What words can appropriately describe the middle aged couple who bought poisoned wheat in a store (not in Northville) last week to feed to the birds which will come to their door this winter in search of food? Had not Mrs. Cummings witnessed the transaction, and been told by the clerk what it was to be used for we would refuse to believe that two persons with such warped minds live in our midst. She was also told by the clerk that they have made similar purchases in previous years, and that to his remembrance that they would not only kill sparrows, but also cardinals, nut hatches and other song birds, they replied that they "hoped it would because we don't like any birds".

Does such depravity make your blood boil too?

It is good to learn that serious consideration is being given to going ahead with a Northville Community Building on a more modest scale than was envisioned earlier this year.

While it would have been nice for the Village to have the more elaborate building, its cost after the original plans had been redrawn to include village offices, a village jail and other features that are not properly a part of a Community Building, finally got up to the astronomical total of upwards of half a million dollars.

Obviously, this was a plain case of a beer pocketbook and a champagne appetite, and at no time was there any real prospect that local voters would have approved going in debt for such an elaborate structure.

Now, the Village Commission is thinking in terms of a Community Building that can be used jointly by the schools and various village groups, and which it is hoped can be built with the approximately $180,000 fund that has been saved over the past few years from the $500 per day which Northville Downs pays Northville during the racing season. This is a sensible approach that may lead to construction of a building that is within the Village's financial means.

Villagers also will be interested to learn that plans for bringing up the proposal to make Northville a city have not been dropped, even though nothing has been heard about them for several months. A lot has been done this fall in working out the legal description of the area to be included in the new city boundaries and checking every legal aspect of the proposal so it will be air tight in the event that opponents of the plan seek to block it by court action. Petitions asking that the matter be brought to a vote are to be circulated shortly, with the view of submission to qualified voters at the spring election.

We had an interesting conversation Tuesday evening with an executive of the J. L. Hudson Co. about the new Hudson shopping center that is to be built on the northwest side of Detroit. Obviously, such a modern shopping center will be patronized by a great many residents of the Northville area. It seems hardly necessary to point out that a lot of such purchases will be at the expense of Northville merchants, although the rapid residential growth that is now taking place in Northville area will compensate to some degree.

Under the circumstances, it looks to us like our local merchants, and the Village Commission, should take a good hard look at the facts of the situation and do some serious planning for the future. Among the facts that should be considered is the inadequacy of parking space in Northville for those who wish to patronize our local stores.

We were quite optimistic last spring that the Village Commission would get around to doing something about it in 1952, but to

Chorus to Present 'Messiah'

Many days of rehearsal and hard work will bear fruit on Sunday, Dec. 21 when the Northville Community Chorus presents Handel's sacred oratorio, "The Messiah".

The performance will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Northville First Presbyterian Church. The public is urged to attend.

The Community Chorus is made up of men and women who have devoted several Sunday afternoons to rehearsal at the Presbyterian Church, and who sing under the direction of Leslie G. Lee, for the pleasure of singing. "The Messiah" has been presented annually by the Chorus "for more years than I care to remember," said Mr. Lee, who has directed it for at least 15 years.

Four guest artists from the University of Michigan School of Music will sing the solo parts in the oratorio. Frances Hanslovsky will sing the soprano parts. She was here two years ago. Vivian Milan, who was with the Chorus last Christmas, will be the contralto. Arthur Jones will sing the tenor solo and David Murray will be the baritone.

Mrs. John Reed, organist at the First Baptist Church in Ann Arbor, will serve as organist for the Chorus Sunday. She replaces Mrs. Gerald V. Harrison, who was organist here for ten years before she moved to Ferris, where she is now organist in the First Methodist Church. The church there will present "The Messiah" on the same night as the Northville presentation.

Pianist will be Mrs. Barton Connors, who has accompanied the Chorus here for many years. Mr. Lee welcomes all college students who formerly sang with the Chorus to join the group again this year. There will be a rehearsal Sunday, Dec. 21, at 3 p.m. before the 7:30 performance.

The Youth Group of the Presbyterian Church will hold a reception for members of the Chorus and soloists after the performance.

Village Asks Bids for Crawler Tractor

The Village of Northville has decided to buy a tractor of the crawler type which will double as a bulldozer to do heavy duty work which present equipment owned by the Village will not handle.

Sealed bids for the tractor will be received by Mrs. Mary Alexander, village clerk, at the Village Hall until 8 p.m. Monday, Jan. 5, 1953.

Specifications of the piece of equipment are listed in an advertisement printed on an inside page of this issue.

Woman's Club Tea to Honor New Members

The annual Christmas tea honoring new members of the Northville Woman's Club will be held at the Village Library Friday, Dec. 19 at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Pavel, who represents the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit, Inc., will speak in "Christmas Around the World".

Local 896 Invites Village Children to Christmas Party

Approximately 900 community children have been invited to the annual Christmas party set for 2:30 p.m. Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 23, according to Ward Riley, chairman of the affair which is sponsored by the Ford Local 896, UAW-CIO.

Santa Claus will visit the Grade School after lunch and will escort the youngsters to the Northville Theatre for movies and a treat.

Mr. Pregitzer, Grade School Principal, states that all children planning to attend the activity must present a note from parents indicating their permission in view of the fact that there will be no special bus service for the children.

If permission to attend the party is granted children who normally depend on bus service, parents must provide transportation for them. Regular homebound bus service will be maintained for high school students and for the grade school pupils not having any other way home. Elementary school teachers will be on hand to care for those children not able to attend the party.

Activities at the Recreation Building will begin Friday, Dec. 26, when boys and girls are invited to participate in the single ping-pong knockout tournament. This one-day event will begin at 1 p.m. with the champion named by 9 p.m. The singles checker knockout tournament will take place Saturday at 1 p.m. with the winner to be decided by 5:30 p.m.

The older Boys' Club members are sponsoring a dance at the Recreation Building Saturday evening from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Winter to Begin Sunday Afternoon

Some people will doubt this, but winter hasn't yet begun.

It won't begin officially until 4:44 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 21, when the sun enters its winter solstice.

This is the day when the sun reaches the most southerly point in its apparent yearly journey around the earth, and when it travels its shortest daily path across the sky.

Cagers Top South Lyon 69 to 55 for 3rd Win

Setting a blistering pace in the first quarter, the Northville Mustangs piled up a 22 to 7 lead over South Lyon basketball team Tuesday night, then went on to win 69 to 55.

It was the third victory in three games for the Northville quintet.

The starting team of Glenn Howarth, Ed Nash, Dick Somers, Gerry Graham and Lamar Nalley all gathered a share of the points.

Recreation Plans Holiday Programs

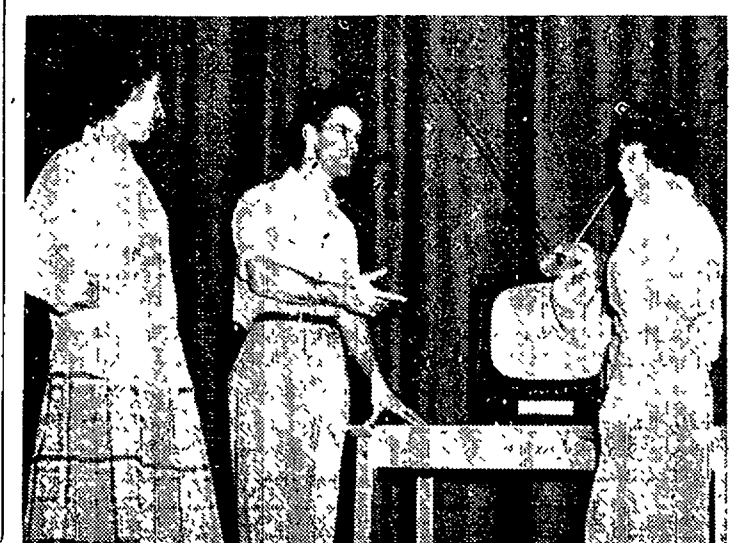

A special holiday recreation program has been scheduled for community children during the Christmas vacation.

The Northville Optimist Club has made a Christmas party possible for the Northville Junior Police for the second year, according to Chief of Police Joseph Denton. The party will start at 1 p.m. this Saturday, Dec. 20 in the high school gymnasium. There will be movies, games and treats for the children.

Activities at the Recreation Building will begin Friday, Dec. 26, when boys and girls are invited to participate in the single ping-pong knockout tournament. This one-day event will begin at 1 p.m. with the champion named by 9 p.m. The singles checker knockout tournament will take place Saturday at 1 p.m. with the winner to be decided by 5:30 p.m.

The older Boys' Club members are sponsoring a dance at the Recreation Building Saturday evening from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Petitions to Circulate Soon to Place Change-to-City Proposal On Ballot

Prospects of getting the Northville city-village question on the ballot in the Spring General Election brightened this week with the printing of petitions and assurances that they will be circulated for signatures within a week.

The proposal would place before the residents of the area to be incorporated the choice of becoming a city or retaining the present village form of government.

The project has been dormant for several months while the City Incorporation Committee investigated all legal aspects and while Herald Hamill, Plymouth civil en-

F. & A. M. Installs Officers Monday

Frank H. Dunsford of Redford was installed as Worshipful Master of Northville Lodge No. 186 F. & A. M. Monday evening, Dec. 15. It was the 87th annual installation of officers for the lodge.

Mr. Dunsford was installed by Raphael Mettetal, past master of Redford Lodge No. 152, who acted as Most Worshipful Grand Master. He was assisted by Earl Gray,

100 SIGNATURES NEEDED

The petitions for placing the proposal on the ballot will require a total of 100 signatures, of which 25 must come from Northville Township, 25 from the Village of Northville, 25 from Novi Township, and 25 from anywhere in those three areas.

The petitions, when signed, would be sent to the Secretary of State for certification. If certification is granted, the Secretary would then instruct local officials to place the proposal on the ballot.

Two other petitions will be circulated simultaneously with the one for getting on the ballot. One is a petition for nominating a nine-member Charter Commission which, if the proposal should receive a favorable vote, would draw up a charter for the new city to be approved by the citizens of the new city.

The third petition calls for the taking of a census in the area to be included in the proposed city.

After certification of petitions by the Secretary of State, a series of town meetings is planned, at which full and accurate information on the value of becoming a city will be presented and discussed, said Mr. Ogilvie.

Treasurer Begins Collection of Taxes

Township Treasurer Roy M. Terrill began collection of taxes Dec. 19 at Depositors State Bank and will continue two days a week until the final day, Feb. 27.

He will be at the Bank during banking hours on Tuesday and Friday of each week, including Friday evenings, he said.

Total rate per thousand this year is $23.30, as compared with the slightly higher rate last year of $23.82.

The rate this year is based on a Wayne County rate of $6.36, a Northville Township rate of $1.07 and Northville and Novi School District No. 2 Fr. rate of $15.87.

The rate per thousand for School District No. 11 is $15.90. Formal annexation of the district to the Northville-Novu district was completed this month, but too late for a change in this year's rate.

School District No. 6 will pay a rate of $18.97 per thousand, and Plymouth Township district will pay a rate of $26.48.

The total tax roll this year amounts to $142,669 as compared with $133,022 last year.

Pat on Back for Council

A bouquet was thrown in the direction of Village President Conrad E. Langfield and Village Commissioners, Monday night, in the form of a letter of commendation by directors of the Northville Township Improvement Association.

The letter said, in part: "You have listened to so much criticism that perhaps a few words of commendation may be welcome. The Directors of the Northville Township Improvement Association have come to this conclusion after observing the improvements that have been made this year in the Village of Northville."

The improvements mentioned were "additional parking facilities . . . a number of streets paved and others repaired, improvements in traffic conditions, new stop lights provided, a general improvement in the appearance of village streets."

"Citizens of Northville should be proud of their village, of their Council and the charter under which the Council operates," said the letter.

Rolling Down The River

by the PETZ BROS.

If we got a story, we're going to tell it, whether you've heard it before or not. After all, we heard a story on television the other night that was used in this column some eight months ago. Besides we like this one, so sit tight and listen. A couple of fellows were fishing a river in Germany that divides the Russian and Allied Zones. The guy on the American bank of this German river was catching many fish, while the ninnrod on the Russian bank didn't get a nibble. How come? taunts the lucky fisherman, "I catch so many and you can't get a bite." Studebaker is, and you would other, "It's just that the fish on this side aren't permitted to open their mouths."

Now we'd be in one sweet pickle, were we not permitted to open our mouths . . . and so would you. We couldn't tell you what a wonderful car the any Studebakers and if there have to go to a lot of time and trouble to find out, not that it would do you any good, because if such were the case there most likely wouldn't be and Studebakers and if there were, you couldn't afford one. As things are, though, we can tell you that it is the finest, smoothest, fastest, most powerful car for the money, and not only can you afford one, with the liberal trade-in allowance we're giving this month, you can hardly afford not to own one. Come on in . . . a demonstration will convince you.

Fellow in the garage for a shot of lubrication for his automobile, harkened back to last summer's vacation to tell us of an Indian village he visited. Amid the pottery, blankets and other items offered the tourists, he happened to notice an old Indian lady with a corn-cob pipe in her mouth. To make conversation he asked, "what kind of tobacco do you smoke, Granny?"

"To tell you the truth, son," she said, "I don't really smoke. This is just some extra local color to please you tourists."

Well, the only thing local about our service department, is the ease with which these expert mechanics of ours localize any trouble that might be rearing its ugly little head within your car. Of course, before they can do so, you have to bring it in. Besides which, it needs a bit of check-up at regular intervals. If it's to continue giving fine performance during these tough months ahead. When did you have that oil changed last?

That's that, but we see where the state prisons are giving Christmas paroles to some of their more deserving residents. Just wait 'til those guys get a look at today's prices.

Yours,

BILL and WILL PETZ.

Art Institute Selling Surplus 'Honest Injun' Arrowheads, Art Reproductions

Several hundred lucky youngsters may find "honest Injun" arrowheads in the toes of their Christmas stockings if the Detroit Institute of Arts has its way.

Surplus arrowheads of various sizes from the Institute's large collection are among a wide variety of gifts being sold at the Publications Desk in the main lobby.

ARROWHEADS ARE NOVELTY

The arrowheads are distinctly a novelty. Prices range from five to fifty cents and proceeds will be used to purchase a more important Indian relic for the museum's collection.

Best sellers as gifts for adults and youngsters as well are the authentic reproductions of sculpture from the Institute's collection, cast in permatone and finished with the patina and color of the original sculpture. Tops in popularity is a black Egyptian cat named Mau, dating from the sixth century.

Northwest Indian and African masks are also popular as decorative pieces.

Christmas 1952

To the Editor:

Christmas is such a happy season of the year that it should happen more often.

Yet, there are those who want to lose its appeal. The Tin Pan Alley song writers are striving to cash in on the Christmas business by writing "cute" tunes about the holiest of Christian holidays. They are doing all they can to drum up a song that will outshine "Silent Night". So far, they have been miserably unsuccessful. One such "popular" tune, this year, "I Caught Mama Kissing Santa Claus Under the Mistletoe", is "an abomination". I do not believe this tune will ever achieve the soul-touching appeal of "Adeste Fideles", which has sounded clear for about 300 years. Of course, I doubt if the writers think that "I Caught Mama—" will live longer than three weeks! All they want to do is foul up the Christmas spirit. Next year, they'll try another. As for me, I would prefer one bar of "Silent Night" repeated thousands of times to one rendition of "White Christmas" by some tenor, nasally afflicted with egotistical adenoids.

As for me, I want a traditional Christmas and detest having anyone tinkering with the Christian holiday.

The old-fashioned Christian decorations, the true Christmas spirit of giving gifts and receiving them, are as enjoyable as they have been for generations. This effort to modernize Christ-

News Items Taken From the Files of the Record

One Year Ago: For the Robert Johnson family, Christmas was not a very joyful season. Nine members of the family were tuberculosis patients at Maybury Sanatorium, with no means of communicating personally with each other. Then Dr. W. Leonard Howard, Maybury superintendent, and members of his Rehabilitation staff, came up with the idea of broadcasting on the San's internal radio station. At least, the family and others like them could hear each other's voices. Above, showing how the idea would work are (left panel) Betty Johnson and her father, Robert, and (right panel) Arnold and Patricia Johnson.

ONE YEAR AGO:

The Village Council voted to proceed with the off-street parking and alley project on the East Main St.

Mustang Cagers Stay in Gear, Stop Milford Indians 58 to 50

Holding a rangy, fast-breaking Milford High School quintet in check, the Northville Mustangs won their second basketball game last Friday night, 58 to 50.

The Mustangs were in the lead at the end of each quarter, although the lead changed three times in the first half.

HOWARTH HIGH

Center Glenn Howarth was high scorer for Northville with 18 points on six field goals and six free throws. Gerry Graham added 15 more. High point man for the evening was Milford's Don Terrance with 19 points on six baskets and seven foul shots. Jim Baker got 16 more for the Indians.

Despite the congestion around the basket on Northville's tiny court, Gerry Graham dove in five times for lay-up shots while Ed Nash dropped in two field goals from third-court in the first half. With Glenn Howarth keeping his share of rebound control at both ends, he and Dick Somers popped two more shots which, along with free throws, gave the Mustangs a 24 to 19 halftime lead.

The thorn in Northville's side was Don Terrance, No. 33 for Milford, who shot from all angles and piled up 11 points in the half. Howarth increased his rebound control in the second half and pushed and tapped in 14 points while his teammates contributed their share and tightened up their defense to hold the Indians at bay.

PUT ON PRESSURE

With only a six-point lead in the last period, the Mustangs put on the pressure as Graham and Lamar Nally connected for two pointers, and Howarth tossed in two free throws. Nally then hit on three consecutive foul shots to push the score to 56 to 43.

With a new team in for Northville, Milford connected on eight consecutive free throws to close the gap somewhat, but Bruce Felker added two points on a shot from the side to ease the pressure.

Both teams hit well on foul shots. Northville picked up 18 points on 30 chances for an even 60 percent average, and Milford got 16 points on 29 tries for a 55 percent average.

Colts Lose

The Northville Colts fell victims to a powerful Milford reserve team in the first game at the Northville gym last Friday night, losing 53 to 37.

Losing was no discredit to the Colts. The powerful Milford sophomore team boasts a long record of wins since they began together in the eighth grade, and will be hard to contend with when they move up to varsity competition next year.

SMOOTH ATTACK

Milford used a smoothly-functioning fast break to pile up most of their points, but the over-all height of the team was too much for Northville to conquer, even if the Indians had not had a well-coordinated attack.

Coach Stan Johnston's team fell behind most noticeably in the second and third quarters, but began to pick up points in the last period as Gene Rebitzke slammed in three running one-handers.

John Sherwood of Milford led both teams in scoring, amassing 18 points in the contest, but Rebitzke got 13 for Northville to lead his team.

PLAYED POSSUM... Marine Sergeant Francis Gruner, Trenton, N.J., was captured by Reds in Korea, played dead, had pockets picked and eventually was rescued.

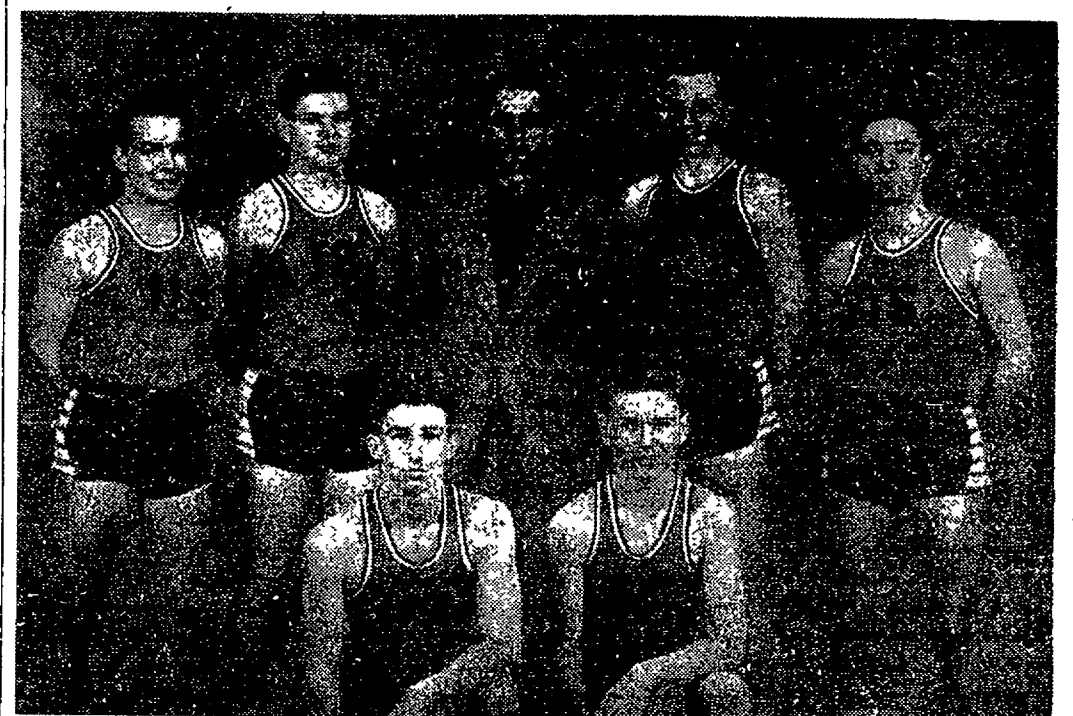

Too Cute

A man of letters who visited Washington recently appeared at but one dinner party during his stay. Then he sat next to the daughter of a noted naval officer. Her vocabulary was of a kind peculiar to her type, and she yackety yacked away at the famous man without a moment's respite. Finally, a pause came during the general conversation and she said to him: "I'm awfully stuck on this guy Shakespeare! I think he's tops. He is my man for writing! He's a wonderful boy, don't you think? Everybody listened to hear the great man's brilliant reply, for as a Shakespearean scholar he had few peers. "Yes," he said solemnly, "I do think he's interesting. I think Shakespeare is just too cute for anything!"

Simple treatment curbs fence pole decay

Weather and insects can cause serious damage to the fence poles on your farm, especially if you use poles from your woodlot. These poles often are full of sapwood, which decays rapidly. According to the Forestry Department of Michigan State College, farmers can treat poles against decay, using a chemical you can buy in most hardware or drug stores. Several preservative products are available. One of the newest tested and found satisfactory is "Penta" (Pentachlorophenol), the researchers say. If possible, the poles to be treated should be air seasoned first for six months. For more information call your County Agricultural Agent.

Maybe with Santa at the switchboard . . . everybody's Christmas Long Distance call could go through at the same time. But without Santa's magic, some calls may be delayed, because more calls are made at Christmas than any other time. You can be sure we'll have operators at our busy switchboards to handle all the calls the lines can carry. Even so, if you plan to make a Holiday Long Distance call, we suggest you call before Christmas Eve or after Christmas to avoid delays. Remember, too, if you call early, then men and women in the Armed Forces calling home on Christmas will have a better chance to get their calls through without waiting. They'll appreciate that.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

What was the origin of man and the universe? That interesting question is discussed in the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, Dec. 21, under the subject "Is The Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"
The Golden Text is from Proverbs (3:19): "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath he established the heavens".
Among the Bible citations is this passage, (Ps. 48:10): "Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth."
Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include "The point for each one to decide is, whether it is mortal mind or immortal Mind that is causative. We should forsake the basis of matter for metaphysical Science and its divine Principle." (p. 195)

Hammond, Wright Nuptials Read in Candlelight Rites

In a candlelight ceremony solemnized Saturday evening, Dec. 13, at the First Methodist Church, Hazel Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hammond of N. Center St. became the bride of Howard J. Wright. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wright of Livonia are the bridegroom's parents.

Rev. Ivan E. Hodgson performed the single ring rites before an altar adorned with baskets of gladioli and palms. Mrs. Ivan Hodgson, soloist, sang "Because," "At Dawning" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. Richard Somers at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, Hazel appeared in a ballerina length gown. The fitted bodice of imported lace was distinguished by an Elizabethan collar and long puffed sleeves of nylon tulle. The full skirt of tulle applied with lace fell over slipper satin and a Juliet cap of lace trimmed with seed pearls secured her fingertip veil.

The bride carried a white prayer book topped with an arrangement of stephanotis, ivy and ribbons centered by a white orchid and a single strand of pearls was her only jewelry.

Janet Stiers of Plymouth, as maid of honor, wore a strapless ballerina length gown of orchid with a matching lace jacket. The full skirt of nylon tulle flared over orchid taffeta and she wore a tiny cap of the matching material. A bouquet of white and orchid pom-pom mums were her flowers.

The bridegroom asked Kenneth Angott of Detroit to assist him as best man and seating the guests were James Lane of Livonia and Walter Hammond, brother of the bride.

In a street length dress of purple crepe accented by a corsage of lavender double gladioli, Mrs. Hammond, the bride's mother received 175 guests at the reception held in the church house following the ceremony. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. William Wright was attired in grey crepe with black accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Alternately presiding at the refreshment tables, were Delores Bell and Marjorie DeJohn of Northville and Gail Blemish of Ann Arbor, classmates of the bride. Also assisting were Barbara Evans of Livonia, Mrs. Bonnielli of Detroit and Mrs. Alice Willett of Plymouth. Cynthia Gates, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

A light blue wool suit with black accessories was Hazel's travel costume and she pinned to her shoulder the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

DRUNK DRIVERS GO TO JAIL

You May Wash, Dye Or Bleach Nylons As Other Materials

By ERTTA HALEY

HAS YOUR personal and household supply of nylon fabrics increased? If you have been buying during the past several years, chances are that you have acquired quite a few of the nylons on the market.

Most women have replaced much of their lingerie wardrobe with nylon because it takes no ironing. In addition to this, they have probably invested in sweaters, blouses and even skirts and dresses in the same fabric.

Some of the children's underwear is being made in nylon and you've probably acquired some of those, as well as sweaters and snowsuits. Surely some of the socks or hose in the family are in nylon, too.

Curtains and draperies and possibly bedspreads are of nylon, too. You'll want to know just what care is best for them to make them last the longest.

Most women are surprised to learn that nylon, just as their other fabrics, may be put into a washing machine. Extremely hot water is to be avoided, naturally, but any temperature at which the hands are comfortable may be used for washing, either by hand or machine.

Dry nylon sweaters flat.

In most cases, if you can use a washing machine, you'll find that nylon fabrics come out much cleaner than if you wash them by hand, as the washing action is much more thorough.

Should you use a soap or detergent? This will depend much upon your personal preference. Either a good-quality mild soap or detergent will do the job, and will clean nylons safely. In hard water areas you'll get more suds from a detergent, but soaps may be used if the water is conditioned first.

Here's How to Keep Nylon from Discoloring

Nylons may be washed in washing machine right along with your other clothes provided the other materials have the same color and same weight. You would not want to put lightweight nylons in with a lot of heavier fabrics because their weight may put strain on the seams and bindings.

White nylon articles should never be washed with any colored things as they readily absorb color from them and may develop a pinkish cast.

Sometimes you'll notice that nylons take on a distinct grayish cast. This comes from not removing the soil as thoroughly as possible, either in the washing itself, or in the rinsing.

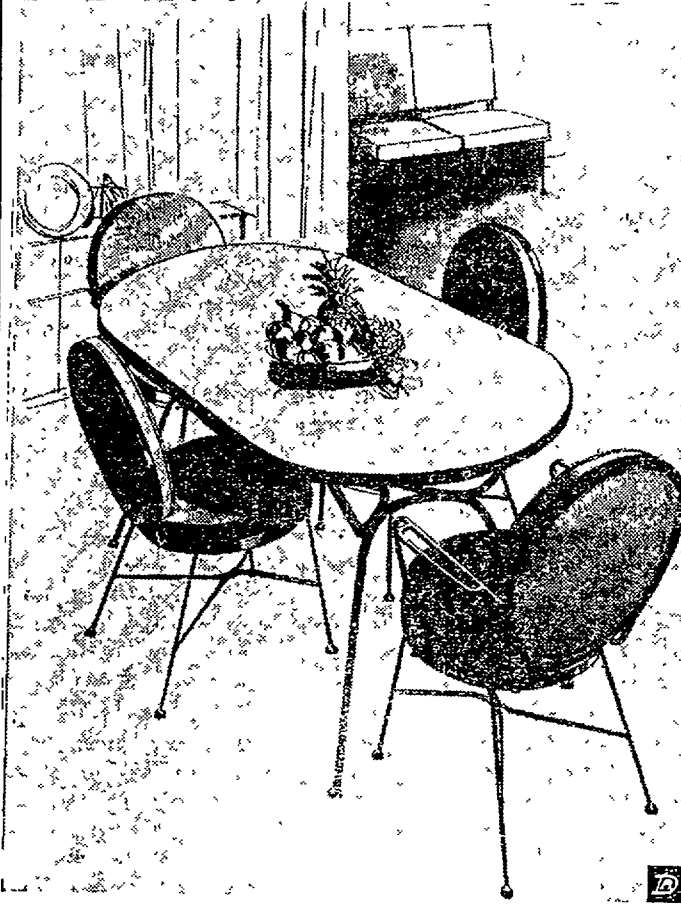

But hang blouses wet.

If you wash lightly soiled garments along with a batch of heavily soiled garments, some of the soil may go into those lightly soiled. If your nylon garments have been put in with such, the cure is obvious.

Grayness can be cured with washing often, squeezing the suds through and through the fabric. As soon as the water becomes gray and dirty, make fresh suds, or use a fresh rinse depending upon what step you're on.

Bluing rinses help to overcome much of the yellowness in nylons and will even counter-act the pinkish cast just mentioned. However, remember that nylons are sensitive to color, and too much bluing should not be used. Also, make certain the bluing is thoroughly dissolved, or it may streak and mar the clothing.

Nylons should never be permitted to stand in a bluing solution. Swish them in and then out as quickly as possible.

Excitingly beautiful, a revolution in modern furniture styling developed after three years of research, will be available soon.

Troy Furniture Company's chief designer, J. Cecil Witte, has produced this exquisite wrought-metal furniture to fall well within the average household budget. "Deauville Casual Americana" combines the ephemeral beauty of the old world with the practicality of the new. Editors of America's leading magazines in the field of interior decorating and home furnishings rated this new furniture 94 per cent for style, function, beauty and utility. Witte has given practical form to the average homeowner's dreams of bringing lasting beauty into the American home without detracting from its traditional comfort. "Deauville Casual Americana" is available in 39 color fabrics, vinyl plastics and tweeds.

Trapping Seasons Open

Trapping seasons again are in full swing, and Michigan trappers are out in force seeking valuable furs. Our favored quarry is the muskrat. Al Harger, conservation department game biologist, is shown setting a trap in an experimental project; results may help trappers in their annual quest. The value of Michigan's fur crop last year was estimated at more than $2 million; half that total was in muskrat pelts.

State Government Just Beginning to Recover from '50 State Building Fire

By GENE ALLEMAN

Some 22 months ago a nervous and confused young father touched a match to a pile of maps and started the $4,500,000 state building fire.

Michigan's state government is just beginning to recover from the holocaust.

In the last few weeks the Insurance, Agriculture and Public Service departments have moved into the top floor of the building, and by January the top three floors will be occupied.

The young father is in Jackson State prison, divorced from his young wife and baby. It all began Feb. 8, 1951 on a cold, quiet afternoon. Richard C. Shay, a plump, smooth-faced minor employee of the state highway department was worried about his draft status. Shay, then 19 years old, had a pretty blond wife and a seven-months old daughter.

"I was afraid to go to war," he said afterwards. "I just didn't see any reason for spending two years in training."

"He planned to start a small fire where he worked on the mezzanine floor and later confess to it. 'I thought if I admitted it I'd be placed on probation and would not have to go in the army,' he told detectives.

The young man touched off a map in one of the storage bins of the highway department. Then he went to lunch.

Fifteen firemen were injured in the spectacular blaze and Shay's match set off a chain reaction that partially paralyzed state government.

Most of the 1,300 employees were at lunch when the fire began. They returned to pick up papers, typewriters and anything else they could lay hands on and retreat from the smoking building.

The fire didn't look like much at first, just a few spirals of smoke from the mezzanine floor—which actually was a floor between floors. Before it was over fire raged from Flint, Jackson, Battle Creek and Grand Rapids had answered emergency calls.

"We could smell the rubber burning on our coats," a fireman said. "We could stand the smoke but not the terrific heat."

Millions of gallons of water were poured into the building to cascade from the top floors to the basement causing untold damage ($250,000 alone to the state library on the ground floor). Two days later the fire was declared under control but for five days more firemen uncovered smoldering piles of rubbish.

Many departments of state government were in chaos. Before the fire was even out, the department of administration was renting, buying, borrowing and stealing quarters for the displaced employees. In three weeks offices were set up in all corners of Lansing and East Lansing in quarters that would make a rabbit warren look like Taj Mahal.

State departments were operating out of vacant stores, a condemned Y.M.C.A. building, quarters at Michigan State College, an auditorium in which the ceiling had collapsed only a year before, an old bus station and the armory.

By spring the clean-up work at the building was largely done and it was that long before the Legislature got around to approving bids for the reconstruction.

The rebuilding now is almost completed. Adnan N. Langus, director of the building division, was as good as his word, and despite the removal of the top two floors, the building will house as many workers as it previously did. This he accomplished by utilizing waste space in the basement, narrowing corridors and the like.

The new Stephens T. Mason building, now under construction is expected to provide quarters for an additional 1,500 workers when it is opened next July or August.

But the government will still have some 1,300 workers still in rented space throughout Lansing. The new building and the renovation of the old will take some of the pressure off Michigan's crowded agencies, but is not yet the complete answer to the problem.

What of Richard C. Shay? He currently is serving a 4-to-10 year sentence for arson. His wife has divorced him. The earliest he can be released is Feb. 8, 1954, third anniversary of the fire.

Incidentally, draft officials later said that Shay, as a married man and father, would have been exempt from service.

Final Rites Held for Chris J. Schweizer

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday at one o'clock from the Casterline Funeral Home for Christian J. Schweizer who passed away Saturday at the age of 86 years. Rev. Ivan E. Hodgson of the First Methodist Church of Northville read the final rites and interment was in Thayer Cemetery.

Mr. Schweizer was born Nov. 3, 1866 in Carleton, Mich. to the late Christian and Hannah Schweizer. His wife, Barbara, preceded him in death in 1951.

Surviving are two sons, Norman, of Plymouth, and Hubert, of E. Kingston, N. H. Also surviving are three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, and a brother, Julius, of Flat Rock, Mich.

Airman Robert A. Benjamin has completed indoctrination training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, and is now awaiting assignment to one of the many specialist schools conducted by the Air Force. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Benjamin, of Salem.

COMMERCIAL FISHING OUTLOOK

Commercial fishing in Michigan has changed a lot in the last decade—and may be due for even more drastic changes in the future. Few individuals outside the industry itself realize the significance of that day back in the late 20's when sea lamprey first appeared in Great Lakes waters after their long migration from salt water.

Slowly at first, and then with unbelievable speed, lake trout began to disappear from all waters in the lower lakes. From a commercial catch of better than five million pounds a year, the trout take fell to a mere few thousand pounds back in 1949, and today this highly prized food fish has become all but extinct in both Lake Huron and Lake Michigan. The lamprey—vampire of our inland seas—is held responsible.

Herring Becomes King

Now fisheries along the lower lakes have turned to the herring to make up, at least partially, for the severe loss suffered with the passing of the lake trout. Until winter ice makes their work impossible the fishing fleets put out daily from home bases along the shores of Lake Huron and Lake Michigan. There is a rugged life, ranging three and four miles out into the wind-swept rough waters of the big lakes, tossed about like corks in the tiny craft that are one-tenth cabin and engine, and nine-tenths cargo space for up to 5 tons of slithery herring. And day after day, unless a whopping gale is blowing, you'll find them easing into the anchor buoy that marks their nets, making fast, and hauling away at the enormous nets that stretch for 800 feet along the lake bottom.

Icy Job

Often the net lines are coated with ice as soon as the air strikes them. Light rubber gloves don't take the sting from the job. Soon, with spray blown across the deck, a slick coating of ice forms underfoot, and in the pitching seas disaster could strike at the man who isn't fast to a line or rail.

The voyage begins before dawn, and if luck is good and nets are full the fleet may be back by noon. Then the three-man crew unloads their catch, and move indoors to help pack and ship the fish. Automatic scalers go to work on herring for the local market. Dressing out is done by hand with lightning-like speed. Bones are stripped from the meat, leaving delicious filets in an operation that only human fingers could do. And when deep-fat fried fresh from the lakes, the flavor of Michigan herring leaves nothing to be desired! Underrated on too many menus today, the lowly herring must soon come into its own as another valued resource to be found in Michigan Outdoors.

Mrs. George Houtz of Farmington North Carolina. He hopes for Rd., has returned to camp in another visit at Christmas.

Sailor Stanley Chavey, stationed near Norfolk, Va. hopes to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Chavey, on Mayfield Ave.

Mr. Ronald Jewell of Telegraph Rd. called on Ira Magnier of Shadyside Ave. Wednesday evening.

Neighborhood Sunshine Sisters held their regular meeting in the Neighborhood Church Wednesday afternoon. A letter written to the Sunshine Sisters by Sailor William Varhol was read and enjoyed. Plans were made for holiday activities. During the social hour cake, provided by Mrs. Cecil Willett, was served with the customary tea. Since the next regular Sunshine meeting would fall the day before Christmas it has been moved up one week to Dec. 17.

Mrs. Henry McMillan of Detroit called on her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Magnier, Shadyside Ave., Friday.

Mrs. George Strassburger of St. Petersburg, Fla., writes, thanking the many West Point Park friends who sent birthday cards to her mother, Mrs. Leslie Mansfield, the latter part of October.

Mrs. Mansfield, who is 96 years old and still able to attend church and make calls on relatives in the St. Petersburg area, is eagerly looking forward to the holiday season and another shower of cards. Both Mrs. Mansfield and Mrs. Strassburger are former West Point Park residents.

Mr. Purser, who operates the Davis Country Store on Farmington Rd., has returned from a vacation trip to the West. His daughter, Mrs. Attabury, who, during his absence was a guest here of her mother, has now left for her home near Phoenix, Ariz.

A young fellow who follows trapping as a hobby has trapped 99 muskrats in Livonia this fall.

Mrs. Grace Simpson of Mayfield Ave. spent several days of this week with her daughter, Mrs. Raymond Ackerson and her family, on Gill Rd.

Mrs. Homer Coolman and Mrs. O. R. Ault of Shadyside Ave. have received word that their sister, Mrs. Paris Smith of Columbia City, Ind., fractured a leg in a recent fall. Mrs. Smith has visited in Michigan and is known to a number of our local people. Mrs. Sheets, mother of the three sisters mentioned, has for some time been in a hospital with a fractured hip and was about to be discharged to continue convalescence at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Smith.

Navy man, William Varhol will not be home for Christmas, but hopes to spend New Year's Day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Varhol, on Shadyside Ave.

Fred Schult and other service men sent home copies of their Thanksgiving menus used on the battle fields and in army camps. Most menus seem to have been quite elaborate but could not compensate for the lack of home surroundings.

Christmas Greeting Issue

The next issue of the Record, to be published on Wednesday, Dec. 24, will be the annual Christmas Greeting Issue which carries the greeting advertisements of merchants, businessmen and others.

Many persons who do not ordinarily advertise in the Record want to run greeting ads, and the advertising staff does its best to make contact with them.

Since this week is shortened by a day because of early publication, a phone call to the Record will help if you wish to run a greeting ad next week.

Remember, too, that the following week is a short one. The Record will be published Wednesday, Dec. 31, instead of Thursday.

Debaters Sweep 3-Team Tourney

"Should the Atlantic Pact Nations Form a Federal Union" was the topic selected for discussion at the debate tournament of the Tri-County league which was held at the Clarenceville High School Wednesday, Dec. 10.

Northville debaters, Walter Newton and Marlene Weiss, upheld the affirmative and the negative was supported by Mary and Lucien Lovewell. The contestants met Clarkston's Negative and Milford's affirmative and won both rounds, according to Miss Florence Panattoni, high school speech instructor.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank all my friends who helped buy the lovely chair for me. I can't find words to tell you how much I appreciate it. May God bless you all.

Village Commission Orders Survey for Parking Safety

The Village Commission instructed Police Chief Joseph Denton Monday night to make a survey of all parking spaces at intersections in the village and to take necessary steps to see that safety precautions are observed in the future.

The move followed discussion of the poor visibility at the intersection of Wing and Dunlap streets, and was initiated by Commissioner Alton Peters, who pointed out that the stop signs on Dunlap are barely visible to motorists travelling east and west on the street. Newcomers and strangers in town, he said, rarely see the signs, and cruise across the intersection without slowing down.

PARK TOO CLOSE

Cars parking up to the edge of the intersection also obscure vision, Chief Denton reported, although traffic rules call for cars to be parked a full 20 feet back from the intersection.

The commission decided that, in the interest of safety, signs reading "No Parking From Here to Corner" should be placed where necessary at intersections and ordered Chief Denton to make a survey of all corners.

The stop signs at the Dunlap-Wing corner will probably be moved closer to the street, or replaced with larger ones which would be more easily seen by motorists.

For The Record

date all that has been done this year is to hard surface the one parking lot across from Krogers, and the alley leading from that lot to S. Center St.

True, the Village Commission had the City Planning Commission draw up a detailed plan to solve the parking problem, including selection of specific properties to be acquired for additional parking lots, but since the plan was submitted nothing more has been heard from the Village Commission.

Now, the Christmas season is here and if any one doubts the inadequacy of Northville's parking facilities he has only to try to find a spot in which to park to satisfy himself on the point.

When the Village Commission decided a couple weeks ago to enforce two-hour parking on the lot at Main and Hutton, and the other two lots at the corner of Main and Center and Center and Dunlap, a helpful step was taken. However, this is only a partial solution to a serious problem. Northville needs more off-street parking space close to the retail section. Such space can be provided at no cost to the Village, but only if the Village Commission makes up its mind to follow the excellent plan proposed by the Village Planning Commission many months ago.
