Election of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as President of the United States by an overwhelming majority of the greatest number of Americans who ever took part in a national poll marked the ebb of the great political tide that swept the Democratic Party into power in 1932.

Looking backward after twenty years at the campaign which swept Mr. Roosevelt into office in 1932, it is pretty plain, that his victory then was the result of widespread dissatisfaction with the state of the country. Probably there was very little that Mr. Roosevelt could have done to have lost that election, or nothing much that Mr. Hoover could have done toward winning it.

Similarly, the vote that has swept Gen. Eisenhower into office reflected the deep-running sweep of the tide against the Fair Deal type of Government which the Truman administration has given the country. The campaign that is now ended brought forth many arguments pro and con about policies which have been followed by the Democrats and those which the Republicans would follow if elected. Post-mortems will debate the relative effect of Korea, Communism, corruption, Taft-Hartley, and tide-lands oil on the final vote. They will discuss the appeal of Eisenhower the plain man versus Stevenson the philosopher, the influence of television in determining the way voters reacted to the candidates, and many other considerations.

These individual factors have been important, of course, in influencing individual voters. And in the aggregate, they have formed the basis upon which the huge Eisenhower plurality was built.

But it seems to us that the one basic fact which stands out above all others is that Eisenhower has been swept into office by a tide of sentiment which has been growing since the Roosevelt Administration reached the peak of its popularity in 1936.

That year also marked the beginning of the ebb, for in each succeeding Presidential election there have been fewer voters who turned out for the New Deal-Fair Deal program. Whether or not Mr. Dewey could have won in 1948 if he had waged a more aggressive campaign is a subject that will be debated by historians for many years.

It has been plain for many months that there has been a great political ferment throughout the United States; more fundamental and far-reaching than anything the country has seen since 1932. Whether it was widespread enough to cast the Democratic Party out of power, however, was something that could not be predicted until millions of Americans went to the polls last Tuesday.

Now that the vote is in, it is evident that the great majority of American voters had become dissatisfied with the way their Government was being run, and that they wanted a change. Gen. Eisenhower's victory is at once evidence that the policies he stands for have carried him into the highest office in the power of the Americans to bestow, and a challenge to so direct his Administration that it will justify the high hopes of those who have elected him. That Gen. Eisenhower is fully aware of the great problems that will confront him during the next four years was indicated by his statement before the votes had been tallied that the campaign "has irrevocably removed complacency from Government" and that, "win, lose or draw, the main job ahead is to try to produce a better America for the coming years."

All Americans, whether Republicans or Democrats, should join in wishing him every success in undertaking to cope with the many problems that he will face.

What Will Happen Under An Eisenhower Administration?

What will happen to business and Government, now that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has been elected President by an overwhelming majority?

These questions will be uppermost in the minds of millions of Americans who have become accustomed over the past 20 years to planning their lives under a New Deal-Fair Deal Government. On the day before the election the Wall Street Journal, which generally reflects a rather conservative businessman's viewpoint, attempted to analyze the outlook under an Eisenhower Administration for its readers. It predicted:

"An upheaval in personnel, a revolution in attitude, adding up to one sure thing: Uncertainty." This, for some time to come, will describe the Government with Eisenhower as President, the Journal said. "And, to the extent that Government influences the economy, there will be uncertainty in business too," it said. The article adds:

"If that sounds like a somewhat ominous outlook, the businessman (and the individual taxpayer as well) can take comfort that the direction of change will be conservative (at least as compared with the New Deal-Fair Deal. Republican rule will not—cannot—descend like a hurricane uprooting present-day Federal programs, but it can breathe into this beehive of bureaucracy a new approach to the role of Government in the citizen's life and in the economy.

"That approach would be characterized by distrust of much detailed Government regulation and by less reliance on Government to do, at the drop of a bureaucrat's hat, anything private business seems unwilling to do.

The Attack on Inflation "Much of the turmoil and doubt would result from a concerted attack on the problems of expanding Government and inflation. An Eisenhower Administration, moreover, would be heavily populated with businessmen, its attitude towards business more sympathetic than has been the case in recent years. Finally, the effects would come gradually

American Legionnaires look over the location of their Veterans Memorial Plot in Rural Hill Cemetery, to which proceeds of their Armistice Day Breakfast Nov. 11 will go. ## Dinner Will Mark Education Week

As part of the program of National Education Week, the annual Community, School and Church night will be observed Sunday evening, Nov. 9, at the First Presbyterian Church house.

DR. ROSS MILLER

Sponsored alternately each year by the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, the program and entertaining this year are under the direction of the Board of Deacons and the Couples Club of the Presbyterian Church.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Ross Miller, Dean of the Chapel at Alma College, Alma, Mich. Dr. Miller is the head of the department of Religion and an instructor in the department of psychology. He holds a Ph.D. degree from the University of Edinburgh, Scotland and formerly taught at Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio.

A fellowship supper will be held at 6:30 p.m. for the teachers and members of the community. The hosts will bring the table service for the members of the elementary and high school faculties.

Following the dinner, Eural Clark, president of the board of education, will greet the group and Russell H. Amerman, school superintendent, will introduce the teachers. Pastors of the Northville churches will be invited to participate in the program.

Mothers' Club Plans Business Session Mon.

Members of the Northville Mothers' Club will meet Monday, Nov. 10 at 8:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Ely, 247 West St. for their regular business session. Co-hostesses for the affair will be Mrs. Robert Lyke and Mrs. Richard Ambler.

Breakfast Profits Slated for Veterans Memorial

Proceeds from the annual Armistice Day breakfast, Nov. 11, will go toward a permanent memorial for veterans in Northville.

The breakfast is held every year by the Lloyd H. Green Post 147 of the American Legion, and features pancakes, sausage and coffee served from 5:30 a.m. until villagers stop coming. It's held at the Veterans' Memorial Hall at the corner of Dunlap and Center streets. There is no flat charge. Worth of the breakfast is left up to the customers, who donate as they please.

The profits of the breakfast will go toward supporting the new Veterans Memorial Plot in the south end of Rural Hill Cemetery, a permanent resting place for all veterans who will be buried there.

The plot isn't finished yet. It has been leveled and filled in and prepared for grass in the spring and the erection of a flagpole and a permanent marker some day, when funds become available.

The plot is approximately a hundred by two hundred feet. It was given by the village a few months ago after a lot of research and hard work by Commissioners Claude Ely and A. Malcolm Allen.

The original idea was conceived by Mr. Ely and Legionnaire Charles Schoultz some time ago.

Mr. Allen, who is also the Rural Hill Cemetery Association superintendent, has overseen planning, arranging for fill dirt—52 loads of it—and leveling.

Top soil will be added, and crushed stone walks will crisscross the plot and it's expected to be a beautiful place when it's done.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars are working with the Legion on the plot, said Legion Commander Con Springer.

"We're hoping for a good turnout at the breakfast," Mr. Springer said.

"The breakfast is a tradition with the Legion, even though we often don't make any money. We'd like to realize a profit this year so we can add it to proceeds from our feather party and other projects and accumulate enough funds to keep going on the Veterans' Plot."

Although a limited amount of tickets will be sold at the door, patrons are urged to get them beforehand from Mrs. Norman Witt, phone 844-R or Mrs. Fred Heidt, Jr. of Plymouth.

Mrs. Roy VanAfta has charge of the dining room again this year assisted by Mrs. Vern Newton.

An annual treat is in store for the villagers in the form of the turkey dinner given tonight by the St. Paul's Lutheran Church in the Parish Hall. The family style meal will be served from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m.

Although a limited amount of tickets will be sold at the door, patrons are urged to get them beforehand from Mrs. Norman Witt, phone 844-R or Mrs. Fred Heidt, Jr. of Plymouth.

Rotarians Sponsor Hallowe'en Party at State Hospital

The inmates at the Northville State Hospital on Seven Mile Rd. had a good Hallowe'en party last Thursday night.

They gathered in the big cafeteria of the hospital in masks and costumes and played games for a while before dancing and refreshments.

The party was the result of co-operation between the Northville Rotary Club and Dr. Philip Brown, medical supervisor at the hospital and a member of the club.

The club furnished masks, noisemakers, candy and other refreshments for the party. The hospital furnished cider and apples.

Most enjoyable part of the party, however, was the music played by a three-piece band which has become familiar to villagers—the western style music of Jim Hollis, Robert Wilson and Glenn Schoultz. The boys were asked by Harry B. Smith to play—without pay—and they said they'd be happy to help.

Easier Removal of Snow Considered

Northville's village commissioners took a look toward the snow season at their meeting Monday night and wondered if anything could be done to ease the lot of Streets Superintendent Herman Hartner, Jr. and his crew of village workers.

Discussion centered principally around the possibility of getting villagers to park their cars in driveways or garages rather than at curbsides so that snow removal could be facilitated.

Commissioners Claude Ely and John Stubenvoll turned to Mr. Hartner for his opinion of how much difficulty is actually involved when the snow flies. The superintendent pointed out that his crews get out early in the morning to clear the streets when snow falls, but must work around parked cars, often forcing even more snow close to the wheels of cars as the scrapers go around.

"The real difficulty," he said, "is that this snow melts and freezes again, leaving a hard ragged surface, that is very hard on village equipment when an attempt is made to scrape it loose."

The commissioners agreed to consider the problem and try to come up with some answers at their next meeting.

Ike, Alger, Potter Win Student Vote

The Republicans won by a landslide in a mock election held Friday at Northville High School.

A total of 530 seventh through twelfth graders were registered as eligible voters with a total of 451 votes cast at the election which represented 86% of the high school enrollment.

Tabulators reported that 74 ballots were spoiled and 7% were incorrectly marked, which, of course, had to be discarded in keeping with national regulations.

Gen. Eisenhower led the voting with 302 votes to 112 for Stevenson and Fred N. Alger defeated Gov. Williams 246 to 157. Two votes were cast for the Socialist Worker Party and the Prohibition Party received one vote which indicates some individualism.

The realistic election which was carried out by the efforts of Mr. Mollema's American Government Class was designed to familiarize students with the basic voting procedures. Eligible voters were registered through door-to-door canvassing and deposited their ballots in a locked box, all very legal.

Gen. Eisenhower, Fred M. Alger and Senator Potter were the winners Wednesday according to election results by the fourth, fifth and sixth graders who just wouldn't be outdone by a high school election.

Record 82.5% Vote Cast In Northville Township

In the largest turnout of voters in its history, Northville Township stayed Republican by a margin of slightly less than 2 to 1 in the general election Tuesday. The 2,651 voters who went to the polls in two precincts represented 82.5 percent of the total on the registration list of 3,212.

Novi Township in Oakland County, also Republican by about the same margin, broke voting records there when 1,690 of the approximately 2,300 registered voters cast ballots. Clerk Earl Banks said that about 600 more votes were cast than ever before.

At press time, totals on the three proposals on the referendum ballot were not available, but the national and state totals for Northville Township were:

Simple Procedure of Giving Blood Outlined for Benefit of New Donors

Donating blood is a very simple process. Any old veteran who has shown up at the mobile Bloodmobile headquarters ten, twenty and thirty times since the big drive began during World War II could tell the novice donor how simple the process really is.

The Bloodmobile will be in Northville for its third visit this year on Dec. 5, probably at the First Methodist Church house, where it has been stationed in the past.

Supply Here Is Low

Blood is especially needed from donors in the Northville area this time, according to chairmen and workers in the drive. The supply in the bank for Northville is dangerously low, and more blood is needed for overseas use of Korean service forces.

For the benefit of those who may be planning to give their first pint of blood, the following outline of procedure is given here:

The whole process takes only twenty or thirty minutes of the donor's time, and this usually includes waiting to be registered.

At registration, a worker takes information such as name, address, age, occupation and other such data.

Medical Information

After a short wait, a registered nurse takes the donor's blood pressure, temperature and other essential medical information. A small sample of blood is then taken and checked by the nurse. All this is to insure that the donor's blood is acceptable and a precaution against taking blood from a person who might not be in good enough physical condition to warrant giving.

The donor is then given a glass of orange juice, which provides additional fluid for the system, and is escorted to a donor table. A doctor or registered nurse injects a small amount of novocaine in the forearm to insure painless entry of the needle to the vein. A nurse stands by as the precious fluid flows into a specially prepared bottle. In a few minutes, ten at most, the whole act is over.

Light refreshments, usually tea or coffee and cookies are then served to the donor while he rests for a few minutes. Then the donor is free to go, with what previous donors call "a kind of glow inside that makes him feel good all over. He has voluntarily given a pint of blood that will help save a human life on the battlefield or in some hospital here at home."

Prospective donors in the Dec. 5 drive should telephone Northville 284 between 8 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. for an appointment.

Green Thumb: by Paul Newton

November always brings the problem of protecting plants for the winter. They must be covered not as protection against the cold, but to keep them cold so alternate freezing and thawing weather will not heave the earth and create air pockets around the roots.

Plants and shrubs must be dormant before winter covering is applied. If they are covered too early, before growth stops, injury or death may result. Weather is the important factor in determining when to cover. Cold, bright, dry weather induces a gradual let-up in growth, while wet mild weather stimulates growth. This year the early light frosts put a stop to growth.

Cover Roses Now

Roses can be mounded with dirt now, and as soon as the ground is frozen an inch it can be covered with straw to prevent the thawing and freezing that usually occurs during winter weather. Oak leaves make an even better covering as they have a tendency to curl and do not mat down.

Evergreens should be kept very wet now before freezing weather. This helps to prevent the sun and wind burn which come from rapid evaporation during winter early spring thaws.

Trunks of newly planted trees may be wrapped with burlap, or the paper which is sold for this purpose, to conserve moisture and prevent sun scald (splitting of the bark due to warm sun followed by heavy freezing). Shading plants from winter sun is more important than protecting them from cold.

Remove Leaves From Lawn

Do not allow a heavy coating of leaves to remain on the lawn. Rake them instead, and apply as a mulch under evergreens and in spots where the soil is hard and dry. In the spring they can be worked into the soil as humus. Leaves not needed for mulching should be added to the compost pile instead of burned, as so many persons do.

Since root activity in the soil continues after the tops become dormant until the ground is frozen, fall is the best time for transplanting trees and shrubs, especially if they are moved with a ball of soil around roots. Exceptions to this rule are birch, beech and magnolia (tulip trees), which are best transplanted in the spring. Even this late, most other shrubs will transplant well if they are kept watered and mulched with leaves and straw to prevent the earliest freezing from reaching the roots until December.

Bulbs May Be Planted Now

Hardy bulbs also can be planted in November. They may flower a little later in the spring and have shorter stems but they will make up for that the following year. There is plenty of time for tulips. Also include some Dutch iris, which may not make much of a showing in the garden but are excellent for flower arrangements. Coming after the tulips, they lengthen the bulb season. And if you have a protected corner that has a southern exposure, it is not too late to plant daffodils, crocus and snowdrops. They will start your bulb season two weeks earlier next spring.

Killed Dog

To the person driving on 10800 7 Mile West, on Sunday night or early morning: please be very proud of his or her driving. They killed a little blond dog. To them it was nothing as they drove on and didn't even remove it from the road.

I wonder if it would have made any difference if it had been a child. I don't think so. That little dog belonged to a boy who had polio six years ago. That perhaps don't mean anything to that person either.

But I'd like to have them see the little boy going out to school when he found his little dog.

If they have a child or little dog of their own perhaps they will drive with a little more care from now on.

Lackland, situated near San Antonio, is the world's largest air force base, site of Air Force basic training, for men and women, headquarters of the Human Resource Research Center, and home of AF's Officer candidate school.

His basic training is preparing him for entrance into Air Force technical training and for assignment in specialized work. The course includes a scientific evaluation of his aptitude and inclination for following a particular vocation and career.

Telegraph Key Is Basic Idea for Band Instrument

The latest innovation in the Wayne University 120-piece marching band is an electrically operated set of chimes.

The instrument, known as a Uno-Pone, works on the same principle as a telegraph key, with two heavy duty truck batteries supplying the current. Activated by a piano-type keyboard, electricity is sent through a relay board to individual telegraph key switches which in turn start little mallets working on any of the 48 metal bars.

The set, manufactured by a musical instrument firm in Chicago and an Adrian electrical company, was owned by a telegraph operator who kept it in good working order. Graham T. Overgard, professor of music education at Wayne, first noticed it while watching a parade in Cadillac and was so intrigued that he rode along on the truck on which it was mounted to watch it operate.

Interested further by its compactness and mobility, he made arrangements to purchase it for the Wayne band. With the aid of Ray Betcher, of Wayne's Engineering Research Institute, Overgard redesigned the instrument to fit a small metal wagon. Played by one man and pulled by another, it can now be seen wherever the Wayne band makes an appearance.

"The chimes are very effective both individually and with the band," Overgard stated. "They are particularly nice to have now with the Christmas season so near."

Military Service Qualifies Veterans for Social Security

One of the 1952 changes in the social security law provides that active military service at any time from Sept. 16, 1940, through Dec. 31, 1953, is now covered by social security according to Harry Baituck, manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security office, 14600 Grand River Ave., corner of Hubbell. Prior to the passage of the 1952 amendments, no service after July 1947 was covered.

The new law gives the same protection to armed service personnel serving since the close of World War II as the World War I veteran was given in 1950. This means that for each month of military service, an individual can be credited with $160 in wages toward an insured status under social security.

There is nothing for the living veteran to do at this time to receive these credits. Wage records are adjusted as claims are filed.

Survivors of deceased servicemen, however, should inquire at the Northwest social security office immediately. The serviceman or woman may have died insured even though he never had a social security account number or ever worked in civilian employment. If he had about 1 1/2 years military service at any time from Sept. 16, 1940, and before his death, it may be possible to pay social security benefits to his survivors.

A Social Security representative is at the Plymouth Post Office the second and fourth Thursdays of each month from 9:00 a. m. to 12 noon to offer assistance and information under the provisions of the Social Security program.

WHERE WILL IT END?

Never before have Michigan fields and forests seen such invasions of hunters. Never before have our lakes and streams been so whipped with the cast of fishing lines. Each year brings a big jump in the sale of fishing and hunting licenses. Where will it end, and what effect will it have on fishing and hunting in Michigan Outdoors?

The answer, according to the experts, is less fish and game per person, while the total take remains about the same. This, however, presents a few problems in game and fish management. Naturally you might expect that 100 fishermen on a given lake will take twice as many fish as 50, providing their abilities are about equal, and the supply of fish remains adequate.

Supply Unstable

Eventually, however, the harvest will level off to a point where each of the anglers will have to be content with a smaller catch, because the supply is definitely not inexhaustible. The same will be true in the hunting field, and it is possible that before too many moons have passed we will have to take stock of the situation and reduce our bag limits on some fish and game.

There's certainly no cause for alarm, nor should there be any great regret among true sportsmen when and if this happens. In the final analysis the meat we bring home is far less important than the wholesome, healthful experience of finding relaxation in Michigan Outdoors.

New Horizons

The process of making a living in modern America is a hectic one, draining energy at a high rate from the average man. If he's a sportsman he's discovered relief from the pressures of everyday life in his contact with the outdoors. He knows that a day on his favorite lake, or afield with dog and gun, erases the worries that beset him—strengthens him to do a better job in life. New horizons appear. New appreciations of nature at work baffle the petty annoyances of the workaday world.

No man ever spent a day fishing or hunting but what he was the better for it. And the killing of fish or game has little or nothing to do with this effect. So, in the years to come if we face the possibility of fewer fish in the creel—maybe one pheasant a day instead of two for the hunter, it isn't going to hurt most of us. We'll still have all of Michigan Outdoors—and there's plenty of that to go around!

He Even Hates to Stop for Lunch!

Put a man behind the wheel of a Golden Anniversary Cadillac—point it to a destination, some hundreds of miles away—and try to stop him!

And small wonder! In all the world, there is no finer relaxation for a work-weary man than a day's drive at the wheel of a Cadillac.

Try it sometime, and see for yourself. The moment you slip into the driver's seat, you'll sense that something extraordinary is about to happen to you.

The car has a "feel" to it—even when it isn't in motion. You sit right. The wheel falls naturally into your hands. You look out through the big curved windshield—over the beautiful hood and into the distance—and you know that "this is it!"

And then you turn the key and the great engine whispers into action—and the day's fun begins.

First, there's the silence—only the sound of the wind —and the occasional tick-tick of the electric clock.

And then there's the comfort—the easy, soft, steady ride over almost any type of road.

And next, the handling ease! The steering wheel moves with the weight of the hand. There is remarkable steadiness on straightaway and curves. And the brakes give added confidence each time you touch the pedal.

So the miles go by and the miles go by. Towns and villages appear and disappear.

"What's that? It's time for lunch?"

"Okay—but let's make it something quick and easy. We'll have a big dinner tonight."

Don't you think you'd like to own the car that can make a journey such a great delight?

If so—come in and see us—any time.

How to Store POTATOES For Winter

Keep in dark, moderately cool place, where it is moist but not wet, well-ventilated but not drafty. Although potatoes in a longer and sprout less if kept at 40 to 45 degrees F., they have a better cooking quality when stored at 60 to 65 degrees F.
If kept too cold, they will be unduly sweet and dark colored when cooked. This can be partly overcome by exposing to ordinary room temp. for about 10 days before using.

A dark storage place is important as potatoes may turn "green" if exposed to light, losing both flavor and food value.
Make sure air can get under and around potatoes. A crate, bag, basket, or ventilated bin is suitable. Do not set directly on a concrete floor, but place on board or straw.

Plymouth Municipal Judgeship Called 'Overworked, Underpaid' Position

Plymouth's municipal judgeship last week was called an "overworked and underpaid" position. Calling for a re-evaluation of the importance of the municipal judgeship there, Assistant Attorney J. Rushing Cutler said that the $2,000 yearly salary of the municipal judge "was peanuts," according to an article in The Plymouth Mail.

Cutler pointed out that ordinance violation cases are heard before the courts in more frequent numbers along with an increasing amount of litigation in civil suits.

Earlier this year Judge Nandino Perlongo said that the minimum eight hours that must be spent on court cases each week had grown into a 24- to 32-hour week. It was at that time he threatened to retire from the bench at the end of his term, June 31, 1953. Judge Perlongo remarked then that his $2,000 yearly salary "made the job unprofitable," stating that the judgeship was cutting deeply into his law practice.

Cutler, seeking a streamlining of the justice court at Plymouth also called for a study by the city of the need for an associate municipal judge.

The present municipal judge must disavow jurisdiction when representing a client whose case is pending before the local court. It was at this point that Cutler called an associate judgeship a valuable adjunct to the city's municipal court.

The city's newly installed charter, effective in November of 1951, permits appointment of an associate judge in accordance with state laws. The charter also provides for a $2,000 to $6,000 yearly salary for the municipal judge.

Appointment of an associate judge, Cutler asserted, would not only serve to keep jurisdictional cases in the city, but would help relieve some of the burden connected with the judge's office.

Air Spotters Hold Special Exercise

A special training exercise was held last week for the Ground Observer Corps in Farmington. The Post participated on a 100 percent basis.

Specially marked, low flying single engine planes were used in the exercise as simulated enemy aircraft. They flew over the Farmington area at various times during the week and the air spotters were directed to identify, track and report the planes as they would if an enemy attack were taking place. The exercise opened Tuesday and continued on Thursday and Friday.

Thomas Tardy, director, stated that all regular air spotters would be on duty as well as all assistant spotters. The exercise was conducted in addition to the regular air spotting duties.

Additional spotters are still urgently needed for regular duty, the director said. He indicated that the Farmington station will continue to operate on a 24-hour basis indefinitely.

At the present time the post has a nearly hundred percent efficiency rating, but some personnel are standing extra duty. Mr. Tardy stated that the observation station on top of the Lead-Engin Co. plant is enclosed and heaters are being installed so that it can be used through the winter months.

Anyone interested in joining the Farmington Observer Corps is asked to phone either Thomas Tardy at MAfair 6-3095 or Mrs. George McLaughlin at MAfair 6-3663.

MSC Students Tell Professor How to Teach Economics

The students are telling the professor how they want to study economics at Michigan State college.

In a course in money and banking, each new class receives a questionnaire listing all subjects to be covered in the course. Students are asked to list the subjects in order of interest. The professor then juggles his course to follow this order.

The turnabout is the brainchild of Dr. Richard W. Lindholm, professor of economics at MSC and a top national economist.

Dr. Lindholm lets the students tell him how to run the course because he says it increases interest in work normally thought of as dry, dull and impractical.

Top Interests

Top interest subjects this fall were: (1) How money is manufactured by the banking system; (2) the structure of the national debt; (3) the government debt and money supply; (4) the possibility of continuing inflation or the development of deflation; and (5) the operation of the international money system.

Dr. Lindholm observes that subjects the students want to study differ widely from the subjects that are traditional in the money and banking course. Usually, the course takes up such traditional subjects as the theory of the gold standard or the historical basis of the money system.

Dr. Lindholm believes that his new approach to teaching economics will create more interest in the study of economics, an increasingly important area of knowledge in our complex society.

"Economics is the interesting business of learning the 'whys' of high wages, low interest rates and high prices, the MSC professor concluded. "It is no longer the dismal science of charts, data, theories and laws."

Congratulations to young Mike Richards who celebrated his 12th birthday last week with a party for ten of his classmates.

The boys enjoyed refreshments and then attended the movies together.

Police Answer 103 Calls in October

Police Chief Joseph Denton reported at the Village Commission meeting Monday night that the department had answered 103 calls in October and assessed fines amounting to $700.50.

Chief Denton reported nine accidents, 91 traffic violations and the issuance of 85 summons. There were three cases of grand larceny and four of petty larceny, one breaking and entering case and six cases of vandalism.

Two juvenile cases were listed in the report and two prowler calls were cited. Four bicycles were reported stolen and three recovered.

Arrests for the month totaled 23, with a like number of court cases. One person was sent to the Detroit House of Correction. Four cases of uttering and publishing (bad checks) were listed. Patrolmen found nine windows open and unscreened on their rounds, and eight doors were discovered unlocked.

The department sent out 11 teletype messages during October.

Michigan Mirror:

Breather from Election Campaign

by Gene Allemen

Michigan is still catching its breath today after the excitement of Tuesday's election.

Now comes a period when the cusetfallen experts explain why their predictions were wrong, why the vote went the way it did. Other experts, who were more fortunate on their soothsaying, will devote equal time and energy to explaining their success.

The public will be looking back on Tuesday's nationwide drama... but the winners in the great poll are looking ahead to January.

The public has been overfed on political speechmaking with the drums being thumped late into Monday night. John Q. and his Missus are glad to give their ears a rest for a while.

The politicians are equally happy for a period of rostrum silence. The defeated ones are licking their wounds and are in no mood for public speaking. The victorious ones have a lot of planning to do before taking over their elective offices next year.

Even newspapermen want a change of pace.

It's good to give newsprint and-ink emphasis to the prospects for deer season instead of the Gallup poll. It's refreshing to concentrate on the Wolverines and Spartans instead of the Dems and the GOPs.

So this column today is a breather, a compendium of miscellaneous Michiganiana absolutely guaranteed not to have any vital bearing upon the destiny of our nation.

Keeweenaw County, Michigan's northernmost area, had a total of only 70 sales tax returns filed for August this year. Wayne County, down in the opposite corner of the state, had 38,145.

Lowest number of returns filed by a Lower Peninsula County was the 123 out of Kalkaska. All told, 117,339 retailers paid sales tax in August for a total of $19,295 million.

If you found it confusing to choose between Proposals 2 and 3 in the polling booth Tuesday, just hang on to your hats! Things will be much more confusing if and when Michigan has a Constitutional convention.

Governmental theory is, at best, never a simple issue. It's bad enough when administered in a dose as small as we took Tuesday. When a whole Constitution is up for debate... there will be plenty of Michiganders who'll seriously consider giving the two peninsulas back to the Chippewas.

The "Frankenmuth Plan" is spreading farther and farther from the town that chicken dinners made famous. The plan sets up a game sanctuary in every section of Frankenmuth Township.

Farmers voluntarily post certain suitable areas of their farms and forego the right to hunt on that part of their own property. The result is that hunting pressure is relieved on a local basis and game and birds are not driven far out of the area.

Local conservation clubs police the plan with pressure of public opinion the only penalty. "In the past five years there hasn't been a single violation," says Clyde Elrich, a veterans sportsman, conservationist and original tor of the plan.

Have you checked your bank balance lately, Dad? Michigan retailers predict that the Christmas shopping season will start earlier than ever this year.

"We have to start our promotions in self defense," says an upstate merchant. "The big mail-order houses get their holiday catalogues out earlier every year and we have to protect out local business."

Remember not so many years ago when FDR moved up Thanksgiving so the Yuletide shopping season could be a week longer?

Michigan ski-lift proprietors report that what used to be an off-season—Summer—has proved not so "off." They offered lift rides to warm-weather tourists who got an invigorating ride and a chance to see scenery they'd miss if they stuck to the highway.

Skiing and Winter sports are expected to bring almost $25 million into Michigan cash registers this season. There will be over a quarter million sk enthusiasts visiting the state.

With the proposed Straits of Mackinac Bridge so close to reality that announcement of the actual start of construction is expected any week, Michigan will have another tourist attraction that should lure visitors from all over the country.

Michigan's younger cooks are already trying new recipes for cherry pies. Formal announcement of the annual state cherry pie baking contest isn't necessary to stir interest in this event which annually draws more and more young women between the ages of 15 and 20. Prizes this year will be more valuable than ever before.

High school driver training programs pay off. Students trained in Michigan schools have a driving record at least four times better than those who learned to pilot the family chariot by trial and error.

Familiar headlines you can expect to see often before the Legislature convenes in January: FINANCIAL PROBLEMS PLAGUE LANSING.

Editors could save their printers' time by storing that type; it's the same before every legislative session.

Local governments, too, have their fiscal dilemmas. So watch for more action along the lines the City of Saginaw followed last year.

There an income-profits tax was passed that levied 1% on all payrolls in the city. One object was to tax the "daylight citizen," the person who lives in the suburbs, works in the city and gets all the benefits of municipal services without paying for them.

The tax was voided on a technicality of the ballot by the State Supreme Court. Other cities, watching the case intently, can be expected to benefit from Saginaw's error as they lay plans for similar taxes.

Northville, Clarkston Battle to 6-6 Tie; Mustangs Lose Touchdown on Penalty

After a clipping penalty nullified a touchdown made by Northville's Dick Somers, the local high school football team battled Clarkston to a 6 to 6 tie in an afternoon game Friday on the Clarkston gridiron.

The game was played in fair weather spoiled by a sharp wind which blew dust diagonally across the field of play.

Both touchdowns came in the final period only a few minutes apart. Either team could have won via the extra point route, but Don Johnson's conversion kick from placement was slightly wide of the uprights, and the Mustangs broke through to block Clarkston's try for the point.

First Touchdown
Northville drew first blood at about the 30-yard line of Clarkston when Clarkston had the ball. Defensive end Gary Hix rushed in on the Clarkston passer from the left as two linemen converged on the passer from the right. Hix knocked the ball out of the passer's hand as he was poised to throw the ball, then picked it up on the first bounce and scurried to the end zone unmolested for the six points.

The touchdown was partially inspired by the earliest effort by Somers, a pass interception which the speedy halfback converted into a TD after a 65-yard run down the sideline. An official, however, detected clipping by a

Holly Broncos Slam Northville 32 to 0

(Ed. Note: The following resume of the Holly-Northville football game Oct. 24 did not appear in last week's issue of the Record because of mechanical difficulties at press time.)

The Holly High School Broncos ground out a methodical 32 to 0 victory over the Northville Mustangs Oct. 24 to hand the local high school football team its third loss of the season. The Mustangs had won three games at the time. The Broncos struck twice in the first half against a Northville team which never quite got going and led 12 to 0 at halftime.

Second Half
The third Holly touchdown came on a five-yard plunge through the left side of the line. Holly's Smith passed to Garner for the extra point. The score followed a 40-yard spurt by a Holly back from the 45 yard line. Holly repeated quickly after taking over on the Northville 40 when a fourth-down gamble pass failed for the Mustangs. Two plays carried the ball to the ten-yard marker. Smith got to the five and another play carried to the two. Then the Holly quarterback, Garner, kept the ball on a smuggle play to cross the goal line unmolested. A pass from Smith to Garner was again good for the conversion point.

Final Holly TD
The final Holly tally opened the fourth quarter. The Broncos started the drive on the Northville 30-yard line after Smith intercepted Bill Sullivan's pass there. Three plays moved the ball to the seven-yard stripe and Smith smashed over two plays later from a yard out.

The defeat was the first in Wayne-Oakland County league play for the Mustangs, as against two wins against Clarencville and Milford. The Broncos now have top standing as probable league champions when the season ends.

Generally speaking, it is the function of the fly line to carry the fly or light lure out to the fish, for this reason, it is fairly heavy and so constructed that it will float if kept properly dressed.

Cub Scouts Aid in Vote Campaign

Cub Scouts in Pack N-1 contributed their bit to the "Get Out the Vote" campaign by making placards and sandwich signs urging voters to go to the polls on Nov. 4.

Several dens were guests of the Exchange and Rotary clubs and paraded their original "Vote" signs.

Two new dens have been added this fall, making a total of nine. The new den mothers are Mrs. C. W. Rodgers and Mrs. David Hurd Clark.

The rejuvenating of toys is the den's second big project. As in other years, these toys will be turned over to the Kings Daughters for distribution at Christmas time. The dens are going to visit Leo Flowers of Plymouth whose hobby is repairing toys. Some weeks he averages as many as fifty repairs.

Soap box derby racers are soon to be in the making by Cubs. Plans, workshops and films have aroused interest of the boys and Den Dads will assist each den in making its own car.

Koyl Given Advance in Navy Ranking

Norfolk, Va.—Glenn B. Koyl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Natalia M. Fitzpatrick of Beck Rd., has been selected for advancement in rate to musician first class, USN.

The advancement is a result of competitive examinations conducted this summer on all ships and naval establishments throughout the world, said a spokesman at Great Lakes, Ill.

Since every navy man has two jobs, the test was divided into military questions covering knowledge of seamanship, gunnery, military law and allied subjects, and the professional part of the test concerned Koyl's Navy trade.

Michigan Seamless Tube Employees Get General 12-1/2 Cent Wage Increase

A twelve and one-half cents per hour general wage increase and several fringe benefits have been approved by the Michigan Wage Stabilization Board for 321 hourly-rated employees of Michigan Seamless Tube Co., South Lyon, on the basis of a tandem relationship with the basic steel industry, it was announced last week by M. S. Ryder, regional WSB chairman.

Effective last March 1, the wage increase also provides for increasing the spread between job classification by one-half cent per hour. Increases from this source average approximately three cents per hour in addition to the 12-1/2 cent general wage boost for production workers.

Other Raises

General wage hikes averaging 13.5 cents per hour for 37 clerical employees and 18.2 cents per hour for 18 supervisors and plant guards were also sanctioned effective March 1. It had been customary for employees in these categories to receive increases comparable to those granted production workers, WSB said.

Authority was given, effective Jan. 1, 1952, to grant three weeks' paid vacation after 15 years of service to all of the South Lyon firm's employees subject to WSB jurisdiction.

More Benefits

Unanimous approval of the tripartite Michigan Board also was given, effective last July 26, for:

(1) Premium pay of six and nine cents per hour, respectively, for work performed on the afternoon and night shifts.

(2) Eight hours' straight time pay for six holidays a year not worked and double time pay for hours worked on any of these holidays.

(3) Payments of an employee's regular rate while assigned temporarily to a lower paying job, under certain circumstances.

Ryder explained that following settlement of the steel dispute, the National WSB authorized regional boards to approve wage increases and fringe benefits within the pattern set by the basic steel company contracts for related firms which customarily follow wage adjustment policies adopted by the steel companies. The petition asking Wage Board approval of the adjustments for production employees was filed jointly by company officials and representatives of Local 1900, USW-CIO. Two other petitions were submitted by Michigan Seamless Tube Co. management in behalf of non-union employees.

Study of Log Markings Recalls Romantic Lumber Era in Michigan for Wayne U. Coeds

Twins Erina and Galina Smyrnoft of Chelsea, Wayne University seniors, try to operate a woodsman's saw. The border of log markings by counties is an indication of the variety of types of markings used during Michigan's great pine harvest.

The lumbering era in Michigan was one of the grandest and most colorful this State has known. The early history of Michigan is, in fact, the development, growth, and decline of the lumber industry.

Dr. Bert Hudgins, head of the geography department at Wayne University in Detroit, points out in his study Michigan, Geographic Backgrounds in the Development of the Commonwealth: "It is true the lumbering era was spectacular and romantic, but there was loss of life and property in fires and the logging and river driving often took tolls in lives of men."

One phase of this glorious era was the marking of logs to facilitate the identification of ownership by the numerous boom companies that sprang up during the great harvest years. These companies ran logs down the river, sorted, rafted and sent them to the sawmills immediately to make way for more and more logs.

The early log marks were merely hacks cut into the bark with an ax—simple straight-line symbols. However, in the 1840's when logging increased to a grand scale, the necessity for more and different types of markings arose.

Similarity of the log markings was the cause of many disputes over rightful ownership of log property. Thus, in 1842, the Michigan Legislature enacted a law requiring log marks to be registered in the county where the logs were to be manufactured into lumber.

Michigan's many tributaries, rivers, and falls carried a tremendous load of the great pine harvest. North of Saginaw Bay, the Rifle, Au Gres, Au Sable, and Thunder Bay rivers each had separate boom companies to handle the river loads.

With this great increase of logs, markings became so complex and varied that it was reported that one boom company had a standing offer of $50 to anyone who could design a mark of three letters in any arrangement that had never been used before.

Many humorous markings came out of this era, such as "Dumbell", "Chicken on a Fence", "Bed Bug", "Snuff Box", "Pair of Legs", "Pig's Head". The Tobacco River Lumber Company of Saginaw County appropriately enough selected the marks "Tobacco", "Smoke", "Cigar", "Plug", and "Snuff" to identify their logs.

Christian Science Churches
The true story of the creation of man is discussed in the Lesson-Sermon under the title "Adam and Fallen Man" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, Nov. 9.

The Golden Text is from Romans (5:17): "If by one man's offense death reigned by one; much more they which receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ".

Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Jer. 17:10): "I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings."

Handy Hints

Having trouble with hens roosting on water fountains, or self feeders? Then try this Handy Hint: Suspend a bolt—a heavy nut, hoop, or piece of metal will do—from the ceiling until it hangs like a plumb bob directly over the fountain.
When a hen tries to fly up on top of the fountain, she bumps into the weight—and she's promptly discouraged. She won't hold her perch long, even if she gets a foothold, because of the swinging weight.

Eisenhower Administration

—though that would naturally tend to protract the period of uncertainty.

"Partly, of course, the upheaval and uncertainty would simply be the consequences of the first change of the party in power in two decades. The general's own background, however, adds to the mystery. He'd be the first professional military man in the White House since Ulysses S. Grant; also the first since Grant, to lack experience in civilian public office.

"To sample the prospect for basic change in just one field, consider Ike's commitment in Korea. Campaign promises are traditionally made to be broken, but Korea's too hot for the G.O.P. candidate to do anything about if he's elected. He'd have to do something—and not merely go there.

If the War Should End

"If Ike should succeed in ending the war, that could have a stunning impact on U.S. foreign, military and mobilization policy, on the budget and on business throughout the country. If, as his critics contend he might, he should broaden the war, either unwittingly or because he saw no other road toward ending it, the effect of that would also be considerable.

"The foreign problem, obviously, overshadows anything Eisenhower would do initially to change domestic policy; indeed it is a kind of detour sign in the way of much he would like to do about the budget and taxes.

"But the businessman and the taxpayer might well be on pins and needles watching Ike gapple with the budget. Would he be able, as he pledged on at least one occasion, to chop Government spending 11% in the next fiscal year and more thereafter? If so, what would happen to some of the Federal programs he's promised to keep?

"With doubts like these in the offing, an Eisenhower Administration seems at first glance like one giant question mark. Yet, it is possible to get some ideas how it might shape up. The General himself provides some of the clues. Others come from his advisers and the men who 'knew Ike when.'

Ike's Conservative Instinct

"As for the general himself, he's instinctively conservative, was so long before his alleged 'surrender' to Sen. Robert A. Taft. By then the general had declared himself for state's rights in the 'delands (offshore) oil dispute. He's already taken a dim view of the Fair Deal quest for complete 'security' via Government action. He's bucked some big proposals for Federal aid for education.

"Ike-as-president might be forced to adjust his own tastes to those the voters have acquired in these 20 years of the New Deal-Fair Deal. He's already veered that way under the pressure of the campaign.

"By now the G.O.P. candidate is for expanding the social security system, for helping poor states build more schools, for beefing up state medical programs with Federal funds, for Federal props under farm prices.

"He'd approach problems in the same compromising manner in the White House. His method of operation almost insures that.

"In the words of his buddies, Ike is a 'staff man.' They mean he likes to turn tough questions over to groups of advisers for study. That's his way of sizing up a problem; it's the way he'd try to make up for his lack of civilian background.

Farm and Labor Groups

"He's got vague plans for several such committees or commissions. One would make suggestions for a new farm price support law to take effect in 1955. Another would work up amendments to the Taft-Hartley Law. There are rumors also of a world economic conference; it might talk over tariffs; currency problems and the need for U.S. aid abroad.

"By nature, committees of this sort promote compromises. They try to make their recommendations as nearly unanimous as possible. And that means taking a course somewhere in the middle.

"In fact, the general promises to seek a wide range of thinking in these studies. He's said he'd call on people representing 'every point of view.' That means union officials, farm leaders, professional groups, as well as businessmen.

"But the key advisers—some of the White House aids, some Cabinet officers—would come from Ike's circle of trusted friends, and most of them are businessmen and old soldiers."

Added Spaces for Parking Discussed

The possibility of adding a small amount of parking space on Main St. and in the village's business area designated 'space that is now designated no-parking' was discussed by the Village Commission Monday night.

The commission also considered spotting 15-minute meters at various places, particularly near the main four corners of the village, for the benefit of shoppers who want to make quick purchases in the business area and be on their way.

The space in front of the Kroger Store is being used by shoppers as a parking place, it was pointed out, even though parking is not allowed there. The space was supposed to remain empty, said Police Chief Joseph Denton, so that motorists entering Main St. from Hutton would have clearer vision of cross traffic.

Chief Denton said that tickets could be issued every time a car is parked in the space, but agreed with the commission that it would be better to install a parking meter there, especially now that a signal at the corner controls the flow of traffic and the hazard is removed.

The commission also considered allowing daytime parking in front of the Penman-Allen Theatre, with a hood to be placed over the meter to bar parking during the hours the theatre is open, and the possibility of an added parking space in front of the alley adjoining the Northville Drug Co. on Main St.

Rev. A. A. Stephens Buried at Boyne City

The Rev. Alfred A. Stephens was buried at the Boyne City, Mich., Cemetery after funeral services Monday, Oct. 27 conducted by Dr. King, District Superintendent of Traverse County, assisted by the Rev. Moore, pastor of the Boyne City Methodist Church.

He was 88 at the time of his death on Saturday, Oct. 25, at the East Jordan, Mich. hospital.

He was born at Chatham, Canada, in 1864.

He had been retired for 30 years and was one of the oldest members of the Michigan Methodist Conference.

Survivors of the Rev. Mr. Stephens include three sons: Howard, of Boyne City, and B. A. and Carl W., of Northville; two grand-children: Mrs. Muriel Willis, of California, and Carolyn, of Douglas, Stephens, of Boyne City; a niece, Mrs. Ida B. Cooke, of Northville, and two great-grandchildren, Carl Denton Stephens, of Northville, and Stephen Willis, of California.

His wife, Mary, preceded him in death in March of this year.

Scott Ave. to Get New Street Light

The village commission accepted Commissioner Claude Ely's recommendation that a street light be installed on Scott Ave. as soon as possible.

Commissioner Ely said that a light placed on a pole about a hundred feet from the intersection of Orchard Dr. and Scott would be sufficient to light both the street and the intersection.

Traffic Campaign Warns Motorists About Pedestrians

Pointing out that the pedestrian was more at fault than motorists in at least half of pedestrian accidents, Police Chief Joseph Denton has announced that the Northville police department is cooperating in the fall Pedestrian Protection program.

The official slogan for the campaign is "Be Alert for Wacky Walkers" and is designed to call attention of motorists to the amusing, and often fatal, antics of Wacky Walkers.

In the fall of the year it gets dark earlier and more pedestrians are harder to see as people walk and drive to work and back, according to Chief Denton. The special hazard is that the man on foot is hard to see and doesn't realize it, and when he jaywalks, cuts through traffic, changes his mind suddenly and returns in the direction from which he came, the motorist is often caught unaware.

The unjust part of pedestrian accidents, said Chief Denton, is that the blame is usually placed on the motorist although he may be blameless. "The privilege of owning a driver's license is a serious thing," said Chief Denton. "It carries with it the special responsibility of watching out for pedestrians. Any motorist who runs down a man on foot raises the question of whether he is a safe enough driver to have been given a license."

The "Wacky Walker" program is sponsored by the State Safety Commission, the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, the Michigan Sheriffs Association, the Automobile Club of Michigan and many other organizations interested in safety.

Council Considers Buying Bulldozer

Possible purchase of a used bulldozer was discussed by the village commission Monday night for use primarily in the village dump and for earth-moving projects contemplated by the village in the future.

The bulldozer came under consideration after it appeared that addition of equipment to the village's new road scraper would not be satisfactory to do the extra work required of it.

Commissioner Claude Ely and Street Superintendent Herman Hartner, Jr., looked at the used piece of machinery and said that, with repair of wheels which guide the tracks and possible overhaul of the engine, it might be a very good buy.

Addition of attachments to the road scraper was called unsatisfactory because the rubber tires of the scraper would be cut if used in the dump for leveling and dispersal of refuse.

Commissioners Ely, John Stubbenvoll and Mr. Hartner were asked by the commission to look further into possibility of purchasing the bulldozer and make recommendations to the commission in the near future.

120-Foot Concrete Walk Authorized

A concrete walk for pedestrians will be laid to connect E. Main St. with the alley and parking space behind the business area south of E. Main, it was decided Tuesday.

The area for the walk was inspected Tuesday by Commissioner Claude Ely, Street Superintendent Herman Hartner, Jr., and Contractor Oscar Hammond, and it was agreed that Mr. Hammond will lay the walk as soon as he can get cement.

The agreement followed instructions by the Commission for Mr. Ely and Mr. Hartner to use their judgment about whether it was too late this fall to have the work done.

Early installation of the walk will keep many feet dry this winter in walking from the alley to Main St., it was felt by the Commission.
