Presbyterian Church Plans Restoration of Sanctuary

A campaign for funds during January will put the signature, it is hoped, to recently formulated plans to restore the 107-year old sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville, said the Rev. Dr. Harold F. Fredsell, pastor of the church.

The present sanctuary of the church was erected in 1845 and is thought to be the oldest Protestant church building in the Detroit area. The Mariners' Church at the foot of Woodward Ave. was listed as the oldest Protestant church building in Detroit during the city's 250th Birthday Festival. It was built in 1848, three years after the Northville church.

Old Radios Needed for Veterans

Radios are needed to help veterans in tuberculosis sanatoriums beat in the long hours of waiting for cure and eventual release.

The radios don't necessarily have to work. It's fine if they do, but if they don't, the commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post has volunteered to fix them.

V.F.W. Commander Floyd Kupsky has taken the radio job on as his pet project. He and Mrs. Kupsky, who is the Auxiliary's Rehabilitation chairman, know about the long, empty hours of veterans in Maybury and Eastlawn Sanatoriums.

BIG DIFFERENCE

"We'd like to get all the radios for the boys we can," said Mr. Kupsky. "They make a lot of difference in the attitude of the fellows who will have to wait a long time for cure."

"There are probably a lot of radios in village homes that are not used any more. I'll be glad to repair them, and other fellows will help."

"Just give us the radios, and we'll take over from there," said Mr. Kupsky. "They make a lot of difference in the attitude of the fellows who will have to wait a long time for cure."

"Many hobbies are started, then ignored by many people," he said. "Things like leathercraft and stamp collecting. The fellows would be very grateful to have them."

Anyone who would like to help out in the project should telephone Mr. Kupsky at Northville 754-M. He will pick up the radios and hobbies to be donated.

tion and church finance will visit in the homes of the parish during January, said Rev. Fredsell. He is the Rev. Charles Riley of the Presbyterian Church in Mountclair, N. J., and has recently helped with the building program of the Methodist Church in Berkley and the Episcopal Michigan.

Sunday School space is urgently needed at the church, Rev. Fredsell pointed out, and present plans of the committee are to claim the space now only partially excavated under the church proper.

NEW WALLS

"New retaining walls must be built to support the old foundation," he explained. "and hand-hewn logs will be replaced by new supports, reinforced concrete and steel." A new floor will be laid in the church proper.

Cost of erecting the church building in 1845 was $2,500, as compared with present plans for restoration which call for raising $40,000.

The church was enlarged in 1913 by building the two transepts and later adding a balcony.

"The present house of worship has remained substantially unchanged," Rev. Fredsell said. "Its lovely colonial architecture is a tribute to the founding fathers of the community."

Recreation Holds 3 Tournaments

It must have been a lively day at the Boy Scout building last Saturday. Three tournaments were underway and three champions were crowned, one in ping-pong competition, and two in checkers.

Winner of the ping-pong title was Joe Girardin, who battled through four brackets during the afternoon and evening to defeat John Funk for the crown. Forty-six boys fought through the preliminaries, quarter and semi-finals in the Recreation-sponsored matches.

WINS AGAIN

Joe Girardin emerged as a double tournament winner when he played his way to the checkers title in the Boys Club competition for boys over 12. Saturday, He and Joe Gotro both had close games in their division, but Girardin finally won to face Brody Humphries in the final game. Brody had eliminated his brother, Bob, to get to the final. Prizes were: Winner, $1.00; finals, 50 cents. Only one point separated Humphries and Girardin in the final match.

Bill Milne placed first in the Junior Police Checker tournament Saturday, ahead of Mike Baggett in second place and Jerry Biddle in third place. Eighteen boys took part.

Happy New Year

The staff of the Northville Record joins with your friends in wishing you a Happy New Year.

May 1953 bring you every promise of good health and happiness . . . and leave you with each promise richly fulfilled.

May each day unfold new opportunities for warm friendship and solid achievement . . . and each month be a milestone in your steady march to better things.

Cooperative Group Plans Expansion

A second section of the Northville Cooperative Pre-School Nursery Group, at the First Presbyterian Church, will be added if enough applications are made in the near future to warrant it, said Mrs. Clifton D. Hill, president of the group.

The first section meets now on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9 to 11 a.m. The new section would meet Tuesday and Thursday morning during the same hours.

The first section is already full. It cares for 20 children between the ages of two-and-a-half to five. The Session of the Presbyterian Church granted permission for establishment of the second section, which would be taught by Mrs. W. P. Madigan, of Eight Mile Rd.

TO IMPROVE TEACHING

The plan, if the second section becomes a reality, is to care for the younger children (two to four) in the Tuesday-Thursday section, and the older children in the original section. This would equalize play and teaching activity and get the children into their own age groups.

Parents wishing to enroll their youngsters should telephone either Mrs. Clinton Russell of Carpenter St. at Northville 553-W for information, or Mrs. Hill at Northville 127.

Exchange Student Sends Greetings

The Northville Rotary Club received a radiogram extending holiday greetings from Charles Wursching in Giessen, Germany. Charles was one of the four exchange students who lived in Northville during the last school year. The students were sponsored here by the Rotary Club.

March of Dimes to Begin Jan. 1

The 1953 March of Dimes will be launched in Northville tomorrow, Jan. 1, by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis as volunteer workers face the prospect of not only wiping out the debt incurred by 1952's record polio epidemic, but getting set for the expected financial demands of the new year.

Leland V. Smith, Northville postmaster, has been named as Northville chairman for the month-long drive in the village.

BIG BILL

With more persons stricken with infantile paralysis in 1952 than ever before, and with the prospect of a staggering patient care bill, the 3,100 county chapters of the March of Dimes organization in the nation prepared to match the record polio onslaught with a record 1953 March of Dimes.

During the record epidemic, Mr. Smith pointed out, the National Foundation came to the rescue with:

1. More iron lungs and other life-saving equipment than in the previous three years combined.
2. Money to meet costs of transportation, salaries and maintenance for hundreds of recruited polio nurses.
3. $28,000,000 for patient care, a figure which is over $5,000,000 more than was ever expended for this purpose in any one year.
4. Vast sums allocated to scientific research.
5. More than 200 awards of scholarships and fellowships in its professional program.

Mr. Smith said, "This means that the Northville March of Dimes, like the drives in every other community and county, must enlist more campaign workers to collect more in contributions than ever before in March of Dimes history."

LELAND V. SMITH

of five of the record number of polio patients reported in 1952, aid was continued to 46,000 patients stricken in previous years. All of this was done at a time when science is poised on the threshold of epoch-making discoveries in the field of the prevention of paralytic polio.

NEW PREVENTATIVE

Huge sums have been allocated by the National Foundation to finance field trials in three epidemic areas to test the effectiveness of gamma globulin as a possible preventative of paralytic polio.

This blood fraction apparently has given marked protection in temporarily immunizing humans against paralysis, even though the real job—the development of a vaccine—still remains. "It is imperative, therefore, that the 1953 March of Dimes ex-

Police Protection Doubled for Jan. 1

Two police officers in Northville will overlap their work hours and be on duty from midnight to 5 a.m. on New Year's morning, said Police Chief Joseph Denton Monday.

"Northville is always quiet on New Year's Eve and in the early morning," said Chief Denton. "We're proud that there has been very little trouble in the past and hope there isn't any this year."

However, the fact that bars stay open until 4 a.m. Jan. 1, and the possibility of snow, fog or other driving hazards make the extra precaution of added police protection necessary.

Newspaper Is Almost Ready to Move to Its New Home

If alterations and preparations in the new home of the Northville Record continue at the rate expected, the Northville weekly newspaper will move from its present location during the second week in January.

Slowdowns or unexpected interruptions in remodeling of the new home—the building housing the former Northville Hardware at the northwest corner of Main and Center streets—could force delay in moving for a few days, but present indications are that the office and job shop of the newspaper will be moved during the week end of Jan. 9-10.

The decision to leave the present location on North Center St., where the Record has been published weekly for many years, was made several months ago when it became apparent that the size of the present building is not adequate to handle the Record's growing volume of job printing.

MORE SPACE

The new location will provide approximately four times more floor space than the present Record home.

Alterations now under way on the main floor of the new home will provide a lobby which will parallel the Center St. face of the building, and will contain a counter, reception desk, and adequate room for two or more persons to serve the needs of the Record's customers. Filing cabinets will be recessed into the walls to provide a smooth appearance and to harmonize with the new celotex wall material.

Previous display counters in the windows have been shortened to 18 inches to allow more working space.

A partition paralleling Center St. will separate the lobby from the news room and other working space on the main floor. Another partition will run down the center of the main floor, dividing that space into a news room and other working space for bindery operations.

SOUNDPROOF

The partitions are designed to soundproof both the lobby and the news room from noise of the newspaper press and folder which will be situated at the rear of the building on the main floor.

All other equipment, such as job presses, composing room, stereotyping and linotypes, will be located in the basement of the building. Location there will provide more working space and eliminate vibrations and other noises.

The news press, which weighs approximately 22,000 pounds, will be mounted on oak stanchions six inches square. These extend down from the main floor to the basement, where they are mounted in concrete and braced. The press itself, therefore, although located on the main floor, will not actually touch the flooring, but will apparently "float" on the second floor, thereby removing possibility of vibrations being transmitted to the building.

PROFESSIONAL MOVERS

A professional moving firm will attend to moving of the machinery, which can be accomplished in a few days. The newspaper press, however, will require additional time for safe disassembly and reassembly in its new location.

Printing and delivery of the Record during the moving operation will not be affected. The plan, at present, is to set type and compose pages here just before moving begins, then carry the page forms to Howell where the paper will be printed and folded on Howell's rotary press and automatic folder.

Deadlines for news and advertising will be moved back to Monday during the week of moving in order to assure printing of the paper that week.

Next week's issue of the Record will carry further information about exact moving dates, and the deadline to be observed for the "moving issue."

Hearing Cancelled

A notice of public hearing published in last week's Record should not have appeared.

The notice had already been printed in the Record when notification was received to cancel it. The notice concerned a hearing to be held Monday, Jan. 5, by the Northville Board of Zoning Appeals, involving a request for a change in the use of the premises at 102 South Rogers street.

It Was A Happy Christmas

The little boy above is typical of those given a Merry Christmas by generous villagers who answered their Santa Claus letters in the project headed again this year by Mrs. V. George Chabut. Children at Maybury Sanatorium and at the Farmington Children's Convalescent Home were visited Christmas Day by the villagers. They brought the gift packages given by villagers.

Rolling Down The River

by the PETZ BROS.

Fellow drops in this Studebaker Mart the other day to inquire after a new car. Naturally we receive him with open arms because the fact that he wants to buy a Studebaker assures us that he is a highly intelligent species and must be royally welcomed. He also tells us, while in the process of signing a paper or two, of his young daughter that has been doing a bit of Sunday School lately. Accustomed to having her salesman father do a bit of traveling, she knows the ins and outs of such procedure, so she naturally questions a story, she hears. "You know, Dad," says she, "I don't think much of Joseph, taking Mary on such a long trip without advance reservations."

Well, be that as it may, you certainly do not need such a thing as a reservation to come in and talk new Studebaker with us. We're happy to have you around the establishment at whatever hour is most convenient to you, because we know, that once you get in and try the new Studebaker, there's no other car for you. The power, the ease of driving, the comfort of the ride and the super economy of the car, makes it a must on your buying list. Not only that, we're giving a most excellent trade-in allowance this holiday season, one so large you're practically losing money if you don't go away driving a beautiful Studebaker.

A lady we know, that brings her car in for regular check-ups (she reads and believes this column) shows up the other day. While the mechanics were busy with her car, we naturally go over to give her a big hello and wish the season's best. So she has to tell us of her favorite millinery shop and a lady that drops in the other day asks if a certain hat could be taken out of the window for her. "Certainly," says the saleslady, and does so. "Thank you so much," says the almost customer. "I've been going past the window every day and with all the lovely hats you have, I think it's a crime to keep such a monstrosity on display!"

Well, in our book, there are even greater crimes. Especially the crime you commit every time you drive your car too long without giving it a new selection of our finer greases and oils. Another thing that won't hurt a bit, is to have that motor checked every now and then to assure maximum performance during this winter season. It will pay in easier starting, reliable performance and the knowledge that you have a car you can depend on.

WISHING EVERYONE

A HAPPY

NEW YEAR

Yours,

BILL and WILL PETZ.

Michigan Mirror:

Dove of Peace Doesn't Fly Over State Capitol

by Gene Alleman

Gov. G. Mennen Williams would have been named to the workmen's compensation commission. Neither appointment had been approved by the senate.

And so when the lawmakers came back Dec. 18, to authorize more borrowing power for the state's schools, they turned both men out in the cold, throwing a wet blanket on any hot rumors that the olive branch would fly over the capitol.

Williams has assumed his third term as governor apparently determined to cooperate with Republicans as far as his present position. The governor's career timetable long has been a question, but it most certainly includes a crack at Ferguson's senate seat in 1954.

It follows that Williams will lean over backwards to promote harmony between his office and the legislature to set his house in order in Michigan before taking go at the senate. Just before the special session he made it official when he asked the C.I.O.-P.A.C. to keep its criticism constructive.

But the Republicans apparently are not about to accept the sprig of olive the Democrats are offering. Says one, just after the governor's latest appointments had been turned down: "This is one way we can hurt Williams." This may sound a bit shortsighted, but the Republicans don't want Williams in Washington any more than they wanted him to be governor.

However, the vote on Kozaren verified what capitol observers have suspected for some time—there is strife in the senate G.O.P. ranks. Republicans hold a 25 to 7 majority in the upper chamber. But the vote to confirm Kozaren was 14 to 14. Some place along the line seven Republicans jumped the political fence.

Cause: The younger Republicans have been trying to take over the senate reins. Under the lead of Senators Creighton Coleman (Marshall) and Carlton Morris (Kalamazoo), the "young Turks" have been edging out some of the old timers. And the oldsters don't take too kindly to this treatment.

Wise in the ways of political maneuvering the older hands are sure to come up with something to counteract the so-called coup of the youngsters.

In the hassle over senate control Governor Williams may be able to sneak through some of his appointments and perhaps a bit of legislation.

He isn't counting on it. From here it looks as though the old battle is still on.

Michigan Schools, now in the greatest expansion period in history, can expect a 37 percent increase in enrollment in the next five years. Dr. John F. Thaden,

M.S.C. sociologist, predicts a 1956 registration of 1,465,000 pupils as compared to 1,006,000 in the spring of 1951. The increase will require 13,000 more classrooms and an equal number of additional teachers, he warns.

Lieut.-Gov. William C. Vandenberg is still bitter over his defeat for the gubernatorial nomination in the August primaries. The Holland man, who conducted his campaign through the dry interests and from the pulpits of the state, says: "Government has nothing I want—nor does the Republican party."

Other prizes went to Mrs. Ralph Walden and Mrs. Joe Gardella. The Mothers presented the outgoing president, Mrs. Paul Ginstie, with a pair of ceramic vases.

The Rev. Grace G. Morse is visiting her son, Col. Morse, and his family, in New York for a few days during the holiday season.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Munson and children were forced to return to Michigan from their home in California, due to the serious illness of Mrs. Munson. They are now at the home of Mrs. Munson's grandmother, Mrs. E. J. Verdyne.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mairs and family spent Sunday with the latter's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hennassy at Hillsdale.

THE NOTE

All the preparations had been made for her club tea that afternoon and Mrs. Wilson decided to take a short nap. But when her girl friends did arrive, Mrs. Wilson was nonplussed, to say the least, at their behavior. Her guests simply walked in without ringing the doorbell, greeted her in hushed tones, and treated her with extreme caution. All of them, sitting silently and stiffly in their chairs, seemed ill at ease.

Finally, the mystery was settled when one of the guests got up courage enough to ask her hostess about the note tacked to the front door. "The note!" shrieked Mrs. Wilson and then remembered the warning she had written—and forgotten—to her teen-age boys to keep them from disturbing her nap.

"The door is unlocked. For goodness sake, come in quietly. If you must talk to each other, just whisper, and no rough-housing in the living room. Don't ask me for anything and if you dare touch any of the food on the table, I'll skin you alive!"

CAN'T TELL

First inmate in asylum: "I wrote myself a letter."
Second inmate: "Nonsense, you can't do that."
First inmate: "Certainly I can."
Second inmate: "Well then, what did you say?"
First inmate: "I don't know. I won't get the letter until tomorrow."

"That's a beautiful vase on the mantel-piece," remarked the visitor. "What do you keep in it?"
"My husband's ashes," was Mary's reply.
"Oh, I'm sorry. I didn't know your husband was dead."
"He isn't. He's just too lazy to find an ash tray."

COSTLY

Two soldiers of different nationalities were comparing their battle medals. One spoke with scorn of the other's decorations, remarking that they were only cheap trinkets, and obviously cost the Government very little. "That may be so," replied the other, "but they certainly cost the enemy plenty."

Girl—"Darwin."

Eisenhower's 'Splendidly Clothed' Army Is Research Miracle

Layers of Wool Clothing

Assure Comfort, Fighting Efficiency in Cold Korea

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The assurance by President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower, upon his return from a tour of the bitter cold battle-fronts in Korea, that the U. S. Army in that country is "the most splendidly clothed, cared-for Army we've ever put in the field" has focused wide attention on the complex and scientifically designed clothing used to keep American forces in comfort during Winter combat.

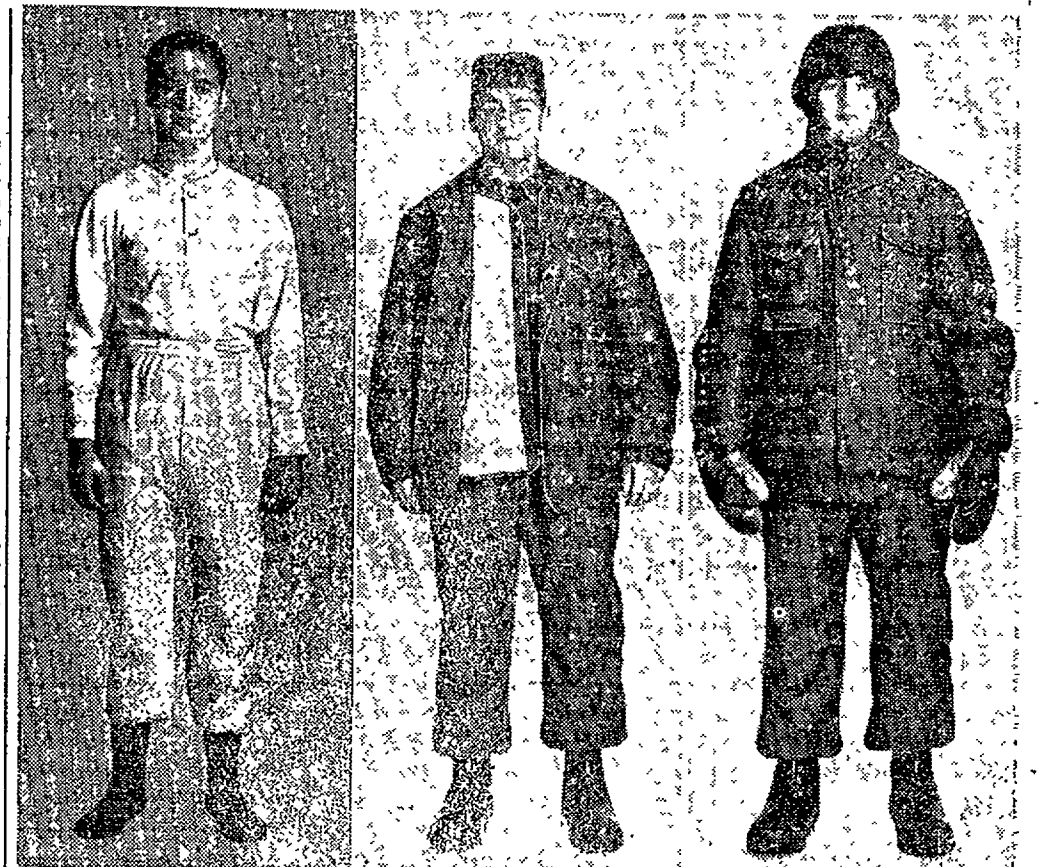

"Their clothing," General Eisenhower said, "makes them almost impervious to that Winter weather." Combat forces in Korea are fighting in temperatures that may drop suddenly to far below zero, and stay for days at zero, army clothing experts point out, so that their uniforms and protective equipment are of life and death concern. Studies of the effects of clothing on fighting efficiency during World War II have proven that the protection afforded by the uniform in periods of bitter cold is as important to the combat efforts as the weapons and material used in battle, according to The Wool Bureau.

These studies led to the development of the carefully-contrived "layer principle" around which combat uniform components are designed. Under this principle, wool's miraculous insulating qualities are used to their fullest, and quantities of air are trapped close to the wearer's body.

Maximum Insulation Offered. Recalling that mortalities among the German soldiers on the Russian front were due as much to improper clothing—containing large percentages of synthetic fibers—as to bullets or shells, Army spokesmen emphasize the care taken to protect American troops. Families of the young men battling in the grimmed land in which this country has ever fought can be assured, they say, that nothing is left undone to make combat soldier as comfortable as is humanly possible.

The Armed Services Textile and Apparel Procurement Agency today demonstrated the uniform equipment which makes up the fighting man's outfit. This is how today's fighting man is clad in battle:

Upper Body: Undershirt, 50 percent wool, 50 percent cotton — Wool shirt

WOOL LAYERS THAT MAKE U. S. TROOPS in Korea "almost impervious to Winter weather" in that bitter cold country are the product of long, intensive research. From an inner layer of long underwear, made from wool and cotton, and soft wool socks (left), the soldier's protection builds outward. A wool shirt and trousers, together with additional socks, form the second layer. A third layer, consisting of a wool-mohair jacket liner (center photo) and trouser lining—worn in more extreme cold—provides additional insulation. Over these the soldier wears an outer shell (also center photo), consisting of a cotton outer jacket and trousers, both treated for water-repellency and wind-resistance. Completing his protection (right) are wool finger-gloves, mittens with an outer shell of leather; a wool-trimmed cotton cap, worn under helmet and helmet-liner, and combat boots, which afford added protection through a lining of wool fleeces and a one-half inch inner sole of wool felt.

Lower Body:

Full-length underdrawers, 50 percent wool, 50 percent cotton
Wool serge trousers

Outer Clothes:

Wool-mohair trouser-liner over which water- and wind-resistant cotton field trousers are worn. Parka-and-wind resistant cotton parka with wool-mohair fleece liner

Head:

Cotton cap with wool ear-flaps, helmet.
Parka hood with wool flannel lining and wind-resistant cotton outer covering, with fur trim around face opening.

Hands: Trigger finger mitten, consisting of a wool knitted insert under a leather shell.

Feet:

New double-shell insulated rubber combat boots with half-inch wool felt insole, two layers of quarter-inch wool fleeces between the shells.

All-wool, cushion-soled socks. With the exception of his helmet, helmet-liner, leather gloves and wind-resistant protective "water-trousers," every item of the combat soldier's Winter uniform contains wool, it is pointed out.

The great day-to-day temperature variations, and the diversity of thermometer readings in various sections of the battlefield, make this uniform well-suited for wear in Korea. Although the clothing is designed to permit the entry of air under the outer shell of the soldier's attire when temperatures rise, the high absorption capacity of the wool inner garments, and the wool linings of outer garments, are the important factors in assuring protection and comfort for the combat infantryman.

"Fabrics used in military uniforms for temperate and cold environments and also blankets have characteristically been made of wool," Dr. R. C. Stoll, until recently Textile Development Engineer, Quartermaster Research and Development Laboratories, pointed out in a report.

One reason for this, Dr. Stoll explained, is that "the presence of only 20 percent of a wicking fiber in a 18-ounce cover reduces the rain penetration time from one hour for an all-wool fabric to less than five minutes for the blended fabric." Other reasons listed by research leaders for the emphasis on wool in designing combat clothing are its ability to absorb moisture, its high resilience, even when wet, and its resistance to free flaming.

Police Chief Urges Caution in Driving

Chief of Police Joseph E. Denton said today he made one important New Year's resolution. "I'm going to urge the people of our city to take a little trouble to avoid trouble. In that way, we will have fewer traffic accidents, fewer hospital emergency cases, yes, and fewer sudden deaths this winter."

"When it snows during January and February, traffic often packs the snow hard before it can be removed. Sometimes rain or sleet, or thawing followed by freezing, coat the streets with ice," Chief Denton continued.

"Now, when we have ice or snow, the first thing all motorists should do is to slow down. On hard packed snow, a speed of 30 miles is equal to 50 miles on dry concrete in stopping ability."

"Say it another way: At a speed of 20 miles a car can stop in 21 feet on dry concrete. But on hard packed snow, it takes about 70 feet with conventional tires, 60 feet with winterized tires, and 40 feet with tire chains. On glare ice the tire stopping distances are about tripled, and for chains they are doubled."

The chief said these figures were quoted from reports of tests conducted annually by the Committee on Winter Driving Hazards of the National Safety Council.

DRUNK DRIVERS GO TO JAIL

From Tokyo comes news that the Japanese are embracing many strange cults parading a variety of religious beliefs. For example there is the Holy and Honorable Dancing religion. At "church" this congregation jitters, waltzes, foxtrots and square dances its way to salvation. Then there is the Goddess of Mercy. Unfortunately their high priest is serving a jail sentence for one or two spiritual lapses involving tax evasion. Another religion is that of the Smiling God. All you have to do is be a faithful worshipper and to smile when you go to church and keep on smiling until you come out. Now we do not have to go to Japan to get a variety of strange religious beliefs—just read the "Church page" in most any newspaper. We often hear the desperate cry of the perplexed, "Who is right?" Can one know? Yes, friend, you can know (see John 7:17). My plea is for you to check what you hear by your own Bible! Check the scriptures given and compare them with other passages on the subject. I have every confidence that you are able to read the Bible for yourself. When our eternal destiny depends upon what we believe, it certainly behooves us to make sure! You can trust your Bible.

NEW FORD TRACTOR Golden Jubilee MODEL

★ MOST ADVANCED Hydraulic System in any Tractor!

★ EXTRA POWER with New Overhead Valve Engine!

Yes, it goes on display Saturday, Jan. 3rd, ready to show you what a really modern tractor can and should be.

It's ready with extra power, extra size, extra weight. It's ready to demonstrate new handling ease, comfort and convenience.

It's ready also to introduce you to the most advanced hydraulic system in any tractor. We call it Live-Action Hydraulic Control. That means split-second hydraulic response any time the tractor engine is running. Then there's a choice of hydraulic speeds when you want even faster action. It is called Hy-Trol.

This new tractor is ready with its great new overhead valve Ford "Red Tiger" engine. With its greatly reduced piston travel, lessened friction and other advanced design features, this engine develops ample reserve power with new economy of gas and oil.

Most important of all, Ford's Golden Jubilee Model is eager to show you what it can do—what this great combination of modern advancements and every time-proved Ford Tractor advantage means in more and better work, done more easily and more profitably.
