

What to do now? That's about the way members of the Village Council feel about the Village parking problem. Their proposed alleyway and parking lot on East Main street is at a standstill. Negotiations have been stymied because property owners and the Village fathers cannot agree on the terms of the property. In the meantime, the problem is becoming more acute as bad weather sets in and shoppers find it more and more difficult to park near the business area. The parking problem is certainly the $64 question facing the Council at the moment. Have you readers got any solutions to offer? The Record invites constructive letters on this subject. Send yours in today.

We think Bud Hartner and his street crew deserve a lot of praise for the way they worked clearing the streets following Tuesday's blizzard which all but paralyzed the Village. And did you know that there is a Village ordinance which states that property owners must keep their sidewalks cleared, for the safety of pedestrians? Be thoughtful of others, shovel your walks for the comfort and safety of the walking citizen.

The Northville Fire Department Saturday answered a call to the Elmer Reed home on Grace street where firemen believe that a defective furnace caused a wall fire. Tuesday, firemen went to Rathburn's Garage on West Main street where a car caught fire. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

Northville has joined the rest of the nation in declaring the week of November 11 to 17 as "National Optimist Week." Slogan of the Optimist club is "Friend of the Boy."

Ties and socks this week were contributed to the Detroit House of Correction Occupational Therapy Department by Mrs. Ora Pickell, Mrs. John King, Mrs. Mary Monahan, Miss Mary Blodgett and Mrs. Jean Van Sickle.

The business district is beginning to look less ghostlike now that the Wolf store is being occupied and the Center Street All-Meat market and the Theatre have re-opened. Now only the large Kroger building stares blankly at the street.

The first blasts of winter were felt last week-end in the Village. They were accompanied by a flurry of snowflakes. Just enough snow fell to make it slippery underneath. Both merchants and homeowners have an obligation to pedestrians to keep their sidewalks clean so that it is safe to walk.

Several teachers of the local school system attended a meeting of the Plymouth Teachers club Tuesday evening when Miss Dondineau spoke of her experiences at the World-Wide Teachers conference on the Island of Malta this summer.

Halloween goblins, gypsies and skeletons arrived at the Grade School last Wednesday to take part in the parties given in each homeroom. The children paraded around the school in their costumes and were treated to ice cream by C. R. Ely and Sons. The Waterford school, which is now a part of our school system, was also treated by the Elys.

Have you attended the P & A Theatre since it reopened? The management is encouraged by the attendance the first two evenings and hopes it will continue to improve. Remember it is up to the community to prove that it wants a theatre. Only by your support will its doors remain open.

Miller To Display '52 Dodge Saturday

The first showing of a 1952 car in the Village will take place Saturday, November 10 when the Dodge will be unveiled at the G. E. Miller Sales and Service, 127 Hutton street. George E. Miller has invited members of the community to stop in and see the Dodge for 1952. In connection with the showing, free balloons will be given to children accompanied by parents and there will be refreshments for all. A balloon pulling contest for $5.00 bills will also be held. W. C. Newburg, president of Dodge, states that the new models have styling refinements inside and out. Optional is the Dodge tint safety glass feature in windows and windshields.

Fisler successfully completed his first through 20th combat mission against the enemy over Korea, where enemy fire was either received or expected. Most of these flights were at night in extremely adverse weather conditions and mountainous terrain. By his skillful airmanship, he inflicted great damage on concentrations of enemy vehicles, material and personnel. First Lt. Fisler's conduct throughout was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service." The citation was signed by C. F. Schilt, Major General, U. S. Marine Corps.

Eastlawn Founder Dies in Arizona

The founder of Eastlawn Sanatorium, Dr. A. B. Wickham, died suddenly in Phoenix, Arizona, on October 27.

Eastlawn Sanatorium was established by Dr. Wickham in Detroit on July 20, 1920 at Houston avenue near Gratiot avenue. In August of 1923, it was moved to its present location on High street. The institution was established on the property of John C. Buchner. The hill was at that time known as Buchner's Hill. Before moving to the Northville site the sanatorium was largely used for rehabilitation of ex-service men who had suffered tuberculosis.

In 1928 Dr. Royce Shafter joined Dr. Wickham and upon the founder's retirement in 1947, Dr. Shafter became the head doctor. The private institution was later sold by Dr. Wickham to Dr. Shafter.

The doctor, who was 75 years old at the time of his death, is the father of Mrs. Leone Davis of Franklin road. Also surviving is another daughter, Mrs. Lucille Roehm, of Birmingham, and seven grandchildren.

The funeral was held in the Grimshaw Mortuary in Phoenix on Tuesday, October 30.

Sunday Speaker

REV. DWIGHT LARGE

Church To Honor Teachers Sunday

Sunday evening, November 11, the sixth annual Church-School night will be given with Rev. Dwight Large, pastor of the First Methodist church, Ann Arbor, as speaker. The members of the Northville First Methodist church will be hosts at the 6:30 dinner.

The dinner and program for the 46 teachers, the school board and the administration of the Northville Public schools will usher in National Education week which begins November 12-16.

Speaker Rev. Large has chosen "Palestine" as his topic for the evening. During the moving of the Arabs from one part of that country to another to allow the settling of the Jews, Rev. Large helped to feed the displaced Arabs. He spent that one year in Palestine as a representative of the Friends' society which was given permission by the United Nations to distribute food to these destitute people.

Dr. and Mrs. Harold F. Fredsell will also be guests at the fellowship dinner. Russell H. Amerman, superintendent of the local school, will introduce the teachers, principals and board members. Members of the Methodist church will escort the teachers and their wives or husbands to the dinner and act as their hosts throughout the evening.

Storekeepers Report Two Larcenies Sat.

When issuing his weekly police report, Police Chief Joseph Denton stated that there was comparatively little vandalism reported Halloween night. The usual window soaping was done but no major destruction, he said.

During the early shopping hours Saturday morning, two larcenies were reported. Johnson Gift and Jewelry shop reported that a man's cowhide fitted case, valued at $18.75 was taken from their shelves. A short silver-grey muskrat fur coat valued at $300 was taken from the Freydl Ladies shop. Mrs. Garrett Barry, owner, reported.

Following a tour of the office where the editorial and advertising work is done, the visitor will be guided to the composing room where he may become acquainted with the mechanical workings of the machinery.

There he will see two linotype machines, rows of type cabinets, composing stones, Gordon hand press, Kluge automatic press, Miehle vertical press, the double 00 Miehle cylinder press which prints the paper and the machine which folds the paper. Here the visitor may familiarize himself with the problems confronting the operation of the Village weekly.

After the tour, visitors are invited to return to the office where refreshments will be served. Souvenirs will be given away.

A warm welcome awaits all who attend the open house.

Rotary-Exchange Speaker Compares U.S. to Persian Rug

Rev. Robert Frehse of the Detroit Council of Churches, Wednesday addressed a combined Rotary and Exchange club luncheon meeting at the First Methodist church house.

Rev. Frehse is executive secretary of the Detroit Round Table. He is a former associate minister of the North Woodward Congregational church, holds a master's degree in sociology, is president of the Detroit Council of Social Agencies, and is vice president of the Detroit Council of Churches.

Introduced by Rev. Harold F. Fredsell, Rev. Frehse chose as his topic, "Making Democracy Work." He began his message with the statement that everyone is important regardless of his religious creed or racial characteristics. The old "melting pot" theory of life in the United States, in which individuals submerge their differences to form one great conglomerate mass is obsolete, he explained. Rather the whole may be compared to a

"Persian rug" effect in which the individuals contribute their tiny parts to create the large orderly design.

Rev. Frehse pointed out that parents must use caution when talking in the presence of children to avoid indoctrinating them with biased and exaggerated statements. They in turn will take them as truths and repeat them to others. It is most important that a child's sense of proportion and values grow normally, he said, as it opens the way for a future life of compatibility and cooperative attainment.

Democracy must be put to work in every aspect of our daily living, particularly in our contacts with others, he said. Religious and racial prejudices must be wiped out, he explained. Personnel department of industrial organizations employing these tactics have found that it results in greater satisfaction among employees, leading to a multitude of advantages.

Named To Council

LEVI M. EATON

L. M. Eaton To Fill Unexpired Term

Levi M. Eaton, for 35 years a resident of Northville, was appointed to the Village Commission Monday evening. Mr. Eaton will fill the vacancy on the Council created by the resignation of George Locke, who has moved to Marquette. He will serve until March, 1952.

A local businessman, Eaton since March 1945 has been affiliated with the Northville Realty. Previous to that he was connected with the Perishable Freight Service of the Eastern Railroad. Eaton is affiliated with the First Presbyterian church where he has held many offices. He is also a member of the Exchange club and the Western Wayne County Board of Realtors.

Mayor Conrad E. Langfield appointed George Zerbel and Ernest W. Ebert of West Dunlap street to the Northville Planning commission. Their posts were formerly held by the late Ernest J. Willis and Forrest L. Doren.

Secretary pro-tem A. Russell Clarke read a letter of resignation from Civilian Defense Director Forrest L. Doren who stated that he felt impelled to resign because of personal reasons. The letter was tabled until the next meeting when his successor will be named.

A letter was read from the Northville Driving club regarding a proposed club house which would sell liquor at Northville Downs. John Miller was present to discuss the Village tree trimming program. He was instructed to continue trimming on Rogers, Cady and First streets.

The Mothers club will meet on Monday, November 12 at 8:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Adrian Willis, North Wing street. Mrs. Richard Juday and Mrs. Alfred C. Parmenter will serve as co-hostesses.

Off-Street Parking at Halt; Council Issues Statement

A progress report on off-street public parking was made known at the Village Council meeting Monday evening. The report, the complete text of which can be found elsewhere in this edition, was compiled for the benefit of the public who have made numerous inquiries as to its progress.

Recommended last spring by the Village Planning and Zoning Board, the Village Council undertook to improve the business off-street parking area for three reasons:

Legion Post To Give Armistice Dinner

The Lloyd H. Green Post 147 of the American Legion will observe Armistice day with a turkey dinner at the Veterans' Memorial hall.

The November 11 dinner will be held from 1-5 p.m. and will take the place of the breakfast served by the local post at this time. Oscar Hammond is general chairman of the affair and asks that members call him for reservations for the dinner.

Board Purchases Two School Buses

Negotiations were completed at the Monday meeting of the Northville Board of Education to purchase two school buses. Russell H. Amerman, superintendent of schools, states that transportation by bus from the area will probably start about Christmas time.

Besides the routine reports and communications, the board also completed the annexation of De-Kay and Hinman school districts making three completed district annexations. Mrs. Pauline Smith, high school English teacher, was present to discuss with the board a proposed reading clinic.

Tube Co. Promotes Thomson, Wynings

Robert A. Armstrong, executive assistant to William A. McHattie, president of Michigan Seamless Tube company, South Lyon, announced on October 30 the appointment of Stuart H. Thomson as sales manager, Russell P. Wynings as assistant sales manager and John D. Longridge as manager of sales service department.

Mr. Thomson has been an employee of Michigan Seamless Tube company since 1935, and Mr. Wynings started with the company in 1933. Mr. Longridge, who was formerly connected with the Detroit Seamless Tube company, has been with Michigan Seamless since 1949.

The company has maintained a long established policy of promoting within the organization, and it is the president's contention that the fine cooperative spirit enjoyed by the organization is the direct result of this policy.

Messrs. Thomson and Wynings have long been residents of Northville. Mr. Longridge resides in Detroit.

Unclaimed Freight Store Opens Tues.

An unclaimed freight store opened this week on East Main street, in the market space formerly occupied by the Wolf market.

Mrs. Maude Bennett of High street has rented her store to Raymond Hernandez of Detroit who will operate an unclaimed freight depot. The market will feature groceries, furniture, dishes, lamps and other miscellaneous items along with a fresh fruits, vegetable and meat department.

For the past six years, Mr. Hernandez has operated an unclaimed freight store in Detroit. When asked why he chose Northville as the community to open his store in, Mr. Hernandez replied that he was impressed by the clean, friendly appearance of the Village. As soon as suitable living quarters can be found, he hopes to move his wife and three children to Northville.

(1) The business section has no suitable alleyways on the south side of East Main street where trucks can make deliveries. As it exists today, many trucks must double park to make deliveries, thus congesting the main thoroughfare.

(2) There is no permanent off-street parking lot. The two now being used are both privately owned, and

(3) Believing that shoppers will trade where parking facilities are most adequate, local merchants are losing business and will continue to lose trade unless suitable parking is made available.

Convinced that their reasons were sound, the Council authorized Village Attorney James Little and several Council members to contact the property owners on South Main street, east of Center, regarding the rear 45 feet of business frontage. Twenty feet would be used for a public alley and 20 feet would be used as a public parking area, with the remaining five feet to be used as a retaining wall. Entrance to the alley would be made through the Blackburn property.

Accordingly, the Blackburn property was purchased, and negotiations were completed for the property in the rear of Northville Realty and Freydl Cleaners. All other negotiations to date, the report states, have been unsuccessful, with the result that the project cannot be carried forth from monies derived from the parking meters and the General Fund.

The Council is faced with three alternatives: 1) Abandon the program 2) Begin condemnation proceedings for the properties, and 3) Abandon the off-street parking program, but acquire the 20 feet for alley purposes.

School Makes Plans for Education Week

Parents and friends are invited to inspect the Northville schools during American Education Week, November 12-16.

On Thursday evening, November 15 preceding the meeting of the Parent Teachers Association, the teachers will be in their respective classrooms available for questions.

The basic aim of American Education Week is to bring into focus the aims, achievements, needs and problems of our schools and colleges. The celebration points to the importance of strengthening our public schools in terms of their mighty responsibilities.

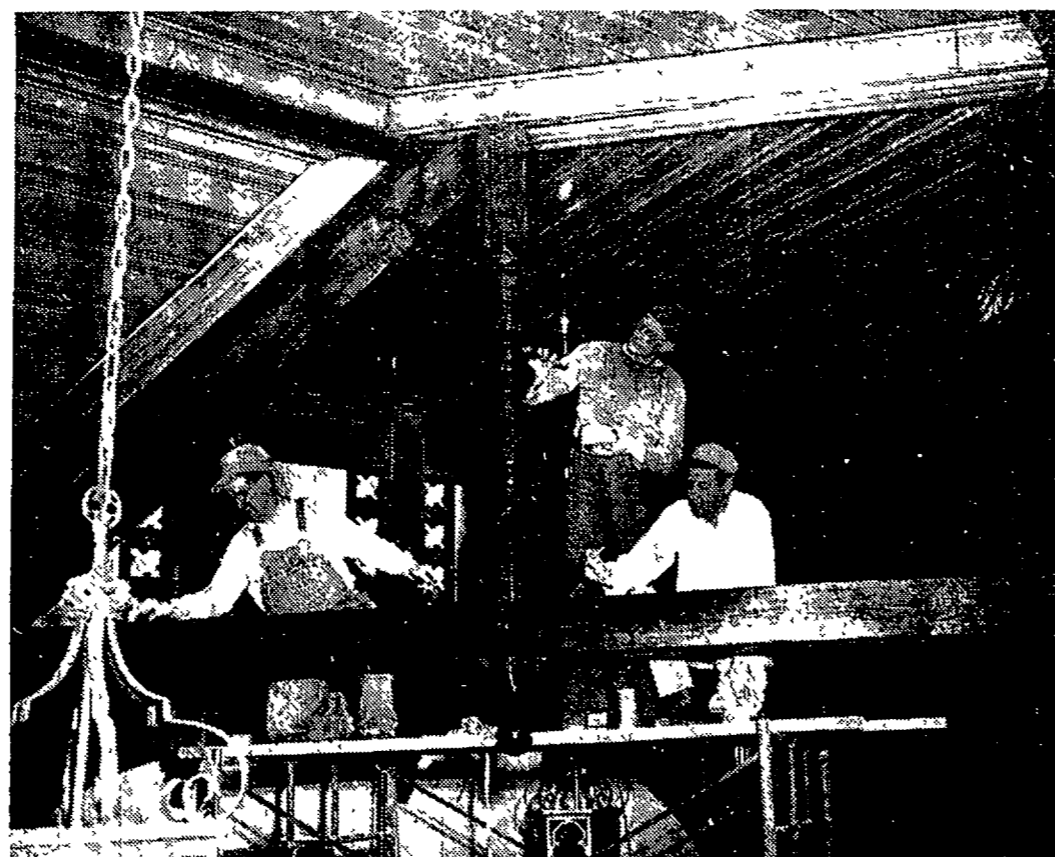

The observance of American Education Week has been held each November since 1922 under the basic principle that the education of people is the government's first obligation to its security and perpetuity. American Education Week strives to increase understanding and appreciation of the public school as the bulwark of our free government; show how modern schools are conducted; give pupils deeper insights into the values of education; provide special opportunities for the school tasks and problems; and develop greater citizen participation in planning new programs and securing needed school improvements.

Retail Merchants To Meet Monday

Members of the Northville Retail Merchants Association are urged to be present at the next regular meeting Monday, November 12 at 8:00 p.m. at the Veterans' Memorial hall.

Christmas plans, street decorations and parking are on the agenda to be discussed. Every member of the group is asked to be present for this important meeting.

Old-Time Work Bee Restores 1885 Church Interior

Rev. William Johnson, Jim Clark and Andy Orphan are pictured re-varnishing ceiling beams and woodwork manufactured at Northville factory in 1885.

When the Northville First Methodist church set October as "Face Lifting Month," the Adult Fellowship group took the interior decorating as their project but the whole congregation has turned out to help. The men have been meeting every Tuesday and Thursday nights to paint and the women usually arrive in the middle of the evening with refreshments.

Now after a month of work the finishing touches are being made on the sanctuary walls. Scaffolding was borrowed from the local school and with their help the men have been climbing high up into the rafters to varnish the wood beams. Rumor has it that Rev. William Johnson favors altitude painting so work nights finds him among the rafters. The vestibule, fellowship room, pastor's study, and the upstairs nursery have a new decorating scheme also. The floors and sanctuary pews will have a new finish before the project is completed.

It sounds like the working bees of long ago. Without a doubt when the church was built in the summer of 1885 the members of the Methodist church worked many nights at the church, first to earn money for its erection (Continued on Back Page)

Rolling Down The River

So this morning we stare at this sheet of paper for an hour or so, but no column... in fact no nothing and we're seriously thinking of going home, even though there is an awful lot of work around the place we've successfully avoided. But just when we think manual labor isn't too bad, in comes the 'hoe' from this newspaper and after taking one look at us, says "stuck again, huh? Why not tell them about the fellow who was talking his dog to the vet to have him wormed. Part way down the street he knows all about dogs, and the best thing there is for worms is a shot of gasoline. So they both go back to the dog owners' house and one of them holds the dog, while the other drops a large tablespoon full of gas down the dog's gullet. Then they both step back to see what happens.

The dog runs full speed down the street for two blocks, makes a sweeping turn, dashes madly back and drops at the feet of his owner.

"Dead," we ask?
"Nope," says this lug, "out of gas."

Now we don't care much for these stories that have us as a straight man, but it does strike us that the dog isn't even distantly related to the new Studebaker, running out of gas like that. Why any of these beautiful jobs that we have gracing our lot, with their amazingly powerful V-8 engine can make at least eight blocks on that tablespoon of gasoline. Besides, they're most comfortable to ride around in, and handle very easily. Better get yours now, because who knows how long we can go on making immediate delivery.

Vacationist, up Wisconsin way, brought back this bit of trivia. Seems there was an assistant District Attorney who in his official capacity met a lot of police officers. So one fine day, during a parade, a large number of these cops greeted the D.A. while passing. A seedy-looking individual, being most impressed, said "know those guys?"

"Yes, I know them."

"I know them too," the character sighed, "been picked up lots of times. Funny though, I never noticed you in the bull pen."

Well, we certainly hope you've been around to get your car winterized. Really taking chances on a major repair bill, if you haven't. Be an excellent idea, too, to have the boys in the shop give the motor a real tune-up, to insure quick, sure starting, no matter what the weather.

Of course we wouldn't know, but they tell us that an official in Washington, when asked what he thought about a certain subject the other day, paused briefly to bark. "I'm due to make a speech in five minutes. This is no time to think."

Report to the Residents of Northville on Alley and Parking Project

Due to the number of inquiries concerning the alley and parking area project on the south side of Main Street, east of Center Street, the Village Commission deems it advisable to report publicly, through the medium of the Northville Record, concerning this project. To fully understand the project it is necessary to restate the background as well as to state the present status and the probable future of the same.

This program, in the first instance, was urged upon the Village Commission by the Village Planning and Zoning Board. Various local groups and associations, such as the Businessmen's Association, and others, have for some time been urging such an improvement in the Village. The basic reasons warranting the improvement are sound and are as follows:

1. The business section has no public alley permitting deliveries to the various business places, and thus an undue congestion exists on Main Street. This occasions innumerable complaints from residents and proprietors alike.

2. There is no permanent public parking off-street area within the business section and such small areas as do exist, namely at the southwest corner of Main and Center and the southeast corner of Center and Dunlap, are inadequate, merely temporary and dependent entirely upon the good will of the owners of the land where located.

3. In the present age of motor transportation, customers trade where parking facilities are available and unless municipalities furnish some means or force others to furnish means of off-street parking, retail trade will go where such parking is available.

The Commission is convinced that the foregoing reasons are basically sound and furnish an impelling urge for a serious effort on the part of the residents of Northville to solve the problem.

Recognizing the problem is one thing — financing a solution to it is another matter. The Commission was informed and had reason to believe that businessmen owning frontage on Main Street within the area involved would cooperate wholeheartedly in the project in an effort to minimize the cost and so as to gain the specific individual advantages which the project would afford each businessman. These statements of good intent took the form of promises to convey to the Village the rear 45 feet of business frontage on Main Street within the area. It was not expected that owners of property not being used for business would convey the necessary portion of their area without some compensation. Neither was it expected that where installations of buildings or equipment were already existing on the necessary area to be taken, such taking would be done without reasonable compensation. For the most part, the depth of lots fronting on Main Street within the projected area is 165 feet and the project involved the taking of the rear 45 feet, 20 feet of which would be a public alley and 25 feet of which would be a public parking area. Entrance to the same, it was planned, would be accorded through the so-called Blackburn property directly opposite Hutton Street and also from Center Street.

With the minor exception of two frame garage buildings and a portion of the Freydl cleaning establishment, there was and is no installation of a building on any of the east and west portion of this project. The reasonableness of the project in design and area is readily understood when due consideration is given to all of the foregoing impelling reasons for it and also when it is acknowledged that present day trends in business building construction and use justifies and warrants a depth of not over 100 feet. Likewise, the increased value resulting to existing business establishments by reason of their ability to retain and to increase their present trade is obvious.

A further important consideration was that such a program so accomplished would permit the Commission to put into effect without imposing an additional tax burden upon residents and businessmen through the setting up of a special assessment district. In other words, such a program based on representations made could be accomplished without the necessity of raising additional tax revenue.

Accordingly, the Village Commission, as the first step in the project, purchased the Blackburn property and began negotiations with other property owners in the area involved. Negotiations were successful with the owners of Lot 29 and the rear 45 feet of this lot was deeded gratuitously to the Village. Negotiations were likewise successful with the owners of Lot 35 and the necessary area was acquired from these owners, reasonable compensation being paid for the removal of the building existing thereon. All other negotiations have to date been unsuccessful and in some instances businessmen have so far failed to cooperate in the manner as promised and represented. As a result, it now appears that there is no reasonable expectation that the cost of the project can be met from the General Fund and parking meter fees as was originally contemplated. Thus, the Village Commission is confronted with the following alternatives:

1. Abandon the program.
2. Condemn the necessary property through Court proceeding, securing the necessary funds with which to acquire the property by means of an increase in the tax rates.
3. Abandon the off-street parking feature of the plan and acquire only 20 feet for alley purposes.

This report is made in the public interest and so as to dispel unwarranted rumors, and to answer questions in the minds of the residents. The Commission will welcome the attendance at any of its meetings of any resident who may wish to speak upon this problem.

NORTHVILLE VILLAGE COMMISSION
Conrad E. Langfield, Village President.

Public Letter Box

NOTE: The Record welcomes letters dealing with the good of Northville and community. All letters must have the signature of the writer, which will be withheld upon request. It is also necessary that letters be limited in length.

To The Editor:

I'd like to answer the letter signed "A Northville Lady."

Once again it's time to print facts not narrow minded prejudices.

I am a Plymouth business woman but a Northville resident.

Ten years ago we tried to rent an office in Northville and none was available, but luckily we secured the then only vacant one in Plymouth. Plymouth wasn't growing by leaps and bounds then either but they had a few wide awake folks that got to the bottom of things to see what makes a town grow. They had experts come in and survey the situation, ie, where were the best locations for stores, offices and factories, then they went to work (not without plenty of criticism) and see the results.

It's long been known the objective for Northville is "A Village of Homes." That's lovely, but poor business. Besides being just a village of homes and tax free institutions, available factory sites are dangerous, yawning, empty gravel pits.

Before we vote on becoming a city the entire process and its benefits should be published in the Record in language plain and simple, or a Town Hall meeting should be held for all the voters, not have someone speak to a couple civic clubs as has been done. Let's study this before we vote yes or no.

Now about Plymouth business men putting their faith in God and being honest, of course this is true in most cases, but there is as much honesty and love of God in Northville. The real trouble in Northville were mistakes on the part of all of us, you get out of a village just what you put into it. However, I don't think it's too late to have a survey made, get some folks working who aren't afraid to stick their necks out and I wager things would, maybe not go by leaps and bounds, but grow normally and securely.

Stuck your neck out, you see things differently than when you stay in your shell. Remember a turtle never gets anywhere unless he sticks his neck out.

I'm for the Twins, Northville and Plymouth. It helps all if they both grow.

Sincerely,

(Mrs. A. C.) Bea Carlson

Northville Record Has Occupied 3 Village Sites Plant Now Located One-Half Block From Original 1869 Main Street Home

As the Village of Northville progressed in size and the frame buildings lining the business district were replaced by brick structures, the location of the Northville Record was moved from time to time and a modernized office building erected for the office and plant.

The Record office has never moved more than a block away from its original location at the corner of Main and North Center streets. The first editor, Samuel H. Little, started his Wayne County Record office in 1869 on the site now occupied by Gladstone's Shoe store.

Baldwin Dedicates Neal Bldg. After the turn of the century, Little moved the newspaper office to his newly built building on the corner of Dunlap and North Center. According to the late Dean Griswold, the Old Opera house was erected on the installment plan. Townspeople subscribed five cents to fifty dollars a person to finance the structure which at its completion seated 800 people in the second floor auditorium. At first the newspaper office, which by that time had been renamed The Northville Record, was located on the second floor. Later it was moved to the first floor.

Judging from pictures of the Record Building at the time the paper was edited by Frank S. Neal the Old Opera house still served as its office. No accurate records have been found as to the definite date of the moving of the newspaper from the Old Opera house to its present site. Tom Carrington states that he believes that when the frame building on the corner of Main and North Center streets was moved to make way for the building of the Lapham State bank about 1907 Neal moved his offices to this frame building. Its site is approximately where the present Record building stands.

Fire Destroys Office in 1930. Elton R. Eaton, present publisher of The Plymouth Mail, operated the Record plant on when the frame building was destroyed by fire on December 30, 1930.

In February 1931, Richard T. Baldwin bought the Record plant and while the new brick Neal building was being built, the new office and composing room was set up temporarily in the back of the Lapham State bank building where the Bell Telephone office and the Shipley barber shop is now located. The printing was done at The Plymouth Mail.

Office Occupied Opera Building. On June 8, 1931 the new Record building was dedicated. An open house, banquet and a special new home edition of The Northville Record was printed in its honor. The office and printing plant have remained at that location though the front office structure has been altered. The entrance was changed by Editor William H. Canfield to the right side of the building making a larger working space for the office staff.

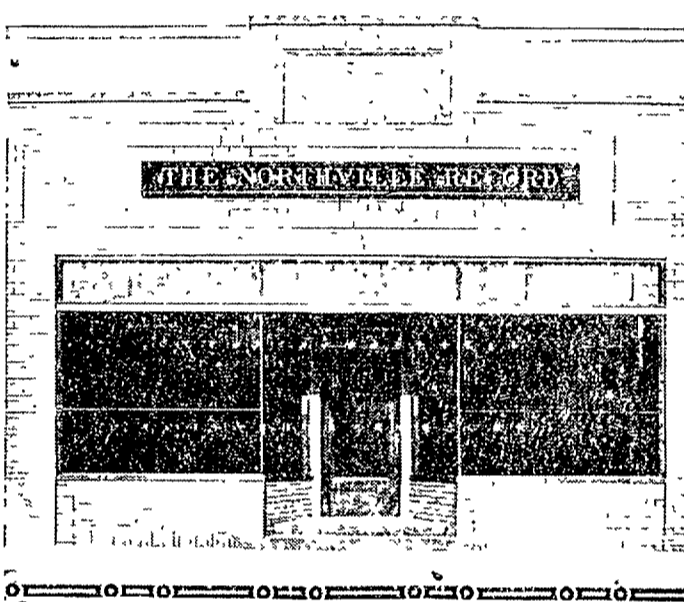

What makes a man think that he can be healthy, wealthy and wise, all in one lifetime?

First office was located at the corner of Main and North Center Streets.

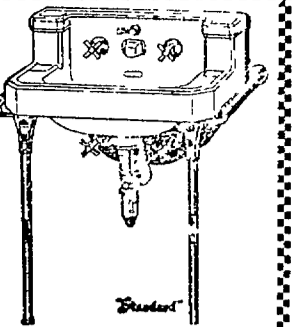

F. S. Neal edited paper in the old opera house newspaper office.

The Neal building looked like this when dedicated in 1931.

Education Always Has Faced Threats, Dean at U-M Says

Public education in this country has developed as the result of a continuous struggle between conflicting forces, according to Dean James B. Edmonson of the University of Michigan School of Education.

According to the dean, "There always have been threats that the programs and services of schools would be curtailed. At certain times, these threats have been unusually serious."

Threats to education do, however, often have a positive value, he asserted, as they may direct attention to deficiencies and needs which, if met, would strengthen our educational system.

The viewpoint of the dean is that "while the existence of the 'threats' must be recognized, there are many more reasons for optimism than for pessimism about the future of public education in the United States."

"Our education system has grown in scope and effectiveness in spite of past threats, and will continue to do so because of the unbounded faith of the common man in the values of free public schools," Dean Edmonson stated.

However, he feels that groups outside of the schools must get more adequate information regarding the goals of American education.

Educators have a responsibility to stress the viewpoint that education is not a drain on our national income but a prudent investment in terms of preparation for successful participation in the social and economic life of American democracy, Dean Edmonson feels.

Educators also must help the citizen appreciate the fact that the public school is a necessary unifying influence in our community, state and national life, he says.

Railroads are one of the principal sources of scrap iron and steel, having furnished about 12 percent of the scrap purchased by the steel industry in 1950.

Chief Denton Urges Pedestrian Safety

Will YOU be the nation's millionth traffic victim? Chief Denton today asked that question of every citizen of this city.

"This month or sometime next month," he said, "motor vehicle traffic will claim its millionth victim. It could be somebody here in Northville. It could be you, or a member of your family. Or if you are not a traffic casualty, you as a driver could cause that millionth death."

"It's not a pleasant thought. But it's one way of saying—drive carefully, observe the traffic laws, and, on these dark days, walk with extra care."

Chief Denton issued the forceful reminder as part of the continuing effort to save lives and prevent injury and loss from traffic accidents in Northville. Special emphasis this month is being placed on pedestrian safety, the November state-wide emphasis program sponsored by the State Safety Commission.

"When motor vehicle fatalities pass the million mark," said Chief Denton, "it will mean this country has had almost twice as many people killed in traffic as in all nine of the wars we have fought. It means an average of 20,000 traffic deaths a year for 50 years. That is a terrible price to pay for the convenience of the automobile, and it will be even more terrible to you if one of these deaths or some last injury happens to a member of your family."

The all-time high traffic toll came in 1941, when almost 40,000 persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents.

"There have been fewer traffic deaths in the post-war years," said Chief Denton, "and credit must be given to the widespread efforts to save lives. All of us working together, every driver and pedestrian, as well as thousands of individuals and organizations can hold down the toll."

This is the danger month for the pedestrian. He is hard to see and he doesn't know it. Nearly 8,000 pedestrians were injured and more than 400 killed in Michigan last year. Almost twice as many were killed in November as in the summer months.

"Last year there were 35,000 traffic deaths, and so far in 1951 the toll is increasing as more cars and more drivers cover more miles than ever before."

"That millionth death probably will happen in December, but it can be postponed if we all drive and walk with extra care. 'Don't you be that one in a million'."

Your Church needs your willing hands, your generous heart!

We're giving our Church the lift it needs—pledging more this year!

• But how much is more? . . . You cannot put a cash value on spiritual security. You cannot measure in dollars and cents what your church means to you. Your contribution is more than an annual pledge, a quarterly check, more than just a bill tossed into a collection plate—it is an expression of your active and eager participation in the good work your church does, the work it can and must do! Your church needs your willing hands, your generous heart. This year—when the need of your church is greater than ever before—let your contributions be even more willing, more generous!

Uncle Sam Says

The "take-it-easy" years beckon invitingly to farm people who have built up a retirement fund in United States Defense Bonds. As the only large group of Americans not covered by group security or pension plans, farmers find Defense Bonds are ideal kind of retirement fund. Defense Bonds are absolutely safe-backed by the full resources of this great country—and they pay a good rate of interest—$75 invest today becomes $100 in 10 years and $133.25 in 20 years.

Depreciation of machinery and equipment is a big annual expense on today's farms, even though replacements are not bought every year. It is only sound management for a farmer to put part of what his machinery earns each year into a safe investment, readily convertible into cash when the machine is worn out. An ideal way to accumulate this replacement fund is to buy U. S. Defense Bonds. They are safe—a good rate of interest—and are easily redeemed when needed.

Troop N-1 Observes Wildlife, Pass Merit Badges at Tawas

Mike Richards, Bill Yahne, Bill Andrews, Chuck Hilger and Ricky Atchison who spent a cold week-end in their tent at Troop N-1 East Tawas campout recently.

The East Tawas cabin of Orlov Owen proved to be a wild life observation post for 17 members of Boy Scout Troop N-1 October 23-25. Before they had even reached their destination, the Scouts spotted 50 deer and before the weekend was over the total had risen to 156 deer plus many raccoon, pheasant and other forms of wild life.

The boys left Friday afternoon with Scoutmaster Monroe Weston and Garnett Hawes and Harold Atwood driving. Mr. Hawes also presided over the kitchen activities as chief cook.

Most of the group slept within the cabin but like true Scouts Mike Richards, Bill Yahne, Bill Andrews, Chuck Hilger and Ricky Atchison chose to sleep in a tent. The word sleep is used loosely here since they report that the freezing weather prevented much of that during their nights in the tent.

Besides observing wild life during the weekend, the boys also worked on their camping merit badges under the guidance of Scoutmaster Weston.

The troop broke camp early Sunday morning and were on their way home by 6 a.m.

The 13 Scouts who took part in the weekend campout were: Donald Atwood, Bill Tierney, George Hawes, Jimmy Weston, Ricky Atchison, Charles Hilger, Bill Andrews, Bill Yahne, Mike Richards, Leo Campbell, David Biery, Roger Rathbun and Tommy Richards.

Univ. Music Society Begins Sale of "Messiah" Tickets

The annual Christmas presentation of Handel's "Messiah" will be given under the auspices of the University Musical Society in Hill auditorium, Ann Arbor, Saturday, December 8, at 8:30 p.m. and a repeat performance Sunday afternoon, December 9 at 2:30 p.m.

This immortal work was first performed in Dublin, Ireland, April 18, 1742. On this occasion the audience was so moved by the "Hallelujah" Chorus that, led by the King they rose to their feet simultaneously, and remained standing until the chorus ended. A practice so solemnly begun has become a part of succeeding performance at Christmastime.

Unlike many works which have attained immortality, the success of "Messiah" was immediate, and with the passage of years its popularity has continued to increase.

As one writer put it, "Messiah" was improvised on paper in 24 days (August 22 to September 12, 1741). It is another instance of the remarkable rapidity with which Handel composed. At first the orchestration was somewhat fragmentary and simple, and in certain numbers merely sketched. Three of the important choruses were adaptations of former compositions.

The two Ann Arbor performances will be sung by the University Choral Union of 310 voices, and conducted by Lester McCoy, associate conductor of the University Musical Society. Mr. McCoy has also won distinction as associate director of the Brevard Festival in North Carolina, director of the Methodist Church choir in Ann Arbor, and conductor of the Livonia chorus and orchestra.

The University Musical Society

orchestra which will play for these performances is recruited each year from outstanding local musicians. Soloists who specialize in oratorio have been engaged: Nancy Carr, distinguished soprano of Chicago; Eunice Alberts of Boston; David Lloyd, tenor of New York; and Oscar Natzka, bass, of Australian British and Canadian fame. Mary McCall Stubbins will preside at the famous Frieze memorial organ.

Tickets may be purchased at the offices of the University Musical Society, Burton Memorial Tower, Ann Arbor.

Deer Hunters May Sign for Messages

As in past years the Michigan State Police and the State Department of Conservation will cooperate during the 1951 deer hunting season in making a free registration service available to hunters who desire to be reached in camp if an emergency occurs at home.

Under the plan, a hunter registers at the State Police post or Conservation headquarters nearest his camp. Before leaving home he should inform his family or office of the station at which he is registering.

In the event of an emergency, those at home need only notify their nearest State Police post of Conservation headquarters and the message will be radioed to the specified registration station. Either a State Police or Conservation officer will then deliver the message to the hunter.

The plan also facilitates transmitting messages home if hunters are involved in accidents or reported lost.

Only messages of an emergency nature will be handled. The service is not offered where regular communication facilities are available and can be used without delay.

All State Police posts and Conservation headquarters have supplies of registration cards. The cards also will be available on State ferries and can be handed to State Police officers stationed at the docks.

In filling out the cards hunters are urged to make sure they give accurate locations of their hunting camps and if necessary diagrams should be drawn. Each member of a hunting party should register.

It has a Way with Women

SOMETIMES we think that too little attention is given to the fair sex in automobile advertising.

After all, it's the woman of the house who has to do most of the shopping, which involves getting into tight places at the curb. And it's surprising what tight spots a Buick can fit into at a turn of the wheel.

It's the woman who likes complete freedom from things that it takes an engineer to operate—and a complete and utter freedom from mechanical complications is exactly what makes Dynaflo Drive* such a joy.

It's the woman who has an eye for style and fine fabrics—and a nose for economy. On both counts, a Buick is tops.

But we suspect something else. We suspect that a woman gets just as great a lift as a man from commanding this great-powered and trigger-quick bundle of vitality to bow to her will.

Here's a car to win any woman's heart—by its level-gaited stride—its willing response to her hand on the wheel—its smart style and its smart performance—its spaciousness and comfort—and its thrift.

How about taking time off, some afternoon, to boss around a Buick? It's a date that's bound to thrill you.

Cold, Fumbles, Brighton Work Together To Defeat Northville Mustangs 21 to 13

Brighton's Bulldogs ended Northville's five-game football victory string last Friday night, winning 21 to 13 at Sloan Memorial Field in Brighton.

Snow and bitter cold hampered both teams, causing frosted hands to fumble and throw inaccurate passes. Each squad capitalized on fumbles to register touchdowns.

Scoring opened in the first quarter when Northville's Leon Holman eluded the Brighton secondary to tally from 30 yards out. Bill Bingley converted. Brighton countered with seven points shortly afterward to tie the score.

The Mustangs took the lead again early in the second period when they recovered a Brighton fumble on the Bulldog 19-yard line. Holman, Northville's fleet fullback, took a handoff from Quarterback Don Maclean and slanted off tackle to score on the first play. Bingley's attempted conversion was blocked and the score was 13 to 7 for Northville.

Northville's Bob Burgess hauled in a Brighton pass at midfield two plays after the kickoff and got to the Bulldog 22-yard marker to put the Mustangs into scoring position again.

Denny Curl, Bingley and Holman combined for a first down on the Brighton eight, but Bingley was stopped on the one-foot line four plays later, where the Mustangs had to relinquish the ball.

The cold caught up with Northville ball handlers in a disastrous first few minutes of the second half. Northville fumbled on six consecutive series of downs and

South Lyon Game To End Grid Season

The Northville Mustangs will wind up the 1951 football season against South Lyon on the Lions' home field Friday night at 8 p.m.

Northville had an easy time with the Lions at Ford Field last season, winning 70 to 6. A Northville victory Friday night will give the Mustangs a six win-three loss record for this season.

Brighton recovered each time. The Bulldogs converted the first fumble into a TD via a Ken Buffington-to-Don Shosey screen pass good for 17 yards. George Priesskorn kicked the extra point to move Brighton ahead 14 to 13.

Buffington broke away and picked up blockers to score on a 54-yard sprint midway in the third quarter, and Priesskorn again converted to give Brighton a 21 to 13 advantage.

The Northville line bristled to smother a later scoring attempt by the Bulldogs when Brighton was stopped on the Northville two-yard line. Maclean, Bingley and Holman carried the ball to the 15 and Holman punted out of danger.

The tide began to turn in the fourth period when Northville recovered two Brighton fumbles, but the Mustangs were unable to penetrate the heavy Bulldog line or make spread passes work.

Brighton, typically, relied on power through the middle and power runs around end, giving up passes after Northville line backers and secondary men intercepted four aerials. Bob Scheffer pulled in two Buffington passes and Burgess got another.

A Washington newspaper the other day told about a little girl who left her piggy bank on a po. office writing desk, while she went over to drop a letter in the mail slot. Before she got back, various passersby had dropped pennies and dimes, and even a few quarters, into the toy bank.

It was the American reaction to any opportunity to give away money for a supposedly worthy cause.

Congress operated on much the same principle in the closing day of the session which ended October 20. It sent to the White House a bill for foreign aid, spending $7,328,903,976; another, spending $4,128,000,000 for military construction, mostly in foreign lands, and one spending $1,676,246,976 for the alphabetical agencies of the government.

These spending bills followed rather closely the $37,000,000,000 Defense Bill, and two supplemental appropriation bills which totaled $5,822,654,084. The year's total of appropriations will be something between $95,000,000,000 and $98,000,000,000.

It is possible to translate these astronomical figures into terms of the average individual and family budget. One has only to keep in mind that each billion dollars of appropriations represents about $10 out of the individual's annual budget, or from $35 to $40 out of the average family budget.

Therefore, when all of the appropriation bills enacted by the first session of the 82nd Congress are added up, it becomes evident that Congress spent on that last afternoon just about $130 of each taxpayer's money, and about $500 of the average family budget for the year.

Final spending figures for the session of Congress recently ended show that about $2000 was taken from the average family for national defense; nearly $350 for the war in Korea; $250 for foreign aid; and about $50 for Mike DiSalle, Eric Johnston and Charles E. Wilson for economic stabilization which does not stabilize, and for mobilization, which some say is needlessly large.

In addition, Congress took away this year, as a matter of necessity, about $200 from the average family to pay interest on the $257,000,000,000 national debt. Still further, Congress took about $1000 for ordinary costs of government, such as civilian payrolls and payments of one kind or another to one out of each seven American citizens.

When everything is added together, it appears that each average family in the nation, excluding of course the indigents and those in extremely low tax brackets, will be called upon to pay approximately $3750. The average might have been lower, except for the success of many people in evading taxes, with the help of some crooked internal revenue officials.

Of the total paid by each average family, about $1200 will be paid in direct income taxes, nearly $2000 in the form of indirect taxes, such as taxes on imported goods, luxury taxes, so-called, on most necessities including for example $700 on each new Ford car. The rest will be borrowed by the government from banks, insurance companies, and some few individuals who can afford to invest in government bonds.

This borrowed money, of course, will have to be repaid sometime, if the government is to remain solvent enough to guarantee Americans the freedoms which are their birthright. This is why so many in Congress voted to cut drastically every appropriation bill and voted against the bill to increase taxes.

Pravda, the official newspaper of the Communist party in Russia, supported the British Socialist-Labor Party in the recent British elections. Maybe that helped the Conservatives to win so handily.

WALL-FLAME METHOD

Accepted Standard

It pays to get the best! Most people know that. But some, when they come to choosing the heating system that must serve them for years, hesitate about Timken Silent Automatic—for one reason. It costs a little more.

To those people we say, look ahead ten years. The amount of fuel oil and electricity your Timken Silent Automatic Wall-Flame Oil Burner will use over that time will probably be 25% less than an ordinary gun-type burner will use. Maintenance costs will be much lower, too, because the only moving part in the entire burner is the self-lubricating mono-rotor. All this, plus the proud knowledge that you have the best in advance-designed heating equipment, puts you far ahead of the shortsighted man who accepts less than a Timken Silent Automatic.

Phone today! We'll be glad to arrange easy terms—10% down, 36 months to pay, if desired—on the Timken Silent Automatic unit that's right for your home. You couldn't make a better buy!

Church Interior . . .

and then for the final cleanup job after its construction.

The first decorating of the church was a result of the combined efforts of many Northville people, not just from the Methodist congregation. The wood beams, panelling, doors, door and window casings, as well as the pulpit furniture that decorated the sanctuary in 1885 are still the talking points of the interior of the Dunlap street church. The letter guaranteeing the manufacturing and installation of this trim was written on stationery headed "Michigan School Furniture Company, Northville, Michigan." This furniture factory was established here in 1879 and became famous as the largest manufacturer of school seats in the world. At the time when the Northville factory made the relief work and flat ornamentation for the sanctuary, the parlor, lecture room, infant's room and hall of the Methodist church, Robert Yerkes was president, J.S.

Lapham, treasurer, and F. R. Beal, secretary.

The pipe organ in the new church was made at the Granville Wood and Son Organ company factory in Northville. F. R. Beal, secretary of the furniture factory, induced the Woods to organize a company in Northville in 1884. The organ which they made for the church is described as having two manuals, 479 pipes, and a case of red oak with a hard oil finish. The large metal pipes installed at that time still decorate the 1951 church.

When the sanctuary was re-decorated in 1946, before the dedication of the new organ, the choir loft was remodeled using the wood panelling and painted organ pipes of the original church. That was the first time any major change had been made in the sanctuary in 60 years.

THE VILLAGE NEWSPAPER

The late Richard T. Baldwin, one-time editor and publisher of the Northville Record once wrote, "The home newspaper of any community is a tremendous force for good or ill. Its spirit, as shown in its pages from week to week can be a mighty factor in the progress of the town."

Down through the years, the community newspaper has established for itself the reputation as being a sounding board for Village problems. The community weekly has become more than just a commercial enterprise; it has taken on the aspects of an institution. The weekly will make mistakes. There is no concealing the fact because the errors are spread where all the community may see them. There is no business where the premium of accuracy is so high, or the penalty for inaccuracy so prompt. But through it all, the newspaper shows a spirit of loyalty and cooperation to the town.

In a sense, the hometown newspaper is a public servant who needs the help and cooperation of every member of the community. No newspaper can rise far above the level of its community because it reflects the spirit and progress in the town, or the lack of it.

The Northville Record staff extends to every citizen in the community a warm invitation to attend its open house Friday, November 9, from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. and from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. We cannot emphasize too much that we want to become better acquainted with you, and in turn want you to become more fully acquainted with us and with the facilities at hand. Into this open house we have put our best efforts so that it will make us all better friends and neighbors, with the hope that a more constructive Northville Record will result.

Malley To Head Int'l Horse Show

Entries for the Michigan International Horse show, which will be held December 5 through 8 at the State Fair Coliseum in Detroit will close Monday, November 12, it was announced by J. P. Malley of Northville, manager.

Entries should be mailed to Mrs. Sam McKinley, 2843 East Grand River, East Lansing, who is secretary of the Michigan State Horse Show Association, sponsor of the show. This is a state-wide organization which is the governing body of all Michigan horse shows throughout the year. It is composed of some 300 leading Michigan horsemen.

The show will mark not only the return of major horse show competition to the State Fair Coliseum after a lapse of 20 years but will inaugurate Michigan's first international competition.

The show will run Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoon and evening.

Other officers of the Michigan State Horse Show Association are: Richard Andrae of Port Huron, president; Charles Record of Detroit, vice president; and Gerald Taft of Northville, treasurer.

The International Olympic teams showing on the circuit will be representing Canada, Ireland, Brazil, Mexico and the United States. These and others will compete in the Olympic games at Helsinki, Finland next year.

Other officers of the Michigan State Horse Show Association are: Richard Andrae of Port Huron, president; Charles Record of Detroit, vice president; and Gerald Taft of Northville, treasurer.

Professor Instructs Texans To Install Air-Conditioning

AUSTIN, Texas—You can install a personal air-conditioning system in 100-degree weather by following the advice of a University of Texas faculty member.

Dr. C. J. Alderson, assistant professor of physical and health education, suggests the following combination when temperature outside is higher than normal body temperature (98.6 degrees):

Wear a fibrous, loose-woven garment.

Try to find dry air which is moving.

Work up a sweat (this is easy).

A gunny sack would be the ideal costume for Texans in 100-degree weather, Dr. Alderson says. It holds moisture and allows circulation of air, thus producing a cooling evaporation process.

If you don't like the gunny sack idea, wear some type of loose, fibrous, light clothing. This allows for effective perspiration and circulation of air, and it isn't so heavy to carry around. Be sure the neck is well-ventilated. Wear an open-collared shirt, because the throat acts as the body's thermostat.

Eagle Nest in Crow's Spot Poses Problem for Surveyor

MOBILE, Alabama — A four foot wide mass of twigs and sticks created quite a problem here for marine surveyor John Pettigrew.

The surveyor was inspecting the freighter George Gipp when he came across an eagle's nest that was not listed on the ship's inventory, which he had to complete before the freighter could be reactivated.

The problem was solved by declaring the nest excess and surplus property. It could then be destroyed or thrown away, providing, of course, no one wanted to buy it.

If you must be critical, my friend, please be specific in your indictment.

A verbal apology used to be adequate but now it must be expressed with a dozen roses or a bottle of perfume.

Kats, Rams Renew Football Rivalry

The Kats and the Rams will be at it again Friday, November 16, at Ford Field in the third annual renewal of the football rivalry.

The two teams are composed of sixth, seventh and eighth grade boys, coached by Dick Kay (the Kats) and Al Jones (the Rams). The two high school football coaches try to divide the squads into equal strength for the Saturday morning practice sessions. The two squads will get in a full week's drills after school next week.

The Kats and Rams have each won a game, posting identical 19 to 7 scores the last two seasons. Kickoff will be at 7:00 p.m. About 40 boys have turned out for each team. A trophy will be presented to the winning team.

The high school Junior class and the Recreation board are co-sponsors of the game. The Junior class share of the game's proceeds will be used toward their Senior trip next year.

A portable radio will be given away to some lucky spectator during half-time.
