Residents in Orchard Heights last Thursday evening thought they were living in the 18th century when they were awakened at midnight by the clippity, clop or horses hoofs. They sprang to their feet, pulled up the shades, and looked out to discover that it was not Paul Revere, but three unmounted steeds. Members of the Sheriff's Department pursued the animals which strayed from Lincoln Friend's Howdy Doodly Stables on West Eight Mile road.

Village parking space has come to the fore once more. Last week, Wrigley's Supermarket closed its doors because Northville afforded them inadequate parking facilities, and according to the store's manager, they could not operate a supermarket with the facilities at hand.

Last summer, the Village Council hired an engineer to survey the Village and they recommended certain changes in the rear of East Main street business properties which would enlarge the parking area in the business district. Proceedings were begun, but at this writing they are at a standstill. Councilmen are exasperated and are at their wit's end as to know what to do. They are talking of beginning proceedings whereby they would condemn, and take certain portions of property for a price for the benefits accrued therefrom. Frankly, we're worried. We don't ever recall the Village business district when there were more closed doors... the Penniman Allen theater, Wrigley's Super Market, the former store occupied by Krogers and the North Center Street Market.

Mrs. Douglas Slessor, a local Michigan Bell Telephone operator, appeared on a television program, "Your Magic World," Tuesday evening. Mrs. Slessor told of her work in checking weather conditions for the armed forces.

Current problems are discussed for the benefit of the pupils.

Police Warn Against Oct. 31 Accidents

Halloween may be a time for fun, says Police Chief Joseph Denton, but accidents can happen as easily on October 31 as any other time if precautions are not taken.

Begging by the younger children of the community is a customary thing, but it is desirable to have adult escorts for the youngsters so that every safety measure is taken. Parents are asked by Chief Denton to be sure that good, clear vision is possible through the false masks worn by their children.

To make certain that Christmas packages to servicemen stationed overseas arrive by December 25, the USO and the post office urge that packages be mailed no later than November 15. November is the deadline for packages to be sent to Japan, Korea and the Pacific Islands.

Mail, and particularly Christmas gifts, are of vital importance to the morale of servicemen. For this reason, USO clubs, which are busy with the Christmas mailing services, helping GI's get packages off to their buddies overseas.

Relatives and friends of men stationed overseas who are planning to send holiday packages should make every effort to do their shopping and mailing early. The little extra effort now will mean so very much to their overseas friends.

Remember to get your packages in the mail before November 15. And on those packages that go to Japan, Korea and the Pacific Islands, remember that your deadline is November 1.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE A CITY RATHER THAN A VILLAGE

This is the question that is being discussed more and more frequently by residents of the Village and may be put to a vote of the people in the very near future. The Northville Record would welcome Letters to the Editor on both the pro and con sides of this issue.

Rolling Down The River

by the PETZ BROS.

So the other day a lady in a '49 Studebaker drove in the garage and without waiting to be asked, announced she wanted a new V-8 Commander, but was going to tell us a story first. "You've been getting by too long," she stated, "with some rather sad stories in that column of yours, so why not improve it with this one?"

Once upon a time (and that's another thing, if you don't say 'once upon a time' people will think your stories are big fibs) there lived a much married woman. When she was young and beautiful, she married a rich man. When he died, she inherited a lot of money and thus could afford to marry an actor. But that marriage didn't last and next on the list was the local minister, who didn't turn out well as a member of the family, so finally she married a funeral director. It seems this gal never could get over that children's verse which goes 'one for the money, two for the show, three to get ready and four to go'."

Well after that, we hurried and sold her a new Studebaker, because for all we knew, she just might up and take the column away from us. Won't have to worry much for a while though, at least not until she has fully discovered how wonderful the V-8 Studebaker really is. All that power, all that comfort, all that ease of driving in one compact unit, usually makes a new owner forget to eat breakfast to say nothing of writing columns. We could say something of extra economy too, but she drove her last Studebaker for over two years and will take the amazing economy of the car as something she has every right to expect.

We rather like this time of the year. In our book, fall is the finest season of them all. Zesty, tangy air, beautiful new colors, crisp cool nights and then too, most of the restaurants in these parts have finally removed potato salad from the menu.

Getting near the end of this week's literary output and the shop won't forgive us if we forget to tell you to come in for a fall tune-up, fall lubrication and a shot of cold serum for your car's radiator (they call it anti-freeze). These U. S. No. 1 graded prime (been reading the steak advertisements) mechanics of ours, think more of your car than you do and the peculiar thing is, they'll keep it giving top quality service all fall and winter, if you'll just give them the chance.

Must go now, but a waitress up the street tells us that husbands are awkward things to deal with. Even keeping them in constant hot water will not keep them tender.

Yours,
BILL and WILL PETZ.

MICHIGAN MIRROR
NON-PARTISAN NEWS LETTER

Old Don't-Push-Me-Around-Michigan has mixed feeling over Senator Robert Taft's candidacy for the G.O.P. nomination as president. "Mr. Republican" trooped into the state like Alexander the Great and exuded cordially quite unlike the austerity which usually surrounds him. That was the first hint of the impending announcement.

The revelation was made in Detroit. Outstate, there was a great deal of silence. One county Republican leader made a remark echoed in many rural areas, "Well, mebbe, but I don't see any star in the sky yet."

That from the rural area. Taft's chance of getting Michigan's backing are considered relatively slim in the first place because of the strong labor faction.

Some Republican peers agree that for honesty and political integrity, Taft cannot be beat, and as a thinker there is none sounder. But—and this is the big question—is he strong enough to carry the nation.

All in all, the Detroit announcement was received quietly. It was barely heard in Detroit over the clatter of the arrival of Princess Elizabeth.

More than 37,000 migrant laborers swarmed into Michigan again this summer. Always a problem, particularly in the fruit belt and the onion and sugar beet areas, the migrant problem increases yearly. Crime swoops upward in those areas and "Saturday night in town" is one big round of arrests.

But without these workers the crops would rot on the ground and in the trees. Michigan doesn't help itself too much. Housing provided the transient worker is usually miserable. Pay is low. The work very hard. What can we expect, skilled labor.

It suggests the appointment of a director by the governor, if a four-year gubernatorial term is decided upon, and that the director be appointed by a welfare council of six members if the present two-year term is retained.

It has been a bumper year for hunters. This has been the best pheasant and partridge season since 1943, conservation officials say.

But it also promises to be a banner year for hunting accidents. The season got off to a poor start with several deaths reported in the first few days. More than 28 will die before the season ends, conservation officials predict.

Meadowbrook Pro Signs Contract

Chick Harbert, who is finishing his sixth year as pro at Meadowbrook Country club, recently signed a new three-year contract as professional.

He disclosed plans to travel to Pinehurst for the Ryder Cup matches after visiting the Cincinnati golf manufacturer, he represents. As a member of the PGA tournament committee, he will help handle the international matches with Great Britain.

His winter home at Madeira Beach, St. Petersburg, Florida will be his next stop. Harbert also plans to play a series of exhibitions through Central America with Vic Ghezzi this winter.

Harbert has been with Meadowbrook since his discharge from the army in 1946. The club whose membership has risen from 96 at that time to 310, owes much to their pro whose phenomenal drives have made him one of golf's drawing cards.

Compared to 6,000 rounds in 1946 and some 12,000 rounds last year, President James A. Guest revealed that nearly 20,000 rounds of golf were played this season on the Meadowbrook Country club course. The addition of a swimming pool in the spring of 1950 was the latest major improvement which helped to boom the membership.

Wade Ruffner is expected back to serve as Harbert's assistant and Nick Bersan will return in the capacity of caddy superintendent.

Security Covers Self-Employed

"Persons who work for themselves are now covered under the social security law and have been building insurance protection for themselves and their families since January 1, 1951," explained Ray V. Haning, manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security office at 12065 Wyoming, corner of Grand River.

The recent amendments to the Social Security Act cover most self-employed people with the exception of some occupations such as farmers, doctors, lawyers, funeral directors, and a few other professional groups.

For most people who work for themselves their first social security tax report will be due, along with income tax returns, March 15, 1952, and will cover the calendar year 1951. Any earnings from self-employment of $400 or more are covered by the provisions of this new law.

The tax rate for this year is 2 1/4% of net earnings up to $3600. Those who have an annual self-employment income of less than $400 will not have to pay social security taxes and will not be covered by the law. "The new coverage is not a voluntary proposition, but mandatory," Mr. Haning emphasized.

This new social security law will cover about 4,700,000 self-employed persons who now will have an opportunity to build towards retirement benefits for themselves and their families and monthly benefit to their dependent survivors in the event of death.

For details about their new rights under social security, self-employed people should get in touch with the Detroit-Northwest social security office, or phone TEXAS 4-4750.

A representative of this office will be at the Plymouth post office the second and fourth Thursdays of each month between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 12 noon to furnish information about the new social security law, and to assist in making claims for social security payments.

Scientists attack

peach blossom blight

Michigan ranks among the top three states in peach production. To protect this important industry, scientists at Michigan State College's Agricultural Experiment Station are experimenting with methods of controlling blossom blight. Recent experiments tested sprays of wettable sulphur, liquid lime-sulphur, and various new organic fungicides. Though not conclusive, results of these tests have been encouraging. For additional information on this continuing fight against peach blossom blight, call, write or visit your County Agricultural Agent.

Electrical detective tracks down telephone trouble

In a large Michigan Bell dial telephone office, about 2,000,000 switch contacts are "on duty" to carry your calls. 10,000 of them may be needed to clear a path for a single call. So "faults," though infrequent, must be detected quickly. A new automatic detector has been designed for the job. It finds "faults"—a broken wire, specks of dirt causing high resistance—and detours calls around them. Then it automatically punches out a report on the trouble. Maintenance men check these reports regularly, learn what needs attention, see that service flows smoothly. Telephone efficiency like this keeps quality of service high, keeps costs as low as possible.

Village Girl Scout Leaders Attend Boston Convention

Mrs. Howard Atwood of High Street, and Mrs. Heinz Hilger of South Rogers street represented the local Girl Scout organization at the National Girl Scout convention in Boston, October 15 to 18 Mrs. Fian Jennings of West Eleven Mile road, also attended.

This 31st convention of the National council was attended by 8,000 adult leaders, 300 Girl Scout and Girl Guides from every state in the union and 14 foreign countries.

Under the convention theme of "A Growing Force For Freedom," Dr. Edward C. Lindeman, professor of Social Philosophy at Columbia university, was the main speaker. In his talk before the group he said that our world of increased tension and industrialization leads to a greater demand for adult leaders to satisfy increasing interest in Girl Scouting.

In the next several years with our country at war or suffering the results of war and great population increases, it will be necessary for every woman to have a professional job as well as a volunteer one, he continued.

Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, noted for being the mother of 12 children in the book and movie "Cheaper By The Dozen," made an appeal for adult leadership by stating that "There is a crying need for additional adult workers and there is no better way for women to preserve the moral codes than by working and guiding our youth."

The activities of Girl Scouting help the girls of today in three avenues, Miss Dorothy Stutton, National Executive Director, revealed, achievement of security, usefulness and of accomplishment. She went on to say that in Girl Scouts, a girl is part of a group. She has friends whose interests are similar to hers and she has companionship and friendly guidance of adult leaders. She "belongs" which gives her sense of security.

Mrs. Roy F. Layton, Washington, D. C., was elected National President for 1951-52. She will preside over the next national convention set for Cincinnati, Ohio.

The convention closed with the emphasis for 1952-53: Be prepared to serve others, to be resourceful and to live Democracy.

OFFERING...

A nice little home at 19659 Fry Road, less than two blocks from Seven Mile and right near the new Northville Mental Hospital, less than three blocks to bus station.

Just right for a couple with modest means, hardly room though for more than one child.

Four rooms, plus large utility room 12x20, toilet, but bath is not installed; hot-water heat, stoker fired. Very easy to heat; interior nicely decorated, but exterior should be painted.

Has small building for chickens, no garage; a full acre of land easily worth $1000. The price is less than $4000 with a moderate down payment, balance on a land contract.

Better get in touch with me quickly on this - it won't be left unsold long.

Vacant lots are getting scarce. We have a dandy wooded parcel, 80 ft. frontage, 132 ft. deep. Seller wants additional cash and is listing at an exceptional price.

HOW MICHIGAN'S MOST POPULAR HEALTH PLAN WORKS

It protects 2,400,000 people in this state against hospital and surgical bills for a few cents a day per person. Here are the facts:

1 When sickness or accident strikes : : if you are a member of Blue Cross-Blue Shield Comprehensive Group Plans, you need only to show your membership card to be admitted to any one of 192 Michigan hospitals participating in these plans. There's no delay—no red tape—no advance deposits. You are free from financial worry—and all because you have paid just a few cents a day.

2 You get more benefits with Blue Cross-Blue Shield Comprehensive Group Plans. High Production Key To Farming Success in 1952

High farm production will be the key to success in 1952, Michigan State college agricultural economists predicted this week. Operation costs will be higher, especially for labor, machinery and feed, but the economists feel the best way to beat higher costs state treasurer since January 1, 1943, will speak to the Birmingham High Twelve club at the October 22 meeting in the Community House. His topic is "Whose Government?"

is through greater production and efficiency.

Increased production can be obtained by use of more legumes in the rotation, using more commercial fertilizer or by tiling heavy land which is poorly drained but which can be made highly productive. Modern machinery, economists contend, makes farming larger acreages possible, and only through making maximum use of equipment can it become a profitable buy.

Another method of increasing production will be through expanding the livestock program.

Continued high demand for livestock products will keep prices high. Through utilization of roughage—pasture, hay and silage—more economical gains that require less labor can be attained. A minimum of 25 percent of the crop land in legumes will help maintain soil fertility and provide more roughages for livestock.

The year of 1952, economists say, will be a good time to reduce the mortgage debt and farmers who do will be in a better position to weather out any period of financial reverses, if one should occur. "A productive farm, free of debt, is one of the best investments you can have," MSC economists conclude.

Recent developments in glue techniques place wood on the list of outstanding engineered materials; properly designed glued products are lighter and stronger than their solid wood counterparts.

U-M Honor Awards for High School Seniors Announced

The University of Michigan is offering for the first time Regents-Alumni Honor Awards to outstanding graduating high school seniors in the accredited high schools of the state, it was announced by Dean Erich A. Walter, chairman of the Committee on University Scholarships.

The Regents-Alumni awards are non-monetary awards in the form of certificates which are designed to recognize and encourage the development of noteworthy scholastic achievement, active leadership, and productive citizenship among high school students in all parts of the state of Michigan. In addition, each Honor Award winner will receive public recognition for his past high school achievement and his promise for the future.

Regents - Alumni Scholarships will continue to provide financial assistance to those Honor Award winners whose applications indicate that it would be difficult or impossible for them to attend the University without financial assistance. This scholarship covers semester fees for the freshman year in any of the undergraduate schools or colleges.

The Regents-Alumni scholarship program is now in its seventh year. High school seniors who are interested in applying for honor awards or scholarships may obtain the materials from their high school principals after November 1. The awards will be announced early in May 1952.

United Nations Social Progress Cited on Sixth Anniversary

The sixth anniversary of the United Nations Organization is being celebrated throughout the world during the week of October 22 to 27. Though the actual date of the enforcement of the United Nations Charter was October 24, schools and civic organizations will be having programs and displays during the whole week.

The information in the article in last week's Northville Record and in the following article was taken from authorized UN reports prepared for the Record by Miss Elizabeth Vickland.

Sixty member nations in representative capacity work through six main bodies of the UN organization for the attainment of the objectives stated in the charter. These bodies are: the General Assembly, the Economic and Social Council, the International Court of Justice, the Security Council, the Trusteeship Council and the Secretariat.

These groups are pledged "to do away with war and to build a better world for all peoples through collective resistance to aggression and through fighting hunger, disease, ignorance and discrimination."

"The UN has, in its first six years, built a unique storehouse of statistical information on economic matters. It has become the world center for global economic research. Its numerous studies analyze the major international economic planning and effective effort."

In the field of social progress the sum total of achievement is equally astounding. On the top of the list one must place the Declaration of Human Rights, a document that expresses what must be realized if the aspirations of the human race in a better world are to come into force.

Everlasting Match Became Only a Light That Failed

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Every now and then someone asks, "What's become of the 'everlasting' match? Who owns patents on it? Why isn't it being sold?"

Frequently the questioner implies American match manufacturers are keeping this device off the market. The facts are these:

This match was patented by Ringer in Switzerland in 1928. He called it "the repeatedly ignitable match." In the 1930's it was introduced in Holland, where it enjoyed some novelty sale.

It was, in effect, an elongated match-head, the ignitable portions of which were separated by chemical retardants. By very careful nursing a user could light it, blow out the flame, and thus get an average of about 40 lights—along with 40 room-filling whiffs of a vile odor from the retardants.

In Holland, three of these match sticks sold for the equivalent of 5 cents—or roughly 120 lights for a nickel. In this country, ever since the Civil War, people have been able to buy a box of safety matches, containing 40 sticks, for a penny. In other words, 3 pennies here purchase as many lights as 5 pennies spent for the so-called "everlasting" match.

U. S. Patents on this match expired in 1945. Anyone can start manufacture of the repeatedly ignitable match. Chances are no one will, though, for the United States enjoys the lowest per capita expenditure for matches of any country in the world. And only here are matches given away—190 billion free paper book matches yearly!

But now, Chances Vought, maker of the world-famous Corsair line, has solved the problem by installing not only an ash tray, but also a cigarette lighter to help pilots soothe their nerves on the way home from a combat strike.

The new cockpit fixture replaces the time-tested method of opening the canopy and allowing the shipstream to carry away ashes. The freezing Korean weather made this and other stop-gap measures highly impractical.

Harvard Coach Terms Joe Shaw Much Improved on Grid Squad

Last year Joseph Shaw of Northville was just another junior varsity football player. Today, Coach Lloyd Jordan terms him one of the most improved and valuable players on Harvard's varsity eleven.

Shaw battled his way to the top of Harvard's football ladder by dint of much hard work. As a freshman, he played guard on the "B" squad, and didn't even dress for the climax game with Yale. The next season he moved up to the jayvees and by then showed enough promise to earn a minor "H" letter.

As a junior last year, Joe was again relegated to the jayvee team, but he kept scrapping, and at the end of the season received the unusual distinction of being elected captain of the jayvee—first time in Harvard football history that a junior has been chosen for this post.

In spring practice last May, Shaw caught the experienced eye of Coach Jordan, and climbed rapidly from the fifth to the second team. When he returned this fall he began to play exclusively on the defensive team, moved to the Number 1 unit, and hasn't relinquished this spot since.

The Michigan lad gives Howie Houston, Harvard captain and stellar lineman of two seasons ago, much of the credit for his development. Houston and he were close personal friends and spent many hours working out together. Although he lacks the speed required of an offensive lineman, Shaw prefers the two platoon system, because he feels that it allows the players more rest and thus provides for a better brand of football.

Football, however, does not occupy all of Shaw's time at Harvard. In addition to keeping up with his classes in economics, where he is a candidate for a degree with honors, he is a member of the Varsity club.

During the past two summers he has kept in physical condition for the arduous gridiron schedule by doing construction work with the O. W. Burke company.

Joe was graduated from Detroit Country Day school, where he played baseball and captained the football and basketball teams in his senior year. Upon graduation, he was awarded a Harvard Club of Detroit scholarship to the nation's oldest university. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Shaw of Northville.

NEWS
and

CONGRESSMAN
GEORGE A. DONDERO

Government economy is unpopular in Washington. One is forced to believe as much after talking with almost anyone other than the members of economy bloc in Congress. Nevertheless, enforced economy is now, and will continue to be, the price of national survival.

One of the ways of enforcing economy is a denial by the Congress of funds demanded by the administration. A good way to begin this process of enforced economy is to refuse to impose excessive taxation upon the people. If the money is not available, the Congress is less likely to appropriate excessive amounts, and beyond a certain point, the administration cannot spend money which it does not have.

This was the first consideration, among many, which caused me to vote last week against the conference report on the Tax Bill. This report urged final passage of a compromise bill to increase federal taxes by $5.75 billion, beginning on November 1.

As everyone knows now, the conference committee reported the compromise bill a second time with but a small change. The over-all increase of personal income taxes was reduced from about 11.5 percent to 11 percent. I voted a second time to reject the conference report.

Here are some of the reasons which compelled me to vote twice against an increase at this time in federal taxes.

If the Truman administration had moved, as Congress long ago authorized it to do, toward an honest implementation of the economy recommendations in the Hoover Report, government spending for non-military purposes would have been reduced almost exactly by the amount of the proposed tax increase. It is not too late now to put the Hoover recommendations into effect.

The Defense Department had a carry-over on July 1 of approximately $37 billion from appropriations for the year which ended on that date. The present session of Congress voted an additional $56 billion for defense purposes. Thus the Defense Department has more than $93 billion available.

But it has become manifest that the Defense Department cannot possibly spend much more this year than the total of the carry-over from last year. Yet the tax increase is predicted upon the immediate spending of the additional $56 billion. Why, may I ask, is it necessary to tax people between now and next July 1 to cover expenditures which will not be made?

Heavy taxation, beyond the ability of the people to pay, is one sure way to bring Socialism. Is that what the government spenders have in mind? Furthermore, when people see the prevailing government wastefulness, and then find most of their earnings are taken to pay for those wasteful practices, it tends to discourage effort. We cannot even be sure that the additional tax burden would increase government tax income. Now is not the time to increase taxes.

During the past week, discussions on the floor of the United States Senate brought out the fact that in each State of the Union, the per capita share of the $256 billion national debt exceeds the assessed valuation of all property within that State. No wonder that it has been necessary to increase federal taxes by nearly $12 billion annually during the past 13 months, and that still more is asked. The government spenders are beginning to realize that the debt cannot be expanded indefinitely without national bankruptcy as a result.

All-Time Traffic Casualties Exceed Pre-Civil War Census

WASHINGTON, D. C.—American battle casualties in Korea during the war's first year totaled about 75,000, including 12,000 killed in action, nearly 12,000 missing, and close to 50,000 wounded, according to Defense Department reports. Non-battle casualties, which included frostbite victims and sick and injured soldiers in Japan as well as Korea, 85 percent of whom were returned to duty, totaled nearly 73,000 in 11 months.

The aggregate of U. S. battle and non-battle casualties in 12 months is approximately 150,000, but the non-battle category included "minor ailments," General J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, told the Senate Committee a month ago when these casualties were reported for the first time.

Since the war started nearly 1,300,000 men, women and children have been killed or injured on the home front by automobiles. The total of traffic-injured, nearly 1,262,000 is more than 25 times the number of U. S. soldiers wounded in Korea and nine times greater than all American battle and non-battle casualties, with deaths excluded, in the same period.

Since 1900, automobiles have injured more than 30,600,000 motorists and pedestrians. The combined total of 31,480,000 killed and injured in traffic since the advent of the automobile exceeds the entire pre-Civil War U. S. population of 31,443,331 in 1860 by nearly 40,000.
