Rolling Down The River
 by the PETZ BROS.

Now if you should happen to be listening, with a good ear, you'll detect a slight tinge of politics in the air, these days. As a matter of fact some people get right up in meetings and talk, with slight prodding and sometimes with none at all, but the only trouble with these talkers is, they all happen to be candidates for something or other and science has not as yet perfected a silencer for a candidate for anything.

Fellow in the garage for a bit of a tune-up, tells us he hears a young fellow giving forth on politics at a rural town hall while on his vacation. The facts of the speech widely separated and the whole talk was very rambling and loosely coordinated. When he was through, our friend overheard an old farmer say, "look, son, it strikes me that you ought to bale that hay, before you sell it!"

It just so happens that such an item is one of the big selling points of this fine Studebaker we handle... perfect co-ordination. The whole car is in tune... from its streamlined beauty, to its amazing powerplant under the hood. Speed, power, comfort, economy, all wrapped up in one beautiful to look at package. If you haven't driven the Studebaker yet, you've missed the thrill of a lifetime. Why not drop around for a demonstration. If you have a good story, bring it with you.

We're not given to rubbing elbows with the wealthy. As a matter of fact, we're usually one of the many that stand back and wonder how they got it. But last week, in walks a character that has money written all over him. He wants to buy a couple of our finer motor cars, for his son and daughter and during the process tells us of his turning farmer and the many acres of territory he purchases, complete with chickens, cows and other accessories. "Wonderful", we say, "and do all the cows give milk?"

"Yeah, they do", he answers, and with a slight shrug adds "of course, in my position, they really don't have to"

Well, hurray for the cows, not having to work. We've got a flock of mechanics around and about, that the more they work, the better they get and at this moment are wondering what happened to you. You're back from your vacation, but haven't brought the car in for a lubrication and a bit of motor check-up. Better do it soon, or you'll be as hungry as they are... from all that exercise you'll get walking from here to there when the car decides to call it quits.

That's that, but did we ever tell you of the ancient proverb that goes: "man that admits he's wrong when he is wrong is wise... man that admits he's wrong when he's right... is married."

Yours,
BILL and WILL PETZ.

Michigan Mirror:
Newspapers Join Other Agencies in Attempt to Cut Down Traffic Deaths

by Gene Alleman

The editor of The Northville Record doesn't like to write obituaries for traffic victims.

Last year he and his colleagues on Michigan's 400 daily and weekly newspapers had to write death notices for 1,640 persons who died on the highways and streets of our state.

They had to write about 48,418 people who were hurt in auto accidents—many of them permanently crippled. They had to report on 176,587 traffic accidents in '51.

Those aren't just statistics; they are people. Some of them are friends and relatives of Michigan editors. Some are friends and relatives of yours.

So that they won't have to cover so many funerals of highway victims—and also so they and their readers are spared the grief that every such needless death brings, Michigan editors are uniting to turn the full force of the press toward arousing their readers and fellow-citizens to the tragedy that rides in our autos.

In regional conferences throughout the state in the next few weeks, editors will discuss the solution to the problem.

That solution, simply is this: Bring all the facts to the public. An informed public opinion can be counted on to push through the necessary changes in attitudes and laws.

Basis of the press program is "a report by Michigan people to Michigan people on how to check mounting highway injuries and deaths."

That's the subtitle of the report by the first Michigan Highway Safety Seminar held on Michigan State campus last spring. The report was unveiled yesterday at a meeting of the Michigan State Safety Commission called by Fred M. Alger, Jr., secretary of state and commission chairman.

Michigan editors are just one group of 100 different organizations that are joining forces to battle the appalling increase in death, injury and loss that mar our streets and roads.

Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State College, was seminar chairman. General Motors, the Gas & Oil Association of Michigan, the Michigan Automobile Club and the Michigan Press Association were just a few of the organizations which took an active part in the seminar.

All of these organizations, representing every type of industry, commerce and profession in Michigan, realizes that only the public can make highways safer.

The attitude of Mr. and Mrs. Michigan and their sons and daughters spells the difference between carnage and safety on our roads.

"Those darn cops are always trying to stick somebody on a speeding charge. Why don't they go out and catch crooks instead of picking on an honest citizen?" Speeder Kills School Child.

All those headlines are taken from Michigan newspapers. You have undoubtedly heard enough of the comments to realize that they're accurate, too.

Until Michigan wakes up to the grim toll of highway tragedies, until Michigan realizes it isn't smart, or socially accepted, to violate traffic laws, highway deaths will outnumber those of any battlefield.

It's to wake up his readers, to mobilize public opinion to wipe out unsound and unsafe laws, practices and public acceptance that your editor and his fellow newspapermen are embarking on an intensive campaign to make streets and roads of Michigan safer for you, and his readers.

FESTIVAL QUEENS

One of the more decorative aspects of the Lansing scene are the "queens" of various Michigan festivals who call to pay their respects at the Capitol. One of the most charming is Diane Coval who reigned over the Romeo Peach Festival this weekend.

She passes out the information that peach trees, like field crops, have to be rotated. Apple trees are the alternate crop. Peach trees last 8 to 10 years, bear after the first 2 years. Apple trees last twice as long which makes rotation a problem.

The annual average crop in Queen Diane's kingdom is 20 to 30,000 bushels.

If you read your whodunits in paper-backed volumes, you've been nicked an extra penny sales tax recently.

Because magazines and newspapers are exempt from Michigan sales tax and because the pocket books are handled by news firms, dealers didn't collect the tax until very recently.

"We don't know why the sudden change," says a Department of Revenue spokesman. "Such books have always been taxable and we assume that the dealers have been absorbing the tax in the past."

Trade associations say they haven't bulletined their members about charging the tax. They think the movement has been spontaneous.

"Our auditors may have spotted the situation in a regular checkup," says the revenue department. "The grapevine usually spreads such news mighty fast."

Whatever the cause, it costs a penny more these days to find out that it was the butler who scragged Sir Geoffrey Peffry Begherry in the manorial mystery.

"Well Built Wrecks" Teach Rescue Operations in Simulated Bombed Area

The "five best-built wrecks in America" went into service at Olney, Md. Aug. 25 with the opening of a series of two-week courses in disaster rescue operations.

Representing a bombed community, "Disaster Street" consists of a typical two-story frame dwelling, a two-apartment duplex brick home, five-story office building, multi-story brick apartment house and a community theatre with adjoining stores and offices.

Each rescue course will be attended by approximately 30 persons from all parts of the United States—firemen, plant safety engineers and others who later will act as instructors in their own communities. Two women are enrolled in the first course, although it is primarily for men. Very few women, FCDA instructors believe, would be physically able to do the crawling, climbing and lifting required.

Dealer Maintains Steel Strike Won't Curtail Building

Home building and other light construction in Northville, will not be seriously curtailed by the predicted shortage of steel resulting from the prolonged strike in the steel mills, according to Harold Church, of the Nowels Lumber & Coal Co., local lumber and building materials dealer, and member of the Public Affairs Committee of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

"Any scarcity of steel will be offset by increased supplies of copper and aluminum and by the use of lumber to replace structural steel," Mr. Church said.

Inventories Ample
"Inventories of building materials are ample at the present time, and virtually all building products are selling below OPS ceiling prices."

"The only serious obstacle to a larger volume of residential and commercial construction is the refusal of the Federal government to remove restrictions on real estate credit, including down payments, although consumer credit has been completely decontrolled in all other fields."

"It is possible that some household appliances containing important quantities of steel may become temporarily scarce, but they are not installed until new homes are completed and by that time production should be back to normal."

"The government already has revised its housing and construction regulations so as to increase the allowances of copper and aluminum needed for plumbing and heating purposes. Allotments may be increased still further in the near future."

"I never cease to marvel..."

writes Mrs. Mabel Sykes of Lansing

Dear Friends:

When I started to write a check for my bill this month, I couldn't help but think how much service it represented.

Friends in Grand Rapids were moving to New Jersey. A call to them made it possible to make arrangements for them to stop here on their way.

I received word that a sister was very ill out in Iowa. Just by lifting my receiver and giving a number in Cedar Rapids, I was in touch with home and assurance that all was coming along fine.

I never cease to marvel how easily we call across the country now without even a wait for the call to go through.

I am not unmindful of the multitude of people who make this service possible, and I wish it were possible to say "thank you" to each one of them.

Sincerely yours,
Mabel Sykes

KEEPING PACE WITH MICHIGAN

Michigan's phenomenal growth and industrial expansion during the 36 years since this organization was founded, have astonished the entire world.

Detroit's population has grown from 1/4 of a million to 3 1/2 million in the metropolitan area — an increase of 433 per cent. Other Michigan cities have expanded to a comparable extent.

Providing this rapidly increasing city population with an adequate supply of the most perishable of all foods—pure, fresh milk—has posed difficult problems. To solve them called for intelligent, far-sighted planning by men who understood every phase of the complex milk supply problem, all the way from the cow to the door-step.

The Michigan Milk Producers Association never has failed in its obligations to both the consuming public and the producing farmer. It has constantly anticipated future needs of both and met them unflinchingly on every occasion.

More than 16,000 dairy farmers working together through their cooperative organization have kept pace with fast-growing Michigan. Today, as always in the past, this Association is carefully planning for the future by stimulating production of highest quality milk by its members and providing the plants and transport equipment to guarantee delivery of an ample supply, handled in the most sanitary method, at all seasons of the year.

SPECIFICATIONS

Upon completion, 28 days after August 18th, we suggest some cores be drilled from the curb and gutter and tested. We also delivered two cores, one for a 7 day test and one for a 28 day test, to the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory.

The supplier thinks that this concrete will test about 3,000 pounds and if so, there is $1.60 per cu. yds. differential between this and 4,000 pound concrete.

Very truly yours,
GEORGE JEROME & CO.
