

Should Northville Incorporate As A City?

This is the fifth of a series of articles prepared and published in the public interest. An attempt has been made to keep the subject matter wholly factual and it is offered solely for the purpose of permitting the residents of Northville and the surrounding community to determine for themselves the desirability of incorporating all or a portion of the community as a city. Upon completion of the articles, an attempt will be made to answer any specific question which may be submitted to the editor upon this general subject.

This and the succeeding article will deal with the need and desirability of modernizing Northville's form of government so as to provide more and better municipal services.

The study of State legislation, through which cities and villages obtain whatever degree of self-government is theirs, clearly reflects the changing political and economic conditions within the State. In 1895 an act was passed providing for the incorporation of villages and defining their powers and duties. This act is known as the General Village Act. In the same year an act was passed providing for the incorporation of cities of the fourth class (those with a population not exceeding 10,000).

Prior to the adoption of the present charter under which the Village is governed, Northville was incorporated as a village under the General Village Act. In 1909 the State Legislature adopted two companion acts—one known as the Home Rule City Act and the other known as the Home Rule Village Act. Each act is said to provide, in addition to incorporation, for "revising and amending charters." The Home Rule Village Act undoubtedly secures to villages a greater degree of local control of internal affairs than does the General Village Act and the Home Rule City Act does likewise for cities, but goes somewhat further and grants to cities incorporated under it a greater degree of home rule.

Apparently, local residents sometime prior to 1927 determined that the Village of Northville was then in need of a charter revision, as it was in that year that a charter commission promulgated by the present charter for the Village and the same was duly approved by the electors of the Village in August, 1927. This charter was an attempt to assure to the Village such degree of home rule as was possible to be obtained under the Home Rule Village Act. It has served the people of the Village without amendment or revision since 1927. Since its adoption, the community has experienced its severest economic depression and a world war, with all of the attendant economic and social dislocations, pressures and changes.

Since the end of the world war in 1945 the Village Commission has experienced an increasing pressure from local residents for more and better municipal services. Under the present charter provisions, very definite limitations are imposed upon municipal powers. Many of the charter provisions are ambiguous in their meaning with the result that uncertainty and doubt exists in the mind of the Commission as to the extent of its authority in many instances.

Under the present Village Charter, the following officers must be elected:

A president, 5 commissioners, a clerk, a treasurer and an assessor. Of these elective officers, it is readily recognized that the clerk, the treasurer and the assessor require purely administrative duties and in no sense can be said to be policy-making officers. The Commission shall receive as full compensation for their services $100.00 per annum. It further provides that there shall be three principal departments for executive and administrative authority, namely:

1. Department of Public Utilities, Health, Welfare and Charities.
2. Department of Public Works.
3. Department of Finance.

The president is required to be the superintendent of the Department of Public Affairs and Finance and the commission may designate from its own personnel commissioners to be superintendents of the other departments. From a practical standpoint, this has meant that members of the commission are actually devoting a tremendous amount of time to the daily problems of village government. It means that in addition to the responsibility for policy making, they are actually performing administrative and clerical duties of considerable detail. This, naturally, imposes a great burden upon their time.

NHS Pupils To Aid Blood Bank Drive

Mrs. W. E. Forney, blood bank chairman of the Northville Red Cross branch, is receiving pledges in advance of the next visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile to Northville, January 18. The unit will be at the Methodist church from 2:00 to 8:00 p.m., and to date, only 60 persons have signed up to donate a pint of blood.

Co-chairmen Philip Ogilvie and Dr. Hugh Godfrey urge persons to register with Mrs. Forney to donate a pint of blood. They are worried because of the lag in registrations when they had hoped to set a local record for collections. In an effort to get donors, students at Northville High school in their respective homerooms are competing with each other to see who can turn in the most pledge cards. Two money prizes and a bushel of apples, compliments of Paul Burnham of Apple Crest Farms, will be awarded the winners.

Because there is still an urgent need for blood for the armed forces it is expected that many will designate their gifts for that purpose. The Red Cross blood center in Detroit continues to make regular shipments of whole type "O" blood to Korea, where fighting goes on regardless of truce negotiations. Blood given for U. S. fighting men in Korea is on its way to the front by air within 24 hours after it is given and is available for use by advanced medical units within five days.

Whole blood collected by the Red Cross is credited with saving thousands of lives in Korea. Because it has been available when needed 97 out of every 100 wounded men have recovered. Blood is also needed for thousands of wounded servicemen under care in military hospitals both at home and overseas. In addition, blood is needed for processing into plasma to build up the depleted reserves of the armed forces.

BPW To Sponsor Benefit Card Party

Faculty to Honor Sup't Amerman for 25 Years of Service

Members of the faculty of the Northville schools will honor School Superintendent Russell H. Amerman for his 25 years of service to the Northville schools at a banquet Tuesday, January 15 at St. Paul's Lutheran Parish hall.

When Superintendent Thad J. Knapp died in 1933, Mr. Amerman, then Northville High school principal and science teacher, agreed to fill out the year. He has held the position ever since. Throughout his years as an educator, Mr. Amerman has noted many changes in the local curriculum. Most notable, he said, is that most pupils who begin high school continue their schooling and graduate. When he was principal, he relates, an average graduating class consisted of 25 to 30 pupils, while today's classes average 75 or 80.

Mr. Amerman also noted the vast change in today's curriculum which attempts to prepare the pupil for everyday living. In the past, the emphasis has been on a college preparatory course. Respected by teachers and members of the community, Mr. Amerman has piloted the school system through two building programs. The present grade building was built in 1936 with the nine-room addition being added in 1949.

Building Inspector J. Stanley Waterloo reported that during 1951, 96 building permits were issued in Northville with a total valuation estimated at $331,560.00. He explained to members of the Village Council at their regular meeting Monday evening that permit values are based on an approximate estimate and that the total is not necessarily the actual cash value of the new construction or alteration.

The 96 building permits were issued as follows: 13 new homes, $106,500; 15 commercial alterations, $47,710; 14 garages, $12,650; one school, $60,000; new commercial building, $40,000; and 52 house alterations, $64,700.

Waterloo reported that since 1948 a total of 48 new homes, one school, one church and one school addition have been built in the Village. New homes constructed in the Village over the four year period are as follows: 1948, 12 homes; 1949, 10; 1950, 13; 1951, 13.

Total building activities for the past four years were as follows: 1948, 88 permits, valued at $332,644; 1949, 51 permits, $130,350; 1950, 63 permits, $359,285; 1951, 96 permits, $331,560.

March of Dimes Cans Distributed

The campaign for polio-fighting funds got underway in this community and throughout the nation last week. Nelson C. Schrader, Jr., local "Dimes" chairman, states that he hopes Northville will raise about $750.00 which will be turned in to help keep pace with the march of polio.

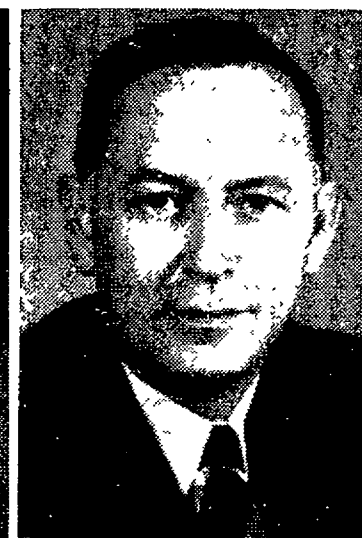

The campaign period has been doubled this year because the National Foundation has been forced into debt four years in succession by surging polio incidence. During these four years, the National Foundation and its chapters have spent $79,000,000 in March of Dimes funds for patient care charges alone, as compared with $41,000,000 in the previous ten year span.

This situation was brought about not only by rising costs but also because there were more cases during the past four years than in the entire previous decade. This black picture has meant that the National Foundation is annually faced with an average of 30,000 cases, in contrast to the ten to twelve thousand cases a year formerly considered "normal."

This is the reason why the 1952 March of Dimes period has had to be increased; it is also the reason why contributions will have to be increased this year, if polio is to be checked and eventually conquered.

William and Wilbert Petz have issued an invitation to Villagers to stop in and view the new models. They expect to have on the floor a "Starliner," five-passenger, hardtop convertible, which is offered in both the Champion and Commander lines in 11 different two-tone color combinations. Patients To Arrive At New Hospital

Governor G. Mennen Williams announced Monday that on January 15 the first 25 patients will be received at the new Northville Mental hospital on Seven Mile road. They will be male patients from the Ypsilanti State Mental hospital.

"The main influx of patients will begin as previously announced on March 1," said Dr. Philip N. Brown, medical superintendent of the new hospital. At that time 200 male and female patients will be admitted. One hundred patients, 50 male and 50 female, will arrive from the Ypsilanti hospital while the same number will be brought from the Pontiac Mental hospital.

The Northville hospital will take care of Wayne County patients, for the most part, Dr. Brown stated. After the crowded conditions in the various mental hospitals have been somewhat alleviated by the new hospital, receiving hospital in Detroit will supply most of the patients for the Northville hospital. The slack will occur during the late summer, Dr. Brown estimated.

On January 10, 32 pupils in the driver-training class conducted by Harry B. Smith at Northville High school, will go to Detroit where they will observe proceedings in the Traffic Court.

Change Effective January 10; Cummings Assumes Editorship

After thirteen years of publishing under the Cansfield family name, Mrs. Louise E. Cansfield and Arthur H. Cansfield announce the sale of The Northville Record to two local men, Glenn H. Cummings and N. W. Hopkins. The co-partnership of Mrs. Cansfield and her brother-in-law came into being in October 1948 after the death of Editor William H. Cansfield in July of that year.

Effective January 10, Cummings will assume active direction of the Record as publisher and editor. Hopkins, as co-publisher, will carry on the advertising and public relations agency which the two men operate in Detroit as a partnership under the name Cummings & Hopkins.

Both of the new owners are experienced newspaper men with an active interest in the development of Northville as a progressive community and in the civic affairs of the Village. Cummings has been a Northville property

Village To Acquire Additional Lands

Thomas R. Carrington, chairman of the Northville Planning Commission, presented to the Village Council a proposed alley plan for the North Center street business section.

The Commission at a meeting last Thursday proposed that an alley entrance be made on Wing street between the Geraghty and Beckel properties. They suggested that the Village acquire the Hill property and widen the alley entrance on West Main street. By acquiring the rear of the McKinney property on West Dunlap street, the Commission believes that the alley will be wide enough to allow trucks to unload their merchandise in the rear of the business places, thus alleviating the congested streets. The Commission is going to notify the interested property holders of their intent.

Village Attorney James Littell reported to the Council that contrary to popular belief, the money which has been set aside in the community building fund, actually is in a subdivision of the general fund. At no time, Littell said, has the money ever been received subject to any condition upon its use. It has been proposed that the Village Council consider using the money to finance the public parking program and to reimburse same from additional taxation from the businessmen and the parking meter funds.

Police Chief Joe Denton recommended the hiring of Gil Glasson to the police force, and the Council authorized the hiring of Mr. Glasson, who was a former member of the force.

Village Attorney James Littell was instructed by the Council to draw up an ordinance requiring Villagers to remove the snow and ice from their sidewalks. Mary Alexander, Clerk, was asked to advertise for bids for new snow equipment as the present frame and snow scoop is inadequate. The Council asked Villagers to park their cars off the street so that the snow plows could adequately clean the streets during the present snow falls.

Dr. V. George Chabut, Health Commissioner, was present to tell the Council that the Mobile chest X-ray unit will be in Northville during the week of February 11-18. An organizational meeting will be held January 16 and Commissioner Lee Eaton was appointed to attend that meeting.

Driving Corp. Calls Annual Meeting Fri.

The Northville Driving Corp. has called their annual meeting for January 11 at 8:00 p.m. at the Veterans' Memorial hall.

owner for the past five years. He makes his home at 43525 West Six Mile road while Hopkins' home in Northville township has been located for the past 11 years on Lakeside drive.

Both U. of M. Grads Since graduation from Alma High school in 1917 and the University of Michigan in 1920, the new editor of The Northville Record has worked on newspapers and magazines in Boston, Providence, New York and Detroit. Cummings was manager of the Wall Street Journal's Detroit office for several years prior to entering the public relations field in 1945. At this time he became public consultant to such firms as the Nash-Kelvinator Corporation, Continental Motors Corporation and Lakey Foundry & Machine Company.

Hopkins was raised in Ypsilanti, graduating from Ypsilanti High school in 1914, Michigan State Normal college in 1917 and after 14 months in the U. S. Army, from the University of Michigan in 1921. Following years of experience as a reporter and desk man on The Detroit News and The Detroit Times, he joined the public relations staff of the Campbell-Ewald company. In 1941 he left that company to handle the public relations for Continental Motors corporation and from 1945 to 1949 was advertising manager of that firm. Upon the forming of the Cummings & Hopkins advertising agency in 1949, he resigned from this position.

Asks Village Support "No change in personnel of the local newspaper staff is being planned," the new owners stated, "and business will be carried on according to the usual manner."

Mrs. Cansfield wishes to extend her appreciation and thanks to the members of this community and the Record staff for their cooperation and assistance in the publishing of the newspaper during the 3½ years since the death of the editor. "I hope the Villagers will continue to support the new owners as they work with them toward the development and betterment of our community," she concluded.

The Methodist Wesleyan Service Guild will meet at the home of Mrs. Bert Moshimer on Gardner avenue Tuesday, January 15 at 8:00 p.m.

E. Beard, Vice Pres., Retires from Bank

Edmund S. Beard of East Eight Mile road, member of the Board of Directors and Vice President of the Depositors State Bank for many years, has retired. His retirement becomes effective immediately.

When the Depositors State Bank was organized January 28, 1933, Mr. Beard became a member of the Board and shortly thereafter was elected to the Vice Presidency. He was very interested in the bank's remodeling program last year and contributed many suggestions to its improvement.

Rolling Down The River

by the PETZ BROS.

Would you like to see the most beautiful thing on wheels? Drop around this Studebaker Emporium of ours this Friday or Saturday and we'll have it. The new Studebaker for 1952 makes its bow this week and man oh man it's beautiful. New front end styling, long sweeping lines sheer built in loveliness that makes this the Studebaker you'll want to wrap up and take right home. Something extra this year too — the Studebaker hard-top convertible, so dashing, and sporty, you've got to see this car to believe it possible. There's other changes, too, and once you've got your breath back, we'll be glad to explain them to you — everyone designed to make Studebaker the foremost car in 1952.

Well, three cheers for us, but we're so doggoned thrilled with the '52 Studebaker, we're having a tough time with this column. All we want to do is write Studebaker — Studebaker — Studebaker! Suppose we ought to tell you though, of a conversation we overheard while having the mornings cup of coffee. Couple of fellows seated near us were talking of this and that and one of them asked, "how's things at home?"

"Not too bad," said his friend, "not bad at all! This wife isn't talking to me this week and I'm not in the mood to interrupt her!"

Incidentally, our complaint of the week is the waitress that always manages to wipe the counter with a wet cloth just before we sit down and park our elbows

Being so enthused about this new Studebaker of ours, we're not sure whether we should ask you to bring your car in for a lubrication, an oil change or a motor tune-up, even though we know some of you have put such tasks off too long now, because of the holidays. Personally we'd be happy just to have you drop around and see the amazingly beautiful, powerful Studebaker for '52. Trouble is the boys in the shop are now in the habit of eating regular and would hate to give up the practice. It's their expert servicing of your car that enables them to park a load of vitamins on the table come meal time. Then too, there's a lot of weather and tough driving ahead, so why not drive in and be sure your car is mechanically fit to tackle snow, ice, sleet, rain, deep freeze and January thaw.

That's that, but a friend of ours was complaining of the changing times "A while ago," says he, "whenever a family added another dependent, it practically wiped out the income tax for that year. Now, every time a guy adds an extra dependent the government adds two more dependent nations!" Just impossible it seems, to break even.

Yours,

BILL AND WILL PETZ.

Should Northville Incorporate As A City?

In addition to the much broader powers available to cities incorporated under the Home Rule City Act, such incorporation provides a vehicle for modernizing local government in many ways. One of the important means is that of providing for only a few elective governmental officials and providing for the appointment of those whose duties are purely administrative. The old concept that good, responsible public officials could only be obtained through the election procedure has been proved false in recent years. Experience has shown that the operation of local government is much like that of operating a profit making business concern. A fair comparison is to look upon the members of the commission as the board of directors and charge them with the responsibility and duty of policy making and also with appointing administrative officials directly responsible to the commission. Experience has shown that this type of responsibility is more responsive to public concern and welfare than is the situation when purely administrative officials are elected and need only account for their stewardship every so many years.

Students of the municipal government contend that the following reasons justify the appointment of administrative officials rather than their election.

(1) The citizens of a city give their legislative body the power to make laws and decide issues for the city. Therefore, if the city council has the power to make laws, it should also have the power to employ and supervise the officials who will put these laws into effect. If administrative officials are responsible to the city council for their positions, they will of necessity carry out the orders of the council. If they are elected directly by the people, however, these officials need not cooperate with the city governing body in order to retain their positions.

(2) Contrary to some popular beliefs, this method of appointing administrative officials does not diminish the ultimate control of the citizens. It simply makes it easier for citizens to control governmental affairs, because they need to turn only to one responsible body—the city council. In other words, the citizens need only concentrate on electing a small number of good city councilmen, (usually five or seven), and these councilmen can be held responsible for the activities of all the city departments.

(3) Elected administrative officials very often must learn their jobs after election. An elected city assessor, for example, seldom knows anything at all about city assessment work until he has once been elected to the position of assessor. This is an experience which is greatly minimized when city administrative employees are hired on the basis of their technical qualifications, such employees need waste little or no time on the job learning the duties of the office because they have already been trained for it.

(4) Furthermore, appointed officials are selected on the basis of their qualifications for the job—not on their vote-getting ability. Municipal elections for administrative officers sometimes turn out to be popularity contests, and such a procedure is never in the city's best interests. Any city should have the best assessor, the best accountant, and the best treasurer that training and experience can provide.

(5) Impartiality is an important qualification for administrative employees holding technical positions. It is more difficult for any such official to be completely impartial when his job depends upon a majority vote in an election.

(6) Continuity in office is still another requirement of the important city jobs which go on year after year regardless of the particular city council in office. This necessary continuity can only be assured by making these offices appointive.

(7) Finally, there is no effective method of coordinating the work of a group of independently elected officials, and no one with the power to supervise the work of such elected officials. Each man feels responsible only to those who elected him, not to his fellow workers. The best way to assure cooperative and harmonious working relationships between city administrative officials is to provide that they be appointed, directly or indirectly, by the city governing body.

(8) Two or more part-time positions may be combined to provide a more important, or full-time, job. Admittedly, it does not require city incorporation in order to provide by charter for the appointment of administrative officials. The Michigan Municipal League says:

"The ultimate purpose of any charter should be to permit the various municipal officials in municipal departments to best work together in the interests of the municipality and its body of citizens. Teamwork is as important to a smoothly-running municipal government as it is to a winning baseball team. Therefore, a conscientious charter commission will want to write into its proposed charter a form of government which will encourage the maximum amount of teamwork among officials. The plan of government, described above, has been found to give local officials of either a city or a village a plan of government which makes it as easy as possible for them to cooperate and work together as a team should."

Domestic Workers Defined by Haning

Many people are confused about the meaning of the term "domestic work" as applied to employees under social security, according to Ray V. Haning, manager of the Detroit-Northwest social security office, at 12056 Wyoming, corner of Grand River.

To illustrate his statement, he cites the case of a woman worker. She came in the Detroit-Northwest social security office the other day to ask why her work was not under social security like that of other domestic employees.

It turned out that her work was not "domestic work," and had been under social security right along. She cleaned offices for various professional people on a part-time basis. Her employers had never asked to see her social security card, and had not deducted any tax from her wages. Their failure to do so was not because of bad faith, but simply because they had misinterpreted the meaning of the law. They had not realized that part-time office cleaning is casual labor in the course of the employer's trade or business, and has been covered by social security since the original law went into effect.

On the other hand, "domestic work" which means work performed in a private household, came under social security on January 1, 1951. It includes any kind of labor, inside or outside a house. A cook, laundress, gardener, chauffeur, or any other kind of worker employed by one household employer on at least 24 different days, and paid not less than $50 cash wages in a calendar quarter is in work covered by social security. A "calendar quarter" is a 3-month period beginning January 1, April 1, July 1 or October 1.

Mr. Haning advises domestic workers as well as office cleaners to make certain that they get social security credit by showing their social security cards to their employers. The account number on the card will be copied on the report the employer makes of the worker's wages. If this is done, the worker will get full social security credit for his earnings that are building towards his and his family's old-age survivors insurance protection.

As for the office cleaner who is not a domestic worker, her social security account has been straightened out. The Northwest social security office got in touch with each of her former employers and obtained wage statements from each of them. "I'm sure that she will show her social security card to every new employer from now on," says Mr. Haning.

Bill Lassman Scores a Hit!

Not long ago we received this letter from Mr. Theodore I. Cooper, of the Marsh Engineering Company, Detroit:

"I wish to take the liberty of complimenting the Michigan Bell Telephone Company on the courteous, efficient and co-operative people they have in their employ. I desire to bring particular attention to Bill Lassman, who today was installing telephone service in our building. He has made several suggestions to us regarding our service, arranging of telephones and efficiency, and I know he has gone beyond his expected duties in being most helpful to us. One thing that pleased me greatly was that he carried a little brush and immediately swept up any dirt due to his work when drilling through our cement blocks and wood. He was most cautious about not causing any damage to anything. It gives me great pleasure to write a letter such as this for any man who has the interest in his work above and beyond his ordinary duties."

It's people who make telephone service good!

Mr. Cooper watches Bill Lassman at work.

Villager Joe Kritch, Browns Scout, Gives Baseball Defense, Suggestion

Detroit area scout for the St. Louis Browns, Joe Kritch, who lives on Fairbrook road, has given defense for most of the devices that have been challenged in court and Congress as evils in the base ball world. His winter reading of attacks on the reserve clause, the farm system and other facets of base ball's structure, brought forth the quoted statement's of defense and one corrective measure from Kritch.

The annual draft meeting of the major leagues held in November, is too late, said Kritch. In his opinion, the league should be allowed to draw from the Triple A leagues (Pacific Coast, International and American Association) while the season is in progress.

"That's when they need help," the scout wrote. "If the Tigers had been able to get a shortstop like Bob Morgan of Montreal, last summer, they might have figured in the race."

Dipping into his knowledge of base ball law, Kritch continued: "Any major league club signing a young prospect should be entitled to keep him in its organization while he develops gradually in the minor league chain. But—after a kid has spent a full season in Triple A and the parent club can't use him, I say he should be given a chance somewhere else."

"That's why I mentioned Morgan particularly. He belongs to the Dodgers, who keep him in Montreal because they have Pee Wee Reese to play shortstop. Morgan would make a good man for some other big league club and it isn't fair to hold him in the minors."

Insisting that Morgan is not an exceptional case, Kritch proceeded: "These players resent being held down when they know they have the ability to go up. I've talked with some of them and understand how they feel. A plan such as I have suggested would mean the end of lawsuits against base ball; it would boost attendance by giving the major league teams help when they needed it most."

Kritch knows that compensation for mid-season grabbing of talent would have to be more than nominal. He thought that the Browns or Tigers or Giants, ton road, were dinner guests of relatives in Pontiac last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Smith of Allen, Mich., were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Wolfe on Shadyside avenue New Year's Day.

After spending the Christmas holiday with Mrs. Brock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Wolfe Dr. and Mrs. Donald Brock have returned to their home in Chicago.

Jim McCain of State college, spent the holidays with his parents on Shadyside avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mately of Shadyside were New Year's Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Crane in Detroit.

Mrs. Marietta Wyman of Shadyside avenue visited Mrs. William Greene in Redford New Year's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Wolfe of Shadyside were party guests of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Pankow on West Six Mile road New Year's Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Callan, who for a number of years resided on Hubbard avenue, have sold their home and moved to a cottage near Seven Mile and Farmington roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kochanek and three children from Inkster and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Padot and daughter from Monroe were guests at a belated Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roberts of Mayfield avenue last Sunday.

Mrs. William Griffith of Dearborn is spending the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Stange on Mayfield visiting among friends in the vicinity.

Christian Science Churches
When one earnestly seeks to know God's will, he will be observing the true sense of sacrificial offering as is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, January 13th to be read in all Christian Science churches under the topic "Sacrament."
The Golden Text is from Psalms (24:3,4): "Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart."
Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Matt. 5:6): "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled."

Grandfather, Father Marry Sheldon Williams, Saturday

Grandfather and father of the groom, Rev. R. C. G. Williams and Rev. W. L. Williams, performed the services which united Phyllis Watkins and Sheldon Leslie Williams in marriage on Saturday, January 25. The seven o'clock double ring ceremony was read in the St. Paul's Methodist church, Highland Park.

The father of the bride, Thomas Watkins, escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. White mums and candelabra decorated the church. Soloist George MacDonald sang "The Lord's Prayer," "O Perfect Love" and "I'll Walk Beside You" with the organist providing the accompaniment.

Phyllis is the daughter of the Thomas Watkins of Detroit, and Sheldon's parents are the Rev. and Mrs. W. Leslie Williams of Highland Park, former pastor of the Northville First Methodist church.

The bride carried a colonial bouquet of roses centered with an orchid and wore a bridal gown of chantilly lace over satin. With this she wore a fingertip veil. A gown of American beauty red net and velvet was worn by the maid of honor, Ruth Bartlett, of Highland Park. Doreen Trevaitha and Marion Jones of Detroit, Carolyn Williams, sister of the groom, and Marjorie Norris of Highland Park attended the bride. Their bridesmaid gowns were fashioned of hunter's green net and velvet.

Sheldon asked Warren Docking of Highland Park to serve as his best man. Seating the guests were Eric Carne, Thomas Edwards, Roy Jones and Thomas Watkins, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Williams chose a gown of navy lace for her son's wedding, while the brides' mother wore an ice blue lace gown. Each mother was presented with an orchid to wear for the occasion.

A reception followed for the 300 wedding guests in the church house. Out of town guests were present from Northville, South Lyon, Stevenson, Battle Creek, Bay City, Auburn, Jackson, Cleveland, Ohio, Minneapolis, Minnesota and Windsor, Ontario.

The new Mrs. Williams is a senior student at Wayne university while Sheldon attended Highland Park Junior college before joining the U. S. Navy. He has been stationed in Cuba and returned to Michigan on New Year's Day. He was graduated from Northville High school with the class of 1947.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP NO. 1

Trapp-Brockmiller Pledge Vows In Saturday Ceremony

A princess style gown of eggshell satin over lace worn with a tiara headpiece of braid flowers was chosen by June Elizabeth Trapp for her wedding to Fred Brockmiller, Jr., Saturday, January 5 at St. John's Lutheran church, Northfield township.

Before an altar decorated with candelabra and white carnations, the eight o'clock double ring service was read by Rev. Alfred Mass.

Miss Selma Schnute accompanied soloist Leslie G. Lee as well as playing the traditional organ music. "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Mr. Lee.

June is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Trapp of Six Mile road and the bridegroom's parents are the Fred Brockmiller, Sr. of Milford.

The bride carried a white cascade bouquet of shattered carnations centered with roses. Her long gown was fashioned with a high neckline, and long sleeves which extended to points over her wrists and the full skirt of her gown was accented by inserts of lace. Falling from her tiara was a cathedral length veil.

June asked her sisters, Jean and Jane, and her sister-in-law, Margaret Brockmiller, to attend her. As maid of honor, Jean was attired in a pink gown of nylon over satin styled with a bolero jacket over a strapless gown.

With this she carried a cascade of dark red carnations. The bridesmaid's gowns were fashioned identically in a soft blue and their bouquets were made up of pink carnations. Donna Kay Kimmell of Whitmore Lake, niece of the bride, wore a yellow satin dress with a bertha neckline for her flower girl attire. A miniature colonial bouquet of pink carnations and blue forget-me-nots were carried by Donna Kay. She and Johnnie Brockmiller of Milford, little brother of the groom who served as ring bearer, walked down the aisle together.

Robert Hoffman of Salem acted as the bridegroom's bestman, while the bride's brother, Marvin Trapp of Whitmore Lake, and Donald Kimmell, brother-in-law of the bride, served as ushers.

To accent her grey print silk dress, Mrs. Trapp chose black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Brockmiller, mother of the groom, wore a gown of purple with black accessories. She also was given a corsage of pink carnations.

The 150 guests attended a reception in the church house following the ceremony. Mrs. Donald Kimmell and Mrs. Marvin Trapp, sisters of the bride, and Jean Brockmiller, sister of the groom, assisted at the reception.

When the young couple left for a two week motor trip to Virginia, June wore a purple dress with black accessories and a corsage of roses from her bridal bouquet. They will live in Milford when they return. June is a 1950 graduate of Northville High school and has since worked at the D & C store. Her husband works on the family farm in Milford.

KIRK DOUGLAS IN "DETECTIVE STORY" COMING TO P-A THEATRE JAN. 13-14

"Detective Story" starring Kirk Douglas, Eleanor Parker and William Bendix, will come to the Penniman Allen Theatre Sunday and Monday, January 13 and 14. Strictly adult fare, this is a superior thought provoking drama, one that leaves nothing to be desired on the counts of writing, direction, acting and realism.

Adapted from the stage play of the same name, the story which has several by-plots centers principally around a tough detective with an almost fanatical hatred for all criminals. He's shattered when he finds out that his wife, whom he loves dearly, at one time had been the mistress to a petty racketeer. The story is highly dramatic, pulls no punches and has no happy ending. The picture is studded with fine characterization; Kirk is the ruthless detective; Eleanor is his wife; and William is the warm hearted detective.

The family night feature Wednesday, January 16 is Roy Rogers in "Spoilers of the Plains" and Richard Denning in "Insurance Investigator."

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 17, 18 and 19, Burt Lancaster will star in the technicolor drama, "Ten Tall Men." Suitable for the whole family, "Ten Tall Men" is an action melodrama of the glorified western type, except the characters are Foreign Legionnaires and Arabs. The hero is Burt Lancaster, as a sergeant, and the mood is mostly light and flippant with the heavy action consisting of fighting and horseback riding. The color is especially good in the outdoor scenes and most movie goers will find the picture entertaining.

Turku, Finland
Dec. 10, 1951

After finishing your letter I went to the school and met Esko-Matto. Everyone crowded around because I am the first American boy to come to Turku, and also because I had my tennis shoes with me. (They don't have that kind of shoe here). I went to the advanced algebra class first and then we played basketball. The first time I played, only about five minutes, was I tired when I finished. The next time I played for 15 minutes and didn't do too badly, even making a few baskets. All the boys I met were so nice. After playing, I washed a little (no showers) and we walked home. We got coffee and cake when at home and also two calls from girls asking me to come to a dance which took place Saturday night I didn't feel too good and couldn't finish my dinner. (Too much basketball and I was also wondering about the Souna).

After resting for half an hour I went with Esko-Matto and another friend to the Souna.

It is a small room in their garage which has a stove for heating rocks, a tank for heating water and a platform about three feet from the floor. They first heat the rocks, put the fire out and then we climb on the platform. By turning a knob a little water is put on the rocks. This makes steam but not so much that you can't see. When it gets hot enough they take some branches and whip themselves. This makes you hotter yet. When you think you've had enough of that you climb down and scrub yourself with soap and water using a stiff brush, or something like a sponge. You then take a warm shower, step into another room to dry yourself and put on a robe. Then we walked over the inch of snow on the ground in bare feet, to the house. Although I didn't feel good before I went in, I felt wonderful afterwards.

Saturday I got up at 6:45 and after breakfast we met two other boys and walked to school in the dark. They had gym first but instead we carried a piano to the top floor. It took six of us 45 minutes because one boy could play and on every floor we would rest while he entertained us. We next went to an English class and then they had to take some tests so I couldn't stay. So I met Mrs. Harkke and we did the shopping. That evening we went to her daughter's school for a program and dance. All the girls wanted to dance with an American so I got plenty of dancing that night. Sunday we went to the cathedral for church. The service is very different. First of all it lasts two hours. The minister stands at the front and sings and the people answer in song. They take the collection by using a long stick with a bag on the end. The minister then comes down to the middle of the church and enters sort of a pulpit to preach. After the service the couple in front of us went to the altar to be married. We watched for a while and then left. That evening we had fun teaching each other party tricks and I tuned an instrument something like a harp but you hold it on your knees and pluck it. We had fun singing together.

December 11, I went to a pottery factory and saw a man take a glob of clay and form it into a vase. I then put my name on it and when done they will send it to me. Before I left, the girl who showed me around, gave me a vase and also a clay doll.

Wednesday, I went to an architect's office and saw maps of the city of Turku. He has to plan the new roads and see that the new buildings are in the right spot. We then saw a ten-story apartment house that he designed. On Thursday the president of the Rotary took me to his plant just outside the town where ribbons, suspenders, etc. are made. During my trip through the plant they showed the machines and showed me just how they worked. They did this because I told them I was wanting to become a mechanical engineer. Later I had dinner with the president in his home. They were very fine people.

That evening I went to Mr. Jaaskelainen's house for dinner. The mother had just bought a swarm of bees from a friend and so we had much to talk about. She didn't know anything about bees. Later their daughter, my age, took me to a show.

While eating breakfast the other morning, Mr. Harkke showed me an article on the front page of their paper about the cold weather in the U.S.A. While he was telling about it, the sun came out and shone on my face. There was no snow on the ground and they have some rose bushes which had a bloom on them. It seemed so funny.

On Friday we went to town and called on Rev. John Linberg. He was glad to see me and also very thankful. He seemed very funny to me because he couldn't speak Finnish, only English and Swedish. He only has 50 people in his congregation. Most of the people of Turku are Lutheran (over 90 percent) and the Methodists have a hard time. I was glad that our Northville church had helped them after the war.

These folks plan to take me north to see some snow and also they are planning a trip to Helsinki for me. So I will be quite busy these last few days in Finland.

While eating breakfast the other morning, Mr. Harkke showed me an article on the front page of their paper about the cold weather in the U.S.A. While he was telling about it, the sun came out and shone on my face. There was no snow on the ground and they have some rose bushes which had a bloom on them. It seemed so funny.

On Friday we went to town and called on Rev. John Linberg. He was glad to see me and also very thankful. He seemed very funny to me because he couldn't speak Finnish, only English and Swedish. He only has 50 people in his congregation. Most of the people of Turku are Lutheran (over 90 percent) and the Methodists have a hard time. I was glad that our Northville church had helped them after the war.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

NON-PARTISAN NEWS LETTER

Did you know that the average Michigan resident is 29 years old? That means he has never known a Republican administration, that he was 10 years old when Franklin Delano Roosevelt took office. The federal government recently published the census bureau's breakdown.

Among other things, it says that 41 percent of the Michigan residents work in manufacturing plants and 71 percent of us live in villages and cities.

Just full of percentages, it further states that there are 53 percent more children in Michigan than there were 10 years ago. Also, there are more colored folks living in the state. They now represent seven percent of Michigan's population. That means the percentage has doubled in the last 10 years, bringing the total to 452,000 Negroes.

Seven percent of our people—106,000—live with relatives. The housing problem has not been solved, all the reports notwithstanding.

The number of government employees in Michigan has increased over 10 years from 133,000 to 199,000.

Twenty-nine percent of Michigan residents make $2,000 a year, 20 percent make more than $5,000, and the rest average $3,532.

And nearly a quarter of a million persons are housed in institutions or can't work.

The employment picture in Michigan still is gloomy. The unemployment security commission says 120,000 persons were unemployed in Detroit December 15, and "the full impact of present lay-offs has not struck the commission yet."

Governor G. Mennen Williams will recommend to the 1952 legislature a $10,000,000, construction program for the University of Michigan and state colleges. At the same time, Williams has revealed he will recommend an increase of $5,018,232 in operating funds for colleges and universities.

The eyes of the state were on Saginaw. The city which sought the answer to its tax problems has been answered. Its 1 percent local income tax has been declared unconstitutional.

A circuit court says Saginaw overstepped its authority in levying it. Other cities throughout the state waited prudently while this test case was checked. A local income tax would have been the answer for many other communities, too.

Rep. Joseph E. Warner says Michigan can overcome its $41,000,000 deficit if it goes out of the liquor business. Warner,
