, with an assessed valuation of over $58 million dollars, is much too large a corporate organization to be handled by part-time officials."

"Local governmental affairs could be handled more efficiently and easier with a full-time administrator. The village-manager home rule type of government would best suit Trenton's needs at the present time."

6. What is your opinion concerning the appointment rather than election of administrative officials and employees?

Answer: "It is my opinion that administrative employees should be appointed by the policy-making body. Officials in an administrative capacity should be responsible to the appointing body to insure more efficient government. As an elected official the administrative employee is responsible only to the electors, which could easily result in authority disputes."

Late MSC Vet. Dean Honored by AMVA

The American Board of Veterinary Public Health has made provisions to award annually a medal to an outstanding Michigan State college veterinary medical student in honor of the late Dr. Claude S. Bryan, former dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine.

The annual award will be given in recognition of Dr. Bryan, who died July 30, for his work in promotion of veterinary public health. The student recipient will be chosen for his scholarship and proof of his real interest in veterinary public health, the association announced.

Resolution to award the medal was voted at the annual convention of the American Veterinary Medical Association held at Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

—Parade of Progress—
 In 1897 a Louisville editor, reviewing the fuel situation, pointed out that wood "has hitherto been the principal and, in fact, the only article for this purpose but owing to the discovery of a large body of coal (hereabouts) the latter will, in all probability, soon become in general use." Kentucky now produces 15 percent of the nation's bituminous coal and consumes in excess of 10 million tons annually.

NON-PARTISAN NEWS LETTER

A "Vandenberg for Governor" movement has been launched quietly on a state-wide basis by friends of Lieut. Governor William C. Vandenberg of Holland. The West Michigan official has not said he would not run, and he has indicated strongly that he is receptive to any course in the interest of good government. His supporters are hopeful, and the above slogan may yet develop.

Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr. has joined the list of state officials who have press agents at their command. A recent Alger speech chastized Governor Williams as being a "puppet" for his press agent, Paul Weber, former Detroit secretary for the American Newspaper Guild, affiliated with the CIO. Republican speeches, in some instances, are being ghosted capably by Arnold Levin, former Detroit newspaper correspondent at Lansing who is now publicist for the Republican State Central committee.

If enough Republican hopefuls enter the race for the United States Senator, former Governor Kim Sigler may dust off his cowboy hat and make a race for the nomination. It is the "morality in government" The sole G.O.P. entry to date is Auditor General John B. Martin, Jr. of Grand Rapids Sigler confides to friends that he's interested but hasn't made up his mind yet.

There is a more than $100,000,000 building program going on in Michigan. Broken down—some $86,000,000 in state buildings and a $30,000,000 program for community hospitals which is one-half completed. Fourteen hospitals have been completed under the plan. Funds are federal and local, building is under state guidance. Sixteen more hospitals are under construction.

Governor Williams has asked Attorney General Frank G. Millard to intervene in a Washington case involving the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway project which would open the St. Lawrence river to navigation and consequently allow seagoing vessels into the Great Lakes.

He was requested to intervene on behalf of Michigan in a request by the New York Power Authority to construct power dams along the river. Such dams would hinder any navigational project, being not of the type which would allow by-passing.

Did you know? A Michigan pheasant hunter has less than one in 10 chances of shooting a cock bird older than half a year? Roosters three years old or more are extreme rarities.

State ferries at Mackinac transported 28,182 vehicles over the Labor Day holiday.

A legislative committee is studying mental hospital programs in Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana and eastern hospitals.

Distribution of 1,260,000 small game and deer licenses has been made to the 4,000 hunting license agents in the state.

Labor Day crowds in state parks pushed 1951 attendance figures to the 12 million mark, despite unseasonably cold weather.

While the department of public instruction continues its check of school enrollment records in the state, it was revealed that the superintendents at Litchfield and North Adams schools officially have lost their licenses for padding enrollment figures to get more state aid money.

Congressman Albert J. Engle of Muskegon has refused a job as a member of the public civil service commission. Says his holdings in Missaukee county, neglected while he was in Washington, needs his attention.

Nearly 5,000 persons were killed or injured in Michigan traffic accidents during July. Statistics: 168 killed, 4,802 injured.

The new gasoline tax issue still is smoldering. The C.I.O.-led Michigan Citizens committee says it has the 100,000 petition signatures to force a state referendum on the law. A lengthy court battle can be expected if and when the petitions are submitted to the state board of canvassers. The board is sure to reject them, basing the action on two previous supreme court decisions turning down attempts to force referenda on earlier gas tax increases.

Average per-capita income in Michigan has gone up to $1,583, according to the 1950 census. Ten years ago the average income was $649. That means 144 percent increase—which, incidentally is below the national average of 150 percent boost over the 10 years. Kansas incomes are up 150 percent; Arkansas, 227 percent.

Detroit schools above elementary level soon will be teaching on the evils of drug addiction—being careful to present the instruction in a manner which could not be construed as lurid or sensational.

1896 Letter Reveals History Of Northville Churches

(Editor's note: During the summer, the Record received a letter in which was enclosed a copy of a 1896 letter to A. A. Rust from B. G. Coomer of Northville, Michigan.)

The accompanying letter states: "The original letter should perhaps find its way back to some of the direct descendants of Mr. Coomer and I am willing to return it to anyone of the direct family line if they show me that they are relatives. Perhaps someone reading the letter will write you for that reason. If that occurs, please write me and put me in touch with any such inquirer."

Northville, Wayne Co.
Feb. 27, 1896

A. A. Rust and others, Franklin;

Dear Friends: It might be interesting to you to know that we—that is my daughters and myself—are so pleasantly situated in this fine village of Northville. We came here the first of September and I bought each of my daughters a small place and have made it my home since with Amy the younger one. We all like it very much here.

Mr. Keyes, Zona's husband has been at work ever since they came here in the Globe furniture works. Stilson has not had steady work yet but expects to have plenty to do soon.

I have found all that I cared to do since we came here, employment that has been very congenial to my taste. They have the various Churches to be found in almost all villages. The pastor of the M. E. Church is Rev. Mr. Turner. Baptist Rev. Mr. Arnold, Presbyterian Mr. Herbinen recently from Louisville, Ky. All are smart men and are well liked. I have attended service nearly every Sunday and many times in their revival meetings. Besides these they have a Christian Science meeting here which I have attended several times. I have obtained a copy of their text Book "Science and Health" and have read it up and have gotten quite an idea of their belief and form of worship.

Now I will come to what I want to say and what I started to say. Someone at Franklin (name of correspondent not given) has written some very interesting reminiscences of "Franklin looking back." I was so well pleased with that, that I tried to ransack my memory to bring back some of those old long forgotten names and events. There are some other interesting things of the long ago that I would like to have exhumed and brought back and that is the early schools, the early teachers and also the early Ministers and early Church organizations.

I can remember the first preachers and first Church organizations in our vicinity was a Free Will Baptist and the early ministers were Porter Thomas, Jackson, Shearer, Limbocker and Cephas Goodrich who was a young man then and afterwards married Deacon Case's daughter Elizabeth. Deacon Case, Jacob Hosner and my father and others were among the members of that Church. The first meetings of the M. P. Church were held by our old and highly respected Bro. R. C. Lanning. This was the beginning of the year 1851. As this district would not let him hold meetings in the School House, old Bro. Stanbro and Charles Benjamin opened their doors and the meetings went on "all the same." It was at one of those meetings in Charles Benjamin's house that my first wife and I made our first religious profession.

Now this brings the matter down to your time and I wish you would take it up and bring it down to the present time. I ought to have said while speaking of the first Schools and teachers in Franklin (and this information may be got from your mother) that Eliza Fuller once taught school there and that Paulina Wood, Cyrus Woods sister once taught in a small log school house on the right (site) where Mrs. John German's house now stands and I went to her school for a while.

I hope my suggestion will meet with your approbation. I would be glad to hear from you and the other Franklin friends. With kindest regards to all I am and remain Res and C.

B. G. Coomer

Transcriber's note: Benjamin G. Coomer died at Northville, Michigan, March 9, 1896, less than two weeks after the writing of this interesting and wholesome letter to an old neighbor in Oakland County.

First MSC Lady Cop Graduates in August

A Michigan State college coed wants the police to be looking for her as soon as possible now that she's graduated from Michigan State.

She is Daisy Kim, Honolulu, Hawaii, the first woman graduate of MSC's department of police administration. Miss Kim graduated in the year-old curriculum in crime prevention. She is one of the first women in the nation to graduate from a college police administration course, according to Arthur Brandstatter, head of the department of police administration.

The 22-year-old Hawaiian student expects to return to Hawaii and work as a policewoman for the Honolulu police department. Fifteen other women students are enrolled in police administration at MSC, according to Brandstatter.

Cancer Conference Plans Being Laid

Plans for the Third Michigan Cancer Conference are now complete, Dean C. Burns, M.D. of Petoskey, Michigan, Chairman of the program committee, said today.

The Conference is being co-sponsored by the Michigan and Southeastern Michigan Divisions, American Cancer Society, the Michigan Department of Health and the Michigan State Medical Society and will be held at the W. K. Kellogg Center for Continuing Education, Michigan State College, East Lansing, on October 12, 1951.

"Indications point to an attendance greater than at the second Conference held in Grand Rapids last year where 200 leaders of lay and professional health organizations participated," said Dr. Burns.

The general theme of the conference will be individual participation in cancer control programs. Cancer education in the schools also will be discussed.

A. E. Heustis, M.D., State Commissioner of Health, will open the program with a short address. Madge Thurlow Macklin, M.D., of Ohio State University, Columbus, a scientist of national prominence, will lead a discussion on the relation of heredity to cancer development.

Home care of cancer patients will be discussed from the nursing angle by Miss Hulda Eoman, cancer nursing specialist of the Detroit Visiting Nurse Association, and Harrison Sadler, M.D., Wayne University College of Medicine, Detroit, from the psychiatric viewpoint. Mrs. Marjorie Karker, director of Women's Activities, Michigan Farm Bureau, will speak on the part rural organizations can play in cancer control. F. L. Rector, M.D., secretary, Cancer Control Committee, Michigan State Medical Society, who has been supervising the cancer educational program in several Michigan high schools, will report on cancer education in schools.

"The Conference will follow immediately after the annual training school of the Michigan Division, American Cancer Society, so that all local representatives of that organization can benefit from the meeting. In addition, any one interested in the cancer control problem will be welcome," said Dr. Burns.
